ANNUAL MEETING • 1985

NEW YORK

HISTORICAL ABSTRACTS... A handful of good reasons

"... affords students an overview of representative current work in the areas of methodology and philosophy of history, even in languages the undergraduates do not have . . . gives them a world scope they might otherwise lack."

Robert I. Burns, S.J.

Department of History, University of California, Los Angeles

"... help[s] us keep up with the information explosion in the complex field of historical scholarship . . ."

Joel Colton

Department of History, Duke University

"Historical Abstracts is a tool that can be used effectively in a small college . . ."

Stanley J. Idzerda

Department of History, College of St. Benedict

"... Historical Abstracts enables me to take shortcuts in my own research, and to do in a fraction of time what would otherwise take many hours."

Peter Klassen

Dean of Social Science, California State University, Fresno

"Historical Abstracts offers much more than just titles, I find out what the articles are actually about. It's very useful."

H. Peter Krosby

Department of History, State University of New York, Albany

"... It aids in the winnowing process. Most researchers discard about 90% of the material they read as irrelevant to their own work. Anything that helps one to know in advance what will be useful is extremely valuable."

Paul W. Schroeder

Department of History, University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana

GENERAL INFORMATION

HEADQUARTERS: The meeting will be held at the Marriott Marquis, 46th Street and Broadway. The Local Arrangements Committee and Press will be in Boardroom 4 and the AHA staff office in Boardroom 3, on the fourth floor of the hotel. The job register is located in the Junior Ballroom on the seventh floor, and the book exhibits in the fifth floor Ballroom-Exhibition Hall.

HOTEL ACCOMMODATION: Members who have not yet reserved hotel accommodation should do so as soon as possible. The reservation form was enclosed in the September issue of Perspectives. In addition to the Marriott Marquis, the Milford Plaza, two blocks from the Marriott, is being used for overflow accommodation.

TRANSPORTATION: American Airlines is offering very special air fares of up to 65% off their regular coach fares to persons traveling to the AHA annual meeting in New York City. To make a reservation on American Airlines, or any other airline call (800) 433-1790 and ask for AHA Star file number S.11010. Only persons who make their reservations through this special number will receive these discount fares. The reservation desk is open Monday through Friday, 7:00 a.m. to midnight CST.

For Amtrak tickets or Shuttle tickets at reduced rates call Conferences and Conventions at (212) 661-2783 in New York or 1-800-847-4257 outside of New York State.

AHA REGISTRATION: Members are urged to preregister at the reduced rate of $28.00 (nonmembers $38, students and unemployed $12). A preregistration form is enclosed. Registration at the meeting will be $33.00 (nonmembers $48, students and unemployed $14). The registration desks, located on the fifth floor, will be open during the following hours:

Friday, December 27	12 noon–9:00 p.m.
Saturday, December 28	8:00 a.m.–6:00 p.m.
Sunday, December 29	8:30 a.m.–4:00 p.m.

BUSINESS MEETING: Resolutions for the business meeting will be handled as follows: 1) resolutions signed by twenty-five members of the association will be accepted until December 15; 2) resolutions received by November 1 will take precedence and will be published in the December issue of Perspectives; 3) resolutions must be no more than three hundred words in length.

Resolutions should be sent to the executive director at the AHA central office, with a copy to the parliamentarian, Paul K. Conkin, Department of History, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN 37235.

At its meeting on May 15–16, 1980, the Council adopted the following bylaw pursuant to Article VII, Sections 1-4, of the constitution: Bylaw 8(5) There shall be a quorum for the annual Business Meeting of one hundred members in good standing.

VOTING CARDS: Voting cards will be included in the preregistration packet and will also be given out to members at the meeting.

LOCATOR FILE, INFORMATION DESKS, BULLETIN BOARDS, MESSAGE CENTER: These will be located in the registration area. Information about the annual meeting, New York, and the American Historical Association will be available. The bulletin boards will serve both as informal message centers and as a place to announce special meetings, changes, etc.

JOB REGISTER: The job register, located in the Junior Ballroom on the seventh floor, will be in operation during the following hours:

Friday, December 27	2:00 p.m.—6:00 p.m.
Saturday, December 28	9:00 a.m.—6:00 p.m.
Sunday, December 29	9:00 a.m.—6:00 p.m.
Monday, December 30	9:00 a.m.—12 noon

AFFILIATED SOCIETIES: An area on the fifth floor has been reserved from 11:30 a.m.—1:00 p.m. on December 28 for affiliated societies to display materials and to meet with members of the profession.

WOMEN HISTORIANS' CENTER: A room where women historians can gather and all historians may obtain information on women's history groups will be maintained throughout the meeting in Boardroom 1 on the fourth floor during the following hours:

Friday, December 27	7:00 p.m.—10:00 p.m.
Saturday, December 28	9:00 a.m.—10:00 p.m.
Sunday, December 29	9:00 a.m.—10:00 p.m.
Monday, December 30	9:00 a.m.—4:00 p.m.

EXHIBITORS: The exhibits are located in the fifth floor Ballroom and will be open during the following hours:

Friday, December 27	3:00 p.m.—7:00 p.m.
Saturday, December 28	9:00 a.m.—6:00 p.m.
Sunday, December 29	9:00 a.m.—6:00 p.m.
Monday, December 30	9:00 a.m.—12 noon

CHILD CARE: A child care center, staffed by competent personnel, will be in operation for children (through the fifth grade) of registrants at the meeting at a charge of $3.50 per hour. Hours of the center are:

Friday, December 27	5:00 p.m.—10:00 p.m.
Saturday, December 28	9:00 a.m.—10:00 p.m.
Sunday, December 29	9:00 a.m.—10:00 p.m.
Monday, December 30	9:00 a.m.—4:00 p.m.

To preregister, write to the Local Arrangements Chair, Dr. Marjorie Lightman, Institute for Research in History, 1133 Broadway, Suite 923, New York, NY 10010, no later than December 7.

MEAL MEETINGS: All luncheons are scheduled for 12:15 p.m. Tickets for the luncheons (except those sponsored by organizations who sell their own tickets) will be available from the meal ticket cashiers at the AHA registration desk. All payments must be made in U.S. currency, by cash, or traveler's cheque.

After clearance of room allocation with the local arrangements chair, all other arrangements for meal meetings must be conducted directly between the organization and the hotel. Menus and other information may be obtained from the Director of Catering, Marriott Marquis, 1535 Broadway, New York, NY 10019.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, 1984-85

The first year of the Association's second century has begun well. Our centennial annual meeting in Chicago last December showed an increased attendance, surpassing the turnout at the previous five annual meetings. Our financial house is back in order, and our membership after fourteen years of decline has begun to grow again. Most encouraging of all, there is a general sense that the long decline of history enrollments in the schools, colleges, and universities has also turned the corner toward recovery, as part of the general public focus on and concern over the quality and content of education.

GENERAL

Our advocacy efforts in cooperation with other organizations achieved the triumph last fall of the independence of the National Archives. Legislation passed by the Congress in large part because of historians' and archivists' advocacy was signed into law by the President in October 1984. Continuing our interest in NARA, as the new National Archives and Records Administration is christened, we have supported its appropriations vigorously and, in a year of fiscal cutbacks, have every prospect of obtaining a small increase for it. We have worked, successfully so far, to prevent the zero-funding of the National Historical Publications and Records Commission by the administration; the House of Representatives has retained NHPRC's $4 million funding at the same level as last fiscal year. We are actively monitoring administration efforts to identify and nominate a qualified National Archivist and have been consulted by the White House in this long and continuing process.

Another of our major government agency concerns, the National Endowment for the Humanities, has engaged our lobbying resources. We have, both on our own and in cooperation with the National Humanities Alliance, in which we are an active participant, supported current level funding for NEH and are working to improve its authorization legislation. We are also closely monitoring the confirmation process for the White House nominee for the chairmanship of NEH, an educator with private secondary school experience, who has served in two federal appointments during the past four years.

We have successfully supported passage of Women's History Week resolutions in the Congress; we have resisted sharp cuts in proposed funding for the Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education and Title VI of the Higher Education Act (foreign area studies fellowships for graduate students), two other candidates for zero funding by the administration. We have also supported improved funding for the National Trust for Historic Preservation and for state historic preservation programs, and supported the Parks Protection Act, which has passed the lower house.

In working to maintain and improve historians' access to government documents we have had a mixed record of success over the past year. We failed to prevent passage last fall of legislation to exempt the CIA's operational files from the Freedom of Information Act, but we have supported CIA efforts to study the feasibility of a regular declassification program for these materials. We are continuing to monitor other proposals for changing the Freedom of Information Act in ways which would handicap historians' use of the act to gain access to federal records.

Lastly, we have worked to develop a strategy for improving the historical component for the federal agencies' cultural resource management policy.

Our advocacy and lobbying efforts are chiefly conducted through the National Coordinating Committee for the Promotion of History, but without a strong and viable AHA, they would be fruitless.

It is gratifying to report that our budget is in rough balance for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1985, and that our membership, after years of steady decline, has grown by over three hundred members.

* * * * *

Since 1977 the AHA and the American Political Science Association have been collaborating in a major, long-term effort to mark the bicentennial of the Constitution and of the founding of our federal government. As we draw closer to 1987, the activities of Project '87 are rising to a peak. A highly successful conference was organized at Mount Vernon on the bicentennial of the conference there between Maryland and Virginia delegates, which began the long road to the Philadelphia Convention two years later. Plans are well along for a bicentennial Annapolis conference next year and for Philadelphia in 1987. A major project to develop a television-assisted continuing education course on the Constitution, funded by NEH, is progressing rapidly. A poster series is being developed with the Smithsonian Institution, and the Project '87 book of lessons on the Constitution has been published. NEH is also funding, together with the Oliver Wendell Holmes Devise, a project to prepare another volume in the Farrand collection of the records of the 1787 convention, which is nearing completion. From our own resources we are publishing a set of eleven lengthy essays on the Constitution, the first three of which are already in print.

RESEARCH

i. Bibliographic Activities

Recently Published Articles has had two changes among its section editors. J. Dane Hartgrove of the National Archives has succeeded Robert V. Allen of the Library of Congress as section editor compiling the Soviet Union list, and Constance H. Berman, Barnard College, is now a co-editor of the medieval section. The 1983-84 volume of Writings on American History: A Subject Bibliography of Articles was published in the spring of this year, while our publishers, Kraus International, have recently brought out Writings on American History 1962-73: A Subject Bibliography of Books and Monographs. This ten-volume compendium fills the gap in this splendid series, begun early in the century under the aegis of J. Franklin Jameson.

ii. J. Franklin Jameson Fellowship

No fellow was appointed for the 1984-85 year because of the withdrawal of the most qualified candidate and a dearth of other suitable candidates. However, a large number of well qualified candidates applied for the coming year and Dr. Evelyn Brooks of the University of Maryland, College Park, was the committee's selection for 1985-86.

The AHA-sponsored project to prepare a published collection of Jameson's papers is well under way. It is funded by the NHPRC and is being carried out by Dr. Morey Rothberg and Dr. Jacqueline Goggin.

iii. Beveridge Fund Research Grants

This program of small (under $1000) research grants continues to be one of our most popular services to members. This spring the Research Division, which operates the program, made twenty-two grants totalling $14,850. A total of $76,000 has been disbursed to 127 grantees in the five years the program has been in operation. A gratifying number of important books, articles, and research projects has been made possible thanks to the Beveridge Fund.

iv. Other Research Publications

Grants and Fellowships of Interest to Historians, 1985–86 will be in print and available during the summer. We have made several improvements in the new edition and have increased the number of listed granting organizations. Doctoral Dissertations in History, July 1984–December 1984 is now in print, listing works in progress or just completed.

v. American Historical Review

The editor's report appears elsewhere in this Program but the executive director would like to pay tribute to outgoing editor, Dr. Otto Pflanze, whose long tenure has seen the Review rise to new heights of national and international reputation. Our own membership survey, conducted last fall, produced concrete evidence of the importance accorded to this publication by members, who regard it as the most important activity of the Association. Dr. Pflanze has led the Review into the era of electronic printing, with substantial cost savings in the process, as one of the pioneers among learned journals in the humanities. He has also introduced the dedicated issues format, which focusses individual issues from time to time on a single field of history. This has proved a valuable means of extending both the Review's coverage and its appeal to our specialist members.

vi. International Activities

The past twelve-month period has been strongly focussed on the August 1985 convening of the XVI International Congress of the Historical Sciences in Stuttgart. The Committee on International Historical Activities (CIHA), chaired by Professor (emerita) Nancy L. Roelker has worked hard to organize a strong U.S. presence at the congress. Thanks to a generous grant from the Exxon Education Foundation, we have been able to assist nearly fifty historians meet the costs of travel and attendance. The AHA will be represented by its president, president-elect, the AHR editor, the vice-president (Research), the CIHA chair, former AHA president and first vice-president of the ICHS Bureau, Gordon Craig, and the executive director.

vii. Captured Documents Project

The Research Division has completed its project to preserve World War II documents captured or carried away as souvenirs by individual U.S. military personnel. All papers sent to us have been referred to competent archival experts for copying and preservation or returned to the present owners.

TEACHING

i. History Teaching Alliance

The Teaching Division continues to work zealously at its special area of concern to all historians. Its greatest accomplishment during the past year has been the launching of the History Teaching Alliance, in cooperation with the National Council for the Social Studies and the Organization of American Historians and with the active support of The President's Committee on the Arts and Humanities. Funded initially by generous grants from the Hewlett, Exxon Education and Rockefeller Foundations, the HTA is providing direction and support for local collaborative programs bringing all teaching historians—university and secondary school—as well as public historians and others, into sustained contact. Five pilot collaboratives are being launched in the summer of 1985, and many more are expected to come into being next year. The Alliance collaboratives initially are organized around year-long seminars within a community, featuring two-week summer sessions followed by monthly meetings during the year. During the next two years, they will concentrate on the history of the U.S. Constitution. We expect that a lasting network of communication between history professionals in the community will result.

ii. Conferences

Two regional teaching conferences were held with the sponsorship of the Association. North Texas State University and the McDonogh School in Maryland both held very successful conferences; Vice-President Richard S. Kirkendall and President William H. McNeill served as keynote speakers at the two conferences.

In addition, a highly successful conference was held at the Library of Congress on the Historian and the Moving-Image Media. Professor John E. O'Connor of the New Jersey Institute of Technology served as principal investigator in this NEH-funded project to reconcile the dramatic needs of artists and producers with the historians' unswerving commitment to accuracy of presentation and interpretation in the greater service of teaching.

iii. Pamphlet Series

Work is proceeding on a revised pamphlet series, under the auspices of the division. New revised pamphlets meanwhile have been published in the past year on "The American Indian in American History," "The Peopling of America" and the "American Peace Movement." Retired executive secretary Paul L. Ward has also revised his basic pamphlet, "Studying History: An Introduction to Methods and Structure." The Association has also published "Survey of Federal Writers' Project Manuscript Holdings in State Depositories." Late summer is expected also to see publication of an excellent pamphlet, "Teaching Afro-American History," which draws on the highly successful AHA conference held in October 1983 at Purdue.

iv. Other Activities

The Teaching Division continues its active sponsorship of National History Day. The Association is pleased to be able to provide certificates to the teachers of winning student entrants at state and national levels.

One very fruitful cooperation has developed in recent months as a result of the Teaching Division's effective activities in support of secondary education. We are engaged in a number of cooperative activities with the National Council for the Social Studies, the premier professional organization of secondary school historian-teachers. Veteran members will recall that the NCSS in its founding and early days was a protégé of the Association. Although the two organizations had in later years drifted too far apart, we are now cooperating effectively in a number of areas. We have described above the History Teaching Alliance. In addition, the NCSS is taking advantage of past-president Arthur S. Link's strong interest and support of restoring history to its rightful place in the education curricula, to coopt Professor Link and the AHA into its own plans for study conferences and reform programs in this endeavor.

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

i. Divestiture

Upon the initiative of the Professional Division Committee, the Council of the Association at its May 1985 meeting considered divesting the Association's all-too-modest portfolio of securities of American corporations engaged in business in the Republic of South Africa. Discussion with our trustees over disposing of the small number of such companies' stocks and bonds is now in train. For some years our trustees have used observance by companies of the Sullivan principles as a criterion in investment decisions. This further action will maintain the Association's conformity with a growing number of institutions and universities.

ii. Ethics and Professional Standards

Much of the Professional Division's attention during the year was absorbed in considering questions of ethical and professional standards. Both individual cases raising important questions and the subject of the code of conduct for historians engaged its attention. The Council approved the division's plan to revise and update the existing ethical standards laid down in the 1975 report of the ad hoc Committee on the Rights of Historians.

iii. Perspectives

The Association's newsletter, Perspectives, continues to be improved and strengthened. A new format has been adopted to give it a brighter and more readable appearance, and continuing efforts are being made to make it more complete in its coverage of news of the profession. Our affiliated historical organizations are being encouraged to forward to Perspectives news items regarding their own special fields which they would like disseminated to the entire profession.

iv. National Coordinating Committee for the Promotion of History

The NCC continues to occupy an important place in the Association's major activities. It continues to be officed in AHA headquarters and supported administratively by the Association. A full account of its successful lobbying activities is presented earlier in this report. Support for the NCC among historical and archival organizations has been growing steadily; its activities have expanded steadily as its network of state committees has grown, and its budget is in sound condition. The AHA contribution is just less than forty percent of its funding.

v. Women's and Minorities' Issues

Dr. Noralee Frankel, special assistant for women's and minorities' issues, has had a productive year, commencing with an eight pound five-ounce additional member of the AHA family, Elizabeth Jennifer. The two most important other activities of the Association on the substantive issues in this field have been the revision by the Committee on Women Historians, and approval by the Professional Division and Council, of the AHA's "Guidelines on Hiring Women Historians." The new, more sophisticated guidelines delve below the question of overall gender ratios in departments to provide suggested standards for examining the question of relative promotion rates and ratios at the various faculty levels, tenured and nontenured. Dr. Frankel has also been working closely and successfully with the Smithsonian Institution in planning a conference and exhibit on the subject of Women and the Progressive Era. We have received a $5000 planning grant from the Quaker Hill Foundation and expect to see this major collaborative event take place in 1987-88.

vi. Rights of Foreign Historians

The AHA Council has approved a recommendation of the Professional Division to further expand our guidelines for intervening in cases of foreign historians being deprived of their rights by foreign governments. The previous standard requiring evidence of harassment in the exercise of their profession because of their profession has been found difficult to interpret. The most repressive governments seldom make clear their anti-humanist motivation, and even our close working relations with Amnesty International were not always able to resolve doubtful cases. The new guidelines focus more on the question of human rights and enable us to cooperate better with Amnesty International on behalf of historians in trouble.

vii. Congressional Fellows

The two fellows chosen for 1985–86 are Dr. Heather Huyck of the National Park Service and Dr. David Farber of Chicago, Illinois. Unless further funding can be obtained, the upcoming year will see the conclusion of the congressional fellows program, which for over six years has provided fourteen postdoctoral fellows with valuable experience in the legislative branch and made available a useful historical optic to congressional committees and individual members. Although we will regret the termination of this activity, the success of historians' lobbying in bringing about the creation two years ago of a professional historian's position on the House of Representatives staff, analogous to the Senate Historical Office, ensures that historians' views will continue to be available to both houses.

July 15, 1985

Samuel R. Gammon, Executive Director

REPORT OF THE EDITOR AMERICAN HISTORICAL REVIEW

A Parting Word

In my second annual report (1978) to the Association—at a time of personal quandary about the future of the Review and its function in an increasingly specialized profession—I asked a number of rhetorical questions: “Do historians care about history as such or only about the areas of their research? Does the historian of the U.S. care about what a historian of Europe writes or vice versa? Does either care about Africa, Asia, or Latin America? Do social historians of the ‘new’ genre care about ‘old-fashioned’ political and intellectual history? Is quantitative history to remain a closed book to historians who in their formative years fled from the terrors of mathematics and the physical sciences?” Neither then nor now do I have answers to these questions. But I have gained during the intervening years the conviction that the central position of the Review gives it an opportunity to contribute to the cohesion of the historical profession. To that end I have striven, like most of my predecessors, to increase the Review’s attractiveness to readers by seeking manuscripts on broad subjects of general interest or essays that, if narrow in focus, have implications for other fields of research. Appropriate manuscripts were not always available, but their number did increase with the years, with the consequence that the editor has had to do less digging and more sorting. New features have also been introduced for the purpose of widening reader interest, including “dedicated issues” on relatively homogeneous subjects and the AHR Forum, in which challenging interpretations can be debated by scholars of conflicting viewpoints.

That readers of the Review have recognized and appreciated this effort appears evident from the positive results of the questionnaire distributed to the AHA membership in the September 1984 issue of Perspectives and reported in the April 1985 issue of that publication. The editor was particularly gratified by the findings of the Institute for Scientific Information, also reported in that issue. The rankings in the Institute’s annual reports are the “Nielsen ratings” of the journal publishing profession. They show that the AHR has risen during the last eight years to a leading position among historical journals (worldwide), judged by its “impact factor,” the frequency with which its articles are cited by other social science and humanities journals in the Institute’s list of more than a thousand publications. The primary credit goes naturally to the authors who entrusted their manuscripts to us. The Review’s rise in the rankings shows the vitality of the American historical profession, the capacity of its historians to produce articles of a significance and originality that scholars everywhere find worth quoting.

Not everyone, to be sure, is satisfied with the Review as it is. At the last AHA convention the Research Division fostered a panel discussion to chart the Review’s next fifty years. The division chose two prominent historians (one an ex-president of the Association) to deliver their opinions on that subject. The ex-president advocated that the article section be abandoned—except for the annual presidential address; that it be replaced by reincorporating the publication Recently Published Articles into the Review; and that members of the Association be given a choice between the Review and the proposed new popular magazine of history. The other panelist declared the Review to be an anachronism that should be abolished; to publish an article in the Review, he declared, was to bury it. The questionnaire results and the ISI rankings seem to provide an adequate answer to these propositions. Another response, however, is to be found in the report of an AHA Committee of Ten on Reorganization and Policy:

The charge that the Review is not a popular journal of history can be easily substantiated. It was never meant to be that kind of magazine. In the words of the present Editor, the policy of the Review has ever been "to publish only such articles as throw light upon what has been dark before, or suggest new and fruitful fields of historical study, or advance significant new historical interpretations. Being essentially a magazine for students of history, it leaves popularizations, however brilliant, to others." We believe that somewhere the highest standards of craftsmanship must be maintained; that somehow the importance of painstaking historical accuracy must be promoted. The Review is a professional journal intended primarily for the use of readers who are already well informed regarding history. It would be almost as absurd to try to popularize it as to try to popularize a medical journal intended for the use of physicians. With the idea of a popular magazine of history, either within or without the American Historical Association, we have no quarrel whatever. But we should be sorry indeed to see the Editor of the Review depart from the sound policy he has so admirably stated.

The year of that report was 1939; the editor, Robert Livingston Schuyler.

Editors of the Review tend, an ex-president of the AHA once warned me, to assume an "Olympian" attitude on the job. Whether this is more true of AHR editors than of AHA presidents remains undetermined. Certainly editors spend a longer time than presidents on the heights—whether that be conducive to wisdom or vertigo I will also leave unanswered. But if, indeed, editors tend to change on the job, perhaps the reason is to be found in the quality of most of the manuscripts that flow across their desks. I do not write of undergraduate term papers (grades attached), unrevised chapters ripped out of Ph.D. dissertations, essays on petty subjects massively footnoted, or lofty disquisitions on historical problems of little moment. Those one expects to receive and learns to deal with kindly. Nor do I complain of essays by young and relatively inexperienced scholars seeking publication perhaps for the first time; to help those of greatest promise achieve that goal is an important function of the Review. What irritates the nerves and elevates the temper are badly composed manuscripts written by seasoned historians (judged by number of publications) on subjects of significance. Editors and readers are grateful when historians show literary skill, but no one expects it any more. What we do still have a right to expect is proper English. Editors spend much of their time trying to determine what authors wanted to say but could not find the words to express. While at this task, I seemed to be at Delphi more often than on Olympus—trying to decipher the meaning of oracular statements.

Obscurities in the text are often accompanied by inexactness in the rendering of quotations and in the composition of footnotes. The Review lacks the labor force to check quotations and footnotes systematically for accuracy. That obligation belongs in any case to the authors. What sometimes comes to light when, disturbed by some discrepancy or other, we do dig a little deeper is not encouraging: paraphrases passing as quotations, incorrect names and titles, wrong editions and places of publication, and improbable volume and page numbers. As for archival sources, the mere form and manner of citation often causes one to wonder whether any subsequent researcher in the same archive will be able to find the sources our author used. Some contemporary work in quantitative history also gives cause for alarm. Few of the many tables and graphs published by the Review in recent years were error free in the original manuscripts. To ascertain this, no main-frame computer was necessary, just a simple calculator in the hands of a sharp-eyed assistant.

A former AHR editor of brief tenure once advised me that authors should be permitted to write as badly as they please in the Review. But I was never able to accept the proposition that unparallel constructions, unidiomatic expressions, mixed metaphors, comma faults and splices, repetition and verbosity, and the like have a place in a leading historical journal. No doubt, attentive readers have found infelicities of these kinds in the pages of the Review, despite our efforts to excise, indeed exorcize, them. Some represent lapses in editorial vigilance, but most are owed to the dogged determination with which some authors cling to faulty prose. (I remember well the tone with which one Oxford D. Phil., after comparing himself to Melville, airily dismissed the Chicago Manual of Style as "that little book.")

Unfortunately, advanced degrees, even from distinguished universities, are no guarantee that the recipients can write acceptable English. One gets the distinct impression that the colleges and universities of America—and England?—have abandoned their responsibility to insist that students master proper grammar, syntax, and punctuation. The cycle perpetuates itself. Those who never learned as students how to write correct and effective English are in no position to teach it. Only hard-nosed editors still stand at the barricades long since deserted by most professors. If now and then we enjoy the rarefied atmosphere of Olympus, we are usually to be found down in the valley, warding off the slings and arrows of outrageous prose.

Careless English, incomplete and inaccurate footnotes, doubtful archival references, and statistics that do not add up—these blemishes cause editors to wonder at times about the solidity of the historical enterprise itself. Does sloppy workmanship on the surface mean sloppy workmanship underneath? Much of what any historian writes is inevitably based upon what others have researched and written. No lifetime is of sufficient duration to permit even the most industrious and talented of historians to write a major work without relying in some degree upon previous publications. Models, theories, and mere rhetoric have explanatory, but also seductive, power. They are not substitutes for accuracy of detail, for history is at bottom an empirical discipline and must remain so if historians are to make their assigned contribution to our understanding of the human condition. If history wie es eigentlich gewesen is beyond our reach, we do have the capacity to approximate it, and the determination to do so is our professional obligation.

If the briar patches are visible from the summit, so are the rose gardens. During the last eight years most authors have cooperated fully with our efforts to maintain and improve the literary standards of the Review. Some article manuscripts have arrived in remarkably "clean" condition, the work of scholars who obviously care; in their essays the footnotes were also nearly impeccable (with full names and titles, places and dates of publication, exact page references). Usually the authors of flawed manuscripts were grateful for the assistance we gave and generous with their thanks. Although the staff during my early tenure as editor gave less attention to the literary quality of book reviews (the Review publishes between 1,000 and 1,200 yearly), we have lately begun to demand higher standards from reviewers as well, and the great majority of them have also responded favorably to this effort.

To me the most gratifying aspect of being editor of the Review has been the discovery that so many busy scholars are willing to take the time and effort to write incisive and often extended critiques of incoming articles in their fields of specialization. The editors have yearly sent out for evaluation between sixty and seventy-five manuscripts, which have been "vetted" usually by three or more referees. Hence, the number of persons who have performed this unrewarded, and usually anonymous, service for the journal since 1977 is now well over a thousand. When a decision was reached, I reported it to the readers and thanked them personally for their help. Now I wish to thank all of them publicly. Their assistance has been and will remain vital to the continuing success of the journal.

I wish also to acknowledge and thank those eminent scholars who have served on the Review's Board of Editors during the last eight years. Although the board meets but once a year, its collective wisdom has been gratefully garnered on those occasions. Throughout the year board members in the most active fields of research are regularly, sometimes heavily, engaged in advising the editors on manuscripts concerning which we have hopes but little knowledge. During their three years of service, many have been called upon repeatedly to assist us in perfecting manuscripts that were subsequently published. Many authors whose manuscripts we could not accept have profited enormously from their anonymous counsel. Each year the editor has the task of nominating for approval by the AHA Council two or three replacements for the ten-member board. In my time no person so nominated and approved ever refused the task, whose only benefits are an annual free trip to the convention, a bad meal, a place on the masthead, and the satisfaction of contributing his or her talents to a worthy cause.

When the Review was moved to Bloomington in 1976, no member of the Washington staff and few files came with it. Its new location on a university campus, furthermore, required the journal to become an educational as well as a publishing institution. As a consequence, the Review was a wheel that had to be reinvented. The critical year was 1977 (my first), when the Association granted my request for the two desperately needed assistant editorships and Indiana University appropriated the money I requested for furniture to provide the staff with an efficient operating environment. During that year systems had to be established for the routine handling of in- and outflowing manuscripts, reviews, letters, and books. In 1984 a second reorganization, almost equally traumatic, took place when the Review was re-equipped for the new age of electronic publishing (as described in last year's annual report). The cost of the new equipment provided by the Association, I am happy to report, is now being rapidly recouped, as promised, from reduced composition costs. In these extraordinary, as well as in ordinary, times I enjoyed the support of a loyal staff, whose initiatives, unstinting effort, and generally good humor made our survival possible. To all of those whose names have appeared on the masthead of the Review and whose comings and goings have been reported to the profession in my annual reports and in AHA newsletter articles stemming from Bloomington, I extend my heartfelt thanks and appreciation.

By the time this report appears in print I will have published my last issue as editor of the Review. Sitting in the editor's chair will be David Ransel, formerly a professor at the University of Illinois in Urbana. His long and successful tenure as editor of the Slavic Review has given Ransel a better preparation for the position than most AHR editors have had at the time of their appointments. Few, perhaps none, had any experience as journal editors before assuming the responsibility of the Review. Ransel was chosen by a joint committee of the AHA and Indiana University. The editorial staff of the Review was extremely pleased by the choice.

During the last year changes in personnel have also occurred in two critical staff positions. Assistant Editor Michelle Mannering, who joined the Review in April 1984, has already become a familiar figure to our authors. Her background and credentials were reported in this space last year. On October 1, Sarah Kent succeeded Robert Bieder as assistant editor. Kent is a summa cum laude graduate of Connecticut College in New London and received her M.A. degree at Indiana. Her field of study is Eastern Europe, with a concentration on Yugoslavia. Both assistant editors have had extensive research experience, Mannering in Washington, London, and Cairo, Kent in Zagreb. Between them they command an impressive number of foreign languages, Mannering in Arabic, Spanish, and French, Kent in Serbo-Croatian, Russian, French, and German. The two assistant editors are the only full-time editors on the staff of the Review. Together they are responsible for most of the Review's editorial work, Mannering for the article section and Kent for the book review section.

The time has come to descend the mountain for the last time. To my successor I wish more time in the thin air inhabited by gods and AHA presidents, fewer trips to Delphi, and less time at the barricades and in the trenches.

REPORT OF THE CONTROLLER FOR THE YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1985

The total assets of the American Historical Association on June 30, 1985, amount to $1,511,442.00 as compared to $1,252,735.00 in 1984. This amount is the sum of the three major funds, and its fluctuation reflects principally variation of General Fund attributable to gain on sale of Plant Fund asset sold and grant funds in hand at end of the fiscal year.

- a) General Fund—cash, note receivable, and temporary and permanent investments (the use of which for the purposes of the Association is controlled by a resolution of the Council in 1960 as amended in 1974), $393,134.00.
- b) Special Funds and Grants—temporary and permanent investments, restricted as to use of income, and grants, $997,961.00.
- c) Plant Fund—property and equipment, less depreciation, $120,347.00.

Permanent investments included in the General Fund and Special Funds and Grants are carried at book value. Land and buildings of the Association are carried at cost less depreciation. For further information concerning the aforementioned funds and income and expense statements for fiscal year ending June 30, 1985, your attention is directed to the auditor's report contained herein. All permanent investments are in the custody of the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York, under the direction of the Association's Board of Trustees. Temporary investments are in the form of short and medium term money market certificates. The Fiduciary Trust Company's report is filed at the Association's office and is available for inspection by interested members.

The budget for 1984-85 as adopted by the Council projected a deficit of $21,607.00. Actual operations for the fiscal year ended with a modest surplus of $13,885.00. Total revenue over expenses for the fiscal year amounted to $159,531.00 which included gains on sale of Plant Fund asset and subsequent reinvestment.

Operating income increased from anticipated projections by $53,905.00 or 4.9%. This increase was due primarily to full implementation of increased dues structure and modest increase of membership. Increased dues associated with the Institutional Services Program and Recently Published Articles accounted for the balance of the increased income associated with dues. Sales which includes Employment advertising and Mailing Label sales accounted for the increase of $20,171.00 over budget projections. Mailing Label sales increased over the prior year by $9,500.00 as a result of informative literature made available to the various history orientated publishers. Investment income increased by $26,436.00 over the prior year and exceeded projections by $16,857.00. The substantial increase of investment income is due to transfer of funds received from sale of Plant Fund asset and subsequent reinvestment with Fiduciary Trust Company and high yield note receivable.

Operating expenses exceeded budget projections by $20,213.00 or 1.8% and exceeded that of the prior year by $46,873.00 or 4.3%. The purchase of Plant Fund assets was for the most part associated with purchase of computer equipment for the American Historical Review and in part previously budgeted for. Controllable expenses, salaries and employee benefits in total exceed budget projections by $1,462.00 or .03% and were attributable to changes in employee benefit program as well as lack of attrition of permanent employee roster.

Current indications are considerable savings are to be realized with the implementation of the computer equipment made available to the American Historical Review this past year. This and new technological services made available and forthcoming by our printing firm will contribute to the financial improvement of the Association. Continued programs linked to cost analysis of publications and services afforded the membership remain a must to insure the stability of the Association.

KMG Main Hurdman, certified public accountants' audit report and supplementary financial detail and information are on file and available for inspection at the Association's office.

The Council
American Historical Association

We have examined the statement of assets and liabilities arising from cash transactions of the American Historical Association as of June 30, 1985 and 1984, and the related statements of revenue and expenses and changes in fund balances for the years then ended. Our examinations were made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and, accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The Association's policy is to prepare its financial statements on the basis of cash receipts and disbursements, except for the recognition of depreciation on the Plant Fund's depreciable assets; consequently, certain revenue and the related assets are recognized when received rather than when earned, and certain expenses are recognized when paid rather than when the obligation is incurred. Accordingly, the accompanying financial statements are not intended to present financial position, results of operations or changes in fund balances in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

In our opinion, such financial statements present fairly the assets and liabilities arising from cash transactions, and the recognition of depreciation, of the American Historical Association as of June 30, 1985 and 1984, and the revenue collected, expenses paid, and changes in fund balances, on the basis of accounting previously described, which basis has been consistently applied.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Fund Accounting

The Association records its transactions in three separate, self-balancing funds. Each fund reflects only those transactions applicable to its designated functional area.

- | | | |
|--------------------------|---|---|
| General Fund | - | Reflects transactions related to the general operations of the Association. Additionally, investment income of the Endowment Fund inures to the General Fund. |
| Special Funds and Grants | - | Reflects transactions under various prize funds and special projects that are funded by contributions and grants (which are restricted as to use by the donor) and revenue generated by fund activities and investments. |
| Plant Fund | - | Reflects transactions relating to the property, plant and equipment owned by the Association, which is purchased through transfers from the General Fund and charged to operations by that Fund in the year of acquisition. |

Marketable Securities

Permanent investments in the Matteson Account and temporary investments, are carried at cost. Permanent investment in the Regular Account are carried at the participants' cost of participation in such investments.

Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment are carried at cost, with depreciation being computed on the straight-line method. When assets are disposed of, the cost and related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts, and any remaining net book value is deducted from the Plant Fund balance.

Income Tax

The Association is exempt from Federal income tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Income from publication advertising and mailing list sales is subject to taxation as unrelated business income.

2 - Note Receivable - Extraordinary Item

In connection with the August, 1984 sale of the Association's rental property, a first trust note receivable for $109,000 was issued to the Association. The remaining balance of $107,968 at June 30, 1985, is payable in monthly installments of $1,200, including interest at 12%, through September 1, 2004; any unpaid balance at September 1, 2004, will be payable on that date.

The property, which was purchased by the General Fund for the Plant Fund, had a carrying value of $20,882 at the date of sale. This amount and the gain on the sale of $124,889 are reflected in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses of the General Fund.

3 - Depreciation

Depreciation on Plant Fund assets, based on the rates shown below, was:

	1985	1984	Rates
Buildings	$ 2,871	$ 3,449	2-1/2 to 4%
Furniture and equip- ment	12,887	6,840	5 to 10%
	$15,758	$10,289

4 - Retirement Plan

Eligible employees are covered by a contributory retirement plan which is funded through the purchase of individual annuity contracts from the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association. The Association follows the practice of recording as expenditures the total premiums paid on such contracts in each fiscal year. The net charges against revenue on account of retirement insurance premiums for the years ended June 30, 1985 and 1984 amounted to $22,165 and $20,220, respectively.

5 - Unrecorded Liabilities

At June 30, 1985, the Association had unrecorded liabilities of approximately $27,497. On a cash basis such amount will be recorded in the period in which the disbursement is actually made.

Additionally, the Association had liabilities at June 30, 1985, for accrued vacation time earned but not taken approximating $31,511 and for deferred compensation of $24,483. Both liabilities will be charged to operations in the periods in which the expenditures are actually made.

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT ON INFORMATION ACCOMPANYING
THE BASIC FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Our examinations of the basic financial statements presented in the preceding section of this report were made for the purpose of forming an opinion on such financial statements taken as a whole. The accompanying information shown on the following pages is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements. Such information has been subjected to the audit procedures applied in the examination of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Awards and Prizes for 1986

Herbert Baxter Adams Prize: The Adams Prize is awarded annually and in 1986 will be for an author's first substantial book dealing with ancient, medieval or early modern European history to 1815. Cash award $1000.

George Louis Beer Prize: The Beer Prize is awarded annually for the best work on European international history since 1895. Cash award $1000.

Albert J. Beveridge Award: Awarded annually for the best book in English on American history (history of the United States, Canada, and Latin America). Cash award $1000.

Paul Birdsall Prize in European Military and Strategic History: Newly established by an anonymous donor, this prize will first be offered in 1986. Details will be announced early next year.

James H. Breasted Prize: First offered in 1985, this prize is for a book in English in any field of history prior to 1000 A.D. Endowed by a gift from longtime member Joseph O. Losos, the prize carries a cash award of $1000. The prize in 1986 will be awarded for the best book in Far East and South Asian history.

Albert B. Corey Prize: Sponsored jointly in the even-numbered years by the AHA and the Canadian Historical Association for the best book on the history of Canadian-American relations or the history of both countries. Cash award $2000. Deadline for the 1986 competition is June 15, 1986.

John H. Dunning Prize: Now an annual award, the Dunning Prize is offered for a book on any subject relating to United States history. Cash award $1000.

John K. Fairbank Prize in East Asian History: Established in 1968 by friends of John K. Fairbank for an outstanding book in the history of China proper, Vietnam, Chinese Central Asia, Mongolia, Korea, or Japan since the year 1800, this prize is now an annual award and carries a cash amount of $1000.

Herbert Feis Award for Nonacademically-Affiliated Historians: Established in 1984, this prize is awarded annually for the best book, article/articles, or policy paper by an historian not affiliated with academe. Funded by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation, the cash award is $1000.

Leo Gershoy Award: This annual prize, established by a gift from Mrs. Ida Gershoy in memory of her late husband, is awarded to the author of the most outstanding work in English on any aspect of the field of 17th- and 18th-century European history. Cash award $1000.

Clarence H. Haring Prize: This quinquennial prize will next be awarded in 1986 to that Latin American who, in the opinion of the committee, has published the most outstanding book in Latin American history during the preceding five years. Cash award: $500.

Joan Kelly Memorial Prize in Women's History: Established in 1984 by the CCWHP/CGWH and administered by AHA, the prize is offered annually for the best work in women's history and/or feminist theory. Cash award $1000.

Waldo G. Leland Prize: This quinquennial prize is offered for the most outstanding reference tool in the field of history. The award is honorific.

Howard R. Marraro Prize: The Marraro Prize is awarded annually for the best work in any epoch of Italian history, Italian cultural history, or Italian-American relations. Cash award $500.

Robert Livingston Schuyler Prize: The Schuyler Prize is awarded every five years by the Taraknath Das Foundation for the best work in the field of modern British, British Imperial, and British Commonwealth history by an American citizen. Cash award: $500.

J. Franklin Jameson Fellowship: Sponsored jointly by the Library of Congress and the AHA to support significant scholarly research in the collections of the Library of Congress by young historians. Stipend $9000. Deadline for next competition March 15, 1986.

Beveridge Grants: Modest grants not to exceed $1000 are offered annually to support research in the history of the Western hemisphere. Restricted to AHA members, irrespective of their occupations. Deadline for next competition February 1, 1986.

THE MORALITY OF SPENDING Attitudes toward the Consumer Society in America, 1875-1940

Daniel Horowitz

Tracing ambivalent American attitudes toward patterns of consumption, Daniel Horowitz provides a revealing analysis of social moralism. Changes in the standard of living from 1875 to 1940 prompted reconsideration of the dilemmas of affluence—dilemmas that remain much in the minds of Americans today.

The Great French Historians

The Uses of Pleasure

Volume 2 of The History of Sexuality
by MICHEL FOUCAULT

One of the twentieth century's most influential thinkers examines the way sexual pleasure was dealt with in classical Greek theory. (Volume 3, which Pantheon will publish in 1986, will study sexuality through the Greek and Latin texts of the first and second centuries; the fourth and final volume will deal with sexual experience in the first centuries of Christianity.) Translated by Robert Hurley. Cloth $17.95

Jasmin's Witch

A Case of Possession in Seventeenth-Century France
by EMMANUEL LE ROY LADURIE

A fascinating exploration of witchcraft and witchhunts in rural France by "one of the most—if not the most—original, versatile, and imaginative historians in the world." —LAWRENCE STONE, New York Review of Books. "A model of historical reconstruction." —NATALIE Z. DAVIS, author of The Return of Martin Guerre. Illustrated. Translated by Brian Pearce. Cloth $17.95

The Knight, The Lady, and the Priest

The Making of Modern Marriage in Medieval France
by GEORGES DUBY

"A very fine book... an extraordinary innovation." —PHILIPPE ARIES. "An important book for anyone interested in the origins of contemporary social roles and mores." —Los Angeles Times Book Review. "Rigorous, challenging, yet thoroughly fascinating." —Booklist. Translated by Barbara Bray. Now in paperback, $9.95.

William Marshal

The Flower of Chivalry
by GEORGES DUBY

William Marshal is the rarest of voices from the past, someone whose life was described in great detail at the time. Born in 12th-century England of humble parents, he became a champion of tournaments by the time he was 40 and, after his death, was pronounced "the greatest of knights." The story of his life—as told by the brilliant French historian Georges Duby—is a masterful evocation of the medieval world. Translated by Richard Howard. Cloth $14.95

The Foucault Reader

An Introduction to Foucault's Thought
With Major New Unpublished Material
by MICHEL FOUCAULT
Edited by Paul Rabinow

"An excellent selection of well-translated essays, book excerpts and interviews on such subjects as Nietzsche, truth, power, sex, politics and health. The three previously unpublished interviews are especially valuable."—N.Y. Times Book Review. Paper $9.95, cloth $19.95

PAST
AND PRESENT

Brief Edition

Robert A. Divine, The University of Texas at Austin
T. H. Breen, Northwestern University
George M. Fredrickson, Stanford University
R. Hal Williams, Southern Methodist University
Randy Roberts, Sam Houston State University

The current scholarship, lively narrative, pedagogically valuable visual program, and comprehensive support package of our popular full-length text are now available in an updated brief edition. Retaining the basic structure, themes, coverage, and writing style of the longer version, the Brief Edition provides a more concise narrative and a visual program of maps, charts, graphs, and photos that preserve the form and flavor of the original text. A perfect match for your short American history course or course with readings. ©1986, 608 pages, illustrated, softbound, with Instructor's Manual, Test Item File, One-Volume Student's Guide: Studying America: Past and Present, Brief Edition, and Thirty Color Map Transparencies.

Text also available in a two-volume softbound split edition: Volume I to 1877, Volume II from 1865, as well as in the original full-length version.

American Experiences Readings in American History

Randy Roberts and James S. Olson
Sam Houston State University

An illustrated two-volume collection of fifty-six articles, with introductions that place them in historical perspective and explain their significance, part-opening overviews, study questions, and bibliographic essays. ©1986, illustrated, softbound, Volume I: 1607-1877, 426 pages; Volume II: 1865 to Present, 375 pages.

To find out why Arthur Inman was so perverse and perceptive, so bigoted and bizarre, so fascinating and fanatical, take a peek at his diary.

1920: "Some day I shall be famous, a character to be studied – this I am certain of. Well then, some day perhaps these diaries, which I intend to continue as long as I am able, will come to light. They will probably be published. Granting this, which I admit freely seems at the present time an entirely unjustifiable surmise, what would be the outcome?"

Between 1919 and his death by suicide in 1963, Arthur Crew Inman wrote approximately seventeen million words of what is one of the most candid and unusual diaries ever written by an American.

The Inman Diary, an abridgement of the original 155 volumes, is at once an autobiography, a social chronicle, and a new literary form – a nonfiction novel.

While reflecting on national politics, wars, everyday social events and ordinary lives, Inman speaks directly to the reader about his own fears, pains, desires, compulsions, fantasies, and nightmares. As Inman relentlessly bares his mind and heart, the reader is coaxed and impertuned into his intimacy. Despite his shocking self-disclosures, Inman emerges as an oddly impressive figure and his diary as a hypnotically addictive narrative.

Congratulations to
WILLIAM H. MCNEILL
President of the American Historical Association

... and author of many outstanding books, including:

MYTHISTORY AND OTHER ESSAYS

Here McNeill reflects on the craft of history and his lifelong engagement with the discipline. He describes the curious ways in which historians both shape ideas about the world and, in turn, are themselves shaped by that world. In the process he deflates the notion that historians are purely objective, living outside and beyond the historical processes they record and analyze.

Announcing:

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO
READINGS IN WESTERN CIVILIZATION
John W. Boyer and Julius Kirshner, General Editors

This nine-volume collection makes available a unique selection of primary documents, many in new translations. Individually and collectively, these volumes of source materials enable teachers and students to explore a variety of critical approaches to important moments and themes in Western history. These readings, the result of the highly praised Western Civilization sequence at the University of Chicago, reflect the cumulative expertise of an outstanding group of scholars with almost four decades of experience teaching this course.

TENTH EDITION

Edward McNall Burns
Robert E. Lerner,

Standish Meacham,
University of Texas at Austin

"The Tenth Edition does a superb job of presenting research—particularly in social history—in a way that is understandable to undergraduates. I find the book excellent in providing an historical background for study of the great works of western culture. Very teachable. An impressive effort."

—Stephen C. Ferruolo, Stanford University

"The Tenth Edition builds on the continuing superiority of the Medieval section with the upgrading of the Renaissance, Reformation, and Early-Modern discussions. The imaginative interweaving of the Age of Exploration with the Reformation in Chapter 15 is a particularly exceptional illustration of why this edition is so impressive. The helpful maps and illustrations remain."

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

CREATING A NATION AND A SOCIETY

for '86...

HERE IS A READABLE TEXT TO HELP YOUR STUDENTS REDISCOVER THE PAST.

The authors deftly weave a rich, balanced and thought-provoking history of our past—as a nation, a people, and a society. Within a chronological framework, they cover elections, treaties, legislation—as well as the lives and experiences of Americans of all national origins and cultural backgrounds, at all levels of society, in all regions of the country. Through innovative pedagogy and interesting narrative, the authors integrate the social, economic, political, cultural, and technological factors that have molded and remolded American society for more than four centuries.

Available 12/85. 1056 pages. Cloth.

Also available in two volume splits, Volume I and Volume II. 528 pages. Paper.

Instructor's Manual and Study Guides by Julie Roy Jeffrey and Peter J. Frederick. Test Bank also available in MICROTEST for the Apple IIe, II+, and IBM-PC. Map Transparencies.

The accompanying reader, Retracing the Past, Volumes I and II by Gary B. Nash, features social and political essays that personalize the experience of individuals, groups, and movements throughout the history of our changing and developing nation.

CONTENTS (Section Headings):

A Colonial People, 1492-1776. A Revolutionary People, 1775-1820. An Expanding People, 1820-1877. An Industrializing People, 1865-1900. A Modernizing People, 1900-1945. An Enduring People, 1945-1985.

SOME SAMPLE COMMENTS:

"This text will have a very broad appeal. It will be of interest to students who can more easily identify with the stories of ordinary people included in the text."

"Perhaps the outstanding achievements of this work are the blending of the different aspects of history (political, social, diplomatic, economic) into a coherent picture, and the overall organization which presents a topical approach while maintaining a chronological framework."

"...I believe the strength of the book lies in its interpretation, readability, and the design of integrating the social history of ordinary people."

"I am particularly impressed with the opening vignettes which provide excellent examples of how national events affect individuals...The "Recovering the Past" segments are also very beneficial. I have in the past used a supplemental book that deals with the use of historical sources, but the RTP's would make this unnecessary."

To request examination copies, write to Harper & Row, Suite 3D, 10 East 53d Street, New York, NY 10022. Please include course title, enrollment, and current text.

Coxey's Army

An American Odyssey

By Carlos A. Schwantes

Coxey's Army is the story of the first protest march on Washington, D.C. On May 1, 1894, a tattered and hungry Army of unemployed converged on the nation's capital. Led by Jacob S. Coxey, the petitioners sought jobs and a stimulated American economy. Schwantes paints a rich canvas incorporating the Populist crusade of the late 19th century and shows how Coxeyism presaged the New Deal. $21.95 tent.

Discovering the American Past:

A Look at the Evidence

William Bruce Wheeler and Susan D. Becker

Both of University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Volume I: To 1877

Volume II: Since 1865

Both about 280 pages • paper • Instructor's Manual • Just published

Wheeler and Becker's supplement for the American history survey course actively involves students in the analysis of historical evidence.

Each volume presents ten historical problems in a class-tested format: background introduction, explanation of the analytical method, the actual evidence, questions that help students form conclusions, and an epilogue that summarizes ensuing events. A key feature is the extraordinary variety of evidence.

Twentieth-Century World

Carter Vaughn Findley and John Alexander Murray Rothney

Both of The Ohio State University

About 544 pages • paper • Instructor's Manual • Just published

Findley and Rothney's introduction to contemporary world history provides complete coverage of Asia, Africa, and Latin America as well as of Europe and the United States. Using a chronological organization, the authors point out broad global patterns—such as interdependence and energy scarcity.

An extensive illustration program includes two photographic "tours" that compare two cities from widely different cultures.

Business Enterprise in American History

Mansel G. Blackford and K. Austin Kerr

Both of The Ohio State University

About 350 pages • paper • Just published

The new Blackford/Kerr survey develops two clear themes: the history of the firm and government-business relations. Covering all periods from the colonial era to the present, the authors emphasize the twentieth century and include unparalleled coverage of the post-1945 years.

The unusually engaging narrative incorporates many examples plus case studies on well-known firms such as Du Pont and General Motors Corporation.

Edwin Mellen

We invite you to talk with our editors at Booth #7

Though its primary market is libraries, Edwin Mellen books are advertised, reviewed, and sold throughout the world. (Approximately 25% of total sales are outside the USA.)

The sole criterion for acceptance of a manuscript is "contribution to scholarship." Edwin Mellen accepts no subsidies and pays no royalties (except for textbooks).

The Edwin Mellen Press publishes continuing series in British History, American History and Religion, German Thought and History, Women's History, Jewish History, Canadian Studies, African Studies, and Asian Thought and Religion.

If you have a manuscript proposal and wish an especially prompt response, please reply to the following questions and send your letter to our "speed editor," Mr. Paul Saito, Box 450, Lewiston, NY 14092. Or phone (716) 754-8566.

1. General topic or title of proposed work for publication.
2. Specific contribution of this work to its field of scholarship.
3. Describe contents of work by noting major parts or chapters.
4. Explain your competence to write this work (education, pubs.).
5. Present state of manuscript and when will it be done?
6. Your name, address, and phone number (day and evenings).
7. Any specific questions for us?

KENTUCKY

THE RISE OF THE URBAN SOUTH

LAWRENCE H. LARSEN. During the latter part of the nineteenth century the South, spurred by such New South leaders as Henry Grady of Atlanta and Henry Watterson of Louisville, built an urban system suited to its particular needs. Based on federal and local sources, this book will become the standard work on nineteenth-century southern urbanization. 240 pages $22.00

CLAUDE A. SWANSON OF VIRGINIA

A Political Biography

HENRY C. FERRELL, JR. Spanning most of the years of the one-party South, the public career of Virginian Claude A. Swanson extended from the second Cleveland administration into that of the second Roosevelt. As governor, senator, and secretary of the navy, he showed himself to be "a skillful legislative diplomat and an exceedingly wise executive encompassed in the personality of a professional politician." 304 pages $28.00

DANIEL DREW AND HIS TIMES

The Money Game in Old New York

CLIFFORD BROWDER. The first full-fledged biography of that great financier Daniel Drew whose epic Wall Street struggles pitted him against Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jay Gould, and Jim Fisk. Drew's career offers a rich study of one of the major robber barons of his time—and of the heady and exploitative age that produced him. 320 pages $28.00

Architect of Foreign Aid

ALAN R. RAUCHER. This revealing biography is the first assessment of Hoffman's full career, beginning with his rise to the presidency of Studebaker and following his career into the broad public arena as first administrator of the Marshall Plan, first president of the new Ford Foundation, confidant of President Eisenhower, and top official of the UN Secretariat for two world-shaping decades. 232 pages $22.00

THE SELF-INFLICTED WOUND

Southern Politics in the Nineteenth Century

ROBERT F. DURDEN. The tragic political fate of the American South in the nineteenth century came from a "self-inflicted wound"—the gradual surrender of the white majority to the pride, fears, and hates of racism. Durden traces the course of southern political life from the predominantly optimistic, nationalistic Jeffersonian era to the sullenly sectional and chronically defensive decades following the Civil War. 160 pages $16.00

BLACKS IN APPALACHIA

WILLIAM H. TURNER AND EDWARD

THE BRECKINRIDGES OF KENTUCKY, 1760-1981

JAMES C. KLOTTER. This rich story of one of America's great families combines the interest of narrative family history with the insights of the new social history. The Breckinridges—an articulate, opinionated and frank Kentucky dynasty—have left a detailed record that, more than the story of a single family, is the epic account of a class struggling with tradition and change. 476 pages $35.00

WHISTLE STOPS

Adventures in Public Life

WILSON W. WYATT, SR. This candid and informal memoir offers many revealing vignettes of major public figures of the past fifty years—Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman, John Kennedy, Alben Barkley, Sukarno of Indonesia, Trygve Lie of the United Nations, and a variety of others on the state and national scene. Three chapters are devoted to Adlai Stevenson, whose presidential campaigns Wyatt managed. 256 pages $24.00

THE STAR-SPANGLED SCREEN
The American World War II Film

BERNARD F. DICK. A penetrating study, amply documented and richly illustrated, that examines the historical accuracy (or lack of it) of films about the Third Reich, the European Resistance, the Battle of Britain, Bataan, and D-Day. Makes a major contribution to popular culture by recreating an era that, for all of its tragedy, was one of the most creative in the history of American film. 304 pages $26.00

WEST VIRGINIA: A HISTORY

OTIS K. RICE. From the bloody skirmishes with Indians on the early frontier to the Logan County mine war, the story of West Virginia is punctuated with episodes as colorful and rugged as the mountains that dominate its landscapes. Rice balances these evidences of mountaineer individualism against the complexities of industrial development and the growth of social institutions. 353 pages $25.00

THE SEED OF SALLY GOOD'N
A Black Family of Arkansas, 1833-1953

RUTH POLK PATTERSON. A skillful blending of historical and sociological data makes for an unusually complete example of American family history and an important contribution to the scant body of literature on Afro-American family life. 200 pages $19.00

REFORM IN AMERICA
The Continuous Frontier

ROBERT H. WALKER. Recognizing in the history of reform a prime source for the discovery of cultural priorities, Walker seeks to organize the reform experience in a new way so that its collective patterns can be seen. He thus inevitably draws our attention to what may be America's most lasting frontier—the management of social change toward certain general objectives. 280 pages $25.00

THE 25-YEAR WAR
America's Military Role in Vietnam

BRUCE PALMER, JR. "A thoughtful, reasoned analysis of the United States military, political and diplomatic performance in Vietnam. Other such books are sure to come. They will have to be very good to match this one"—New York Times. "Offers a senior military commander's honest unsentimental account of the Vietnam War. . . . This is the voice of a professional soldier, trained to give honest advice, and it runs like a clear stream through 'The 25-Year War' " —Wall Street Journal. 248 pages $24.00.

A KENTUCKY ALBUM
Farm Security Administration
Photographs, 1935-1943

BEVERLY W. BRANNAN AND DAVID HORVATH, EDITORS. A rich sampling from the remarkable series of photos shot for the Farm Security Administration in the thirties and forties. Brannan and Horvath have added an extra dimension to the images by including in their commentary excerpts from the photographers' own correspondence and field notes. An unforgettable composite of the amazing diversity of culture, history, and environment that has made Kentucky unique. 160 pages 120 duotone b/w illustrations $25.00

THE FORGOTTEN HOLOCAUST
The Poles under German Occupation, 1941-1945

RICHARD C. LUKAS. A landmark study of the German occupation of Poland during World War II. Dealing with the response of the Poles to the cruel policies of the Germans, this book fills a large gap in the history of Second World War. We are aware of the fate of millions of European Jews under the Nazis, but we have been until now much less aware of what Lukas calls the forgotten holocaust whose victims included more than three million Poles. 312 pages $24.00

WORLD CIVILIZATIONS, Second Edition

F. Roy Willis, University of California, Davis
1986 Paper

Volume I: 768 pages est.

Volume II: 800 pages est.

Instructor's Guide

The Second Edition of WORLD CIVILIZATIONS brings history alive through its carefully traced chronological narrative, giving students a firm grasp of the sweep of history — politics, economics, religion, society, and culture. Providing an in-depth study of great cities at the height of their creativity, the text investigates one city for each major period of civilization, both western and non-western. In the Second Edition, increased coverage of the history of women takes into account the dichotomy between the public and private aspects of women's lives; the accomplishments of individual women; and the social and legal conditions influencing women's roles in society. Treatment of social history is also generally expanded.

THE AMERICAN PAGEANT, BRIEF EDITION

David M. Kennedy, Stanford University/Thomas A. Bailey

1986 One-Volume Paper: 544 pages est.

1986 Two-Volume Paper

Volume I: 272 pages est.

Volume II: 288 pages est.

Instructor's Guide

Maintaining the clarity, concreteness, and lively writing style of THE AMERICAN PAGEANT, the new brief version of this text provides concise yet comprehensive treatment of American history from pre-Columbian times to the 1980s. Organized around a strong chronological narrative, the brief edition gives special attention to American Indian life in the pre-Columbian era, the Spanish impact on the New World, the social and economic life of the British North American colonies (particularly in the Chesapeake region), the origins and legacy of the Revolution and Constitution, immigration and social mobility, the nature of slavery, the causes and consequences of the Civil War, the westward movement, urbanization and industrialization, the emergence of a distinctively American literary tradition, the changing roles of women, the evolution of family structures, America's rise to super-power status, the civil rights movement, and the impact of three major wars — World Wars I and II as well as Vietnam — in the twentieth century.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Short chapters and frequent subheads present material in easily accessible units.
- A thoroughly up-to-date concluding chapter sketches a portrait of the American people today, against a colorful historical background.

THE AMERICAN PAGEANT: A History of the Republic, Seventh Edition

Thomas A. Bailey/David M. Kennedy, Stanford University

1983 Cloth 944 pages

1983 Two-Volume Paper

Volume I: to 1877 452 pages

Volume II: since 1865 516 pages

Guidebook/Quizbook/Transparencies/Computerized Test Items

This exceptional survey of American history makes the people, places, and events of America's past both memorable and comprehensible through its colorful narrative and appealing format. Offering a solid background in public history, THE AMERICAN PAGEANT provides skillful coverage of economic, social and cultural issues, including women and the family, demographics, the psychological and social effects of Emancipation on blacks, "new" political history, and the homefront during World War I.

John L. Thomas, Brown University

Gordon S. Wood, Brown University

1985 Cloth 960 pages

1985 Two-Volume Paper Volume I: 592 pages Volume II: 464 pages

THE GREAT REPUBLIC is an interpretive history designed to help students understand why and how events in American history happened. Critically acclaimed and widely adopted in its previous editions, THE GREAT REPUBLIC is known for its comprehensiveness; integration of political, diplomatic, social, cultural, and economic history; and authoritative, up-to-date scholarship. The new Third Edition features a more accessible and straightforward chronological presentation throughout; a thoroughly revised and expanded section on the twentieth century; and stimulating primary source documents. The Supplemental Package includes a completely revised Student Guide and Instructor's Guide, a computerized testing program, two-color map and chart transparencies, and an audio cassette featuring folksongs, radio broadcasts, and speeches of historical interest.

The Vital Past

Writings on the Uses of History

Edited by Stephen Vaughn

The importance of history and its relevance to the present have seldom gone unquestioned in modern times.

In The Vital Past, historians argue that history, far from being irrelevant, is crucial to the daily conduct of our lives, to shaping the future of our society and of the world. These essays explore history as an extension of our personal memories and experience, as a tool for analyzing both immediate and persistent crises in our society, as a rigorous intellectual discipline that can prepare the mind to effectively confront the uncertainties of the future, and as a guide for pursuing answers to the questions that have challenged humanity for centuries.

VILLAGE JOURNEY

The Report of the Alaska Native Review Commission The Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act of 1971, hailed as the most liberal settlement ever achieved with Native Americans, provided 44 million acres and nearly $1 billion in cash to a new entity—Native corporations. Today, there are growing numbers of natives who feel that they've received justice with one hand and had it taken away with the other. Many natives, now having to participate in a traditional monetary system, may be forced to sell their own land to stave off poverty. Acting as their unofficial spokesman, Berger suggests what changes in the law and in public attitudes will be necessary to reach a fair accommodation with the Alaska Natives, enabling them to keep their land for themselves and their descendants. Photographs, maps. Cloth $16.95

Thomas Ferguson and Joel Rogers

RIGHT TURN

The 1984 Election and the Future of American Politics A striking departure from the usual run of books about political parties, campaigns, and elections, Ferguson and Rogers have written an analysis of the decay of the Democratic Party and the rise to power of a new, business-centered political coalition in the GOP. Rejecting glib explanations of the American political system's recent lurch to the right as the magical effect of the Great Communicator, they argue that an institutional realignment of American politics has taken place that will far outlast Ronald Reagan. Thomas Ferguson and Joel Rogers regularly write a column, "The Political Economy," which appears in The Nation. Index. Cloth $16.95

THE ORIGINS OF PUBLIC HIGH SCHOOLS A REEXAMINATION OF THE BEVERLY HIGH SCHOOL CONTROVERSY

Maris A. Vinovskis

Revisionists have seen education in nineteenth-century America as being imposed upon an uninterested and unwilling populace by capitalists seeking to maintain a docile labor force during industrialization. Here, Maris A. Vinovskis challenges that revisionist view, employing sophisticated social science methodology in a work sure to be welcomed by all historians of American education.

DAYS OF SADNESS, YEARS OF TRIUMPH THE AMERICAN PEOPLE, 1939-1945

Geoffrey Perrett

First published in 1973, Geoffrey Perrett's portrait of a wartime America was immediately hailed as a major retrospective. Perrett recreates the social, political, and economic fabric of American domestic life from 1939 to 1945, and argues that the World War II years precipitated a crucial, if silent, social revolution—one that continues to reverberate today.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY OF THE 1940 CENSUS OF POPULATION & HOUSING

Robert M. Jenkins

As a result of the outbreak of World War II, a procedural history of the 1940 Census of Population and Housing remained incomplete. This study by Robert Jenkins, the first procedural history of the 1940 census, not only fills that gap but illuminates the census data by explaining the design of the questionnaire, the rationale of the questions asked, and the procedures for administering the census.

THE OLD BROWN DOG WOMEN, WORKERS, AND VIVISECTION IN EDWARDIAN ENGLAND

Coral Lansbury

In 1907, an unlikely fusion of suffragettes, antivivisectionists, and trade unionists battled a group of London University medical students. Although the riot was ostensibly a reaction to the University's vivisection of a dog, its roots were infinitely more complex, involving women's rights, pornography, animal rights, and medical abuse of the poor. In a dramatic and ingenious study, Coral Lansbury explores those roots and explains how the plight of a dog galvanized and reflected some of the major social issues in turn-of-the-century England.

THE BLOODLESS REVOLUTION ENGLAND, 1688

Stuart Prall

Prall's noted study, first published in 1972, is returned to print in paperback. "This is an admirable combination of analysis, commentary upon views of historians, and chronological narrative, starting with the Restoration in 1660 and continuing through the Act of Settlement in 1701 ... Highly recommended!" —Choice

Rhetoric of the Human Sciences

THE RHETORIC OF ECONOMICS

Donald N. McCloskey

McCloskey penetrates the scientific rhetoric of economics and shows the "hardest" of the social sciences to be literary even when mathematical, rhetorical even when nonverbal. Students and scholars in all the social sciences, and anyone interested in the art and consequences of scientific persuasion, will find the result a fresh and witty analysis of economic methodology—one that humanizes the discipline.

LYING DOWN TOGETHER
LAW, METAPHOR, AND THEOLOGY

Milner S. Ball

Ball invites the reader to consider law as "a medium of human solidarity." To discover how this alternate metaphor may take concrete form, he explores the law of the sea and coast while basing his discussion in broad theological terms. His provocative analysis of jurisprudence will be of lively interest to legal historians.

HERACLES' BOW
ESSAYS ON THE RHETORIC

James Boyd White

White urges a fresh view of the law as an essentially literary, rhetorical, and ethical activity. Defining and elaborating his conception, he artfully bridges the fields of jurisprudence, literature, philosophy, history, and political science. His new approach may well change the way we perceive the legal process.

Herbert Braun

On April 9, 1948, Jorge Eliécer Gaitán, then a popular political leader, was shot and killed by a drifter whose motives remain obscure. The ensuing riot, the Bogotazo, left hundreds dead, razed the center of Bogotá, and ruined the civil coexistence between Liberals and Conservatives. Drawn in part from personal interviews with participants and witnesses, Herbert Braun's analysis of the riot's roots, patterns, and consequences provides a dramatic account of this historic turning point and an illuminating look at the making of modern Colombia.

AND MATERIAL CULTURE

George W. Stocking, ed.

This third volume in the series History of Anthropology focuses on a number of questions relating to the history of museums and material culture studies: the interaction of museum arrangement and anthropological theory; the tension between anthropological research and popular education; the contribution of museum ethnography to aesthetic practice; the relationship of humanistic and anthropological culture, and of ethnic artifact and fine art; and, more generally, the representation of culture in material objects.

December 1985. Cloth $19.95.

Each year the Press awards the Ingraham Prize, which includes a stipend of $1500, to the author of a first book in the humanities or social sciences. Please write for details.

Postmortem

New Evidence in the Case of Sacco and Vanzetti

William Young and David E. Kaiser

"Sacco and Vanzetti have been retried in print many times since their 1927 executions. New evidence uncovered recently, in particular grand jury minutes and a prosecution attorney's notebooks, made possible this fresh examination. . . . It focuses most sharply upon key elements of the prosecution's case, especially crucial firearms evidence against Sacco. The authors go further than previous defenders of the two anarchists' innocence, asserting that evidence was manipulated to frame them. . . . The admirable scholarship and lean, fluent prose should make this essential for academic libraries and desirable for public libraries as well" —Library Journal. The Collected Essays of Christopher Hill

Volume 1: Writing and Revolution in Seventeenth-Century England

Volume 2: Religion and Politics in Seventeenth-Century England

Christopher Hill

"Dr. Hill is, I suppose, the most eminent seventeenth-century historian in Britain, and one of the most distinguished historians in the world. His historical scholarship is staggering—he is reputed to have read every text published in seventeenth-century England—and he combines this formidable learning with a now legendary imaginativeness and intellectual ambitiousness" —Terry Eagleton, Wadham College, Oxford University.

Splendid news! The Confidential Print is one of the prime sources for a student of the international history of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, whether his subject of study is diplomacy or politics or economics or social life. And no two better editors could have been chosen.

—Ernest R. May

Charles Warren Professor of History, Harvard University
Past President, Society for the History of American Foreign Relations

BRITISH DOCUMENTS ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS: Reports and Papers from the Foreign Office Confidential Print

General Editors: Kenneth Bourne and D. Cameron Watt

The first volumes of this 420-volume series are available now. The series is divided between Part I (from the mid-nineteenth century to the First World War) and Part II (from the First to the Second World War). Each part contains several geographical subseries (Russia/the Soviet Union, the Near and Middle East, North America, Latin America, Asia, Africa, and Europe), with Part II containing a few additional subseries on such topics as the First World War, the Paris Peace Conference of 1919, and the League of Nations. Despite the enormous importance of these reports and papers, only a very small fraction of the Foreign Office Confidential Print has been published before now.

The publication of a large-scale edition of selections from the Foreign Office Confidential Print, under the supervision of Kenneth Bourne and D. Cameron Watt, is exciting news for historians, for these papers will not only throw valuable new light on the relations between the Foreign Office and its missions abroad but are bound to be an extraordinary source of information about political, economic, and social conditions in the countries where such missions were located.

Past President, American Historical Association

CONFIDENTIAL U.S. DIPLOMATIC POST RECORDS and CONFIDENTIAL U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT CENTRAL FILES

University Publications of America takes great pride in announcing a documentary series of immense research significance: the publication of substantial—often complete—files of the papers of the U.S. State Department. Filmed from the original documents held at the National Archives (Washington, D.C.) and the Federal Records Center (Suitland, Md.), the State Department's Diplomatic Post Records and Central Files are at last available in convenient microfilm editions that can be used by scholars throughout the world. Easy and immediate access to these records will provide many new insights not only on the evolution of American foreign policy toward key areas of the world, but also on the way in which pivotal nations have shaped their policies toward the U.S. and other nations. Of even greater importance for area studies, the records illuminate the internal conditions of these nations in exhaustive detail by reproducing many thousands of pages on political, governmental, and military affairs, as well as economic and social issues. It is this kind of documentation—official, in-depth, and on crucial topics—that makes all of the parts of Confidential U.S. Diplomatic Post Records and Confidential U.S. State Department Central Files essential research collections.

RUTGERS = PRESS

The Commitment

The Dorsey Press, known as Publisher of quality textbooks in the social sciences, continues its commitment to publish fine textbooks in history. To carry out this commitment two experienced history editors have joined The Dorsey Press.

The Publisher

David C. Follmer brings to The Dorsey Press 17 years of experience in publishing excellent history books. Before joining Dorsey, David worked for the University of Chicago Press and for Alfred A. Knopf/Random House, where he was the History Editor and the Executive Editor for social sciences and the humanities.

The Advisor

R. Jackson Wilson is Professor of History at Smith College. His special field of interest is cultural history and he is currently at work on a study of nineteenth century American writers. His books include In Quest of Community: Social Philosophy in the United States, Darwinism and the American Intellectual and The Pursuit of Liberty. He has taught at the University of Wisconsin, the University of Arizona, Columbia University, Yale University, Hartford College for Women, University of Massachusetts, Amherst College, Teacher's College (Columbia) and the Flinders University, South Australia.

Their Record

Our publisher and advisor have been responsible for the publication of books by these outstanding authors: Alan Brinkley, W. Elliot Brownlee, Mortimer Chambers, William J. Cooper, Richard N. Current, James West Davidson, Allen F. Davis, Carville Earle, James Gilbert, Gerald J. Goodwin, William Graebner, Raymond Grew, David Herlihy, Ronald Hoffmann, Richard S. Kirkendall, Mark Lytle, James McPherson, Stephen Nissembaum, Theodore K. Rabb, Leonard Richards, Donald Scott, Joan Scott, Dennis Sherman, Harvard Sitkoff, Brian Tierney, James Watts, Isser Woloch, and Nancy Woloch. This tradition of quality will be part of every history text published by The Dorsey Press.

THE FUTURE

New in 1987!

A new AMERICAN HISTORY SURVEY text

By James Henretta, Burke Professor of American History,
University of Maryland
W. Elliot Brownlee, University of California at Santa Barbara
David Brody, University of California at Davis
Susan Ware, Radcliffe College

This new text, the first to be completely based in social and economic history, will be available in the fall of 1986. Not simply another political history text, this book will present a totally new approach to the American history survey course.

ANOTHER CHANCE: POSTWAR AMERICA, 1945-1985, Second Edition

James B. Gilbert, University of Maryland

Politics! Society! Culture!

The clash of these forces shaped the decades following World War II. Professor Gilbert examines these forces in an attempt to provide a coherent explanation of this period. The history of the powerful as well as the "ordinary" people looks at the impact of post-war prosperity, innovations in technology, the rise of the mass media, changing sex roles, and the effects of demographic changes in politics, educational institutions, and lifestyles.

New in 1986!

A HISTORY OF THE SOVIET UNION

David MacKenzie, University of North Carolina at Greensboro
Michael W. Curran, The Ohio State University

This new history of the Soviet Union begins with an introductory chapter on the history of early Russia followed by a chapter outlining Russian history from 1855 to 1905. A full length chapter on the "The Successors to Brezhnev, 1982-1985" concludes the book. Special sections entitled Problems convey conflicting viewpoints about key issues in Soviet history.

And Keep in Mind

A HISTORY OF RUSSIA AND THE SOVIET UNION, Revised Edition

David MacKenzie, University of North Carolina at Greensboro
Michael W. Curran, The Ohio State University

A balanced objective survey of Russian history, from its beginnings to the present, emphasizing the Great Russian core of tsarist and Soviet Russia. Presents various, often conflicting, interpretations of Russian history, including the Soviet view. Twelve special sections called Problems convey contrasting viewpoints about key issues in Russian history and are a unique feature of this book.

Visit IDC's booth no. 15

In nearly three decades IDC has built up a collection of 600,000 volumes of source and secondary material on a wide variety of subjects of interest to historians.

It is our policy that all monographs, years of serials, and subsections of archives may be purchased separately, thus bringing research materials within the reach of the individual scholar, as well as larger and smaller libraries.
