

SPECIAL REDUCED ALUMNI RATES

ELEVENTH ANNUAL TOUR PROGRAM—1975

1975 marks the eleventh year of operation for this unique program of tours, which visits some of the world's most fascinating areas and which is offered only to alumni of Harvard, Yale, Princeton, M.I.T., Cornell, Univ. of Pennsylvania, Columbia, Dartmouth, and certain other distinguished universities and to members of their families. The tours are designed to take advantage of special reduced fares offered by leading scheduled airlines, fares which are usually available only to groups or in conjunction with a qualified tour and which offer savings of as much as $500 over normal air fares. In addition, special rates have been obtained from hotels and sightseeing companies.

The tour program is consciously designed for persons who normally prefer to travel independently and covers areas where such persons will find it advantageous to travel with a group. The itineraries have been carefully constructed to combine as much as possible the freedom of individual travel with the convenience and savings of group travel. There is an avoidance of regimentation and an emphasis on leisure time, while a comprehensive program of sightseeing ensures a visit to all major points of interest.

Each tour uses the best hotel available in every city, and hotel reservations are made as much as two years in advance in order to ensure the finest in accommodations. The hotels are listed by name in each tour brochure, together with a detailed day-by-day description of the tour itinerary.

The unusual nature and background of the participants, the nature of the tour planning, and the quality of the arrangements make this a unique tour program which stands apart from the standard commercial tour offered to the general public. Inquiries for further details are invited.

THE ORIENT

29 DAYS $2350

A magnificent tour which unfolds the splendor and fascination of the Far East at a comfortable and realistic pace. Eleven days are devoted to the beauty of JAPAN, visiting the modern capital of TOKYO and the lovely FUJI-HAKONE NATIONAL PARK and placing special emphasis on the great "classical" city of KYOTO (where the splendor of ancient Japan has been carefully preserved), together with excursions to historic NARA, the great medieval shrine at NIKKO, and the giant Daibutsu at KAMAKURA. Also included are BANGKOK, with its glittering temples and palaces; the thriving metropolis of SINGAPORE, known as the "cross-roads of the East"; the glittering beauty of HONG KONG, with its stunning harbor and famous free-port shopping; and as a special highlight, the fabled island of BALI. Optional visits are also available to the ancient temples of ancient Java at JOGJAKARTA and to the art treasures of the Palace Museum at TAIPEI, on the island of Taiwan. Tour dates include special seasonal attractions such as the spring cherry blossoms and magnificent autumn foliage in Japan and some of the greatest yearly festivals in the Far East. Total cost is $2350 from California, with special rates from other points. Departures in March, April, May, June, July, September, October and November, 1975 (extra air fare for departures June through October).

AEGEAN ADVENTURE

This original itinerary explores in depth the magnificent scenic, cultural and historic attractions of Greece, the Aegean, and Asia Minor—not only the major cities but also the less accessible sites of ancient cities which have figured so prominently in the history of western civilization, complemented by a cruise to the beautiful islands of the Aegean Sea. Rarely has such an exciting collection of names and places been assembled in a single itinerary—the classical city of ATHENS; the Byzantine and Ottoman splendor of ISTANBUL; the site of the oracle at DELPHI; the sanctuary and stadium at OLYMPIA, where the Olympic Games were first begun; the palace of Agamemnon at MYCENAE; the ruins of ancient TROY; the citadel of PERGAMUM; the marble city of EPHEBUS; the ruins of SARDIS in Lydia, where the royal mint of the wealthy Croesus has recently been unearthed; as well as CORINTH, EPIDAUROS, IZMIR (Smyrna) the BOSPORUS and DARDANELLES. The cruise through the beautiful waters of the Aegean will visit such famous islands as CRETE with the Palace of Knossos; RHODES, noted for its great Crusader castles; the windmills of picturesque MYKONOS; and the charming islands of PATMOS and SANTORINI. Total cost is $1875 from New York. Departures in April, May, July, August, September and October 1975 (extra air fare for departures in July and August).

MOGHUL ADVENTURE

29 DAYS $2295

An unusual opportunity to view the outstanding attractions of India and the splendors of ancient Persia, together with the once-forbidden mountain-kingdom of Nepal. Here is truly an exciting adventure: India's ancient monuments in DELHI; the fabled beauty of KASHMIR amid the snow-clad Himalayas; the holy city of BANARAS on the sacred River Ganges; the exotic temples of KHAJURAHU; renowned AGRA, with the Taj Mahal and other celebrated monuments of the Moghul period such as the Agra Fort and the fabulous deserted city of Fatehpur Sikri; the walled "pink city" of JAIPUR, with an elephant ride at the Amber Fort; the unique and beautiful "lake city" of UDAIPUR; and a thrilling flight into the Himalayas to KATHMANDU, capital of NEPAL, where ancient palaces and temples abound in a land still relatively untouched by modern civilization. In PERSIA (Iran), the visit will include the great 5th century B.C. capital of Darius and Xerxes at PERSEPOLIS; the fabled Persian Renaissance city of ISFAHAN, with its palaces, gardens, bazaar and famous tiled mosques; and the modern capital of TEHERAN. Outstanding accommodations include hotels that once were palaces of Maharajas. Total cost is $2295 from New York. Departures in January, February, March, August, September, October and November 1975.

SOUTH AMERICA

From the towering peaks of the Andes to the vast interior reaches of the Amazon jungle, this tour travels more than ten thousand miles to explore the immense and fascinating continent of South America: a brilliant collection of pre-Columbian gold and a vast underground cathedral carved out of a centuries-old salt mine in BOGOTA; magnificent 16th century churches and quaint Spanish colonial buildings in QUITO, with a drive past the snow-capped peaks of "Volcano Alley" to visit an Indian market; the great viceregal city of LIMA, founded by Pizarro, where one can still see Pizarro's mummy and visit the dread Court of the Inquisition; the ancient city of CUZCO, high in the Andes, with an excursion to the fabulous "lost city" of MACHU PICCHU; cosmopolitan BUENOS AIRES, with its wide streets and parks and its colorful waterfront district along the River Plate; the beautiful Argentine LAKE DISTRICT in the lower reaches of the Andes; the spectacular IGUASSU FALLS, on the mighty Parana River; the sun-drenched beaches, stunning mountains and magnificent harbor of RIO DE JANEIRO (considered by many the most beautiful city in the world); the ultra-modern new city of BRASILIA; and the fascination of the vast Amazon jungle, a thousand miles up river at MANAUS. Total cost is $2325 from Miami, with special rates from other cities. Optional pre and post tour visits to Panama and Venezuela are available at no additional air fare. Departures in January, February, April, May, July, September, October and November 1975.

THE SOUTH PACIFIC

29 DAYS $2685

An exceptional and comprehensive tour of AUSTRALIA and NEW ZEALAND, with optional visits to FIJI and TAHITI. Starting on the North Island of New Zealand, you will visit the country's major city of AUCKLAND, the breathtaking "Glowworm Grotto" at WAITOMO, and the Maori villages, boiling geysers and trout pools of ROTORUA, then fly to New Zealand's South Island to explore the startling beauty of the snow-capped SOUTHERN ALPS, including a flight in a specially-equipped ski plane to land on the Tasman Glacier, followed by the mountains and lakes of QUEENSTOWN with a visit to a sheep station and a thrilling jet-boat ride through the canyons of the Shotover River. Next, the haunting beauty of the fiords at MILFORD SOUND and TE ANAU, followed by the English charm of CHRISTCHURCH, garden city of the southern hemisphere. Then it's on to Australia, the exciting and vibrant continent where the spirit of the "old west" combines with skyscrapers of the 20th century. You'll see the lovely capital of CANBERRA, seek out the Victorian elegance of MELBOURNE, then fly over the vast desert into the interior and the real OUTBACK country to ALICE SPRINGS, where the ranches are so widely separated that school classes are conducted by radio, then explore the undersea wonders of the GREAT BARRIER REEF at CAIRNS, followed by a visit to SYDNEY, magnificently set on one of the world's most beautiful harbors, to feel the dynamic forces which are pushing Australia ahead. Optional visits to Fiji and Tahiti are available. Total cost is $2685 from California. Departures in January, February, March, April, June, July, September, October and November 1975.

MEDITERRANEAN ODYSSEY

An unusual tour offering a wealth of treasures in the region of the Mediterranean, with visits to TUNISIA, the DALMATIAN COAST of YUGOSLAVIA and MALTA. Starting in TUNIS, the tour explores the coast and interior of Tunisia: the ruins of the famed ancient city of CARTHAGE as well as the ruins of extensive Roman cities such as DOUGGA, SBEITLA, THUBURBO MAJUS and the magnificent amphitheater of EL DJEM, historic Arab towns and cities such as NABEUL, HAMMAMET, SOUSSE and KAIROUAN, the caves of the troglodytes at MATMATA, beautiful beaches along the Mediterranean coast and on the "Isle of the Lotus Eaters" at DJERBA, and desert oases at GABES, TOZEUR and NEFTA. The beautiful DALMATIAN COAST of Yugoslavia is represented by SPLIT, with its famed Palace of Diocletian, the charming ancient town of TROGIR nearby, and the splendid medieval walled city of DUBROVNIK, followed by MALTA, with its treasure house of 17th and 18th century churches and palaces, where the Knights of St. John, driven from the Holy Land and from Rhodes, withstood the epic siege of the Turks and helped to decide the fate of Europe. Total cost is $1695 from New York. Departures in March, April, May, June, July, September and October, 1975 (additional air fare for departures in June and July).

EAST AFRICA

An exciting, unforgettable luxury safari which covers East Africa from the wilderness of the interior to the tropics of the coast on the Indian Ocean: game viewing in the semi-desert of Kenya's Northern Frontier district at SAMBURU RESERVE; a night at world-famous TREETOPS in the ABERDARE NATIONAL PARK; the spectacular masses of pink flamingos at LAKE NAKURU; black-maned lions and multitudes of plains game in MASAI-MARA RESERVE; the vast stretches of the SERENGETI PLAINS, with leopard, cheetah and large prides of lions, as well as great herds of zebra, wildebeest, and impala; the permanent concentrations of wildlife on the floor of the NGORONGORO CRATER; tree-climbing lions and herds of elephant along the shores of LAKE MANYARA; and the beaches and tropical splendor of historic MOMBASA on the Indian Ocean, with its colorful old Arab quarter and great 16th century Portuguese fort, and with optional excursions to LAMU or ZANZIBAR. The program also includes a visit to the famous excavations at OLDUVAI GORGE and special opportunities to see tribal dancing and the way of life of the Kikuyu and Masai tribes, as well as the great safari capital of NAIROBI. Optional post-tour extensions are also available to ETHIOPIA and the VICTORIA FALLS. Total cost is $2100 from New York. Departures in January, February, March, May, June, July, August, September, October, November and December 1975.

Rates include Jet Air, Deluxe Hotels, Most Meals, Sightseeing, Transfers, Tips and Taxes.

Individual brochures on each tour are available, setting forth the detailed itinerary, departure dates, hotels used, and other relevant information. Departure dates for 1976 are also available.

A Professor's Lot

Alumni have contributed considerably to this issue of the Alumni News, and their contributions recall a gentle period in the life of the university. Their efforts overlap in a somewhat coincidental way, both one to another and with the life of the editor of this magazine.

The cover and opening article in this issue are the work of Jan V. White '51, a series of drawings he did for academic credit while an Architecture student on the Hill. One of the buildings he sketched was the Olaf Brauner house on East Hill, home of the family of the late professor of painting and sculpture at Cornell.

On the opposite page is a set of windows in the tower of the Brauner house, painted by him to commemorate his emigration from his home in Norway to the United States.

In the mail late last year came a letter from a son of Professor Brauner, who is himself a professor and chairman emeritus of the Department of Art at Michigan State University:

Editor: I very much enjoyed the September issue of the Alumni News devoted to "The Character of the Past." The material recalled so much related to my youth and early adult years as the eldest son of Olaf Brauner, who joined the faculty in 1895, established the Department of Painting and Sculpture, and was its head until his retirement in 1939.

In the process of sorting out a great deal of material, prior to turning it over to the Cornell Archives, I have run across the enclosed items which I thought might be of interest to your readers.

While I must confess to the possession of a rather poor memory I do remember with some clarity the occasions of my father's birthdays when his faculty friends would gather at the house for a celebration. To the best of my knowledge the originals of the enclosed copies, though not signed, were composed by Prof. E. B. Tichenor of psychology and read by him to the assembled group or sent by him to my father as a form of birthday greeting.

The emphasis on salary, humorous as it is, suggests that then, as now, the practicing artist was apt to be on the lower level of a university budget.

Erling B. Brauner '29

The "President's Report," first item sent along by Prof. E. B. Brauner, is on stationery of "The Psychology Laboratory/ Cornell University/ Ithaca, N.Y.," fairly solid proof that the famous Tichenor did write these pieces.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT, 1918-19

BRAUNER speaks:

If I may trust the President
(A man of versatility!)
I am a most artistic gent
And show first-rate ability;
The reputation that I bear
Is growing still and steadily:
In fact, my equal anywhere
You'll not discover readily!

CHORUS

Of course we trust the President —
We know his versatility —
You ARE a most artistic gent,
Of quite first-rate ability!

BRAUNER speaks

If I may trust the President
(A man of strict veracity!)
Lovers of art with one consent
Acknowledge my capacity;
In leading towns, wherever graced
With buildings exhibitional,
My recent canvasses are placed
By verdict unconditional!

CHORUS

Of course we trust the President —

Volume 77, Number 8

We bid you first be welcome: that absolved,

We highly summon this august assembly
To urgent duty, which if done at all
Were best done quickly.

There is none

doth hold

A greater portion of our sovereign love
Than the Lord OLAF. Three and twenty years

Have sped since first we knew him; and to know

Was in his instance equally to love, Esteem and cherish; now we fain would prove

By some most signal document of fact
The running measure of our royal favor.
Therefore we crave your counsel; bend your thought

To the Lord OLAF and his current need, How best we may assist him; yours the task

To marry his desert to recompense.

1st Lord: Your words, my Liege, find echo in our hearts.

There is none that doth not hold Lord
OLAF dear

Nor would not gladly further his estate,

Substance and having. But your Grace's charge,

Laid instantly upon us, more invites Forthright suggestion than a meed of praise.

Wherefore I take it on me, being here
By age the senior and by use the mouth
Of this assembly, roundly to propose
A piece of silver suitably engraved.

2nd Lord: My Liege, a fair proposal! and in view

Of the Lord OLAF'S habits, and his life
Of strictest temperance, meseems the gift
May yet more narrowly be circum-scribed:

A water-pitcher, floreate, parcel-gilt,
Rose-handled, carven-shielded, edge-ga-
drooned,
Were tasty, surely, and appropriate.

3rd Lord: More haste, my King, breeds but a lesser speed.

My peers have spoke with generous intent,

Nor by intent am I less generous;
Nay, I do yield to no man in regard
Of the Lord OLAF; Yet have I heard it said

That whoso seeks the noble Rothschild's hall
 Puts money in his purse, or all his work
 Is nothing; bare he goes and bare returns.
 But whence shall we find money? All our land
 Is barren, wasted all our petty hoard,
 Our purses empty. Say we should contrive
 A ducat each; there's but nineteen of us;
 What sort of pitcher sells for nineteen ducats?

1st Lord: I do perceive here a divided counsel,
 Which it shall be my joy to reconcile.
 There is an art the baseborn smith employs
 Of spreading copper with a filmy top
 Of native silver; and this plated ware
 (Plating they call it), an the donor's hand
 Deftly conceal the tell-tale graving mark,
 Feigns itself silver, while the modest price
 Lies well within our compass.

 more

(I crave your Highness' pardon) if the lines
 Chance to be good, Lord OLAF's delicate taste
 Will thereby be attracted; all the joy
 Of silver will be his; far happier he
 With a cheap pitcher, linearly chaste,
 Than with a florid silver ornament.
 What say you, Lords?

3rd Lord: I say that what we do
 Must be done cheaply; and if plate be cheap —

King: Lords of the council, farthest from our thought
 Be it to interrupt this high debate!
 Nay, for to listen is in sooth to learn,
 Where fierce interpellation roughly checks
 The daintier argument, and parry and thrust
 Alternate cheat the hearer. Nathless, since Old time is flying, and the dinner-hour
 Swiftly approaches, we would intervene
 With our own plan, — unprecedented, bold,

A monstrous innovation, never yet
 Breathed out between the facile lips of man
 Upon the ambient air; yet by that token
 Best suited to express our royal love
 Of the Lord OLAF. Lords, we here propose
 In solemn recognition of his worth
 To raise his salary to the minimum!
 Ye gasp! Your courage droops! — Yet we believe
 Our treasury will stand it. That's our motion:
 All who approve will signify the same
 By shouting Aye!

All Lords: Aye!
King: So the motion's carried.

THE HORCHOW COLLECTION

Professor Brauner, most particularly in the home of Professor Brauner, the place where Tichenor's odes were read or sung. That house is today my home. My wife and I bought it in 1966.

The house stands at the uphill corner of East Buffalo Street and Fountain Place, now designated as 414 E. Buffalo St. but once as No. 1 Fountain Place. No. 2 Fountain Place is the old Williams home, now the Ithaca College presidential house, and No. 3 the beautiful old home of Prof. Henry Guerlac '32 and Mrs. Guerlac. The three together have been incorporated into a historical preservation district by the City of Ithaca.

The Brauners had a number of beautiful daughters. Their home was a gathering place for students and for faculty. At various times the Brauners had student boarders in their spacious house. For all these reasons, the house at 414 East Buffalo has become something of an unofficial university landmark. During Reunion time it is not uncommon for its present occupants to discover alumni of various generations wandering around the property in search of undergraduate memories. —JM

Also

Two journalist alumni have been helpful in keeping us up to date and accurate.

Gerald S. Budgar '68, a reporter for the Albany Times Union called to correct our statement in the December issue that the number of alumni congressmen from New York State had shrunk by one. The number has, in fact, increased by one, he points out, with the election of Thomas J Downey '70, who at 25 was the nation's youngest congressman, a winner in the 2nd District on Long Island, and Edward W. (Ned) Pattison '53, LLB '57 who won in the 29th District in the Capital area. His wife is the former Eleanor Copley '54 and their daughter Laura is Class of '76.

(Two other alumni played a major role in reorganization of the House of Representatives: Richard Ottinger '50 of New York, who was one of three organizers and the temporary chairman of the caucus of seventy-five freshmen Democratic congressmen who overthrew a number of established committee chairmen; and Henry Reuss '33 of Wisconsin, a former Sun editor, who became chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee.)

Forum

Editor: In case any alumni have wondered about the somewhat bland performances presented this year by the Cornell University Marching Band, I enclose herewith a copy of a letter that I wrote last year to President Corson, together with a copy of the answer that I received from Robert Kane.

It is difficult to resist questioning whether, in light of recent NCAA infractions for which the athletic department must accept responsibility, that department should be made the arbiter of good taste. In any event, I think that the exchange of letters does present an issue which, if not thoroughly comprehended by Mr. Kane, should be of some interest to alumni, who may even wish to comment more generally upon Mr. Kane's performance.

Joseph S. Strauss '57

New York City

November 1973

President Dale R. Corson: My wife and I were both graduated with the Class of 1957 in the College of Arts and Sciences, and for many years we and our children have followed the fortunes of the Cornell football team. We have expressed our devotion to the team's efforts by attending a number of games each season far in excess of what one would expect from respectable citizens of our age. I plead guilty to a weakness for a combination of football, Cornell, and a beautiful fall afternoon; and I indulge that weakness.

During recent years, particularly since Prof. Marice Stith has taken over the direction of the Cornell band, we have found that all too often the finest field performance was presented at halftime and after the game. I do not mean to derogate the team, rather to praise the band collectively, and Mr. Stith in particular.

The reason that I am writing this letter now is that at the Yale game a few weeks ago, a number of (presumably) alumni made a vulgar showing of their disagreement with the political satire presented by the band at the halftime show. From their behavior and comments, I suspect that these "gentlemen" may have written to express their displeasure, and I think it desirable that the other side of the argument also be communicated to you.

I do not wish to take a position on the political sentiments expressed by the band, nor do I think my substantive position is relevant to the issue at hand. This country will indeed have reached a very sorry state when political criticism, expressed in the form of even strong satire, cannot be offered. Indeed, I would much rather that students demonstrate their opinions, whatever they may be, as part of a band show rather than with guns or by the taking over of buildings.

I hope that you will not be persuaded by the limited vision of some alumni to discourage the band hereafter from referring to subjects more controversial than kissing on the Suspension Bridge. I have recently followed a policy of annually increasing my donation to Cornell, and this year, as I did the year before, I will double my donation. Please regard this as at least in part an endorsement of the band and Mr. Stith and of the quality of their performances, as well as the good spirit with which they have performed.

Joseph S. Strauss

Mr. Strauss: This is in relation to your letter of November 15 written to President Corson regarding the Cornell band's performance at the Yale Bowl this fall.

As you predicted, we did get some letters of complaint about the band's political thesis on that occasion and some of them were rather outraged by it. Yours, in fact, was the only one which defended the band's right to express its sentiments on current issues. Your point is well taken.

There are ways to do it, we believe, which are not quite as merciless. After all a football game atmosphere should be lighthearted. So we insist henceforth that the band scripts be checked by this office before they are presented to an audience brought together by our presentation of a football game.

Thanks for writing to us about the matter.

Eternal Berry

Editor: What fun to come in today from work to find two lengthy quotes from the copious files of my father [Romeyn Berry '04] in the January issue of Cornell Alumni News. I don't remember being enthralled by the goings on in a thirteenth-century barnyard, but it could get interesting occasionally at Stoneposts.

Pa was always confident that perhaps 100 years after the fact, Behind the Ivy might have a rebirth, and as one of his ardent admirers, I hope so.

He had a vast respect and adoration for Cornell and Ithaca, and wouldn't he be gleeful to know that his granddaughter (Sally Allis Sanford), who had the sense enough to avoid Chemistry and Far Eastern Languages, was elected Phi Beta Kappa this her senior year at Yale.

Spoiled Thanksgiving

Editor: A "student guide" named "Skip" Newman did his utmost to spoil Thanksgiving for this ancient alumnus (Class of 1917) of Cornell

Our Alma Mater receives the most unenviable publicity of any school in the Ivy League—usually in the New York Times! See the article in the issue of Thursday, November 28, 1974, covering the visit to Ithaca by a young man visiting Colgate and Cornell with the idea of entering college next autumn. If he accepts at Cornell he's a nut, because the "lousy" portrayal of Cornell mores would disgust any decent applicant.

Maybe this is what's wrong with the Cornell football team?

D. Roger Munsick '17

Summit, NJ

Seymour A. (Skip) Newman '76, answering what he called "the three big questions about student life at Cornell—sex, drugs, and booze," was quoted in the Times articles as follows:

"All dorms except one are coed, and there is an open atmosphere here. There is a lot of sex on campus; Cornell students have a very active sex life. Marijuana is as prevalent as beer, but other than that, there is very little in the way of drugs here. Maybe a little speed. Booze is on the upswing at Cornell. I'm social chairman of my fraternity and I know how much I buy."—Ed.

Editor: I would like to respond to the article in the New York Times of Nov 28, 1974. The reporter, Gene Maeroff, quoted me as referring to the big three questions about student life at Cornell—sex, drugs, and booze. The quotes are accurate in the strictest sense, but the reporter took my remarks completely out of context.

The point I stressed most vehemently was that the atmosphere at Cornell allows for personal decision in practically every phase of student life. There is no pressure to behave in any particular way, and individuals may run their lives according to their own wishes. My point about sex, drugs, and booze was that they are available for those interested, but they are not imposed on anyone and are certainly not the only activities that occupy the students at Cornell.

The reporter left out my remarks concerning the first-rate faculty, the extensive library system, the excellent teaching facilities, and the major student pastime, studying. I regret that only the "sensational" points were discussed in the article, but perhaps Mr. Maeroff felt that was what would sell newspapers. I was in no way implying that Cornell is going down the drain because of sex, drugs, and booze. I meant quite the opposite, and I apologize for any misunderstandings that were caused.

Year of Energy Action

Let's get government into the swing.

Hardy breed, the men who drill for oil and gas from offshore platforms. With their own unique way of swinging up to work by basket from bobbing crew boats.

It may not be the 5:33, but it helps keep the 5:33 running, along with cars, buses, planes and factories. When petroleum is produced off America's coasts, it reduces dependence on costly, insecure foreign oil.

Most Americans want offshore drilling expanded, according to opinion surveys. One nationwide poll. Others for the East and Gulf coasts. Another for Long Island, the part of New York projecting into the Atlantic.

But many political leaders, especially in the states with offshore areas, are turtle-slow in catching up with their constituents. Off the U. S. Atlantic coast, for example, not one well has yet to be permitted.

Even though offshore drilling has proven itself to be environmentally acceptable. Scientists from 22 universities conducted a lengthy study in the Gulf of Mexico off Louisiana, where there's been drilling for two decades. Their findings: "No known persistent biological hazards . . . Every indication of good ecological health."

America needs energy. The ocean areas have the potential to provide much of it. So let's get government into the swing. Let's give offshore drilling in the Atlantic and Pacific the go-ahead and help make 1975 the Year of Energy Action. YEA '75!

It Meant a Lot

Editor: Letters like that of Bob Ackerman '74 in the December issue, entitled "What Cornell Means," prompt me to offer my contribution. I, too, did not absorb too much in the way of facts and figures leading to the amassing of material gain, but rather an attitude toward life.

When I entered some sixty years prior to Mr. Ackerman, Cornell had the reputation of being irreligious, even atheistic. I did not find it so. In the classes of men like Prescott, Johnson, and Willcox [Profs. Frederick C. Prescott, English; Alvin S. Johnson, economics; and Walter F. Willcox, economics and statistics], I came to an understanding of deity as a process of development under natural law, rather than an arbitrary and testy old man as pictured in Genesis and other scriptures. I came to consider religion as the concern of one person for another on this earth here and now, rather than "pie in the sky" other-worldliness subject to intervention by some nonexistent supernatural power which never appeared.

It may be unfortunate that this viewpoint may have resulted in my inability to respond to calls for financial aid, thus leaving Cornell to the mercy of the greedy capitalistic system. But this will always be what Cornell means to me.

Selfish Children

Editor: I have just finished reading the January 1975 issue of Cornell Alumni News with particular focus on two articles, "First the Bad News," and "A Respite from Rallies." Both struck me as sad commentaries on the current state of Cornell University and at the risk of depicting myself as a representative of antique and outmoded views, I feel compelled to offer comment.

All of us who are or have been associated with the competitive life of making a living or the competition of the athletic field know that there are sometimes difficult choices. We make decisions and tradeoffs accordingly, and if we work a little harder or play a little harder during those moments, more times than not, we are successful. As I reflect on experience on this point I find that these are the times when great men and women happen.

My mental image of Cornell leadership

(student and faculty) during President Corson's November news conference is one of selfish children arguing over their slice of cake. In addition, the idea of a further meeting of students in which demands of "no tuition increase, no reduction of student financial aid, and no cutbacks in academic programs," so fortified this image that I began to wonder what place it was that fostered this kind of thought process.

It was certainly not the place I remembered as a student and was proud to represent in a small way as a member of its intercollegiate athletic teams. It seems to be a place that encourages "a free lunch" philosophy of the kind that is rapidly placing the United States into the world of second-rate nations.

Isn't it possible that someone, somewhere will start demanding of himself the solutions to problems, rather than demanding sacrifice of his colleagues or his alumni, or his fellow students?

Students need firm positive leadership. The faculty is providing the leadership of slighted children to the situation and the administration is acting apologetic. Get with it Cornell, I am getting tired of the view from here.

The University's Role

Editor: Enclosed is a copy of an article by Ralph M. Besse, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Case Western Reserve University, which appeared in the [Cleveland] Plain Dealer on October 24, 1974.

Mr. Besse's thoughts on the role of the university in our society gets back to basics. I hope you share my view that the message is one that would find support in the largest and most important constituency of Cornell, namely, its alumni.

Douglas S. Moore '41

Fairfield, Conn.

Besse's main point was that the university should not take a position on social or political issues, both to avoid alienating members of its own constituency who do not agree with that point of view, and to remain in a position to defend members of the academic community who hold unpopular views.—Ed.

Kane Questioned

Editor: Although not a Cornell alumnus, I am privy to dog-eared past issues of the Cornell Alumni News. Although I have only recently seen the July 1974 number, I believe it is still timely to correct substantial inaccuracies appearing in the "Athletics" section by R. J. Kane '34.

The article patted Doug Neil, Cornell's new varsity heavyweight crew coach, on the back for "coaching" all three winning eights at the IRA regatta. Now, Doug certainly did coach as freshmen two-thirds of the Wisconsin varsity and JV oarsmen who won the IRA this year; and he certainly was coaching in the same boathouse as the coach of the impressive 1974 Cornell freshman heavyweight Sprint and IRA champions, Fin Meislahn; but, in fact, Doug actually coached the third-place Cornell varsity heavies and the second-place Cornell JV heavies (composed of men "coached" by Fin Meislahn).

I think Doug would be the first to agree that credit should be given where credit is due. The story of Cornell heavyweight crew this year is the tremendous job freshman heavyweight coach Fin Meislahn has done—not only in producing Cornell's first freshman heavyweight championship crew (both at the Sprints and the IRAs) in twelve years but also in turning around a slumping program by providing significant numbers of solid, well-taught, and enthusiastic candidates for the varsity heavies).

Doug Neil will certainly deserve his pat on the back, and more, when he equals Meislahn's record at Cornell.

Similarly, Peter Sparhawk '54, Princeton's varsity heavyweight coach, had a winner in the freshman fours only by osmosis: Princeton freshman coach Michael McLaughlin (a Northeastern alumnus) had the winner for Princeton.

Richard Otteson Prentke
(Formerly coach of rowing,

Seattle, Wash.

SKETCHES OF A SMALL CITY

Undergraduates of the 1970s are not the first Cornell students to propose and conduct their own courses for academic credit. The practice has been under way for decades. One Architecture student has evidence to prove the point in the form of a set of pen-and-ink drawings which he submitted as a project for credit in the early 1950s.

He is Jan V. White '51, now of Westport, Connecticut, who explains the drawings as follows: "That was in the days when Tom Mackesey was dean. By special arrangement I got a dispensation from him to avoid doing one of our regular projects, and, instead, to spend the equivalent time on a study of Ithaca architecture.

"So I spent a happy six weeks bumming around, drawing, and coming to a bunch of wildly wrong conclusions. But it was educational!

Architecture student Jan V. White '51 sketched the former home of Ezra Cornell, now Delta Phi, for academic credit in 1950.

And I still have the old drawings as a splendid souvenir. If I remember right, an exhibition was mounted of them and caused a ripple in the academic community . . . .

"I learned a lot more from this than from a lot of the other things I had to do!"

White earned the bachelor of architecture degree in 1951, went on to earn an MS in architecture at Columbia, and to work with Architectural Forum magazine as assistant art director. He became associate director, and later moved to another Time Inc. periodical, House & Home, as art director. In 1964 he became a free-lance designer and lecturer, has over the years won twenty-seven awards for his designing, and last year published Editing by Design, a guide to dealing with editorial and graphic problems in periodicals and other publications.

In all he has redesigned more than thirty magazines, including a dozen for McGraw-Hill, designed several dozen books, and developed patterns of graphic design for a number of corporations.

Among the sketches White made for his project in Architecture while a student at Cornell were many studies of the impressions made by traffic lights, utility poles, street lamps, and traffic signs. He also portrayed a number of buildings that he considered distinctive, and even put together an imaginary block on East Hill (where he lived). "The steep hill you cannot possibly find because it is an imaginative composite of odds and ends—a picture of the spirit rather than the body of the place."

The other drawings shown on these pages are, however, real buildings that were standing in 1950. Some stand no longer. The "Historic Ithaca" issue of the Alumni News, in May 1974, depicted some of the parts of the city in which buildings have come down or are threatened, and some of these had been the subject of White's observations in 1950.

The former Whiton house on South Hill.

Several buildings have been demolished on the east and west sides of DeWitt Park. On the west side, the building at left in his sketch on pages 12 and 13 has given way to an apartment parking lot, the one at right to a new county library.

Of the individual homes shown on these pages, all still stand. "Llenroc," the former Ezra Cornell home on Cornell Avenue below campus, was in 1950 and is still today the home of Delta Phi fraternity. The Olaf Brauner home at 414 East Buffalo Street still stands. On the death of Professor Brauner's widow, the house was bought by the editor of the News and his wife. (For more on the house and the Brauners, see the editor's column in this issue). The Whiton house on South Hill was on the site of buildings of the Cooperative GLF Exchange Inc., now rented to a number of tenants.

Critic of Television

Rose K. Goldsen is a lively professor of sociology, a dogged researcher, an advisor on the social sciences to Latin America, and a “screamer” when it comes to television.

By Arden Neisser

For almost two years, Prof. Rose Goldsen has been heard in the Ithaca area in a weekly radio broadcast devoted to a critical analysis of the television industry. Her programs, now carried by two stations and heard at several different times during the week, have a dedicated and increasingly large following. The broadcasts, which run for ten minutes, offer a view of the industry which is intelligent, unusual, highly critical, and sometimes absolutely brilliant. She covers just about all aspects of television, commenting on the news, the Watergate tapes, regulatory agencies, children's shows, and daytime schedules, and is unsparing in her attacks on the horrors of prime time. Two of her scripts are reprinted here—one about Saturday morning children's programs and the other an attempt to decipher daytime soap operas, whose principal viewers, she maintains, are preschool and kindergarten children. (The “soaps” go on the air at 2 in the afternoon, just as the toddlers are waking up from their naps.)

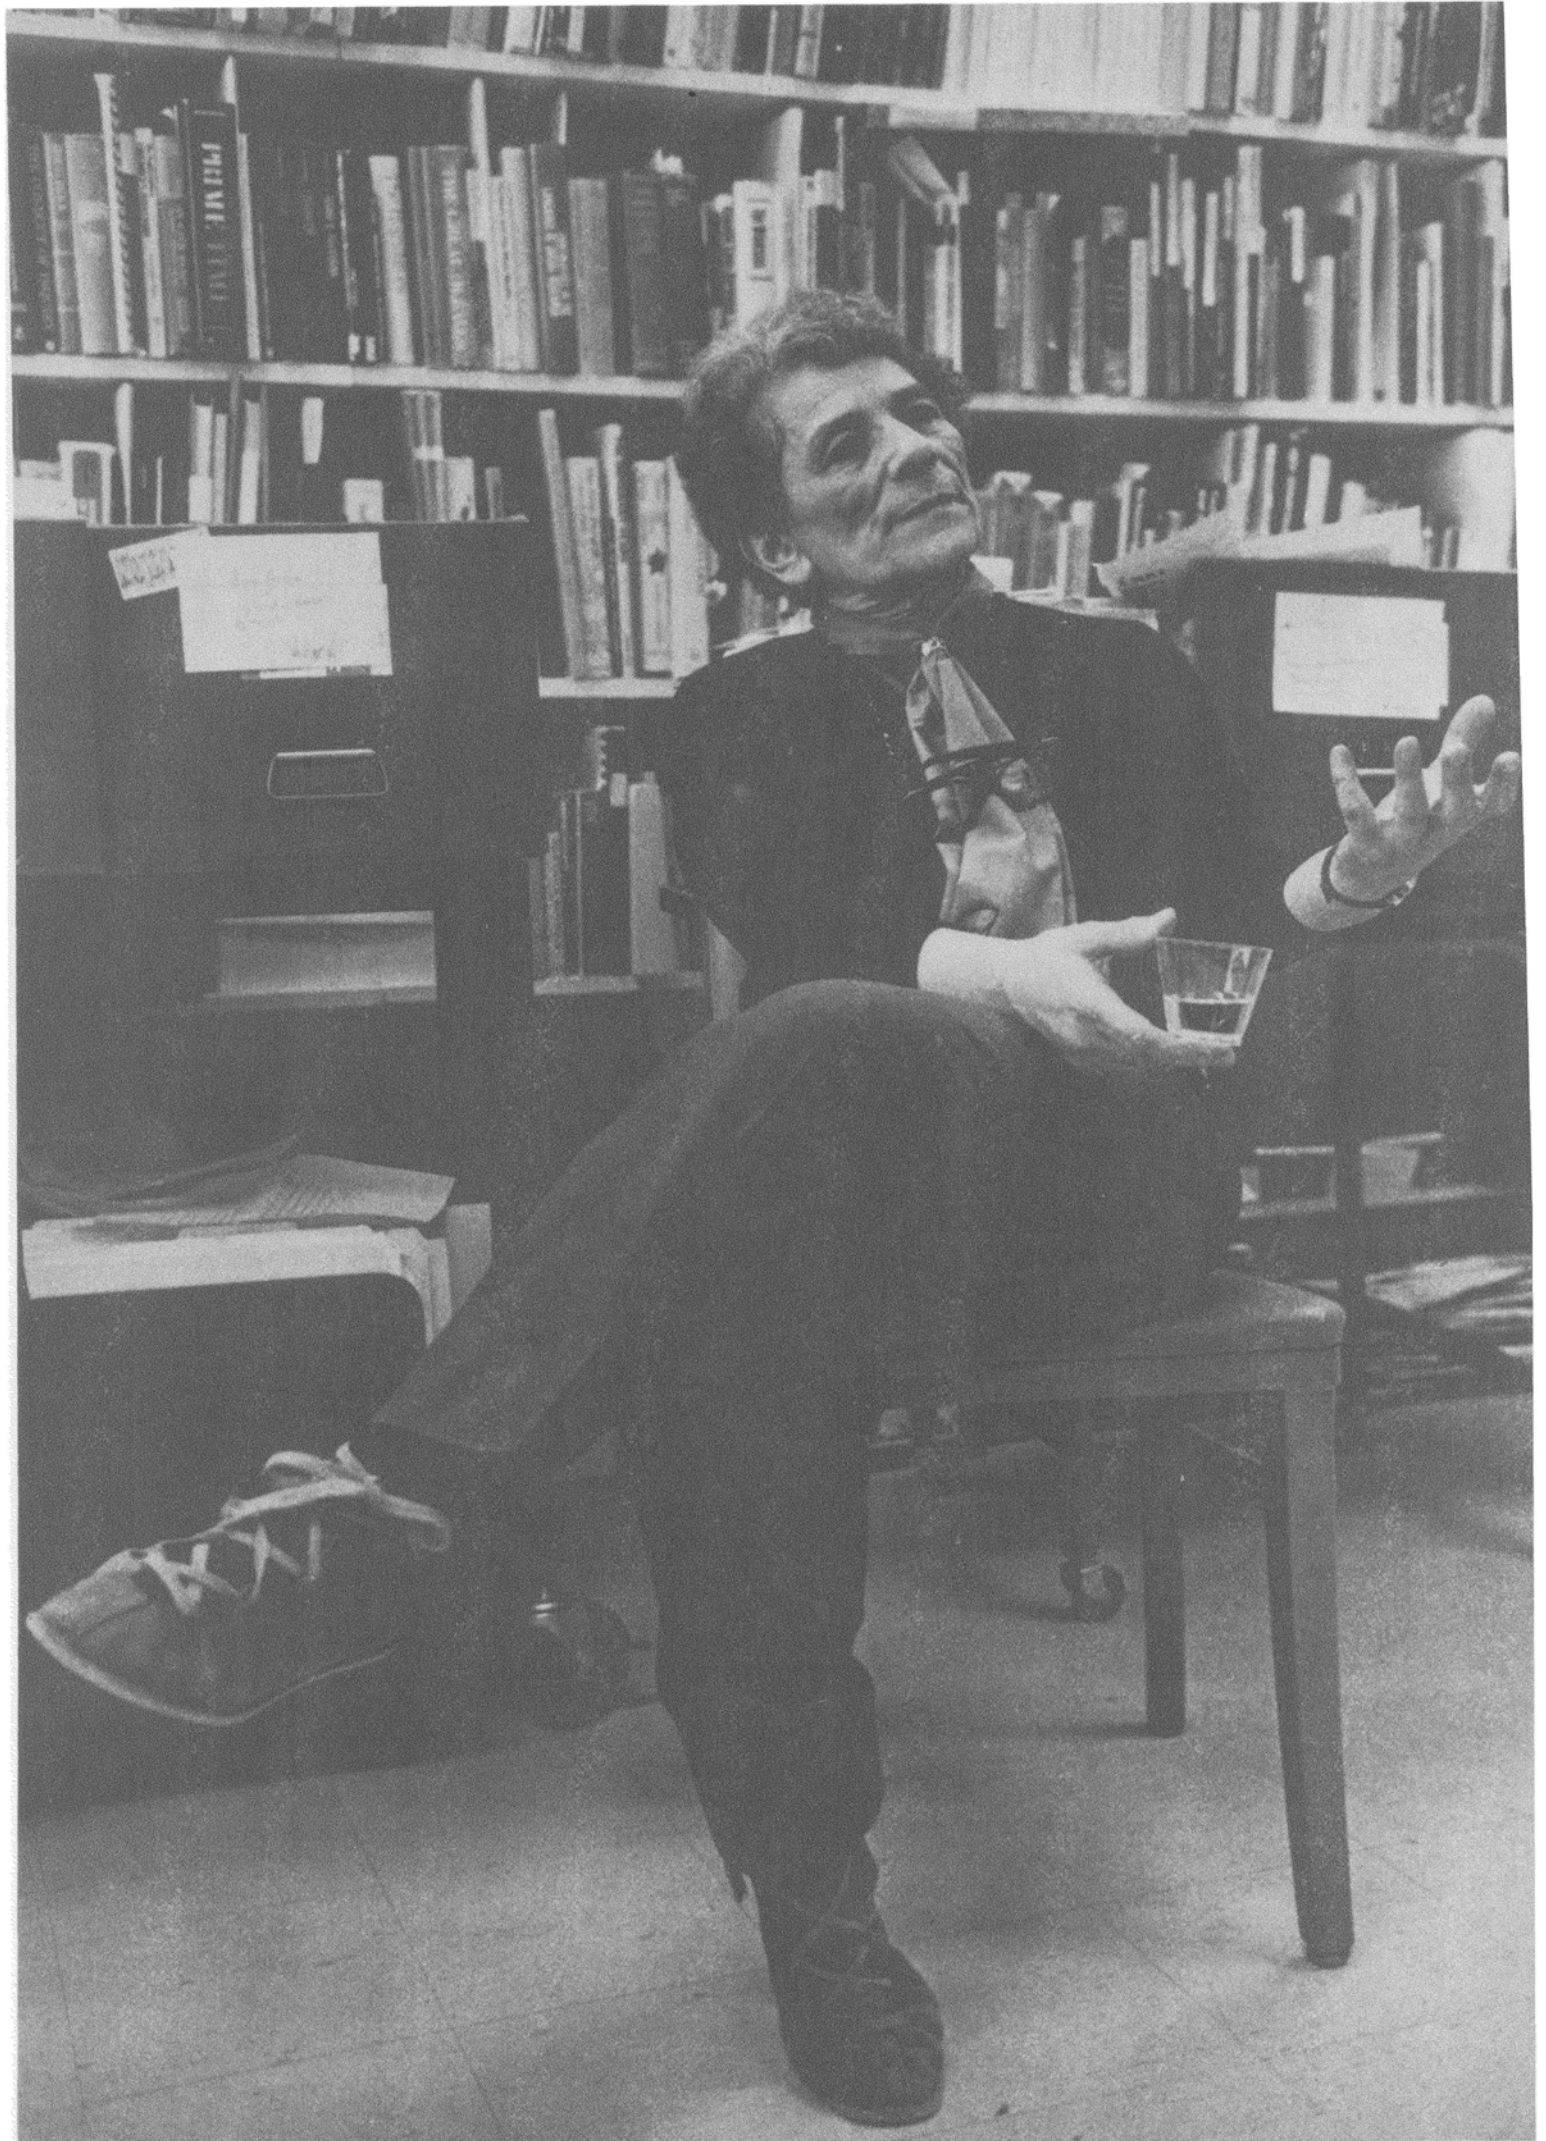

Rose Goldsen joined the sociology department at Cornell in 1949 as junior research associate. She had studied at New York University as an undergraduate, and received her doctorate from Yale in 1953. Her thesis was about Puerto Rican migrants in New York. She is fluent in French and Spanish, has taught at universities in France and throughout Latin America. In the early 1950s she was senior author (with Rosenberg, Williams, and Suchman) of an influential book, What College Students Think, based on research at Cornell and elsewhere into student attitudes toward such questions as life satisfaction, goals, and education.

From research associate she became assistant professor, was granted tenure, and is presently associate professor, teaching courses in both public opinion (an analysis of TV, radio, and the press as institutions), and in methodology (the techniques and methods by which sociological analyses are made).

In addition to her academic schedule, she does about forty-two original ten-minute radio broadcasts a year. She says she does the broadcasts instead of publishing articles like other professors, or giving papers. Actually, she publishes quite a bit, and until recently was an editor of the Ithaca New Times, an alternative sort of publication popular around Cornell and Ithaca.

Professor Goldsen has strong academic and professional ties in Latin America. From 1968 to 1972 she spent one half of her time at Cornell and the other half as the Ford Foundation's social science adviser in Colombia and Venezuela, teaching, training graduate students, and scrutinizing the South American media. It was shortly after resuming her full-time position at Cornell that she began putting together her radio show. “My criticisms of the media are not personal diatribes but serious sociological analyses,” she often asserts. She feels it is important for intellectuals to “de-mystify” their work, to address themselves directly to the public, and to “pay back to the community the debt we owe.”

‘Television is one of the technological innovations that is running away with our culture. How we use this powerful communications device is as decisive for the way our culture goes as nuclear fission or space exploration.’

Rose Goldsen is definitely outside the “establishment,” as she says true critics must be; she is an observer with a rather long-range view. She is quick, and quixotic, and querulous, fighting a one-woman battle against a nation of electronic windmills. On returning from Washington after testifying at FCC hearings recently, she described herself as a self-appointed screamer, “. . . screaming on behalf of a public that is being buncoed,” she said, then paused, with the timing of a great actress, and repeated, “Bunco!”

I visited her in her office in Uris Hall where it sometimes amuses her to play the role of colorful character. “Around here they think of me as a harmless crank,” she said without rancor, “a trouble maker.”

On her door was a large photograph of Kurt Vonnegut Jr. ’44 whom she admires, and one of herself. Curly hair, bright black eyes, aquiline nose. “I look just like him, don’t you think?” she asked. “Without the mustache, of course.” She smiled.

She is really short, well under five feet tall, but sturdy, strong. A happy person, I thought, with great personal warmth. She is accompanied everywhere by two beautiful and adoring white standard poodles.

She often asserts that she is much more comfortable in the presence of students than in the company of other professors. “I tell my students I’m doing it all for them,” she said, nodding, “and it’s true. But, I get a great deal from my students,” she went on. “In fact, I need them a lot more than they need me.” Suspicious of technology and bureaucracy, she encourages her students to be the same. Most of her suspicions have proven entirely well founded, and a large number of her most discouraging predictions have proven quite accurate.

In 1973, she saw signs that the television industry was introducing small doses of pornography into its programming. She called it baby porno, and identified it in several situation comedies and even in some children’s shows. She said it was just a beginning, that the industry was getting the public used to the idea (“trained”), and predicted that within a few years real pornography would be on its way into the living rooms. Now, little more than a year later, anyone watching prime time television shows can see a good deal more than just baby porno, and Rose Goldsen’s prediction seems a bit on the conservative side.

This year she asks, “How many movie theaters in your home town are showing hard-core pornography right now?” She follows this question with another, perfectly logical and provocative: “What happens to old movies?” The answer, as we all know, is, they eventually turn up on the television late shows.

She is a thorough researcher—a ten-minute broadcast requires twenty to twenty-five hours of preparation—and her output is prodigious. Her office is jammed with cardboard file drawers, filled with material for the broadcasts and from which she is planning a book. Crowded but unchaotic; she had no difficulty in producing from her files documents on any question I asked. Many of these are devoted to children’s programming, and much of her criticism is of the groups responsible for these shows, the producers and advertisers, and the educators who aid and abet them. “They’re not teachers,” she said, “they’re engineers of children.” Her concern for children—“our children,” she calls them—is apparent. Each of her broadcasts begins and ends with the words: “What our children see in the world depends on what we show them.”

Prof. Urie Bronfenbrenner ’38, one of the most widely quoted authorities on children and the family in the country, and himself a critic of television, has said of Rose Goldsen, “She is asking exactly the right questions. She has an uncanny sense for the way in which television does, in fact, impinge on all of our lives.”

“A very healthy influence,” he said. “She has enemies in all the right places, and she certainly does a good job of sensitizing the public to the dangers of TV.”

Standardization, computerization, human engineering; the banalization of human emotion, the colonization of minds—she’s against them all, and in a most original and provocative way. Her voice over the airwaves is filled with real emotions like anger, scorn, outrage, sentiment. She has a marvelous flare for the dramatic. How unnatural it must be, even painful, for her to sit through the soap operas. But she keeps watching—not merely “viewing,” but watching and listening; checking out suspicions; and screaming about what she sees.

Prof. Rose Goldsen in her busy office in Uris Hall. Despite appearances, she can lay hands on needed papers without delay.

Two Broadcasts by Rose K. Goldsen

What Our Children See: Saturday Morning

What our children see in the world depends on what we show them.

Saturday morning television broadcasts programs the networks schedule especially for the nation's children. A couple of Saturdays ago I turned on my three television sets and settled back with a notebook and pencil. I'm going to share my notes with you.

8 a.m., September 14. Flick the switch. All screens brighten. All systems go. ABC—NBC—CBS. All screens show animated figures, rigid backgrounds, crude line drawings. Figures on all screens move the same jerky way. All voices have the same squeaky, tinny quality. (Why not? They're all turned out on an assembly line, mostly by computer. It figures!)

ABC. Yogi's Gang. The familiar figures of Huckleberry Hound, Snagglepuss, Quick Draw McGraw, Boo Boo, Magilla Gorilla. NBC. The Adams Family recycled from the old series, The Munsters. CBS—Speed Buggy. Motor cars acting as if they were human. False eyelashes, bows, high squeaky voices for the lady cars. (How else is a child to learn what being female means in this society?)

Northwest screen changing. Animations replaced by beautiful little girls playing with doll. Children anonymous. Doll has name: Dusty. "Dusty plays tennis and golf. Sold complete with tennis outfit and action accessories." All this is sung to swelling musical accompaniment.

Shift to new bevy of beautiful children having good time. Laughing. Eating. Eating Cheerios. Still another group of children—all boys having good time, laughing. They're playing with automobiles. Cars bang into each other, crash, seem to come apart, overturn, roll over.

Broadcast November 16 and 18, 1974. Copyright © 1974 by Rose K. Goldsen.

Boys laugh, shout encouragement and approval at each other. Toy's name—Smashup Derby.

Commercials come in clutches of three—six cluster up together when the episode switches from one series to another; plus promos announcing all the new programs that can be seen clear up to 11 at night.

Shift gaze to southeast screen. Bad guys speak with accent—sounds sort of mixed Russian-Yiddish to my New York trained ear. Learn they are Bulgonians. Animation gives way to—what's that? People—disguised as bananas. Carrying on, having a good time, singing in full chorus with orchestra accompaniment.

Switch to beautiful children playing. Beautiful little girls having a good time, laughing. Playing with doll. Girls comb and brush her plastic hair. Kit comes complete with toy combs and brushes, rollers, blowers—do I see a dryer in the background? "Quickcare doll from Mattell with mussupable hair," says announcer.

On northeast screen, beautiful little girls playing with doll. Children anonymous, doll named Barbie. "Barbie's beach bus," says announcer. Comes complete with surfboards and plastic picnic furniture. I note they are all replicas of what Mommies and Daddies can purchase on credit at discount and mail order houses.

Yogi's back. He's registering as a student in the Honest Cheaters School. Professor Cheater's class. Lessons in how to lie, steal and cheat. Boy, is that teacher silly and dumb! But he's pretty clear with those tips on cheating. I find myself recoiling from the whole idea; but then I say to myself, "Well, I suppose there must be some teachers like that in the real world." Let's hear it for delivering a slice of reality to America's children.

Plastic doll and gear now. War gear. Voice over informs it's G.I. Joe. Soldier and gear come complete with prewritten story, "Fate of the Trouble Shooter." Great. Saves wear and tear on a child's imagination since he doesn't have to make up his own stories. Oh—that'll keep America beautiful!

Burger King here. "Have it your way. Have it your way." Northeast screen weighs in simultaneously with Ronald McDonald and those animated hamburgers. Wonder what it means to a child, shown those lovable puppets one minute, encouraged to think of devouring them the next. And how the lovable puppets thrive on the prospect of being ingested and metabolized by their playmates!

Ghosts on southwest screen. Toy gun shoots at a target projected on the wall like a photographic slide. There's a streamer at the bottom of my screen. Have to jump up to read it. "Filmed in especially bright light, batteries not included." That's truth in advertising protecting us all—with the possible exception of those who have not yet learned to read; those who can read but not very fluently; those who can't watch an image and read simultaneously—in short, almost everyone except children.

Oh-oh! Wait a minute! Someone in the legal department of the advertising agency must have had the same thought. The commercial for the Ghost Gun ends with the announcer repeating the warning out loud. Of course he speaks in the same tone of voice, the same manner of delivery he just used as he told about all the fun that is to be had with that ghost gun toy. Well, children who are cool cookies, who are alert and on their toes, who pay full attention to everything on the screen—surely they'll get the point.

Almost forgot to watch The Adams Family. They're on their way to Chicago. Hey—their haunted mansion is on wheels! It's been converted into a sort of mobile camper. They barrel along the highway at seventy miles an hour, bats still hovering around the turret. Fade to Sea Diver, a plastic toy diving bell. Another prefabricated "action adventure" story comes with this toy, just like G.I. Joe. Bevy of little girls on northwest screen, having good time, laughing. Oh—no! Oh—no! It's a Beauty Pageant Game! Complete with all the equipment any budding beauty queen worth her salt would surely want and need. False eyelashes, hair grooming equipment, hair spray—the works!

It's clear I'm going to have to do some skipping. I haven't even gotten through the stuff offered as entertainment to the nation's children in the first half hour of their specially-made Saturday morning programs!

8:30. Second half hour. Scooby Doo. A great Dane outline drawing who should be well known by now. The first sequence of seventeen episodes in this series has already been shown six times each, nationwide. Now we have a new sequence about to go through a similar cycle of repeats.

ABC over there is showing Bugs Bunny. He needs no introduction to anyone in this country and abroad. Wheelies is NBC's offering. Motorcycles that are human, girl motorcycles wearing false eyelashes, their full lips painted in an exaggerated bow. They wear ribbons.

Shift to children again, eating, laughing, smacking lips. Supersnacks. Followed by more children eating, laughing, smacking lips. Frosted Flakes. Followed by children laughing gleefully over toasted fudge. It pops out of a toaster that talks. (All this is pretty hard on me at 8:30 in the morning!)

Bugs is making a space trip in a rocket. Countdown, computers, remote controls, the works. An animated motorcar is opening his mouth to say "Ah," and a doctor-car pours some medicine into his carburetor. Scooby Doo and gang are dancing to electric rock music complete with dazzling light show.

Rocket trip interrupted. Real children having fun, laughing, eating. Don't skip a good breakfast. "Message delivered by Kellogg's in the interest of good nutrition," says the announcer and he reminds the children that "food is fuel." Well, if Speed Buggy and Wheelies show automobiles as people, why shouldn't our children learn that they're really automobiles? It figures!

Now someone asks, "How about a cheer for Kellogg's Pop Tarts Pastries? And chocolate fudge with vitamins and iron?" Well, frankly I don't feel much like cheering. I can't even face the thought of breakfast.

The singing bananas are back. They're replaced by another singing group—children and grownups together singing the praises of Candy Crunch more fun to munch.

Scooby Doo is being chased by a caveman. Cut to little girls playing, laughing, having good time. Barbie Beauty Center. "Easy to make her up and style her hair. Comes with Barbie's very own makeup" with comb and brush and false eyelashes with beauty book.

TTB cycle—stunt motorcycles. Little plastic men on wheels leaping over obstacles. Children laugh and clap their hands, and squeal excitement as the men welded to their machines teeter and totter, fall over, right themselves. No harm done, no bones broken.

Quickcurl doll is back with all her beauty gear. The little girls playing with her fluff her hair, tease it . . . what a good time they're having!

The sick car, I see, is all better now. I can tell because he opens his eyes and says, "WOW!" The letters appear on his windshield. They look a bit strange to me at first—and then it dawns on me. They're not block print letters; they're not written letters; they're the kinds of letters you see on a computer printout.

Candy Crunch again. "Hi-ya chocolate lovers. Bite after bite! good, rich chocolate."

Another high adventure kit again. "Shoot The Rapids." It's followed by "Cop Fighter." Both come with prefabricated story. "Officially approved by Boy Scouts of America," says the announcer. Boy Scouts dedicated to saving wear and tear on the imagination?

I'm at the end of my time and I've shown you only a little part of the table of contents of stuff the three networks delivered to this country's children during the first two half hours of just one Saturday. If I had had the time to tell you details, I'd have given you the lowdown on six animated cartoon episodes and fifty-six commercials, promos and announcements, beamed to our homes from 8 to 9 a.m.

Each network broadcasts the cartoon episodes six times each. Then the same episodes are rebroadcast repeatedly an indefinite number of times as the local stations buy them for local programming. The commercials? Each of them will be shown perhaps a thousand times before they fade away.

What chance do you think a child growing up in this country today has, to escape exposure to this kind of stuff? Do you think it lies within the power of any parent to control its penetration of the home?

I wonder whether you hear the note of despair in my voice as I say to you once again—as I have said weekly since June 1973—"What our children see in the world depends on what we show them."

What Our Children See: Weekday Soaps

What our children see in the world depends on what we show them.

Today I want to talk about soap operas. It's easy to poke fun at soap operas—what else are you going to do with stuff that relies on this sort of dialogue:

She: "She just didn't understand."

He: "You didn't understand—why should she?"

She: "You let everybody write all over your soul."

He: "Can we forget about the past, then . . . ?"

She: "Sometimes I think I hate you so much I can taste it!"

That's a sample of the kind of talk that blankets this country every day—a grand total of fourteen soap operas broadcast by the three commercial networks.

But I'm going to try to refrain from the temptation to poke fun at those soaps. They've been penetrating America's air space for so long now, that they are very definitely a part of our culture and they must be taken seriously by all Americans. If you think that TV soaps are a heritage of the soap operas of radio days—well, that's true, but only up to a point. Our Gal Sunday would simply spin in her grave if she knew the kind of atmosphere her descendants are wrapping us up in these days. Today's soaps feature multiple marriages, multiple sex, rape, incest and—yes, face lifts!

Oh it's true enough that our television soaps began like their radio ancestors. That meant a quarter-hour episode in their early days, just like radio. In 1956, though, they began to change their format—from the quarter hour to the half-hour package we're accustomed to these days. And they're about to move to an hour-long format as NBC plans to stretch two of their oldies—Days of Our Lives and The Doctors—to fill an hour. That plan is scheduled for January 6, 1975. [By early this year the two soaps were in the hour-long format; eleven other soaps remained as half-hour shows.] Oh—a correction—perhaps I should remind you that the current half-hour format, really means twenty-four minutes; and the new hour-long format really means forty-four minutes. Because the rest of the time goes to the commercials, the real business of television, the real business of the soaps—in fact, that's how the soap operas got their name, as everybody in this country knows—selling laundry products during the commercial interruptions.

The evolution of the television soap opera isn't confined to its changed format from radio days. The themes and values of the soaps have also evolved—and that's what I want to tell you about today.

Now, if I tell you that the fourteen soap operas currently programmed by our three commercial networks are silly and mindless and indistinguishable from each other—well, I'm sure there must be many people listening to me right now who may not agree. When we talk about soap operas, we're talking about taste; and what suits my taste needn't suit yours.

But there's another way to look at soap operas, quite apart from arguments about taste. The soap operas—along with the rest of the daytime fare on television—ah! There's your real children's television today! These are the programs that enter American homes during the hours that preschool children are at home, doing whatever it is that preschool children do; and you know what they do. Preschool children spend every waking minute observing and testing their environment, learning and metabolizing everything in their surroundings.

Preschool children have to learn our language, and that means learning how to think in the manner our language teaches them to think. They have to learn not just a word for "family," they have to learn what a family is, not just the word for mother, for father, for aunt, for uncle, for brother, for sister—they have to learn what these relationships mean sociologically and emotionally. They have to learn how adult human beings behave to each other and to their children, how they react to obligation and duty, how they find and seek joy, how they react to sorrow, how they love and how they make their lives.

If you think your children learn this from your own family—you're quite right. But if you think they learn it only from your family—that's another story, isn't it! They learn it from everything, everyone, and everything in their total habitat. And fourteen formula soap operas a week make quite a chunk of the habitat that all American children grow up in!

Anyone who has ever watched daytime television, knows what the soap operas are all about. Their basic formula is—well, I call it "the into/outta formula." Into/outta—into trouble and outta trouble again. The ingredients that make up the formula are—sin and deception.

Sin and deception come in many forms. But one way they are united in all the soaps—yes, in all fourteen of today's soap operas—centers around the ambiguous nature of paternity.

In the rest of this broadcast I'm going to give you some examples—of the kinds of family commitments beamed into the environment of our children by way of the soaps.

I'll begin with the NBC soap opera, Another World. At first it will sound awfully complicated, but please remember it's no better and no worse, no more complicated and no less complicated, than the other thirteen soaps on the air these days.

Rachel Matthews is the baddie on this one. Rachel-Matthews-that-was, I mean. Maybe you knew her when she was married to her first husband, Russ Matthews. Maybe you remember how their marriage was teetering. Lots of trouble in that marriage—partly because Rachel was having an affair with another man. Rachel was the baddie, so she did the seduction. She seduced Steven Frame.

Now that kind of hopping in and out of bed is very big with the soaps—and it's a funny thing. These women conceive in the blink of an eye—especially when the union is not blessed by marriage—as my mother used to say. Well, Rachel's extramarital gymnastics with Steve are no exception to my mother's rule—and sure enough, she reaps the fruits of sin as she becomes pregnant with Steven Frame's child. Of course Rachel doesn't spill the beans to her husband, Russ. In fact, she hopes that the child's arrival might keep their marriage together—but no, it doesn't work out that way and Russ and Rachel Matthews end up divorced.

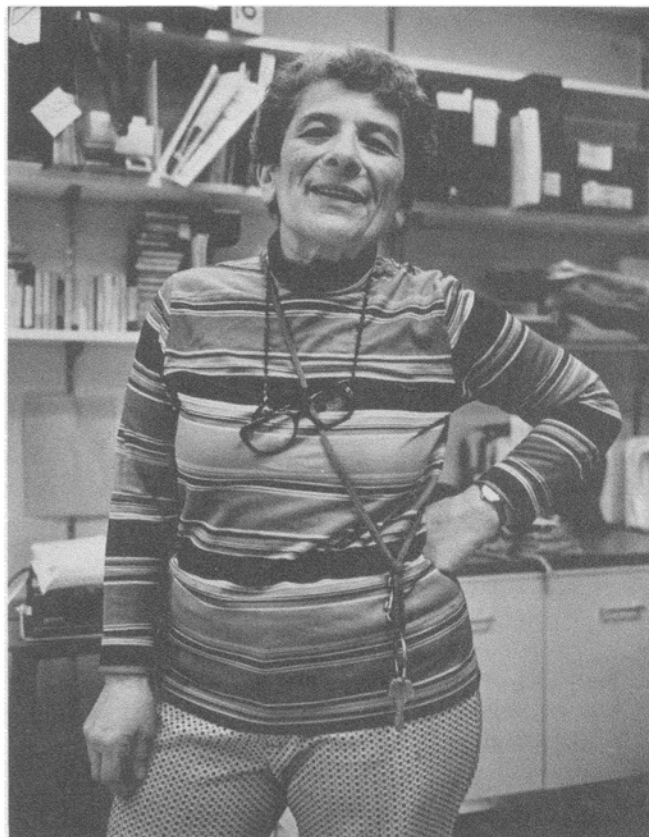

Now a divorce on a soap opera means—you can pretty much count on this—it means a remarriage is waiting in the wings. Rachel is the first to go. She doesn't marry Steve, her former lover and the man who sired her child. She marries another guy. I forget his name—but it doesn't matter; he went into a coma almost immediately and disappeared from the script.

What about Russ Matthews, now free and unattached? Uh-uh. An ambulatory male husband-type, unattached—in the world of the soaps, that's a no-no. So Russ remarries too. Who's the lucky girl? None other than the sister of that man Rachel married—that guy I mentioned who went into a coma. By Russ Matthews' union with that sister, then, this is where we stand: The Matthews child—his name is Jamie—Jamie's new stepfather also becomes his uncle. Jamie Matthews' new stepmother is also his aunt. But not really, you see, since his father wasn't his real father in the first place; his real father was his mother's former lover, Steven Frame. Remember? That was the seduction I mentioned when we started all this.

Now listen. If you can't follow these relationships in detail, don't worry. I can set them out for you only by referring to an intricate genealogical chart I drew up for this broadcast—and it took me several hours to get it straight, I assure you. As for you—all I ask you to do is to sit back and let the general idea hit you that in the world of the daytime serials, a father isn't really a father; and a mother isn't really a mother.

Here's another story for you. Maybe you want to get a pencil this time? I'm going to lay out for you the current entanglements on another soap opera—a CBS one this time, The Guiding Light.

I'll start with just one couple: Leslie Jackson and Ed

The no-nonsense Professor Goldsen. Her bluntly stated views on television have made her well known in the Ithaca area. Students find her accessible in class and office.

Bauer. They get married, Ed starts to hit the bottle. What's eating Ed, driving him to drink that way? Well, he feels guilty about that affair he's having with Janet. I forget her last name. Leslie tries to help her husband, Ed, fight the juice. Wifely loyalty? Not exactly. For one thing, you see, she's pregnant. For another, she's in love—not with her husband but with her husband's brother, Michael Bauer, her brother-in-law.

The baby is born in due course, name of Frederick. At first it looks as if his arrival might unite the Bauers. But you and I know that sort of thing won't wash in a soap opera; and the Bauers, too, end up divorced. This time, though, it's a triple play—Tinkers to Evers to Chance. Did you get that pencil? Ready.

Leslie remarried first—no not, Michael, the man she loves. She marries a newcomer to the script—Stanley Norris—but don't bother to remember his name because he's promptly murdered. Lucky, in a way, that murder; since in just that lapse of time, Michael—Leslie's former brother-in-law and the man she loves—Michael has had the time to go through his own divorce. So the coast is clear for him and Leslie to hook up together. No sooner said than done—Leslie marries Michael—he's her third husband now—and she's Leslie Bauer again because he and Ed, being brothers, have the same last name.

So here's where we stand with that family. Frederick, the child that might have kept Leslie and her first husband together—Frederick is now both stepson and nephew to Michael. Because Michael, you see, started out as his uncle; but now as the new husband of Frederick's mother, Uncle Michael has become stepfather Michael. Ed Bauer, Frederick's real father, is now uncle to Frederick—because Ed Bauer is still brother to Michael, Frederick's new step-father. And Leslie Bauer, married to her first husband's brother—well, she's still mother to Frederick since she gave birth to him; but she's also now his aunt, since her new husband is Frederick's uncle.

Do these criss-crossings smack of incest, as brothers end up in bed with the same woman? Well, you don't have to rely on such oblique summonings of the incest theme. We have it outright at 4 o'clock over NBC when the kids come home from school. Somerset.

Heather Lawrence is the baddie on this one. She's about to break up Dr. Parker's marriage. Why? Heather is in a psychological dither, you see, because her own boyfriend, Greg Mercer, has suddenly pulled out of their affair. Without a word of explanation! What else can a baddie do under these circumstance but break up someone else's marriage?

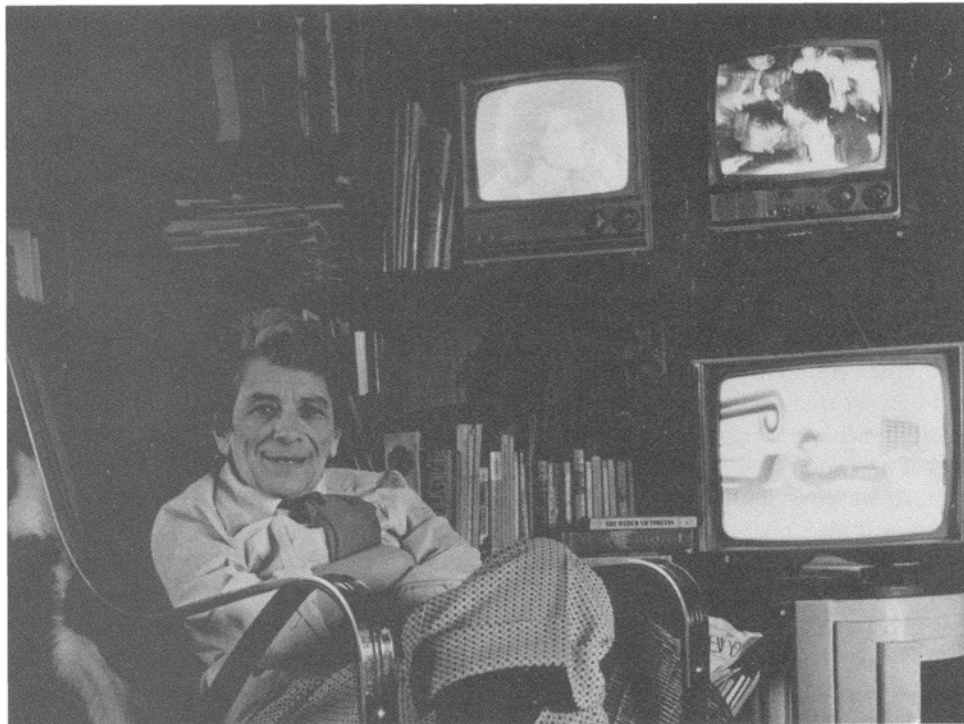

Here's why Greg pulled away. Turns out that Greg Mercer and Heather Lawrence aren't only lovers—they're brother and sister. Wait a minute! It's not a full relationship, only a half-relationship. They turn out to have had the same father, but different mothers. Greg found out about it but Heather doesn't know and Greg wants to shield her from the knowledge of the incestuous nature of the bond between them.

Listen—if you find all this confusing, about who is related to whom and what these relationships mean in terms of human emotions—well, what do you think might be happening to the mental maps our preschool children are beginning to lay down as they develop their own sense of the emotional meanings in human relationships? These little children have to learn not just the words, but the “music” of family relationships. They have to learn not just the words, but the “music” of fatherhood and motherhood; of unclehood and aunt-hood; they have to learn not just the words, but the “music” of human bonds and commitments and loyalties; they have to learn not just the words, but the “music” of the different kinds of love and commitment we develop—parents, lovers, husbands and wives, brothers and sisters, friends and relatives, children and grown-ups.

Yes—the stuff I've told you about today—that's the real stuff of children's television in this country. Fourteen serials every day, five days a week, year after year after year, serials that banalize emotion, sterilize sin, and mock commitment. All interrupted by commercials.

Are you thinking it's all so trivial, why do I make such a fuss, nobody really believes that nonsense? Well, maybe so. But I'd like to leave you with this thought. If that stuff were broadcast in French, every child in the United States today would be a fluent French speaker. Yes, every child! Whether or not he believed in French! Whether your home television screen tunes in those serials or tunes them out.

What our children see in the world depends on what we show them.

Whatever Became of the Peace Corps?

"What, you mean the Peace Corps still exists?" I have heard that question often since my recent return home after more than two years in Africa as a Peace Corps volunteer and trainer. Aside from the occasional home-town newspaper item about a local volunteer, the Peace Corps seems to have become almost as invisible as other '60s groups, from SDS to the National Guard.

To be sure, budget cuts and program terminations in some countries have diminished the Peace Corps in recent years. The number of volunteers is about half the number that was spread around the world in 1966. Still, about 7,000 volunteers do continue to involve themselves in sixty-nine countries and, as far as I could tell, the Peace Corps' commitment to the populations it serves is unchanged.

I had applied to the Peace Corps shortly before my graduation from the Arts college in 1972, and the Corps responded with an invitation to teach English in Zaire, the former Belgian Congo. A six-week training program in the Virgin Islands (which included six hours each day of French-language instruction and training in teaching English as a foreign language, or TEFL) was followed by more training in Zaire. Finally, in September 1972 another volunteer and I endured a few rugged hours in a Land-rover and arrived in Butembo to begin our assignments. Butembo is a town in the province of Kivu, 30 kilometers west of the Uganda border, 20 north of the equator, 100 from the nearest airstrip, and 350 from the nearest paved road.

Once in Butembo I quickly revised my original image of an assignment in Africa. We did not live in grass huts, as I had supposed, but like most volunteers had a solid brick house. We usually had running water (it rained almost constantly), we often had electricity, and at 6,000 feet above sea level we didn't experience the sultry weather I had expected. (In fact, the evening and early morning chill made me regret having included only one sweater in my eighty-pound luggage allotment.) My partner and I considered ourselves lucky. Not all volunteers were as comfortably situated in their work and their domicile—even in the modern Peace Corps.

The school itself was well equipped, and the students, most of high school age, were serious. Classes ranged from twenty-six to fifty-two students. I taught English to a number of classes and, surprisingly, I taught microbiology. My studies as a psychology major at Cornell had hardly prepared me for the latter, but where teachers are scarce anyone who can read a text well enough to reformulate and summarize the contents is considered qualified.

I discovered that the teacher—presiding from a raised platform—is considered infallible. There is little teacher-student give and take. Learning tends to be by rote; students memorize the available books and whatever the teacher happens to write on the blackboard. Although they have excellent memories, the students are often not able to apply what they have learned to a new situation or problem. They expect examinations to pose questions identical in letter and number to those discussed in class.

Day-to-day life in Zaire presented its own cross-cultural hurdles. For one thing, I had to adjust to being conspicuous—I was more than a foot taller than 99 per cent of the people around me, and white skinned, blue-eyed, and left-handed as well. My attempts at humor were seldom understood, especially at first. But, since part of the Peace Corps' job is to encourage a cross-cultural exchange, I tried to introduce in my classes the typically American emphasis on understanding and application rather than on strict acquisition of facts. I persisted with my straight-faced delivery of jokes. And I like to think that before my tour in the Peace Corps ended I had learned something about what makes Zairians laugh and why they cry, about poverty and disease, and about patience.

Class Notes

Addresses in the following columns are in New York State unless otherwise noted.

'02 AB, MF '13—J P Kinney celebrated his 99th birthday in Sept 1974 by publishing his most recent book, Like Other Men—The American Indian Resented Restraint. Within the past few yrs he has also published Facing Indian Facts, and My First Ninety-Five Years. After 61 yrs with the fedl govt Kinney is now leading an active life in his boyhood home of Hartwick.

'05 AB—William A Vawter II, 605 Whitcomb Tower, 509 Ship St, St Joseph, Mich, was honored recently by his fellow Twin City Rotarians. The luncheon given for him commemorated his Rotary Club presidency 50 yrs ago. Vawter explained that he had been elected to an unprecedented 2nd term as pres in 1936 as an economy move to spare the club the cost of a diamond-studded past-pres pin. Made pres of Baker-Vawter in 1921, he was elected scy when the co merged with Remington Rand.

'07 ME—Frederick G Shull lives in New Haven, Conn, and is still actively championing the cause of the gold standard as the only "sound and honest basis" for our "yardstick-of-value, the American dollar." In a Nov 7, 1974, article in the Cheshire Herald (Conn), he reviews the history of the US relationship to the gold standard since 1776 and quotes leading economists and US presidents through the yrs including Adam Smith, Alexander Hamilton, Andrew D White, Franklin D Roosevelt, Walter E Spahr. Shull then proposes that the only solution for today's inflation is a return to the gold standard. To do this, he says, the US should flood the gold markets of the world with some 10,000 tons of the gold lying idle in Ft Knox in order to force the price of gold down to $35 an ounce. Shull feels we must enlist the aid of those countries we "saved under the Marshall Plan," and then Congress must pass the necessary legislation. It all should take less than 2 yrs. The result would be "a monumental accomplishment . . . and we could celebrate our bicentennial anniv with our heads held high."

Calendar

Huntington Woods, Mich: Glee Club "Hangovers" will perform for CC of Mich at 3 pm, Mar 16. Call Jon Kaplan '73 (313) 852-7142 (evenings).

Buffalo, NY: Dean Kermit C Parson, MRP '53, Architecture, will address CC of Western NY at luncheon, Mar 19. Call Joseph E Ryan '65 (716) 855-3466.

Baltimore, Md: Prof Blanchard Rideout, PhD '36, Romance studies, emeritus, will address CC of Md, Mar 21. Call Milton E Hilliard Jr '68 (301) 765-6270.

White Plains, NY: CAA of Westchester will sponsor a concert to benefit their scholarship fund at 8:30 pm in the Highlands School, Mar 21. A reception for alumni will follow the concert. Call William M Bellamy Jr '53 (914) 238-3087.

Phoenix, Ariz: CC of Maricopa Cty will host a reception for the baseball team, Mar 22. Call Craig Adair Jr '42 (612) 955-0575.

Houston, Texas: Prof Frank Drake '51, dir, Arecibo observatory, will address CC at dinner, Mar 26. Call CL Rappole '65 (713) 465-2276.

Schenectady, NY: Prof Urie Bronfenbrenner '38, human dev and family studies, will address CWC and CC at 8 pm in Niskayuna HS, Mar 31. Call Mrs Donald Behan '62 (518) 377-2043.

Evidently these Class Notes attract some attention outside of our class. Judi Gichner Kauffman '68 notes her enthusiasm and pride (?) in them, and her hopes that her class can match our experience.

Let us see what some of our classmates report, starting alphabetically. As can be expected in our late 80s, much news is not good.

Morris Adams, health fair, about as in '73 after escape from hosp. With a chef, housekeeper, and practical nurse he avoids a nursing home, even drives a car a mile to town, Princess Anne, Md. "Curly" Amsler still gets around but without much pep. Will look in on him and Irene in Winter Park on our Feb tour of Fla. Emily Andrews Durbin received condolence on the death Jan 6 of her father Joe Greenwich, Conn: Prof Charles C Russell, communication arts, will address CC of Fairfield Cty, Apr 4. Call Mrs Egbert T Curtis '27 (203) 637-1016.

Washington, DC: Prof Theodore J Lowi, gov-ernment, will address CC, Apr 9. Call John Rasmus '63 (703) 683-3891.

Geneseo, NY: Prof Daniel G Sisler, PhD '62, ag economics, will address CC of Livingston Cty, evening of Apr 10. Call Thomas K Coyne '55 (716) 926-3957.

Buffalo, NY: Dean Justin Davidson, Business and Public Admin, will address CC of Western NY at luncheon, Apr 16. Call Joseph E Ryan '65 (716) 855-3466.

Westchester Cty, NY: Douglas Lancaster, dir, Lab of Ornithology, will address CAA of Westchester, Apr 16. Call William M Bellamy Jr '53 (914) 238-3087.

Los Angeles, Cal: G Richard Gottschalk will address CC of Southern Cal, Apr 17. Call Keith Seegmiller '51 (213) 355-9477.

Syracuse, NY: Prof Drake will address CC of Central NY at dinner, Apr 17. Call Nathaniel E White '41 (315) 637-6211.

Andrews, our most recent loss. Moritz Ankele has passed the 90 mark but is still up to traveling to any part of the world, and expects to see a dozen of us in Ithaca in June. Paul Bancel has not let Fla, Cal, or Ariz entice him from enjoyment of children and grandchildren (not great-grandchildren?) near home in Montclair, NJ.

Chuck and Ethel Bennett make up any Bancel deficit with 7 children, 18 of 23 grandchildren and 8 of 10 great-grandchildren for their 60th anniv on June 23. Emphysema slows Chuck up but he tends a big garden, growing vegetables for themselves, relatives, and friends. Attendance at more Ithaca Reunions is doubtful. Jim Benny makes it to 90 in June, has good health, the same wife since 1914, a driving license good to June '77. Characteris-tically Walt Bernardi's message is illustrated by one of his inimitable cartoons showing him balanced on a big ball (Social Security), juggling two others (veteran's and Genl Motors' pensions), making easy going as long as he can stay on top. With no family Walt should make out. Dick Bishop's check comes with no message, doubtless due to my unfortunate inability to take advantage of many annual invitations to his Vt summer camp.

Harold Blake holds out hope for some post-holiday "item of interest for bread makers," what- or who-ever they may be. Nothing more to date. Ed Bullis made good a promise to look in holiday week, lunched with us Dec 28, Ankele his next stop that same busy day. Myra Callis advises us without detail of her and our loss of Dr Henry Callis, Nov 12, 1974.

On Jan 11 we received a dues check from Sam Cohen dated Jan 6, 1974. Harry DeWitt continues slow improvement from his stroke of Aug '73, lengthening his walks with the Mrs and cane. Earl Emerson is making #120 Horizon House, 31 Island Way, Clearwater, Fla, his yr-round address. He has failed much recently, walks so little he let Liette go to lunch with us without him. Her devoted care is his best asset. "Butch" Evans will be with us in Ithaca next June "if at all possible." Bill Halsey has been ret'd for over 2 yrs, such unheard of prematurity for a lawyer no doubt due to a Sept cataract operation with further surgery imminent.

On Jan 9 came word from Ithaca of our loss on July 5 of our husky Jack Hooker. No details, not the usual mention of a widow, if any. It is hoped that my condolence to Mary does not bring response of her predecease. Gene Jackson is still producing and, gratifyingly, selling lots of woodcuts. We will try to see him at his Feb hqtrs at Longboat Key, Fla.

We rarely had word from Loring Jones but he regularly looked in on us on his way from winter qtrs in Dunedin, Fla, to his summer spot at Lake George. Daughter Lila sent greetings with his dues, reported that he had been hospitalized four times in '74 (for what?), better now but unable to live alone, she taking over since July. Ken Livermore is still the leading producer of sunflower seeds, grows enough else on his 400 acres to insure the family against hunger. He concerns himself very seriously about world affairs and those at Cornell.

The last of my columns will appear next month.

MEN and WOMEN: Waldemar H Fries, 86 Cushing St, Providence, RI 02906

Early in Dec your correspondent and his wife left the wintry climes for Fla, destination the Hiisboro Club at Pompano Beach. Soon after arrival there was a reunion with Garrett Claypool. He has made his winter home in these parts for some yrs since the winter quarters for some of his racing horses are at a nearby track. Garrett is somewhat handicapped with a hip injury and failing eyesight, but in fine spirits. From Providence there were forwarded to us many Christmas greetings from classmates. There was the lovely card from Charlie Gross with a photo of the 60th wedding anniv last June 30. Others from Rodney Walbridge of Sheffield, Mass, and Roy Anthony now living in Gainesville, Fla. Jac Holman of Anna Maria, Fla, writes that his daughter had another book published by Scribners.

Besides Anthony and Holman there are other classmates either living or wintering in Fla. These we hope to see before returning north, including Larry Bandler, who winters in Clearwater, and Miron Canaday who lives in Winter Park. Finally, from Frank Oates comes word that he has moved from South Salem, and that his new address is Box 161, West Stockbridge, Mass. He writes, "Except for the prospect of cataract surgery everything OK. Oh to be 80 again." Frank, you are not far from Rodney Walbridge.

MEN and WOMEN: Charles J Fox, 11 W Washington, Ellicottville, NY 14731

Melita Skillen's column continues with a number of items and musings on our class. Again, our thanks to her for collecting the news and sending it on:

I've not heard from Stella Heilbrunn Marshak lately and I miss her letters because, as Harriet Bircholdt says, she has a real literary sense. I wonder how many of you hear occasionally from Mil Evans Roberts. As you know she is much troubled by rheumatoid arthritis and is confined to the house. But somehow she manages to suggest a fresh attitude toward things in genl and seems to keep abreast of current happenings. I always enjoy hearing from her.

A number of our classmates have found things easier for them in nursing homes. The most recent is Emma Speed who is now in the Lakeside Nursing Home, Trumansburg Rd, Ithaca. It must have been a great wrench for her to leave the dear home on East State St and have it go into the hands of strangers. We all have many happy associations with that home. May you have every comfort in your new location, Emma, and may you find delightful companionship there. I'm sure every corner of your room has a happy thought for you coming from those of us who have loved you through the yrs and for whom you have done so many kind things.

I'm sorry none of us had realized that Florence Wyckoff Upson had given up her home. She is now living in the Connelly Nursing Home in Lakemont. We'd all appreciate it very much, Florence, if you could manage to let us have a message from you. We shall be thinking of you and sending all sorts of good wishes in your direction.

I think Fannie Holland Curtis must feel the warmth of that affection because so many of us send her pleasant thoughts so often. I keep thinking about her eye operations and hoping she has recovered at least partial vision with the removal of the cataracts.

Thank you, Mildred Mosier, for your never-failing interest in all of us. You probably endure more pain and make fewer complaints than any of us. And I think we're the least complaining group of people. Mildred has enjoyed her home from the beginning, perhaps partially because it gives her an opportunity for service.

Martha Dick has had a very heavy heart this fall, saddened by the loss of her younger sister, Florence. I hope the knowledge of our caring will warm your heart, Martha.

May Wilhelmine Wissmann Yoakum never lose her zest. She doesn't write often but always her letters give a lift, mental or spiritual, for which I'm very grateful. I'd like to pass them on to you in toto.

An Inez Kisselburgh's rare notes make me proud to know her.

By the way, some of you have been lucky enough to meet Sarah Barnholt Roohan's son, Jim. It's a joy to know that such young men exist and that Sarah is fortunate enough to have one of her own. He takes his mother to Reunions on the campus and sees to it that she has a share in whatever is going on. His day-by-day care for her is beautiful to contemplate and he never seems to fail. Thank you, Jim, for all of us.

I've no news to pass on to you about Brownie Brickman or Helen Dudley Bull, Grace Bennett Landergren, Sarah Fraser Ferguson, or the others, but they'll know they're not forgotten.

14

MEN: Mead W Stone, 138 Arthur St, Garden City, NY 11530

Bill Myers sent me the following info from the class dues remittances, and also this message: "If you have not paid your dues, please pay them now."

Two who expected to attend the Feb luncheon with their wives are Ted Crippen and Harry Chapin. Don Rice and wife on a long trip—Rio, East Africa, Addis Ababa, and a camera safari through game farms. Busy in local activities. Hez Dow writes that arteriosclerosis keeps his legs from moving very fast but otherwise he is pretty well preserved.

Carl Ward busy as usual between England, Quebec, Me, Pa State U, and Cornell. Still active in Engg Coll council, Cornell U, and civic activities.

Meredith Wilson, with the help of his son, still operates the family farm at Salem. Prof Alex Laurie ret'd to Sarasota but still writes a weekly column for Florist Review. Hadley Stephenson remains active as consultant to Cornell research lab for diseases of dogs.

Although illness prevented Harry Drescher from attending the 60th you probably saw him at the Feb luncheon. Larry Eddy is now corresponding with his coll roommate Bill Davidson who is living in Santa Domingo. Christmas letter from Ed Stapley enclosed photo showing Ed and wife on beach in Hawaii looking very fit.

"Kip" Keplinger active in local real estate development. Sell Woollen enjoyed a Fla trip to Key Biscayne early in 1975. Sherwood Smith an active bd mbr of the Nyack hosp.

Jim Burton is a busy supporter of Catholic charities in Bradford, Pa. Stoddard Stevens busy with Cornell and civic affairs in NYC. Albert Regulo really enjoys retirement. "Speedy" Swift and wife Gladys operate a farm in Middleport, producing and selling apples and cherries. Bob Sinclair and wife Anni shuttle back and forth between US and Europe. Is Asen keeps up with professional assns.

MEN: Arthur Cushing Peters, 3536 79th St, Jackson Hts, NY 11372

The Ides of March found most '15ers, like other prudent octogenarians, eager to implement the Pres's mandate, to WIN! They wanted to hear the sober truths spelled out specifically in his State of the Union address. It did not take long to learn that a simple four-letter word holds most of the answers to our economic problems. It is WORK. The public focus is now on a three-letter word—JOB. The alternatives for young or old, male or female, are find one or create one yourself. All this, including cost cutting, tax reduction, and increasing production, entails a fine understanding of the Golden Rule and the Rule of Gold!

In the "dirty '30s" recovery was sparked by int'l monetary readjustment, the rebirth of exports and imports, and the development of new products, both agricultural and industrial. Increased travel by air, boat, and bus, as well as expansion of communications in all forms from radio to tv and publications, plus leisure sports, created new job opportunities. Golf, football, and even tennis and Victory gardening became Big Business. Many Cornellians were prominent in all these activities. Can't you recall dozens of leaders in your own and neighboring "teen" classes from early '15 Class Preses DeForest W Abel, hd of his big ins co and William H Cosgrove, former pres of Swindell Dreshler Steel Co of Pittsburgh (now consultant on new products with Russia, China, etc) to H Follette Hodgkins, former chmn, Lipe Rollway Bearing Co of Syracuse and John Collyer '17 former chmn, BF Goodrich Co, a dir of JP Morgan Co, etc. If you didn't know some of those who became dirs, advisors, and proprietors of successful institutions, as well as profs and politicians, better come back to Reunion 60 and get "rebriefed" for the next round of econ developments.

Who's coming? At least 85 classmates and spouses have tentatively agreed to be present, if humanly possible. This, before the annual 1915 News and Dues appeal went out from Ithaca Jan 29. If not yet received, please contact Asst Treas Robert Hendrickson, to whom all dues should be sent promptly. Mar 25 will be latest date for roll call and pre-Reunion 60 news for May publication. This is the time to scan the lists and try to join up with friends seeking companionship enroute to Ithaca. Two or three have already made travel dates for before, during, and after Reunion 60. Accommodations may be had now at '15 hdqtrs, Clara Dickson Hall. Reservations or arrangements elsewhere are on your own. Asst dir of alumni affairs, Duane Davis, 626 Thurston Ave (Alumni House) has been extremely cooperative. Meanwhile, Chmn Williams, Scty Arthur Wilson, Asst Treas Robert Hendrickson, and your scribe are conferring constantly on guests, guest speakers, food and drink, dinners, and other entertainment problems. Even emergency med and transportation facilities are being studied to assure your comfort and well-being. It's all your party! Come and enjoy it! There will be dozens of friends you didn't know you had. Today, that's important.

Even the great Glee Club, after its successful southern tour and post-concert reception for 300 Jan 20 at Shell Point Village where it was hosted by the CC of Southwest Fla will seem like campus-days buddies as they render the old songs you loved so well (and a few new ones), during Reunion. Art Wilson brought honor to '15 in his cooperation with the Club, of which he was a former pres, by helping to secure accommodations and arranging for entertainment at 5 concerts. At the time tourism had preempted almost all facilities and he had just begun moving into his new luxury condominium. His new address will be 4703 Junonia, Shell Point Village, Ft Myers, Fla.

These gatherings are a mecca for Cornellians of all ages wintering in Fla. Fifteneers included M Raymond Riley of Deerfield Beach, Fla, and Spring Lake, NJ, who drove down for the concert and to see Art, "Rocky," and others. He's scheduled for Ithaca, too. So is our much-traveled Californian exec of the US Olympians and Old Time Athletes Alan F Williams of San Marino, who sent Xmas greetings to all and explained he had omitted European and Asian tours this yr because of unsettled conditions. Instead he attended dozens of Reunions and mtgs in this country of his old WWI regiment and Sea Bees Battalion from Portland and LA to Daytona Beach, Fla. He added 14,490 mi to his long log, 10,774 by air and 3,716 by bus or car, not counting what he did on foot. We expect him at Reunion 60, barring accidents. Recently "rediscovered" '15ers are Carlos M Castillo of Merida, Yucatan, and Theodore Kunhardt of Mexico City, D F Paul Wing, and Col Luis Cianchini of Puerto Rico and D C.

We hope all will get back to "The One and Only Reunion 60" and allow us to rediscover classmates whose careers merit publicity in our bicentennial yr, while we still have a column to assist. Incidentally, some 25 coeds of 1915, still active, may well deserve "rediscovery." We hope to see all in June. "Hasta luego."

This photo of 44th Reunion was taken by the late Charles Eppleur. You'll recognize most of them. Some have passed on; we miss them. At head of table is Francis E Minneka (Hon '16), Class of 1916 prof of English emeritus. Please send your scribe a photo, yesterday, if possible, at least by tommorrow!

Mabel and Harold Cole hope to see you at our 60th; in the meantime are "staying put

Activities

The Cornell Assn of Class Officers (CACO) visibly continued its strong support of the univ and its growth as a focal point of alumni activity with over 300 in attendance at the annual mid-winter meeting of class officers, Jan 18 in NYC.

Notable among the speakers of the day were Provost David C Knapp and Trustee Robert L Sproull '40, president and chief exec officer of the U of Rochester. Special guests at the luncheon included Pres Dale R Corson and many members of the bd of trustees.

Retiring CACO Pres Albert G Preston Jr '35 was honored at the luncheon. A resolution of appreciation from the CACO bd of directors was presented to Preston by Lilyan H Affinito '53, CACO pres-elect.

"Creative Class Communications" was the topic of Prof Jack A Barwind, communications arts, speaker at the morning session. Class officers met for workshops and class meetings after lunch.

Academic Delegates

G Ruhland Rebmann Jr '19 at the inauguration of the president of the Medical College of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, Jan 29, 1975.

Jessie L Lancaster Jr, PhD '51 at the investiture of the president of the U of Arkansas, Feb 2, 1975.

R Alexander Anderson '16 at the inauguration of the president of the U of Hawaii, Mar 15, 1975.

mostly and in good health." Mary and Donald Hammond spent July and Aug at Wianno Club, Wianno, Mass, and hope to repeat in 1975. Don is consultant on community and publ relms to Joseph E Seagram and Sons for their two Md plants. Otherwise ret'd and taking it easy. Mary and Don will be on hand in June 1976. Jessie Bremer gives us the sad news that Harry has been in a nursing home for two yrs. She has an apt nearby so she sees him often. Best wishes Harry for better health during 1975 from 1916!

Nancy and George Bradley: "Taking care of a sizable garden and helping entertain grandchildren on their occasional visits. To Albuquerque to attend weddings of two granddaughters and to visit son and family including our first great-granddaughter." Please try to make the 60th!

Grace and Rowland Bennett: "I suffered a severe stroke in '67 so my activities have been considerably curtailed. Grandson Cloby Rowland Hoyt marries last Sept; twin sister and baby came from Cal to attend. We had a real 'gathering of the clan' with children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren from Mass and upstate NY. Son William Bennett is '54." Louise and Alan Brown were in Ky and Buffalo last summer and hoped to spend Jan and Feb in Fla. Will try to attend 60th. Fred Griffith: "Ret'd and taking it easy." You live in Utica and your many friends are sure you'll attend our 60th! Carl Harvey, MD, has ret'd, spent 3 wks in Australia Apr '74, and will return to Ithaca for his 60th! If any '16er isn't well, Doc Harvey will cure you with Harvey's Bristol Cream. Frances and John Harding:

"Leading a quiet life at Indian Rocks Beach, Fla. Take a swim almost every day and oil painting is my hobby. Feel more contented staying near home."

Irene and Willis Henderson: "Enjoying retirement! Have garden with over 100 dahlias and a fine batch of red raspberries and expect another crop in the fall." Willis is a member of the Ox5 Aviation Pioneers and invited me to join. Wonder if Buddy Fay, Van Hart, or John Van Horson are members.

Harris Hiscock: "Retd as dir, Skaneateles Savings Bank after 45 yrs. Now am hon trustee. Heart condition and inoperative gall bladder limit travel. Am happy that daughter Allie lives with me—we are both amateur ornithologists. Sorry I can't attend 60th! Maude and James Hoover: "We fish and play around with our 38-ft cruiser for which I am chief maintenance man. Buffalo Launch Club is available for good meals. Seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild keep us busy when on the water. Fla or Ariz winter of '74-75. Ithaca for our joyous 60th!"

Cornelia and Clarence Hotson: "Aside from taking care of garden and orchard, I'm trying to publicize a spelling reform system of my invention called 'Riht Ryting.' Recently wrote 20-page pamphlet expounding the system. Grandson at Cornell and we'll be there in June '76 for a wonderful visit with good friends." Agnes and Arthur Jones: "We miss Margaret and Birge Kinne in the old neighborhood and are looking forward to visiting with you both and many '16 friends at our 60th in '76." Alice and Maurice Kraft will be at our 60th; he pays dues even though he is a Life Member.

MEN: Donald L Mallory, Rte 1, Box 304, Lakeville, Conn 06039

I have just received the highly encouraging report of the Cornell Fund for Jan. The Class of 1917 suddenly woke up in the month of Dec and contributed $23,000. Only five classes exceeded this. Our total is now $29,000, and another month like Dec will assure our reaching our $50,000 goal. Thanks for this re-awakening go to the many phothoners all over the country.

This column, unlike those of many Ivy League schools, does not dwell on the deaths of classmates, leaving these items for the obituary editor. However, I have received letters from Charlie Capen and Ells Filby telling of the passing of three CEs in Dec: "Dutch" Brandt, George Barton, and Goichi Nakamoto, the latter two on the same day. This is a great loss to our class, and especially to the CEs, a very closely knit group. Cornelians surviving Goichi are his daughter Mrs Ruth Nakamoto Hiraoka '42 who has lived next door to Goichi and his wife Yukino in Honolulu, and his brother Hayato Fujiwara '24 of Japan. Among George Barton's Cornell relatives are two sons Irving T '32, and John T '37, both CEs in Montour Falls.

Charlie and Ruth Capen have fallen so deeply in love with Fla that they are planning to sell their home in the Jersey mtns and reside permanently at 5860 Midnight Pass Rd, Sarasota. They have sent out a beautiful poem about their travels through the US. I hope he will be with us at our Baby Reunion to read it himself, but if he cannot make it, I will read it to you.

Charles Rowland, ret'd Penn State prof, does part-time consulting work and tax acctg at State Coll, Pa. He bowls in a retirees bowling league with about 100 members all over 65, 14 of them including Charlie being over 80. "Many of us do not make high scores" says Charlie, "but we have lots of fun." Seven of his eleven grandchildren are girls.

Al Mitchell now claims to be semi-ret'd, but he still does a little riding with the crew on cattle work on his ranch in Albert, NM. His two children and ten grandchildren are good cowboys or cowgirls. "You have to raise and train your own cowhands now if you are needing them" says Al. The Mitchells spend some time in southern Cal, and they traveled to Cozumel off the coast of Yucatan. They always summer in Madison on the Conn shore.

The George Colemans took a summer cruise to Iceland, Scandinavia, Finland, and Northern Europe. After a week of fog, high winds, and poor conditions, the weather cleared as they crossed the Arctic Circle so they had a wonderful view of the midnight sun from the North Cape. They have now visited the northernmost and the southernmost towns in the world. Between trips they reside in Punta Gorda, Fla.

Charlie Ramsey is practically ret'd in Westport, Conn, although he owns a share in an apple orchard in northern NY. He is still adding to his collection of books on WW I aviation. His son, the artist, has recently had shows at the Bridgeport Museum of Science and Industry and at the museum in Greenwich, and is a member of the Silvermine Guild of Norfolk.

Bunny and I have just returned from a 6-wk trip to Cal. We cruised on the magnificent Norwegian ship Royal Viking Star from Ft Lauderdale, stopping at several Caribbean ports, making a transit through the Panama Canal, and spending one day at Acapulco and another at Puerto Vallarta. Herb and Dot Ballantine were also on this cruise, staying on to San Francisco, but we disembarked at Los Angeles to be met by our daughter on a 35-ft motor sloop, the top of whose high mast just reached up to the dining room windows of the ship. Cal was sunny but cold, and we were glad to get back to Conn where the temperature was 20 degrees higher.

MEN: Joseph Lorin, 8454 Avon St, Jamaica, NY 11432

Harry Mattin sent me a picture he received from Les Fisher showing Les and wife Marge all dolled up in their Fla best. Writes Les: "Fla living is mighty nice at this time of the yr, but we're not prepared for yr-round living here quite yet." Harry, always looking ahead to the class picnic in Sept, asked me to send the pix to him to be posted at the picnic.

Although I have a soft spot for poets, I must draw the line on poetry in this column. The editors think they are not germane to class notes. [Our bias against poetry has to do with the amount of space required to print it. If the column is short and the correspondent submits poetry, it is printed.—Ed.]

The Bentram York Kinzeys of Richmond, Va, did a lot of shuttling back and forth from coast to coast. The latest shuttle was in Oct for the christening of grandson Shawn Allen Bennet. Bertram still writes the semi-monthly column for the Contractor and does individual consulting but has cut down on mgt seminars.

WOMEN: Irene M Gibson, 119 S Main St, Holley, NY 14470

We thought you'd like to know that a Rochester co-ed Vanessa Tassone '78 is living in our Class of 1918 Hall. She won a scholarship from the Lamont Educ Fund and will graduate, we suppose, the yr of our 60th Reunion! Her maj is statistics-biometry. Reaction to univ life after the first few wks: "So much is going on!" For instance, the midnight Halloween concert on the chimes which she got to view right in the bell tower, and even was allowed to play the bells!

Wasn't that our freshman reaction, too? Such a lot going on! The schedule of events seemed overwhelming. Well do I remember pausing every wk in Goldwin Smith to view the posted list of lectures, organ recitals, events in Barnes Hall, and all such.

Your cards and year-end reviews have been enjoyed. Mildred Stevens Essick hasn't found those expected hours of leisure, enabling her to "get all my backlog of corr answered." Instead, her "list of things to do gets longer all the time. It really is not so bad as it sounds. I do enjoy having some free time, but there is a tendency for friends and assocs to say, 'You aren't working any more, so how about . . .?' Volunteer work is great, though."

Dagmar Schmidt Wright and family celebrated the 80th birthday of Oliver '20 "with all the family, friends, and neighbors." Congratulations, Oliver! The wk that Dagmar wrote that note she was having the CWC for their annual Christmas party.

Ruth Williams Snow is hoping she "can attend our 60th Reunion" to see us all. Of course we can't see what the future holds but "right now," writes Ruth, "I feel terrific. I drive to neighboring towns to shop and may even venture to Glendale (where the Snows used to live) by myself. It's 160 miles. Harold usually takes me, but I believe I can do it alone when he's busy with our orange grove." Daughter Judy and her family are well. The three grandchildren are growing fast: "Kristy is 13, almost as tall as her mother. Ricky is 12, interested in art, ceramics, to be exact, while Sandy is interested in all kinds of crafts . . . We spent Thanksgiving with them in Moraga. Porterville is a good place; people are friendly and considerate."

More next time. Right now we want to urge all classmates to contribute to the Cornell Fund this spring—this month, if possible. Our class has made a wonderfully good start. Let's make it another banner yr for 1918!

MEN: Colonel L Brown, 22 Sierra Vista Lane, Valley Cottage, NY 10989

We start the column on a sad note. During the past 4 mos three widely-known classmates have passed away. William E Wright of Savannah Beach, Ga, passed away in early Sept. He was a brother of Chilton Wright, and was a chief forester and land bank appraiser. G Fred Ensworth of Westfield, Mass, was stricken in mid-Sept. In coll days he was one of our baseball greats. He was a ret'd his principal. Richard P Dyckman of Plainfield, NJ, died Dec 29, 1974. He was a former mayor of Plainfield, and a ret'd vp of L A Dreyfus Co, makers of base materials for chewing gum. In his younger days he made a lengthy search for sources of chicle among the haunts of the head hunters of Borneo. All three were active in class affairs, and all of us are going to miss them.

According to current info, our spring luncheon for the NY area will be Apr 30, 1975 in Englewood, NJ. Plan to attend. Details will be given soon in a letter from Mike Hendrie, our pres.

The univ can still use additional funds for repairing and maintaining the great bell and chimes in the Libr Tower. If you can spare the money, this is a worthwhile cause.

It is nice to hear from classmates who are already planning to attend the 60th Reunion. Earl Evans of Alexandria, Va, and Daniel Dargue of Boca Raton, Fla, mentioned their intentions in recent epistles.

Alfred Saperston of Buffalo, John Shepard of NY, Larry Luce of Summit, NJ, Willard Peare of Ho-Ho-Kus, NJ, Ezra Day, of Glenside, Pa, and Ruhland Rebmann of Gladwyne, Pa, all send greetings and best wishes to '19ers, one and all, in lieu of more extended news.

William M Houghton of Morrisville has an interesting hobby. During the last few yrs he has been taking pictures of old historical objects and then making line drawings from the photos. He has completed about 170 pages so far.

Two of our Texas classmates report on how they are faring. Charles W Cahoon, Wichita Falls, says he has "no news of interest. How can there be at our age?" Fred W Sultan of Houston says that he is enjoying retirement. He manages to keep busy running his farm at Benham and golfing.

We mentioned in a previous issue that Robert Spear of San Mateo, Cal, was hospitalized for a minor operation. This was the first time that Bob has ever been hospitalized. Then in mid-Oct he contracted meningitis and was critically ill. Fortunately, he has made a good recovery from a rather rare and very serious disease.

Incidentally, your scribe is an alumnus of four different hosps and has had six operations over a period of 70 yrs. And now we are in such good condition that we could pass for the marines, provided we can get letters of recommendation from our bank cashier and Sunday school supt.

Horace E "Doc" Shackleton makes some interesting observations about our class photo at the 55th Reunion. It seems that Ithaca-area classmates are remiss in getting their pictures taken. Of the ten who missed the picture, four were locals. Doc expresses the opinion that this is an interesting phenomenon and suggests that class psychologists examine the matter and see why they are so shy. We need to solve it for the upcoming 60th, 65th, 70th, and 75th Reunions.

We can't see why the locals should be timid about being photographed. After all, they compare favorably with the NJ and Fla contingents in good looks. They may not be quite so snappy as the Rockland-Westchester-Conn contingent, but then we can't expect miracles.

WOMEN: Helen E Bullard, 87 Church St, Schuylerville, NY 12871

Lucia Raymond Hiland writes, "Although my life in the last two yrs has been somewhat changed by extensive surgery, I can truly say I have just begun to live. Time flies and there is so much to interest me. The world was never so beautiful." Lucia has spent much time in following her ancestors' travels from Mass to Conn and into NYS. She has been 56 yrs a member of DAR and 35 yrs a member of Salvation Army advisory council—just two of many interests.

Eliza Pollock Cole wrote in Nov that she was just out of 6 wks in a cast on a broken right wrist. In complimenting '19 on a happy, congenial Reunion, she said that she had felt warm, wanted, and at ease. We marvel at Eliza's enthusaism for living and that she could travel from Los Angeles with so little luggage and look so smart throughout.

Mary Haines Haines recalls that it was a yr ago that she came to Medford Lees, a Friends' retirement home in South Jersey located on Haines Creek exactly where the original pioneer Haines settled in 1682. She is one of 350 residents. When Mary sold the farmhouse in Berks Cty, Pa, she retained the unheated side of the summer house for summer vacations and plans to use it as long as rheumatoid arthritis permits.

Marion Priestley Frank is reluctant to leave her old home which she loves, even though she is arthritic and alone, and the problems of up-keep tend to get out of hand. Her autumn letter mentioned leaves from 13 deciduous trees, which are illegal to burn, her many evergreens, and 10 tomato plants which were unprofitable. Marion is fortunate to have two bright grandsons of 11 and 8 and a daughter-in-law who is devoting her time to their upbringing. Marion's life centers around them.

In retrospect, Margaret Kinzinger recalls that winters really did seem colder in our coll days, even if we took them in our stride. She relates, "One time, going back after Christmas on the Lehigh sleeper, it was so cold the engine froze on the hts above Wilkes-Barre. It was a brilliant starry night, and the city lights below us sparkled, while we got colder and colder. We should have been in Ithaca in ample time to drop off our luggage and get to 8 o'clocks; but those of us who had them appeared when those classes were half way through—with our suitcases. There was a problem getting a trainload up to the campus with available trolleys and cars."

Enough of old man winter for this yr, but do let us hear from you about anything and everything you would share with classmates near and far.

MEN: Orville G Daily, 901 Forest Ave, Wilmette, Ill 60091

This month of Mar '75 is halfway toward our Big 55! This also is the time of decision for those who are still on the fence. Tempus fidgets awfully fast these days and it's later than you think. Send in your reservation and check to our scety Henry Benisch, 840 Jamaica Ave, Brooklyn. Wives are welcome too, so bring the little woman along for an enjoyable time.

We just learned that Kay and Henry Benisch celebrated their 50th anniv looking across the table at each other 'way last Oct. Belated congratulations to a great couple but especially to Kay for such fortitude, patience, and devotion so well deserved.

The Intl Child Health Foundation has contributed $75,000 to Cornell Med Coll to establish the Samuel Z Levine MD '20, fellowship in intl child health. An intly renowned pediatrician, teacher, and researcher, Dr Levine who died in 1971 was associated with the NY Hosp-Cornell Med Ctr for more than half a century. A champion for the cause of child health he has been called "the single most potent force" in promoting its worldwide advancement. The fellowship is for post-grad training in pediatrics.

During the holidays the Archibald clan gathered in White Plains for the christening of Dottie and Walt's first grandson David Walter born to the Bruce Archibalds '55 which will put him in the Class of '97. Already having four charming granddaughters, three of whom belong to the Douglas Archibalds '45, it isn't hard to guess who'll get the bulk of attention from now on. A third son present was Kenneth Archibald, MD '53, a physician in San Francisco. Doug is associated with Walt in the spice importing business and Bruce is a composer-musician teaching at Temple U in Pa. A coincidence is that all but Ken will be on Cornell Campus in June for their 20th, 30th, and 55th Reunions. Prexy Walt and Dottie are presently enjoying the soft balmy breezes on Key Biscayne, Fla, having hopped aboard the auto train just before the real cold hit the NY area.

Our Reunion chmn Ho Ballou and wife Teddy are enjoying their usual wintering spot at Belleair, Fla. Ho just loves that golf course—it's the only one where he can break 90 with any degree of regularity and by now he knows every bump, every trap, every dogleg and blade of grass on the course. Ho says Reunion plans are all in the bag with a great program of entertainment for everyone to enjoy. All we need now is good attendance so if you'll pardon us for repeating it, if your reservation isn't in, mail it today!

After two months rest in Pompano Beach sunshine Pauline and Ed Richmond returned by auto train to Wilmette for just enough days to repack and change costumes before flying off to Paris and then to Africa to satisfy a burning desire of long standing. We're now anticipating their return with a bag full of interesting pictures and experiences.

John Stockett found the golf courses around Arlington, Va, were getting longer, the hills getting higher, and the holes getting smaller so he has been wintering in SC where he has had good luck catching bluefish, pompanos, and whittings. We're glad to hear that John will be at Reunion to help us on the picture and history comm.

WOMEN: Alice C Jensen, 22 Fairview Pl, Staten Island, NY 10304

Anita Wolff Gillett and her husband do most of their vacationing in NYS and surrounding areas. Anita believes Cornell alumni should request the admin to end coed dormitory living, returning women to the women's halls and men to the men's dorms.

Anna Leonhardt is retd but active in a variety of projects like visiting shut-ins, being church treas, and carrying on many interesting hobbies. Thera Emerson Kahler is interested in painting and sculpture as well as travel in the US.

Violet Brundidge Scheifele celebrated their golden wedding anniv in June and had a family reunion afterwards. She and her husband are busier than ever at Leisure World in Cal.

Sophia Frank Wise has been busy taking care of her husband Irving '16 after surgery. Helen Lason Wehrle has three great-grandchildren. Can anyone top that? She lives with her daughter in Cal.

Gertrude Shelton Glaccum, who does volunteer work, had a trip to Canada last fall. She reports seeing Cora Cook occasionally.

Inez Dane Ross spent 2 mos this past yr in London, England. Elaine Hedgcock Stevenson plans to attend the Baptist World Alliance in Stockholm in July this yr and to visit all the capitals of Europe.

Naomi Jones Price and her husband Walter '18 spend their winters at Boynton Beach, Fla, and summers at Madison, Wisc. Genevieve Krey Loomis had a tour of South and East Africa, Kenya, and Ethiopia in Sept. She hopes to be with us in June.

MEN: James H C Martens, 317 Grant Ave, Highland Park, NJ 08904

Waldemar J Gallman has brought us up to date on the activities of the CC of Wash, DC. The facilities of the George Wash U Club have been made available to the CC by GW's pres, Lloyd H Elliott, who has strong Cornell ties having held various teaching and admin positions there between 1948 and 1958. The CC has a luncheon mtg on the first Tues of each month, and in some months two or three other events are scheduled. Margaret Kirkwood Taylor is one who takes a keen interest in the club.

Walde's wife Marjorie died in Oct 1973. She was a sister of Harvey Gerry '24 who retd recently as exec vp of the Natl City Bank in charge of its European ops.

Albert J Hugger and wife Lydia had at last report eight grandsons and eight granddaughters. Frederic C Lane received the 1974 Ralph Waldo Emerson prize of Phi Beta Kappa for his book, Venice, A Maritime Republic.

Luther S West was the speaker at the initiation ceremony of the honor soc Phi Kappa Phi, N Mich U chapt, last Apr. The title of his address was Three-Quarter Century

Thoughts. This was especially appropriate because Phi Kappa Phi, N Mich U, and Luther himself were all about 75 yrs of age at the time. In addition to a copy of the lecture, which contained some interesting thoughts about knowledge and educ, Luther sent four poems he composed for the occasion which summarized by quarter centuries the hist of N Mich U and predicted its future. Each poem was composed with a rhythm suitable for its subject matter.

Mildred and Charles Stotz sent a Christmas card with sketches of six places of historic interest in Western Pa. No doubt these were drawn by Charles, and they emphasize his interest in preserving relics of the past.

William T Mallery won the Natl Sr Grass Tournament (tennis) at East Providence, RI, in Sept, defeating Bryan Hamilton in three sets.

August W Rittershausen reports that he visited Kenneth Gillette several times last yr and found him in good health. Kenneth is having fun renovating the family homestead in Grahamsville. Ward Evans and wife Leah still bask in the Fla sunshine, and sell waterfront real estate. Ward hopes to make his 55th. Douglas H Johnson and wife Miriam visited friends in Ithaca in June 1974 and saw at least six classmates who were back for Reunion.

WOMEN: Gladys Saxe Holmes, 3316 N Rockfield Dr, Devonshire, Wilmington, Del 19610

The days go by, another month, and the news column is due again. This is your column as well as mine so please send any news, past or present, a poem or small anecdote. Before too long our class will be just a statistic and we can't let that happen yet.

My news this month is not cheerful. Jean Bright Waller died on Dec 29, '74 after a long bout with cancer in her lungs. Jean and I went to hs together and were roommates our freshman yr in Sage. She spent 5 wks here in the Wilmington Hosp just before Christmas. She was very brave and I am glad to have known her. Jean leaves two Cornell daughters—Martha Jane Waller Smith '48 and Mary Lynn Waller Young '55.

Margaret Kirkwood Taylor (Mrs J Laning) is still working in politics. She spent a lot of time on a committee during the campaign for home rule in Wash, DC and then on the election for mayor and council members. I don't know whether her side won or not.

The Grigsons—Gretchen (Schweitzer) and Herbert '20—did not stay in Europe this winter after all but came home and have gone down to St Simon Isl in Ga where they were last yr and liked it so much. Gretchen says that next year they will stay home. "I like to go away in the summer to avoid the heat and humidity, air conditioning notwithstanding. We can have some real sticky, miserable wks around here in July and Aug."

As the yrs roll on, '22 Alumni News reports appear ever nearer the beginning of the Class columns. Fortunately our classmates become more thoughtful and generous in submitting various items. Should you have desires to hear more about certain people we suggest you drop us a line to that effect. We shall attempt to oblige and add to the effectiveness of our purpose.

There are a number of our classmates in and around Deerfield Beach, Fla, of whom you might like to know. Francis Porter and his wife live at 1416 SE 7th St. They recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniv. For the second time they have become great-grandparents. That sounds like a record for 1922. Ed Sibbert is at 800 S Ocean Blvd. Even with a few aches and pains he can still enjoy life down there. Dick and Dorothy Turner at 5505 N Ocean Blvd stopped in to visit with Edith Hill who also lives in Deerfield Beach. Bill Hill and Dick were old Sibley engrs together.

We learned that Eddie Hoff's oldest boy graduated top man in his class at the Vet Coll. He specialized in pathology at the U of Pa and is now a prof at the U of Auburn in Ala. Daughter Marilyn '53 married Bob Petrie '52, Hotel School grad. He is now in charge of the Ramada Inns employee training program in Phoenix, Ariz. They live in Scottsdale. Eddie's granddaughter Lynn Stevens is a jr in the Ag Coll.

It was your correspondent's pleasure to attend the recent mtg of CACO in NYC at the Hotel Statler Hilton Jan 18. Walker Cisler, Ed Kennedy, and George Naylor were also present. There is a long list of all those in attendance. If you like you may send for one and we will try to xerox a few to answer requests.

Elsewhere in this issue there is a list of the new legacies at Cornell this yr. On that list you will find the name of Pamela Williams '78. She is the daughter of Leonard Williams '52 who is the son of our Victor Williams. Willet Ward '90 was the first of this line. Fourth generation!

Do not forget the Famous last Fri in Apr when the annual dinner will take place at the CC of NYC. We will probably not be mailing the announcement to all our members scattered throughout the country. If you can attend just drop us a line but there will be a few extra places for those who decide at the last minute. Keep that date in mind—April 25, 1975—and come!

WOMEN: Evelyn Davis Fincher, Apt 715, 2000 S Eads St, Arlington, Va 22202

As Christmas greetings came from classmates the repeated theme was: "How I wish our paths would cross again. Our 50th Reunion was so memorable." Let's plan to have it happen again this yr in a small way. We all seem to crisscross the country visiting family. Why not plan to include the Cornell June 12-16 Reunion in our travels this yr. I hope to be there as it is my husband's 55th. Write me if this sounds like something you would like arranged. In early Dec three of us in Va got together for lunch at our apt in Arlington. Luella Smith Chew came from Richmond by Greyhound, about a 4-hr trip. Bertha Funnell drove from her home in McLean. The time we had together wasn't long enough, but so stimulating. Let's repeat it in Ithaca in June.

Here's how a few moved about last yr. Betty Pratt Vaill had a vacation with her brother and sister at Martha's Vineyard over Labor Day, driving back to W Va with her sister. She could stay there only 3 days as she had to take off for Los Angeles where she had committed herself to another yr of teaching English to children for whom it is their second language. Clara Loveland of St Petersburg, Fla, went north in Aug to attend her family reunion in Auburn. She stopped over with Luella Smith Chew in Richmond. David and Mildred Rowe Holmes spent May in Italy and England. Her visit to the lovely hill towns of Italy was enhanced by all the Italian courses she had taken under Prof G L Hamilton at Cornell. That background made the history, culture, and scenery of the towns come alive. In England they were in Devon and Cornwall "finishing with a treasured visit to David's family in Shropshire." Martha Parrott Starche and husband Christo of Lake George both call themselves retd now. They try to get in more trips to see their children and grandchildren. Grace Morris Race and husband Hubert H of Schenectady traveled to Philadelphia, Buffalo, and Montreal visiting family and friends.

Olive Temple Gulick moved to Leisure World, Laguna Hills, Cal in Feb '74. She finds it a good place for a person alone, has lovely neighbors, many friends, and all the activities anyone could wish. In Aug she visited her brother at Pt Vivian in the Thousand Isl. Her sister was expected in Cal in Jan for an extended visit.

MEN: Albert E Conradis, 564 Sutton Pl, Sarasota, Fla 33577

Hurrah! Jim Churchill tells me that items for Alumni News are coming in fast now. Keep up the good work, men. Eddie Guinlock says that he had an extended visit to England with hdqtrs at his daughter's home in London. Her husband is spending a yr's sabbatical there. "Apparently it is a great place for children to go to school—they learn a lot and enjoy it," Eddie tells us. Thanks for the compliment and the best wishes for Christmas and '75, Eddie.

Wright Johnson sent a Christmas greeting and wrote: "Again I am reminded to remember some of the good souls whom I have known in the past, and who by my knowing them made my life a bit more pleasant then, and memories a bit more pleasant now." Thanks for the reference to the Conradis family, Wright. Ruth's and Wright's grandson John is the third generation of the Johnson clan to attend Cornell. Other grandchildren are scattered all over the globe.

Charley and Frances Brayton visited Russia for 3 wks in July of last yr and found it an overpowering experience. "No '1984' stuff but a certain amount of regimentation. The museums were excellent and crowded with Russians. However, life for the ordinary Russian seemed to be monotonous particularly in their leisure hours." Charley is still practicing law. He is a former vp NYS Bar Assn, former pres Fed Bar of 6th Judicial Dist, and former pres Chemung Cty Bar Assn. Charley and Frances have two children, Bill (Hamilton Coll '40) and Jane '56, and eight grandchildren. Grandfather and Grandmother still play tennis, hike, mountain climb, and travel.

Judge Frederic T Henry retd in Dec '73 and is now living in Canandaigua. He served for 9 yrs on the NYS Supreme Court and since '60 until retirement, on the 4th Dept Appellate Div of that court; previously he was judge of Ontario Cty Surrogate Court. Henry graduated from the Lw School, where he was assoc ed of the Law Quarterly. He has been active in the community and is a member of numerous orgs. He is pres of the Ontario Cty Historical Soc, and was adopted as a blood brother by the Seneca Indians and given the name DAH-YAH-DOH-WEH-TAH (he who judges others). Judge Henry is also co-author of NY Pattern Jury Instructions and several published articles on local hist. He has one son, one daughter, and five grandchildren.

Joseph Slate writes from Madison that he retd in '68; has been a member of the Grange since '24; and a trustee of the village of Madison since '60. His hobby is fishing, especially ice fishing. Joe has a daughter and four grandchildren. David Jacobsen, Bayside, is a retd civil engr and his wife is a retd NYC school teacher. They have a daughter Marilyn '65 and two grandchildren. Dave is a member of the secondary school comm and of the bd of govs of the Alum Assn of NYC. George Flint lives in Hempstead. He says he attended our 50th and "was the kid who kept his jacket on." He is historian of the CC of Nassau Cty and has the distinction of recently being made a Ky Col by the gov of Ky. Why in the world would he give that honor to a damyan, George? George's wife Dorothy (Powell) was '22, and their son is vp of Dowling Coll. The Col claims that his mission in life now is to "keep on eating as long as we can."

"Bonny" Bonsal wrote from North Tona-wanda that both Margaret and he are retd but seem to keep very busy in spite of it. "We are both able to be up and about and that is good. Let's say we are looking forward to a better year in '75 and to that 55th in '78." Maria and Santiago "Jim" Perez of East Point, Ga, have three grandchildren, Emma, Santiago, and Laura. Grandfather Santiago is an engr. Dr Harry Ginsberg and Alice have two daughters and four granddaughters. Harry specializes in urology and is past pres of Brooklyn and LI Urological Soc. Carl Quinby, Fishkill, and Polly have six children and six grandchildren. One of their children is Jim Quinby '53 who was a varsity tackle. Jim's son J David Jr is '73.

Bill Davies wrote from Ogdensburg that Dorothy and he have five daughters and 21 grandchildren. You are doing fairly well in the grandchildren line, Bill, but Anna and George Reynolds of Alexandria, Va, hold the '23 class record of 26 grandchildren. Bill is pres of the Ogdensburg Ch of Comm. Bill and Dorothy had a thrilling time last Apr when they were passengers on the Queen Elizabeth II when it went dead in the water for three days off Bermuda.

WOMEN: Helen Northup, 3001 Harvey St, Madison, Wisc 57305

Christmas cards are an awfully nice custom, and there's an extra bonus when there's news of our classmates among them. Mary Butler Davis, 72 Court St, Plattsburg, wrote of a journey to Europe with her husband Horace F '23 since our Reunion, to visit their daughter and family. The latter returned to the US in June '74 and are now living at Ft Knox, Ky. The son-in-law has recently become a brig gen. A second daughter lives in Plattsburg with seven children ranging in age from 18 to 4½. In Mar Mary and Spitz are traveling to Ky by way of San Francisco and Ariz—a nice plan considering the likely size of the snowdrifts in northern NY in Mar!

Dorothy Sullivan Duncan (Mrs Howard D) 205C Evans St, Williamsville, who was in hosp a good part of the summer of '73 and again in '74, has since been doing a lot of swimming and in the fall of '74 was taking long daily walks. To all her friends who knew of her recent illness and were greatly concerned, this is good news indeed!

MEN: Silas W Pickering II, 40 E 88th St, NYC 10028

Dick Yates whom many of us saw last June writes that the Reunion was great and that he was awfully glad that he made the 1800-mi trip to attend it.

Comes a brief note dated Sept 5, '74, from L N "Newt" Thomas saying: "Have retd from exec responsibilities in Carbon Fuel Co. "Jim" James R Thomas II '50 succeeded me and L N Thomas Jr also '50 is vp in charge of opns." At about the same Sept date H Kermit Green reports that he has moved to Key Biscayne, Fla. He retd from his law firm June 30, '74, "but without delay became associated with a firm of a Yale Law School grad (Brigham and Brigham) but time is now my own."

Charlie Saltzman informs us that he is still actively occupied in Goldman, Sacks & Co where at the beginning of 1973 he transferred from being a genl partner to a limited partner. Recently he became pres of the assn of grads of the US Military Acad. Charlie's son is hd-master at the Metaire Park Coutry Day School in New Orleans; his oldest daughter is a grad student at the U of Cal and her younger sister is in bding school at Concord Acad.

Briefly! Albert S Hazzard writes: "All is well. That was a fine Reunion."

John G Seibel tells us, as of Aug 23, '74, that he just returned from a 12-day trip in Southern Germany where he met with city officials on admin problems.

Here's a quote from Henry G "Cotton" Givan received Aug 28: "Best Reunion we've ever had, can hardly wait until 1979. And as a genl overall viewpoint I'd say none of our class has aged too much for our last Reunion. Betty and I hope to have our grandson enter Cornell in Sept 1975."

Just today, Jan 8, I received a letter from his wife telling of the publication of a book which Gordon Fletcher co-authored called Construction Guide for Soils and Foundations published by Wiley Interscience.

WOMEN: Vera Dobert Spear, 2221 Bonita Ave, Vero Beach, Fla 32960

The news in a Christmas letter from Jennie Curtis Dexter and M Gregory is getting this column off to a good start. After the trip up from Clearwater, Fla, Reunion weekend was just the beginning of more interesting stops. They enjoyed roses and hydrangeas in full bloom in Vt, attended class reunions at Newport, Vt hs, and also attended the hs graduation of a granddaughter in Mass who is now a freshman at Cornell. Three wks at South Dennis on Cape Cod gave them time to visit long-time friends and to keep the restaurants in business. (I know exactly how you felt, for we were on Nantucket Isl in Oct.) Their last point of interest was with Miriam McAllister Hall (Mrs Thomas L) and spouse at their waterfront home on Chesapeake Bay. They were gone 10 wks and drove 6400 mi. Upon their return they celebrated their 48th wedding anniv. That sounds like a summer they will long remember! When this is read, Jen will be ready for bigger and better activities, for she will be recovering from her second cataract operation. Hope all went well, Jen.

The Gephart review, Christmas edition, edited by Marjorie Kimball Gephart and managed by John R is so full of activities and news of their children and grandchildren that it was not surprising to see a family picture of the Gephart clan—all 16—smiling from ear to ear. They have family get togethers at Christmas, Easter, and Thanksgiving. Lucky for them, they all live in the Harrisburg, Pa area. Kim's comment about Reunion: "What a shot in the arm to make one feel young again."

That weekend they were serenaded on the occasion of their 49th wedding anniversary.

Last fall, Virginia H Lyons, our new treasure, wrote that all Reunion debts are settled and we are still in the black. Good news indeed! Just in passing, it is hoped that you have all written to Virginia. Or will do so soon. Please, send in your news along with your dues, this column must go on.

From Va, came Earl C Branche and Marion (Mayard), both '32, to spend their holidays in Fla. They welcomed in the New Year at Vero Beach with your correspondent and spouse.

Wonder if any classmates or other Cornellians, are planning the Alumni trip to Nice and Paris on Apr 30? If so, write Florence Dean Prosser, who thinks she would enjoy it more if she knew someone on the trip.

'75 is 50 for '25

MEN: John K Brigden, 1822 North Gate Rd, Scotch Plains, NJ 07076

Harold L and Sterling T Whitman, Weedsport, have retired after 48 yrs in the retail hardware business. Harold's son Edwin received his JD in '73. Although in his note Harold didn't say, we hope that both he and Sterling will be back for Reunion in June. CM Vernon, Sparta, NJ wrote that his winter address would be Clearwater, Fla. I hope that his June 12-16 address will be Mary Donlon Hall, Ithaca. ER Markin, Pittsford is still active as chmn of the bd of Markin-Tubing Inc, involved in a major expansion project in Wyoming Cty. We hope he takes time off for Reunion!

Ruleph A "Ray" Johnson, Oreland, Pa, sold his business and is fully retired. Ray attended and enjoyed last yrs Reunion with Whit Trousedale and Roland Porter '24, looks forward to our 50th in June. Ray called it a "dry run," but it looks to me as though he and Whit were just getting in shape for our own 50th. Also it didn't have to be "dry!"

James E Duffy, Boca Raton, Fla, and Raymond V "Ray" Palmer, West Hartford, Conn, expect to be back in June. Howard L Hunter, Clemson, SC, hopes to get back; however, he won't know for some time. I suppose none of us knows for sure until he gets there!

You should have received a new Directory of the Class of 1925. It lists all known members of the class alphabetically, also geographically. This revision is just in time for use in writing friends whom we particularly want to see at Reunion, June 12-16.

MEN: Hunt Bradley, 1 Lodge Way, Ithaca, NY 14850

Congratulations to Nat P Turner for his receiving an honorary membership from the Amer Soc of Civil Engrs, the highest award given by this 72,000-member org and granted to only 250 members since 1851. Nat retired from his consulting engrg firm, Turner, Collie & Braden Inc of Houston, Texas (one of the largest in the southwest), of which he now is hon bd chmn. Extremely active in the Ch of Comm, he was selected as Houston's engr of the yr in 1970 and two years later was natl pres of Consulting Engrs Council.

From Eiichi Kiyooka in Tokyo comes this message: "I am very happy that I am able now to send my class dues. For many yrs I could not. I am already a prof emeritus of Keio U, but I am still active in many small ways. One of them is the summer exchange of students between Japan and Hawaii. I head a group of his teachers and escort 35 Japanese students to Punahou School in Honolulu for 6 wks of summer study and in turn bring back some 20 Amer students for summer study in Tokyo. They all stay with host families. I find it a truly worthwhile work."

Ted Chadeayne of Plymouth, Montserrat, WI, writes: "We built a home on Rainbow Lake in the Adirondacks where we spend 5 mos of the yr. This past yr we had snow and 24 degree temperatures, so it was time to leave for our winter home. I have bee hives from Miami and we hope to have honey and probably will get stung one way or another."

Jacques Coleman of Newbury, NH, was given a surprise 70th birthday party by his three daughters in Nov with many Cornellians attending, the biggest surprise being the presence of Bill Gutwillig '22 who came from Scottsdale, Ariz. Welcome to the club, Jac!

Long overdue for reporting is this note received in Sept from the first duespayer of the current fiscal yr, Treas "Shorty" Aronson: "Although I reach retirement age on Dec 31, 1974, I hope the admin bd will permit me to continue my judicial duties for another 2 yrs at least. I have applied for an extension and trust that it will be granted." (No news to the contrary is good news.) And from another Judge, Max Savitt: "My new address is Townhouse 70, Tunxis Village, Farmington, Conn. Working harder than ever as state trial referee. Given up golf for tennis—more love games and less aggravations. All our best to Cornell's Greatest Class."

Fred Emeny reports he and his wife spent a delightful 10 days fishing last summer with May Muller, widow of our good classmate Carl Muller. Ed Hill advises of a visit from Art Hodgkinson in Aug and that he and his wife spend the winter in Fla, have seven grandchildren, and plan to be on hand for our 50th. Ed Moshier of Jamesville also winters in Fla at Pompano Beach. He is likewise planning to make the 50th. Fritz Miner says: "Still here at the Gasparilla Inn in Boca Grande, Fla, and working harder than ever, or it seems so, but that's probably age creeping up!" Two other Class Floridians are Harold and Clara Gladel Bernhard of Naples, with a "summer shack" in the NC mtns. They "expect to be back at our 50th Reunion."

Items from the travel dept. Karl and Mrs Dodge of Marysville, Ohio, went with Alumni Flights Abroad to Turkey and Greece and report a "well conducted tour to interesting places and in good co." Maurice "Beano" White and wife toured some 3000 miles by car in the British Isles last Oct. Dr John M Welch of Columbia, Mo, visited the Orient, also last fall. Mark Morris of Topeka, Kan, traveled in Egypt and Israel in Dec and returned to Naples, Fla, for a winter sojourn. Wen Broad enjoyed 2 wks of sunny Spain in Oct, the month that found Mark Follmer and the Jack Adams in Great Britain. In Nov Dan Coppin flew from home town Cincinnati to San Jose to meet newest grandchild, stopping at Palm Springs for a few days of golf.

WOMEN: Grace McBride Van Wirt, 49 Ft Amherst Rd, Glens Falls, NY 12801

Dorothy "Dodo" Lampe Hill, our class rep, sent this news: "Esther Pearlman had a visit with Grace Morris Campbell when Esther's ship had a stopover in Savannah, Ga. Esther was returning from the Far East. She has now flown to Genoa where she will board a Swiss freighter for a cruise along the western coast of Africa."

Dodo reports: "As of Dec 1, 1974, our class leads all women's classes in the 1920-29 group in the amt of gifts to the Cornell Fund.

"The CWC in NYC recently had a lovely dinner party at a fascinating East Indian restaurant in NYC called Gaylor. It is run by a Hotel School alumnus."

Clara Cladel Bernhard, 1823 Crayton Rd, Naples, Fla, writes: "My husband Harold C retired as sr partner of the architectural firm of Shreve, Lamb, and Harmon. His firm had been architects for various Cornell bldgs. He retired at 67 so we could have a few yrs together to 'get acquainted' and have some fun. Harold built us a beautiful home in Naples, Fla.

"The second yr of our retirement we bought a site for a summer home in a new development of the wilderness near Brevard, NC, about half way between our two sons. We now have our chalet mtn home here at Connetsee Falls where we plan to spend our remaining summers."

Ruth Burns McMahon (Mrs John F), like so many Cornellians, did some traveling last yr. She visited London, Germany, an isl in Lake Constance, and then back to the US for the historical houses tour in Charleston, SC.

Frances Bicket Mattocks (Mrs Elmer O), 523 Rutile Dr, Box 403, Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla, writes: "My good news is that I have practically recovered my good health after a 'tug of war' the past yr. My two daughters with their children are contemplating moving to Fla. I took a beautiful cruise to Bermuda. My old roommate Marion Quell came over to the ship to wish me bon voyage. It was so good to see her after so many yrs. Later I spent 5 delightful days visiting Marie Underhill Noll on Long Isl. We talked about our Reunion coming up in '76 and hope many will make it.

Marie, 498 Manhasset Woods Rd, Manhasset, sent a nice newsy message: "Estelle Randall Burnette and I took our 4th Alumni flights tour—this one to S Amer for 5-wks with Cornell friends made on previous tours. In Mar my brother, his wife, and I had 3 delightful wks in the Hawaiian Isl.

"Claire Hagmaier has a very attractive condominium very close to Invernay, Fla. In April Estelle and I spent a day of memories and fun with her. She is amazing. After all her very serious illnesses, she is much improved and has stayed away from the hosp for over a yr. Florence "Billy" Burtis Scanlan and her husband Tom contributed their share to our good winter. We should have a '26 Reunion in Fla some winter. In my spare time I golf, and am pres of our condominium. I don't recommend the job, but it does eliminate any problems of what to do with leisure time.

"The call of Africa is so strong that I plan once again to go to Kenya, Tanzania, and possibly Ethiopia. I am leaving Oct 31 for 4 wks. In the meantime I'm enjoying my friends and, of course, showing my pictures."

Marion Quell attended Alumni U last summer. Between sessions she chatted with Pat O'Brien Hunter, Rachel Childrey Gross, and Nitza Schmidt.

MEN: Don Hershey, 5 Landing Rd So, Rochester, NY 14610

Good news from exotic and beautiful Mexico. Former Trustee Juan Martinez is grooming one of his three grandsons for Cornell but not beauty-queen granddaughter Cecilia. Joe believes she'd get lost in the whirl. Claudio II would be a 4th-generation Cornelian. Write Joe at 2125 Paseo de la Reforma, Mexico City 10 DF.

Ben Brown's (46 Kingwood Dr, Great Neck, NJ) daughter Katherine (Goucher BA, NYU MA) is asst curator at the Metr Museum of Art. Ben Jr (Houston U) is an engr with Simmons Precision Inst Co. Kenneth is trust officer of First of Penn Bank, Phila, Pa.

Last fall the Stan Nobles enjoyed an exciting Turkey-Greece cruise during the Cypriot controversy. At Pireaus, former Trustee Allan Treman '21, ex-dean of Law School Gray Thoron, and Murray Boothroyd—with wives—joined them for some interesting isl hopping in the Aegean, Jonian, and Adriatic seas. They tried to have the ship stop at Ithaca, Greece to see the stone inscribed "Cornell Forever" that was placed atop the mt by three daring '29ers in 1929. The late Carl Weagant, Trustee Dud Schoales, and Joe Rumler had ventured for 7 uneasy days across the Atlantic in a 42-ft sloop to the sister city. Stan, former varsity tennis player keeps in shape with former team Capt Ted Eggmann, challenges Gene Tonkonogy and a partner of his choice to a doubles match at the Big 50th via wheels or otherwise.

Taking time off from tennis, fox hunting, fishing in his lake, and bird watching, Norm and Dolly Davidson, Kennett Sq, Pa, had a fine tour of Switzerland, Austria, Hungary, Germany, and France last fall. They traveled by boat, plane, rail, and auto. The countries appeared booming but inflation has pushed the prices up there, too. The natives were most friendly to Americans.

Last yr Stanton Craigie, 2112 Shepard St, Wash, DC competed in his first long-course swimming meet at the Eastern Masters where he won three 1sts and one 2nd. At York Dutch Masters he won four 1sts and 2nd in the 500 meters. At the AAU Masters, Rockville, Md, he broke the natl record in his category of the 50-meter free style. Great going Stan!

W Bob Wood, P O Box 217, Melbourne Beach, Fla, has one grandson at Andover and one at Deerfield. The other six are preteens. Bob was frosh football mgr, observes that women's crews at Cornell have advanced greatly. Now they row alongside the varsity on Cayuga; in our day they rowed on Beebe.

Charles Schaaff has another fine hobby, traveling to see his 10 grandchildren. Four in Fresno, Cal, 2 in Sarasota, Fla, 2 in Rochester and one in Norwich, England. Where's the other one Charlie? Now retd, he spends 6 mos in Sarasota and 6 in Springfield, Mass, where he is an active hon chmn of the bd of Mass Mutual Ins Co.

WOMEN: Jeannette F Fowler, 43 Mill St, Binghamton, NY 13903

Elizabeth Altmann Ganser writes that in 1973 she and her husband toured Egypt, and that later in the yr they went to S Amer, and in the fall spent a month in Germany. Then they were "grounded by a serious, extensive illness," Elizabeth says, and were housebound for almost a yr. However, with the return of good health the Altmanns went traveling again, this time to Russia, Turkey, and Iran—where gasoline was only 25 cents a gal!

Kay Beal Dawson's husband Dick died Sept 29 after a long siege. Our sincere sympathy to her and her family. After the holidays, Kay left for a month's visit with her daughter Gini in Cal, and from there she said she planned to go to Fla or Hawaii before returning home.

Mildred "Midge" Bishop Brydon and her husband decided they had had enough of snow and sleet and moved to Fla permanently last Aug. They enjoy the fine weather, but miss their friends. Their address is 1231 8th St NW, Winter Haven.

Olga Cohen Feldman and her husband went to the Scandinavian countries last spring, and Olga feels Norway, especially, should be included in one's itinerary for its beautiful scenery. She still does silversmithing. Marion "Billie" DeNyse Decker and her husband visited their daughter in Peru last yr, and, since she now lives in southwest Africa, Marion says they may go there this spring. She added: "We keep busy with our country place and many hobbies, plus four grandchildren who visit frequently."

Sid Hanson Reeve visited Ginny Carr Edson at Union Spgs last June, and she and Ginny and Estelle Randall Burnette '26 spent a day in Ithaca at Reunion. Ginny returned the visit in Sept and both say their visits will be annual occasions. Gretl Hill Bruun wrote happily about her family: Her niece whom some of us met at Reunion in '72 is staying with her and husband Geoff for a while. Daughter Doris—"busy, happy, and well in her delightful 'working village' in Copake, NY"—was home for 6 wks last summer; and also, for a few days, daughter Olga and her family. Geoff is a reader and critic for the C U Press on manuscripts in French history (his specialty). We are sorry that Gretl has had some sadness: Her mother died in '73 and Gretl wrote that she took her ashes back to her "beloved Alps in Styria, Austria, where our family grave has been for 150 yrs."

Grace Huntington Waters spent last summer in Franklin, NC, where she says she became a real rock hound. She found a number of pink sapphires and some rubies and had them made into good-looking jewelry. Ruth Matz Gehret is active in the travel and landmarks groups of AAUW, in the CWC of Del, and the TriDelt alumni group. She wrote: "Husband Andrew is still a help to son John in office practice. Susan, 19, is a jr on campus, English major, very enthusiastic—so far. A pleasant visit in Sept to Denver, Colo, to son Peter and Grace and two small sons. Peter is in practice with a group of three other orthopedic surgeons."

Three of our classmates have suffered injuries: Henrietta Moench Miller wrote: "Was seriously injured in a large 'surfer's' wave in Hawaii in Feb '73. Broke knee and shoulder in two places. Was in Hawaii recuperating at my daughter's for 4 mos." The Millers spent this last winter in Green Valley, Ariz. Caroline Pringle Rubenfeld broke her hip and was in a nursing home Apr to Sept but is much better now. And Grace Ware Laubengayer wrote: "I have no news of this summer. Spent most of it recovering from a fall—what a waste of time!"

Our class was well represented at the annual mtg of the Cornell Assn of Class Officers at the Statler Hilton Hotel in NYC. Ted Adler, our great treas, and Lou Freidenberg, our capable scy, were on hand to join your correspondent who also attended the Cornell Trustee sessions. Representing the distaff side were: Kathryn Altemeier Yohn, pres; Elizabeth Clark Irving, Reunion chmn; May Elish Markewich, estate planning; Katharina Geyer Butterfield and Ruth Lyon.

More honors for Dr Manson Benedict, who received the John Fritz medal from the Amer Inst of Chem Engrs in Wash, DC recently. Manson was cited for "... his outstanding versatility and impressive breadth in the chemical and nuclear engrg fields, especially for his contributions to the gaseous diffusion process for separation of fissionable uranium isotopes." Congrats, Manson.

WOMEN: Margery Blair Perkins, 2319 Lincoln St, Evanston, Ill 60201

The class correspondent hasn't dropped off the earth. She spent the summer of '74 cruising on Lake Superior, where post offices are few and far between. With the best of intentions she collected all the class notes and carried them off to Versailles, France in late Sept, where her husband was teaching architecture at the U of Ill's French branch. The long French mail strike made the good intentions come to naught.

One of the notes was a letter from Betty Clark Irving, our 50th Reunion chmn, only 3 yrs away now. Sylvia Pizitz and May Elish Markevich have agreed to be costume co-chmn. By 1978 skirts may be as old-fashioned as the hoop and the bustle! The '28ers who were back in Ithaca last June, of course, pooled some of their thoughts on the subject—Madelyn Reynolds Heath, Katty Altemeier Yohn, Eleanor Bretsch Burden, Alyene Fenner Brown, faithful Class Treas Ruth Lyon, and Hazel Mercer, who was the last Reunion chmn. We are hoping to get out a class letter soon to arouse interest and hopefully elicit news for the class column.

Betty reported that she and retd husband Harry are busier than ever in their new home in Sharon, Conn. "Certainly if one didn't have to eat, there is plenty to do and never earn a dollar!" she writes. She is busy with the hosp auxiliary, thrift shop, several areas of church work, the Sharon Rep Women's Club, etc. Harry, as chmn of the church bd of trustees is restoring Sharon's historic Congregational Church to its pristine condition and busy in several other fund-raising activities for the local Rotary Club. They try to find time for a little golf, and now that they are country dwellers, even had a vegetable garden.

Betty also sent along a little clipping about Ione Barrett, who had contributed her legal talents to revising the bylaws of Heritage Village in which she is deeply involved. The donated talents of various atty members had saved the village $8,000 of a $10,000 budgeted item for legal fees.

A long, newsy letter from Edith Christenson Cooper brought the sad news of the death of Margaret McMillen Helm way back in Dec 1973. Margaret had taught in the Jersey City school system for 20 yrs. Poor health had forced her to retire about 1968 and she had gone to Morgantown, W Va to live, where son Robert is a minister. In spite of her health problems she had an active life in civic work as a member of the Kennedy Youth Ctr, the Need Council, a program for the elderly and as an active volunteer for Morgantown Hosp. Her husband Robert, her son, daughter Sandra Bridfeldt, and two grandchildren survive her. (More of Chris's news next mo.)

When Dill Walsh '27 drops you a note, it's quite apt to be something more than a paragraph! His epistle of Nov 28, 1974 ran just over 3500 words! It was all very revealing, very educational, with more than a page devoted to Vic Grohmann '28, the late Bill Needham, someone named Harry Latz, and sundry other individuals who seemed to have been involved in the founding of Needham & Grohmann. Thanks, Dill, for writing. I sincerely hope that your dear wife has recovered from her very serious ailment!

Prexy Mike Bender sent a photo (above) of the Geological Park (located in front of Kimball Hall) donated by Gertrude and Meyer Bender, in memory of his mother (1874-1918). This is a very wonderful gift to the univ, and Mike is to be congratulated for his effort!

To continue—a handwritten note from Leonard Vaughan Jr, Saratoga, Cal told of the passing of John Charles Vaughan, following heart surgery in San Diego, Mar 22, 1974. "He leaves three sons and a daughter; his wife Mary lives at 12527 Monterlo Way, Rancho Bernardo, Cal." Our deepest sympathy goes out to Mary on this sad occasion.

Harry Sporn, MD, Old Westbury, LI, comments: "Hope to write Doc Alexander one of these days—or see him at the next class dinner. (Harry, it was decided to discontinue these pleasant affairs—not enough in our class showed up!) This bit of intelligence from William H Sanders, Garden City, NY, "Retd in 1972 after 30 yrs as a CPA with the Rockefeller family—John D Rockefeller Jr and the Rockefeller Bros." With several hundred million dollars to play around with, this could be fun!

From down Tavernier, Fla, way—H V Pfister writes: "I do not care to continue my subscription to the Alumni News. I am ashamed of Cornell's handling of the Willard Straight affair." "HV," you are not alone in your thinking but, like Watergate, in time it will become a shrinking scab on the Cornell escutcheon, of this you can be sure!

Another MD, Carl C Janowsky of Phila, Pa writes, "I am a semi-ret'd MD. I would like to contact Ben Zimmerman and Hugh Pladeck." Carl's address is 9233 Grace Lane.

Robert I Dodge Jr, Wash, DC, says in his note—"If Doc wants to Ballyhoo, how about boasting about our 8th grandchild, Edward Tristram Dodge, born Apr 16, 1974. Cornell is going to be awfully lucky to get him, what with his father being Robert Irving Dodge III '59 and his mother Margann (Frantzen) '59. At 6 mos, this guy is out of this world!" Get that name. Tristram! Glad you did not call the kid Tristan, then the next one would have to be Isolde!

From Jamesburg, NJ comes word from Stephen Allio. He is now in retirement, after 37 yrs as VP of R E financing, Metropolitan Life Ins Co. Mike Bender dropped in to visit the Allios on the way to Princeton. Later I learned that Steve had undergone some serious surgery, but came out of the ordeal with flying colors!

T C Heine, Staten Isl, in speaking of his son and daughter: "Ted Jr is '54 (MA Middleburg); daughter Elizabeth is '60 (MA Radcliffe '61 and PhD Harvard '65)." "TC" stated that he ret'd from Ma Bell in 1966. "I enjoy keeping busy, being alive and staying healthy." I am intrigued by his comment "being alive." This is quite an undertaking in this day and age!

Carlisle G Hartman, LaDue, St Louis, Mo: "Daughter Mary Hartman Halliday '68 is a lawyer in Boston. I am working now as a consulting chem engr."

WOMEN: Lemma B Crabtree, 15 Factory St, Montgomery, NY 12549

The '29ers from the metropolitan area had their usual before-Christmas gathering at Charlotte Gristede's Beekman Pl apt in NYC. Present were Sally Cole, Mary Groff, Caroline Getty Lutz, Dorothy Peets, Jo Mills Reis, Marjory Rice, Anna Schmidt, Marian Walbancke Smith, Bella Smith, and, naturally, Charlotte Gristede. Thanks to Bella Smith, who came armed with a notebook and a pen and persuasion, I have some news. Sally Cole spent a wk in Puerto Rico and then went on to Clearwater, Fla. "Managed a day to visit the Siesta Key '29er compound. Stayed with Kit Curvin Hill. Saw Connie (Cobb) and Bill Pierce, and Ethel (Corwin) and Fred Ritter. It was a short but happy reunion."

Caroline Getty Lutz and Gene plan to stay at Sarasota from mid-Jan to mid-Apr this yr, and hope to take the auto train south. Mary Groff flew to Copenhagen in Aug and had a 2-wk cruise on the Baltic, with stopoffs at Stockholm, Leningrad, Helsinki, etc. "Would like to repeat it tomorrow." Marjory Rice wrote: "Had wonderful trip in Aug exploring parts of New Engl with Agnes (Gainey) and H H "Bill" Williams, PhD '33 and daughter Patsy '59."

Marian Walbancke Smith wrote: "Entertained Wallace's godson Chris Riley from England for Oct. Chris is graduate of U of Southampton, doing grad work at Cambridge." Bella Smith (of her last autumn's trip): "Despite friends' suggestions that this was not the yr to tour Greece, we had a marvelous time and found the people of Greece the warmest and happiest of all three countries (other two being Yugoslavia and Bulgaria). Visiting an Iron Curtain country is an eye-opener and an experience I'd recommend to anybody who complains about the good old USA."

A Christmas letter Anna Schmidt provided tells of some different methods of travel used by Ola Cooper Brandon and Ford this past yr. They took a 2-wk trip by private houseboat on the Ohio, with a side trip up the Kanawha beyond Charleston, W Va. A short in the lighting system of the houseboat blew all the lights at a marina, they wrote. A wk-long bicycle trip with four grandchildren and their parents was their other unusual outing. The letter continues: "Ola and I kept up with the gang real well, no casualties."

According to word from Miami U of Oxford, Ohio, David Becker who has been teaching in the univ's branch campus in Luxembourg since 1970, was advanced to professor emeritus last June. Though nominally ret'd, he continues to assist in direction of affairs at the branch and to teach for the Cours Universitaire of the Grand Duchy. For several yrs he has been a popular lecturer on Shakespeare and Milton and leads one or more pilgrimages a yr to Stratford-Upon-Avon.

Abram Stockman, lwyr and labor arbitrator-mediator, who commuted for over 40 yrs, has moved his office from Manhattan to Larchmont so he "can now walk to work."

William Reed ret'd over a yr ago from Colgate-Palmolive for whom he handled govt affairs in Wash, DC. He is now living in Tryon, NC. Reed offspring include daughters: Alden (Mrs Hugh West), Tulsa, Okla; Karen, soph at Duke U; Susan, a grade-schooler; son Phillip, a student at Hollen Hall, Tulsa; three grandchildren.

Theodore Eaton Jr continues as prof of systematics and ecology and curator of fossil vertebrates at the U of Kan. Wife Grace, a U of Cal grad, is active in physical therapy. Son George (Duke U) is with the USAID in Swaziland; daughter Lois Eaton Bueler MA '62 is asst prof of English, La State U at Baton Rouge; and daughter Margaret Stallknecht (Catholic U) lives in New Zealand. There are six grandchildren.

Paul Doran, Weedsport, is a practicing veterinarian. Maurice Fried, Buffalo, ret'd at the end of 1974 from the Star Ring Mfg Co, where he was treas. He's staying in Buffalo except for a March visit to Fla. He was also formerly head of the social serv dept, Buffalo Genl Hosp.

David "Judge" Hawes, Ft Worth, Tex, ret'd about 3 yrs ago after having sold his retail lumber yards. Wife Emma Jean (Fisher) '31, represented the US Women's Pair in the World Bridge Olympiad in Las Palmas, Canary Isl, last May, finishing 3rd; and later played as part of a US Women's Team in an exhibition in Venice against the World Champion Italian Team and won. Has one daughter, Evalie (Mrs David Horner) who attended Smith Coll, U of Texas, and received a master's from the U of Houston.

Hanse "Harry" Hamilton practices patent law from his home in Manhasset, and is patent counsel for Levitan Mfg Co, Little Neck. Has three daughters and a son. Oldest daughter Sarah, who attended Conn Coll and Stanford, is married to Noel Fenton '59 and lives in Palo Alto, Cal; second daughter graduated from Rockford Coll and received a master's from Tufts; youngest daughter attends Guilford Coll, Greensboro, NC. Four grandchildren.

George Bryon who hqtrs in London is "still working and hoping to continue a total financial planning serv for Amer execs in Europe . . . the problems of working with two or more tax systems and the melding of US and British business practices make the work quite interesting."

Howard Ostrander, Fresno, Cal, is a semi-ret'd consulting (structural) engr. Though "working out of an office at home, [I] seem to be working as hard as ever." Has a son, a daughter, and four grandchildren.

Leonard "Doc" Tyler, Pulteney, is still at it: making wine, harvesting garden crops, going fishing, and enjoying his 11 grandchildren (3 boys, 8 girls) ranging from 5 to 16 yrs.

James Rice Jr, Trumansburg, though ret'd, continues as town justice, Ulysses, a post he has held for 16 yrs; is a 20-yr member, Tompkins Cty Bd of Health; is pres, Alcohol Info Ctr; and each Sept acts as tour guide for regl bus tours of families of entering freshman. Wife Adelaide is exec scy, Tompkins Cty Med Soc. Has three grandchildren, offspring of son James III.

WOMEN: Eleanor Smith Tomlinson, 231 SE 52nd Ave, Portland, Ore 97215

The photo is of Dorothy (Saunders) and Walter Muir '27, taken on their 43rd anniv in June. The tree grew from a 12-in sample root, planted 17 yrs ago when they moved to Salem, Va. They look great and are Reunion-bound this June. It's less than 3 mos until our 45th—June 12-16. We hope you are planning to come and enjoy the varied experiences, which include bus tours of the campus (new bldgs to see and explore), the Plantations, Bird Sanctuary, deptl exhibits in the Drill Hall where you can talk with profs, explore your areas of interest, and learn what's new, and also faculty forums on current affairs. There are even golf and lacrosse tournaments for husbands, swimming and golf for women. Although it's never too late to decide to come, please try to get your reservations in early so our Reunion comm can do a better job of planning, requests Reunion Chm Joyce Portar Layton. Joyce also reports husband Don '29 is recovering well from surgery, and son Bruce was home on leave for the holidays.

Emily Blood Diffenback (Mrs George) a Phi Beta Kappa grad was named a member of the Bd of Trustees of Brandywine in Del. She is an avid horticulturist. Selma (Meisels) Keenan (Mrs D'Elbert E '22), plans to retire this yr. Ione Koller Borsher and husband Irving have accumulated two more grandchildren in the last 4 yrs, making four to date. They are glad the two older ones are nearby to be enjoyed. Last yr they traveled to Cal, toured Ariz and NM, "God's country." She keeps busy with crocheting, bridge, reading, baby-sitting, gardening, and volunteer work at nearby hosp. We'll see her at Reunion.

Helen Coldwell Florek is coming to Reunion via Indianapolis, where son Bill is working (he was home for Christmas for 1st time in 4 yrs), and Buffalo, to see a niece, and Ithaca, to meet her sister. How is that for combining several trips in one? Las Vegas is a long journey, as is Ore, and I'll be seeing relatives also. It must be a short trip for Helen this yr as she will be treat of the hosp auxiliary.

New Year's greeting from Rachel Wood notes her gratitude for good health. She just might decide to come to Reunion. Phyllis Brill wrote last summer that she's a scy in Tampa, Fla. She enjoyed visits with Peg McCabe in Bradenton, where Peg stayed, and also taking her to see tourist attractions in Tampa, including new airport, Busch Gardens, and Sun City. Speaking of Sun City, we'd surely like to be there during dreary Jan with unending rain, or else in sunny Spain where Peg is now vacationing. When this reaches you it will be Mar, spring on the way, and Peg will be home from her travels, ready to carry on with Reunion plans.

During the June '74 Commencement at Princeton U, Jeremiah S Finch was made scy of the univ, emeritus. Excerpts from the Trustees' action on his retirement follow:

"The Trustees of Princeton U here record their affectionate gratitude to Jeremiah S Finch for his 38 yrs of service to Princeton.

"A member of the dept of English since coming to the univ in 1936, the fifth dean of the coll, 1955-1961, and now retiring as scy of the univ, he is a rare combination of teacher, scholar, and administrator who reflects in this combination the distinctiveness of Princeton.

"As asst dean of the coll and exec scy of the Princeton program for servicemen in the yrs immediately following WW II, he played a central role in the readjustment to univ life of thousands of undergrads whose studies had been disrupted by the war. During his tenure as dean, he helped the development of such important innovations in undergrad educ as increased emphasis on independent work for upperclassmen, enhanced opportunities for early concentration and adv placement, and the beginning of 'reading periods.'

"His first devotion has been to personal relationships among teachers and students, believing profoundly that the best administrator is one who keeps burnished his skills as teacher and scholar . . . As scy of the bd and of the exec comm and in his teaching, he has shown personal conscientiousness and care that reflect the highest ideals of the univ. In difficult times his tact and judgment have been at the service of the univ, to the furtherance of its continuity and effectiveness.

"Jeremiah S Finch has, with other distinguished predecessors, been a member of the company of those who, while not themselves blessed with a Princeton undergrad educ, have, despite that deprivation, helped shape the character of Princeton, and have come to represent her finest traditions."

William F Rountree Jr writes that he seldom sees or hears from a classmate while in Shreveport. This is probably based on the fact that only three classmates are listed as residing in La. They are Bill, Booth Kellough in New Orleans, and Ed Courtney in Hammond. Bill still operates the Cadillac-Olds dealership, is doing well, has good health, and spends some time now at Lake Tahoe.

Meyer "Mickey" Rothwacks wrote us about his non-retirement "retirement." Briefly, he ret'd as chief, criminal and appellate sections, tax div, Dept of Justice on June 28, 1974, after 33 yrs of service. On Aug 14, 1974 Mickey was apptd special asst to the atty genl, assigned to the tax div and on Sept 26, 1974 he was apptd adjunct prof, Amer U Law School, to teach a course on criminal tax prosecutions, beginning in Jan 1975. We have a new address for him at 4201 Cathedral Ave NW, Apt 1110W, Wash, DC.

Many thanks to folks who added me to their Christmas lists—just wish a few more had been from the Class of '31. Apparently Cornellians read other class columns than their own. As usual my greatest source of news and nonsense comes from Gert Goodwin so I shall pass it along.

Mary Perrell Kelso has recently received a scholarship from the Writers' Club of Del Cty to a writers' conf at St Davids, Pa. Mary is a member of the Natl League of Amer Penwomen and at the conf received a special award for light verse. She writes professionally and has sold verse to the Wall St Journal, Grit, and others. Mary's daughter Sandy, after teaching educ in Colo for 3 yrs, is now at home and teaching special educ in a nearby jr high, which makes Mary and George very happy.

We hope Frankie Young was able to get to the CACO mtg and thereby pick up more news for our column. She was working hard as chmn of the Ithaca area Cornell Fund phonathons. This spring she will work on restoration of the Cornell costume collection, preparing for an exhibit May 1 at the Johnson Museum. Those in the area, be sure to take this in.

Delight McAlpine Maughan always writes such long and informative letters telling of her travels. Perhaps some day she will stop in your area. Last winter and spring she spent time in Baltimore getting acquainted with her youngest grandchild, later spent 10 days camping on St Johns, VI, and with grandson's help learned to use the mask and snorkel, then 2 wonderful weeks with two sisters in Fla. This past holiday season she was spending in Juneau, Alaska, where daughter Patty and husband teach. Delight has become interested in bird watching and has joined the Audubon Soc. Now that she has ret'd she also has more time for AAUW and Intl Wives, and is more involved in her church. Her home base is still in Pullman, Wash, where more of her wonderful family live.

Hilda Smith Doob (Mrs Hugo '30) writes about her tour to Alpine country last summer. It was fast but they saw a great deal besides the Alps—the woodcarvers in Oberammergau, who are part of the Passion Play cast, Vienna's lights and lighted boats on the Danube from the Danube Tower, wild flowers and green meadows, and paintings on the house walls.

Mary Crissey Pickett lives in Winter Haven, Fla. Her daughter and husband live in Raleigh, where she, a Fla State U grad, is teaching freshman English at Chapel Hill. Helen Kreisinger Selvey dropped in on the Picketts in Fla a yr ago.

Jane Blakeslee Smith is still in Ithaca. She writes, "Now that Howard '30 is fully and officially ret'd (was a prof in Engrg) we're especially anxious to see old friends. Will spend the colder months in the South." Dorothea "Dee" Hall says she got down to the Del shore for 10 days in July with a friend. This fall she went to see the coloring at Cape Cod and enjoyed the area in general. Otherwise she keeps busy in Buffalo. She hoped to drive to Fla this winter with friends—did any '31ers see her?

Carolyn Leh has ret'd from home ec teaching, has been doing volunteer work at a nursing home. Last summer she flew to Seattle to attend DKG prof home ec convention at the World's Fair site. She writes, "what a fabulous facility for convs, and what beautiful country." They took a bus trip to Spokane via the Cascades. "A sight long to be remembered." She was sorry she missed connections with Delight but they did talk on the phone.

MEN: James W Oppenheimer, 560 Delaware Ave, Buffalo, NY 14202

Reunion Chmn Nicky Rothstein and Class Dinner Chmn Ben Falk have completed plans to join in honoring our long-time Class Pres Bob Purcell. Bob's contributions to the class and to Cornell have been super through the yrs and 1932 plans to recognize it.

The informal dinner will be held at the CC of NYC, Thurs eve, May 15. In addition to honoring Bob, we will have an opportunity to talk to an invited guest from the univ and to get first details of Nicky's Reunion plans for '77. There will be more on this later in these notes and by letter.

Dr John M McCarthy, 102 Woolf Lane, Ithaca practiced in NYC for 1 yr after graduation from the Vet Coll. From 1933-66 he had his own practice in Teaneck, NJ, until radiation dermatitis on both hands forced his retirement. He had to dispose of all his poodles. Since 1968 he has lived in Ithaca and busied himself with gardening, plowing his driveway, golf, Rotary (29 yrs perfect attendance) and FISH, an acronym for Friendly, Instant Sympathetic Help. They (the fish) provide transportation to MD's offices and hosps, sometimes to points as distant as Syracuse and Elmira. In his note to Stan Hubbel, Mac recalled experiences on the frosh lacrosse squad.

Charles V Northrup and wife Mary (Kelly) '38 live at 40 N Country Club Dr, Rochester. Chuck has recently been elected pres of the Rochester chapt, Amer Inst of Architects. His hobby is sailing a 33-ft sloop on Lake Ontario. Norval L Platt, 32 Tennyson Rd, New Hartford, when last we heard in 1966 was vp of Dale Engrg Co in Utica. He now writes of his retirement Jan 1, 1975, so we assume that Norv is at leisure and will have time to communicate more often.

Edgar H Tallmadge and Ruth (Laible) '31 have seven children and ten grandchildren. The family hobbies are gardening, golf, fishing, and travel, especially trailer travel. Ed and Ruth have trailed to and spent the last three winters near Puerto Vallarta on the Mexican Pacific coast. In Sept they joined with other Cornell alumni for a visit to Tokyo and Hong Kong. When not visiting far-away places or children in Me, Toronto, or Boston, the Tallmadges live at 21 Coniston Dr, Rochester.

Raymond R Preefer, MD, 3600 N Flagler Dr, West Palm Beach, Fla, is an ophthalmologist. Ray and Dorothy have twin sons, 28, and two daughters, 8 and 6. Recent travel has taken the Preefers to Switzerland. Ray describes his hobby simply as "bldg." Lacking further detail, we assume that his hobby is bldg bldgs. Family pet is Lambchop, a poodle.

Horace J Williamson, 28 Meisel Ave, Springfield, NJ, ret'd about a yr ago from Sperry Rand Corp; Eleanor has ret'd from the Vet Admin in which she was an RN. Doc maintains his membership in the Cornell Soc of Hotelmen. The Williamsons have recently journeyed to the Maritime Provinces, Va, and NC with plans for Fla in the offing. The Duke, a poodle, "runs our household."

If you have read this far, perhaps you are impressed, as we are, by the high incidence of poodle ownership among our class. It probably doesn't have any great significance but should be closely watched.

WOMEN: Virginia Barthel Seipt, 41 Maywood Rd, Darien, Conn 06820

Christmas cards this yr brought me news items that will bring us up to date on some of our classmates. Midge Currier Skinner and her husband are having wonderful experiences on the Cornell alumni trips. They loved the trip to Amsterdam, the Rhine and Lucerne, and now are planning to go to Paris and Nice in Apr. Their nephew is at Cornell in the Engrg Coll and a cousin (female) feels very fortunate to have been accepted in the Vet School.

Claire Couch Nulle sent the exciting news that she has bought a small condominium in Scottsdale, Ariz, which sounds delightful, adjacent to pools, parks, green, green grass, small putting green, picnic areas, etc. She enjoys being near son Richard and his wife. She is renting her house in Ithaca, so will be back to Ithaca in June, but probably too late for Reunion. I am sure she will run into many ret'd Cornellians out there.

Kay Rogers Hodges sent in her Christmas letter the news that she and her husband had attended Alumni U in 1973, taking the horticultural course which she enjoyed very much. A yr ago they had a wonderful Dec visit with Susie, David, and grandchild Jennifer in Berkeley. David is a full prof now. They now have a new baby boy in that family. Daughter Caroline and Charles lead busy lives in NYC; Caroline teaches at NYU and is finishing a book on the quality of educ research. Their twins are now able to attend a nursery school at St Luke's Chapel, a parish church of Trinity Church. The Schenectady couple, Norman and Nancy, enjoy life there where Norman teaches at Union and Nancy works at the child guidance ctr preparing to become a clinical psychologist. Kay's husband fell and broke his hip last Feb, and he has had several trips to the hosp as a result. He is still pretty much confined to home, so their life style has changed a bit, but they did get to their farm in Vt for 4 mos last summer.

Beryl Polhemus Hass and Ed sent their usual Christmas rhyme. They still have their garden, but smaller. Beryl is much involved with Garden Club and church activities. Clock and sundial collecting, flowers and birds fill any spare time. They spent last Mar in Ft Myers, Fla, and have had trips at other times to Md, Cape May, and to Nova Scotia in the fall where they enjoyed the beautiful color and scenery with other Kodak people.

Renewing correspondence with Philip J Krebs was a pleasure. He now spends his winters at Emerald Beach, Apt 48, 500 Saturn Ct, Marco Isl, Fla, and summers on Cuba Lake, south of Buffalo. After toiling for Cornell for 36 yrs, Phil ret'd in '71 and has enjoyed his new life. He sees Theodore F Haidt Jr occasionally, who ret'd from Kodak also after 36 yrs. Ted keeps in great shape and is revelling in his newfound time. Phil mentioned that he also sees Harold Wafler '34 working on his two orange groves in Pompano, Fla.

Hospitable William F Miller and wife Jane have many visitors to their Woodley Farm, Orange, Va. Charles N Mellowes and Fred W Wendnagel stopped to see them and more recently Elinor Ernst Whittier and Gordon paid them a call after visiting Williamsburg. Enjoyed seeing Bill's new home under construction, commanding a grand view of the countryside.

Great to hear from Herbert Gussman, First Natl Tower, Tulsa, Okla, who is still mixing it up in the oil industry and looking forward to our next Reunion. Our class treas, Charles "Ted" Tracy has been working hard to build up the Class of '33 student loan fund. Ted now reports having accumulated $5000 for the fund, with all our bills paid. He would gladly receive your addition to the fund to keep it moving upward to aid worthy students.

New honors have come to Dr Shepherd G Aronson with his election as pres of the Soc of Internal Med of the Cty of NY and appointment as chmn of the peer review comm of the NY Cty Med Soc. Congratulations, Shep.

Many of our class in answering the call for dues from Ted Tracy made the comment they had no worthy news except they were glad to be around to answer the call. Alfred W Bennett, Dr George G Hollins Jr, Col Deane A Dunloy, and L Keever Stringham were four of the appreciative ones. We would be glad to hear from many others at the time of the dues call, that they also are still around! One of our treas' stalwarts who wished Ted a great retirement and the best of health was Arthur P Buzzini, Petroleum Ctr, San Antonio, Texas. One friendly oilman to another.

Some of our members know that it is never too late to learn. Word comes that Dr Charles C Lyle has enrolled in Cal's largest law school, Western State U Coll of Law of Orange Cty. Good luck on another degree, Chuck.

WOMEN: Eleanor Johnson Hunt, Box 244 RD1, Newport, NH 03773

Our trip down the Blue Ridge to see Bruce in NC was beautiful though we ran into more snow than there was up here then! Thanksgiving was at Sue's in Va with our younger daughter Betsey and family, as well as Ed's nephew and wife. That was followed by 10 days of baby-sitting while Sue and Jack toured Russia. After a few days with Betsey in NJ, we got back for our first New England Christmas. Sue and family followed to try the skiing over New Year's.

While in Va I phoned a number of classmates: Mona Saunders Bond who is still enjoying Washington but was about to spend the holiday with their daughter in the South; Marietta Zoller Dickerson who told me more of their visit to Alaska and their newest grandchild in NYC as well as their spring vacation tour of the Blue Ridge; Adele Langston Rogers who is getting around the country as well as overseas with husband Bill, LLB '37, who is a member of the law firm of Rayoll, Koegel, Rogers and Wells.

Adele was tickled about a coincidence of that week where father and son were handling cases on consecutive days. Quoted in the NY Times of Dec 18: "It's kind of like watching your son trotting out to play football," said former Scy of State William P Rogers as he prepared in Cincinnati to be present yesterday for the first time when his 27-yr-old son, Douglas L Rogers, argued a case in court. "You want him to do well, but at the same time you're rooting that he won't get hurt." One day earlier the son had watched his father in court." Since neither of them had been admitted to that court, they were introduced by Nancy Rogers, Doug's wife, and like him a lawyer for the Cleveland Legal Aid Soc.

Bill was also written up by the NY Times on two other recent occasions: Dec 29, when elected to the bd of trustees of the NY Racing Assn—"long a sports enthusiast"; and Jan 4 when it was noted that he represented the Shah of Iran's Pahlevi Foundation, one of the more aggressive Mideastern investors in US real estate. Since I mislaid my notes from Va in the holiday rush, the other tidbits will have to be given next month.

A postcard from Elinor Ernst Whittier told of a 3-day sojourn in Williamsburg for rest and recreation while daughter Patty held the fort at home. An overnight stop at Barbara's in Arlington, and lunch with Bill Miller and wife Jane in Orange, Va, were on the next day's schedule.

Edith Wooddelton Githens expected her entire family for the holidays, "It will be fun to be all together again recalling the marvelous times we had at Forte Dei Marin in Italy in May." Her office asst is taking a 3-mo course at Dartmouth now, and Edith and Al '34 decided to take off also for a Pacific and Orient sea-air cruise. The Laura family is en route from England to Melbourne where Ron is joining the philosophy faculty at Monash U, and Edith and Al will also be there for 3 wks. "And I have found a new, young, primary-care physician here in town who will cover my practice! So life continues to be both demanding and fulfilling." As Dr Wooddelton, Edith who has been pres of the Vt div of the Amer Cancer Soc, trustee, and div serv chmn, was awarded the Soc's natl div award at the div's annual mtg on Oct 9 in Montpelier. Three cheers for this illustrious member of our class! There is much more to the article I wish I had room to quote!

A sad note from Mona Bond who told me that Ruth Bedford MacLaughlin lost her husband Robert on Oct 14 due to heart failure. We all extend our sympathy to Ruth.

I've just finished another interesting book about a Cornelian, Look To This Day, the lively educ of a great woman doctor Connie Guion, MD '17, by Nardi Campion and Rosamond Stanton.

It is that time of the yr when many of us puzzle over income tax regulations and interpretations but these matters do not bewilder Richard S Helstein, 23 Fox Meadow Rd, Scarsdale. Dick officially retd as a partner of J K Lasser & Co in 1971 but he still represents the co in activities with the NYS Soc of CPAs, the Amer Inst of CPAs and the Accts Club of Amer—organizations in which he is still very active and is a member of several standing comms. He is also a regular contributor to several acctg jrnl and The Tax Advisor. One recent article was reviewed in the Wall St Jrnl. Both children are married: Richard II is product mgr, Jello Div of Genl Foods and daughter Catherine is teaching in Burlington, Mass. In his spare time Dick works as a volunteer in the Physio-Med Lab of the White Plains Hosp and baby-sits for his granddaughter Elizabeth.

John H Gardner moved to Brussels from Madrid last yr to become genl mgr of European opns for Sears, Roebuck and chmn of Galeries Anspach, a Belgian dept store chain recently acquired by Sears. Just before this transfer took place, Jack and Crissie had started construction on a new house on a lake 50 mi from Madrid. So now Jack combines business and pleasure on his regular visits to Madrid to review Sears opns in Spain. It was all pleasure for Jack at our 40th Reunion and he did look just as young as he thought he did. It was great to see you, Jack, and we all look forward to seeing Crissie and you at our 45th coming up in 1979.

One might gain the impression that Burr Jenkins, 50 Highbrook Ave, Pelham, is overdue for retirement because his hobbies are golf, sailing, fishing, gardening, and bridge. In addition he and Maggi spent a 2-wk vacation on Hawaii last Nov. However, that is not the case and Burr continues to serve as the mktg mgr of Woman's Day Magazine and as the pres of Adirondack Outdoor Advertising Co. He is also chmn of the golf comm and a member of the bd of govs of the Pelham Country Club, past commodore of the Huguenot and Frostbite Yacht Clubs, active member of the NY Yacht Club, and past pres of the Pelhamwood Assocs.

The chmn of our most successful 40th Reunion, and the leading candidate to be chmn of our 45th Reunion, Charles H Day Jr has changed his address from Wisconsin to PO Box 874, Naples, Fla. Charlie and his wife were joined on Thanksgiving by the co-chmn for attendance of our 45th Sandy Ketchum and his wife Betty for dinner and a little golf in Naples. Sandy is a semi-retd consultant to a recording studio. Last fall, Sandy and Betty drove to Cal to see daughter Nancy and her family, including twins Jason and Chris, age 7. After their winter in Fla, they will return to their home at 2507 Fairmount Blvd, Cleveland, Ohio. Sandy continues to be active in the Cornell Fund and as a member of the Univ Council.

Col Richard S Stark, USMCR (ret), and wife Jane seem to have the best of two worlds, currently spending the winter in their home at Sotogrande (Cadiz), Spain, and then returning to their apt at 77 Park Ave, NYC next summer. In his retirement Dick continues to produce for the 13th yr a weekly radio program for the Marine Corps Reserve. For hobbies he indulges in a bit of gardening, painting, golf, and tennis. Their grandchildren are Nicholas, 7, Mason, 3, and step-grandchildren Josh, 5, Blennon, 2. We missed you, Dick, at our 40th Reunion but I am sure we will see you and Jane at our 45th.

WOMEN: Mrs Barbara Whitmore Henry, 155 E 38th St, NYC 10016

Get out those gift directories of classmates received last yr and change Estelle Markin Greenhill's address to: 720 Milton Rd, Rye. It is an apt which Estelle says makes life simpler and more beautiful.

Barbara Kirby Moore didn't conclude Reunion in Ithaca last yr. She stopped off en route back to Eugene, Ore, to visit Dorothy Morris Law and husband Tom '37 in Bethlehem, Pa, where he works for Bethlehem Steel and Dorothy cares for a lovely old Moravian home.

The eternal triangle for Helen (Fagan) and Bob Tyler is a geographic one, for they travel annually between Wilmette, Ill, Hilton Head, SC, and Tucson, Ariz. Helen writes that during the winter stay in Ariz she has been associated with the CC of Tucson which has been blossoming under the leadership of Mary Donlon Alger '20.

After bldg their dream home in Tombstone, Ariz, Winnie (Barrett) and Bill Chapel '32 decided because of his health to change their locale to condominium life at Rossmoor Leisure World, Golden Hills, near Mesa. Many of Winnie's activities are at state level, so she will be able to continue to serve on the exec bd of the Ariz DAR and in the state Cancer Soc, GOP, and Eastern Star. When Winnie wrote, all offspring but son Jay, in Osan, Korea, were stateside.

Tilli Hochmeister writes that the Boneheads continue their NYC get-togethers, which last summer included Dorothy Wilson Baschuk, as well as regular standbys Rose Gaynor Veras, Esther Leibowitz, Ellie Shapiro Rapaport, and Tilli.

Hermine Cohen Rubman and Fred '31 had a happy Thanksgiving, as their second grandson, James, arrived shortly before. Equally happy were her daughter Ruth (Rubman) and baby's father Tim Wood, both '65.

Also becoming proud grandparents within the past yr are Ernestine Snyder Reeser and Richard '32 but Ernestine was almost as proud of the 3-day fair to benefit St Petersburg's fine arts museum, of which she was chmn. The gestation period was almost as long, and last Nov she organized about 200 women volunteers to accomplish it.

Pete Wilke III was again a delegate to the Intl Zinc Study Group in Geneva this yr, and Margaret (White) went along with him, then on for a stay in Spain. As 40th Reunion attendees, Margaret writes she and Pete agreed our class had weathered 40 yrs pretty well.

Eleanor O'Brien Werner says her answer to retirement is an increase in her hrs of volunteer serv at Riverside Genl Hosp, the med ctr for Loma Linda U. She goes back to Ind to visit family each yr and also takes the annual European trek by camper.

Eleanor Clarkon has been apptd editor of the Acorn, official publication of Sandwich's hist soc, so it's back to printer's ink from time to time for her. A tour of Greece conflicted with plans to be on hand for last yr's Reunion, but she'll be watching our class campaign returns with an eagle eye this yr, as usual, in hopes that our dollar record will continue to increase.

35 40th Reunion June 12-16, 1975

MEN and WOMEN: George Paull Torrence, 1307 National Ave, Rockford, Ill 61103
35s Jive in '75

A mini-Reunion was held in Tampa, Fla, on Feb 20 at the East Bay Country Club. George L Hall, famous and beloved Cornell golf coach for 37 yrs acted as host and presented the pres' golf trophy at dinner. Non-golfers played tennis and swam. James P Schwartz served as local chmn. (A full report in next issue.)

The Class of '35 gathered for cocktails and dinner at the CC of NYC on Jan 17, eve of the CACO mtg. This very enjoyable and successful affair was arranged by Al Preston and Julius Meisel. Others attending were Edna Meisel, Ruth Tachna, Bo Adlerbert, George Cohen, Ed and Anne Shulman Sonfield, John and Marjorie McAdoo Rankin, Howard and Lydice Ordman, Joe Fleming, John and Mary Walsh, George and Kitty Morris Lockwood, Rube Kershaw, Milt and Dorothy Schectman, Peg Tobin, Jim Mullane, Art and Jane North. All indicated intentions to be at Reunion in June.

This photo shows the 14 Vet Coll classmates, who were joined by three Vet profs emeritus (Drs Arthur G Danks '33, Myron G Fincher '20, and Peter Olafson '26), the Coll's new dean Dr Edward C Melby Jr '54, and the univ's new dir of development Raymond L Handlan '53 for a breakfast mtg in Ithaca, Jan 22. Classmates were Geo Badger, Walt Benedict, Howie Dickson, Harry Glass, Ferd Johanson, Starry Krukowski, Jack Mindel, Art North, Don Pulver, Bill Reese, Fred Schafer, Bill Tierney, Hank Weisheit, and Irv Zimmerman. It was a mini-reunion, but there was nothing mini about their appetites nor their enthusiasm for the BIG Reunion in June.

Julie and Edna Meisel invite classmates and spouses to join other '35ers for a pre-Reunion jamboree at their home "Meisels" by the Sea" on Sun, Apr 13, 3:00 to 7:00 pm. Come share the goodies, fun, and liquid refreshments. Write to 2420 National Dr, Brooklyn, NY 11234 or phone (212) 241-6021 that you'll be there.

Dr Carl Z Berry, 5402 E Grant Rd, Tucson, Ariz, ret'd from the USAF in 1969 after 30 yrs in the med corps. He is now with a group of six dermatologists. The Berry family spend many long weekends and vacations in Puerto Penasco, Mexico, where they plan to semi-retire soon.

Eleanor Bergman Goldstein (Mrs Philip), 38 Berwin Dr, Snyder, has been married for 37 yrs and has three married children. Eldest son Gerald '60 is an allergist in Tucson, Ariz, and the father of three.

Edwin M Miller, 9913 Dameron Dr, Silver Spring, Md, writes: "Ginnie (Sturtevant) '39 and I just returned from the Alumni Flights Abroad Aegean Adventure which in 3 wks toured us over the maj archeological sites of Turkey and Greece—without an intl problem. Beautiful handling, most educational and a grand vacation! Recommend AFA most highly! Count on us for Reunion '75. Hope we get everyone out."

Richard M Bleier, Chappaqua, reports: "We drove around Southern England 4 wks in rainy Oct with Dick Flesch '29 and his wife. In Aug my son Steve and I with our wives went to Canada and raced our Tempest in the Canadian Olympic Regatta at Kingston living in the dorms and sailing against sailors from all over the world. Didn't do well but learned a lot."

Florence DeRemer, 935 E State St, Ithaca, writes: "I'm still 'hanging in there' at Dining Servs at Cornell, now working at Hughes dining. Looking forward to seeing many classmates back for our 40th in June."

Frances W Lauman, 128 Sheldon Rd, Ithaca, writes: "This year I'm learning about estates...I'm co-executor of both my aunt's (Class of 1912) and my mother's. Mother died the end of May at age 83. My aunt died in Mar. My other educational venture is the Lab of Ornithology's Mon evening seminars. I can't identify many birds in the field in spite of this exposure. We usually hear about Alaska, Me, or south Texas."

Henry H Sayles, 553 Old Plantation Rd, Jekyll Isl, Ga, writes: Ginny (Lauder) and I finally had the good sense to move to a warmer climate! Visited Jekyll Isl in Mar; moved down permanently in May 1974."

In the event that anyone thinks that writing this column in not a sacrifice, it should be pointed out that today is Super Sunday, and it presently appears that I will be forced to miss the several hours of pre-game commercials. Whether or not I can understand the game itself without having looked at re-runs of the recently completed season and the play-offs remains to be seen. C'est la vie!

On Jan 9 we met Marion (Blenderman) and Herb Brunn, LLB '37, at one of the local watering spots for our third annual holiday dinner. This yr we were joined by Peg (McNinch) '33 and E Truman Wright '34 (pres of '34 men's class) who winter just down the rd from us. Although Truman ret'd Jan 1 from the mgt of the Greenbrier, they expect to spend their summers there in a home on the grounds. Blendy and Herb had been to Key West as in previous yrs, had done some fishing and condo shopping, and were leaving for home on the 10th.

From George Lawrence comes a note that on Jan 16 the CC of NYC was holding a showing of the works of Elizabeth King Durand, daughter of Trustee and Mrs Joseph P King. Mrs Durand specializes in stencil prints and collographs which have been widely shown in the upstate NY area. The symbolistic and nature-oriented works are colorful and present a variety of textural effects.

In Oct John Dobson and wife Anne joined some friends for a mo in northern India, Nepal, and Iran. They greatly enjoyed the majestic Himalayas, the terraced hillsides of Kathmandu, the temples of Khajuraho, the Taj Mahal, the palaces of Jaipur and Udaipur, the handicrafts of Isfahan, and the ruins of Persepolis. But they also brought back memories of poverty and of the hopelessness and dejection of the overcrowded people, which tended to make the problems here at home seem insignificant by comparison. They live at 118 Needham Ave, Dedham, Mass.

Last Aug Pick Mills was in Hot Springs, Va, for his annual venture in the Va state golf assn srs tournament, and he is now the proud possessor of a pewter cup for winning his consolation flight. While Pick was in Va Martha visited their daughter Betty (remember her from Reunion?) in Boston. Betty's husband was to start on Sept 9 as managing editor of Publishers' Auxiliary in Washington, DC, so Betty has resigned from AP and will job hunt after she and Jeff are settled in the Washington area.

From Kreiner Lane, Norwalk, Conn, Morton P Matthew writes he has ret'd from consulting engr but is keeping busy with side ventures to help finance the retirement. He enjoys having extra time with his wife Anita and 10-yr-old son (no, that's not a typo), Kent. Mort has been in contact with A G "Sandy" Wall now ret'd from a vp spot at Pitney-Bowes and living at 77 Nearwater Lane, Noroton, Conn, with his wife Betty. Sandy is fully occupied with business ventures, boating, travel, and occasional promotional assistance to Mort.

In 1973, Harold S Wright, MD, of 393 South Beach Ave, Old Greenwich, Conn, became assoc attending psychiatrist at the NY Hosp and clinical assoc prof at the Cornell Med Coll. He is enjoying part-time teaching of resident psychiatrists at the Westchester div of the NY Hosp. Previously he had been dir of the dept of psychiatry at the Greenwich Hosp Assn, a position he resigned to devote more time to private practice, advisory work with the Dept of Mental Health of the State of Conn, work with the Conn Psychiatric Soc, etc. The Wrights have three children, all married, two living nearby and one in Cal.

WOMEN: Alice Bailey Eisenberg, 2 Harrington Ct, Potsdam, NY 13676

Parker Wright sent some address changes gained from the Homecoming response in the fall. Katherine Simmons Zelle is at 2021 Terrace Dr, Sacramento, Cal, and Eileen Driscoll is at 19 W Mohawk St, Oswego. Looks like we have temporarily lost Elinor Goulding Smith and Reubie Tongue Barskey, as their cards were returned. Maybe someone can help us out. Eleanor Dewitt Wright and Parker seem to have the best of both worlds, Sodus Point in the summer and Delray Beach in the winter. Dewey keeps up her hosp volunteer work in both places.

Dorothea Vermorel Bohannan, in her 26th yr of practicing law, says the practice increases and the ambition decreases. She practices under her maiden name in Hollywood, Fla.

Marian West Dunsmore traveled to the Mediterranean again last summer aboard Export Line freighter Red Sachet, and spent Sept at New Harbor, Mass, with their two daughters visiting over Labor Day.

Margaret Edwards Schoen has ret'd and spent the summer and early fall at their summer home in Westminster Park, Wellesley Isl Alexandria Bay. Took a 10-day break in Aug and drove to Woods Hole, Mass, and took a clipper schooner sail out of Vineyard Haven—great experience. Their son Walter was married to Donna Marchesam on the rocks overlooking the St Lawrence River. The newlyweds left for Billings, Mont, to find jobs and hopefully go back to school. Margaret will continue to sing in the Rutgers choir and her church choir, study the cello again, and consult in early childhood educ. In addition, she's taken up the recorder (a musical instrument). Sounds like a busy retirement. She couldn't make the mini-Reunion as they were in Copenhagen, Denmark, but she is available for Reunion plans.

Gladys Godfrey MacKay had a fascinating embassy tour around the world last yr. Jo Biddle McMeen writes that there are only four McMeens in the Manhattan telephone directory and they are all hers—one daughter, one daughter-in-law, one son, and one nephew. Not many of us can claim that.

Sadie Goodman Walton is still involved in Wo-manpower Inc, a nonprofit employment serv primarily for women in Boulder, Colo. Last May she went to Iceland where she met a friend they had made in Peru, and later joined her husband in Frankfurt. They then went to Budapest and Lake Balaton for an intl chemistry conference. They also visited Prague, Vienna, Paris, Grenoble, London, and Oxford.

Hope it is warmer when you read this; we are having lovely below zero weather up here in the North Country.

Getting ready for the CACO annual mid-winter mtg. Hope to see many of our "leaders" there.

Received the following letter from Jay Eliasberg '39, vp, CBS Television Network Research: "With respect to the picture of the 'Marijuana Riot' which appeared in the Jan Alumni News, I can help out a little bit since I am the individual between Fred Hillegas and the man in the military cap. As I recall the incident, it was a demonstration "sponsored" by the Cornell Daily Sun in response to charges by State Sen John McNaboe that Cornell was running over with drugs. The basis for his charges was the fact that someone (not a Cornellian, I think) had been picked up downtown for the possession of marijuana. Cornell seems to have been Sen McNaboe's bete noire. It seems to me that the following yr he made similar charges with respect to communism at Cornell to which charges the Sun's response was a demonstration similar to the one discussed in the last Alumni News."

Doug King is enjoying retirement. His hobbies are gardening and printing. When necessities and hobbies allow, his vacation travel is to visit family in Md, WV, Ky, and Pa. Doug and his wife Miriam have four children: Stephen, 26 (married and has a daughter 1½ yrs old); Barbara, 24; Robert, 22; and Edward, 20. Edward is at Point Park Coll, Pittsburgh, where opportunity is provided for practical experience in stagecraft at Pittsburgh Playhouse. Daughter Barbara, with 1 yr toward her master's from Converse Coll, is spending this yr at home with 10 students for piano instruction.

Melvin Snyder is DDS in Rye. Son Bill is at McBurney School. Melvin advises that his family activities are "once a month." Spends summers at Kennebunk, Me. Herrell D Graff ret'd as pres of the Amer Meat Inst in Chicago, moved back to Ithaca. Apptd sr fellow, Coll of Ag and Life Sci.

Tom Driscoll, atty, is a partner in Shapiro, Driscoll, Gottschalk and Canzoneri, Franklin Square; village trustee, 1962-70; mayor, 1970-74; and presently village justice. Tom was pres of the CC of Nassau Cty, 1958-60, and a member of secondary school comm for many yrs. He enjoys golf, bowling, and choral singing. He is a ret'd col, USAF Reserve. Loves to get away to his summer home in Orford, NH. Tom and his wife Helen are proud of their six children: Sister Susan, CSJ, 27, Brentwood Coll, cum laude, MA St John's U; Tom III, 25, Catholic U; Steve, 23, Catholic U; Roberta, 20, jr at Catholic U; and Bill, 16, and Dave, 15, Chaminade HS.

Harold Hodgdon is still engaged in the business of insurance and financial serv. Active in the Ch of Comm, Exchange Club, trade assns, director of NAIA. Daughter Carol is in Dunbarton Coll, Wash, DC; Peggy is in Yale; Hal and Sally are at the U of Conn. Irwin Roberts writes that he is currently dir, Western Region Animal Parasite Research Lab, USDA. Plans retirement in 1975. Hopes to visit major art collections and zoological gardens of the world. Two children: Nina Elise, 20, and Alexandra Jean, 16. Nina spent her freshman yr at U of NM majoring in music and now plans to study comparative religion in Santa Barbara, Cal. "IH" is largely concerned with health and behavior of domestic livestock in controlled environment. Collects contemporary arts and crafts of Southwest. Interested in the study of Southwestern native culture. Wife Barbara currently teaches remedial reading privately to adolescents. She is studying Oriental philosophy and plans to establish a Tai Chi Chu'an inst in NM.

Robert H Wright writes that all three sons are now out of coll. "Visited Spain and Portugal last Sept. Presently genl mgr distribution for ALCOA, responsible for mktg and sale of aluminum mill products through service ctrs.

Now there is a feeder hanging there and during breakfast, as the first light comes, I watch tufted titmice, chickadees, nuthatches, woodpeckers having breakfast nearby . . . My big stone fireplace includes a rock brought from Telluride by original owner who is from Colo and was pleased that I also have happy associations with Telluride. . . . (Hope yours truly can breakfast in that idyllic-sounding spot some day, Davy.)

Jack and Louise Odell Sutliff, whose winter address is Yankeetown, Fla, spent Christmas wk with Jim and Fran White McMartin in Sarasota, beach walking, shelling, and swimming. Phyllis Weldin Corwin was there Christmas Eve and they all telephoned me. Phyl was en route to Cal to see all 3 daughters, 5 grandchildren, and 2 sons-in-law. Daughter Becky came from Texas. Phyl Marie '59 lives in Santa Rosa, Pat '61, DVM '63 in San Rafael. They and their husbands opened The Furniture Stripping Shop last Oct, report business growing steadily since a contract to strip the "gingerbread" on an old Victorian home resulted in an article in local newspaper. Son Charlie Corwin III of Charleston, SC and family visited Phyl in Nov. His new son Mathew Lawrence is 4 mos old, son Chip (C D Corwin IV) is 3, daughter Laura, now 8.

Fran said Bob and Dottie Bentley Wither- spoon were going on Ivy League cruise, would visit the McMartins on their return Jan 28. Perry, PhD '40 and Claire Kelly Gilbert planned to take same cruise. Fran sent me some of her Christmas card notes from '37 gals. Bea Moore Stump wrote: "Our antique business continues to demand too much time. Next yr we will open only 4 days a wk. I hope it will give us more time for a personal life . . . The business has brought us a host of friends but you get weary and realize there are lots of things you want to do and time is always getting shorter! . . . I lost my mother this past yr."

Helena Palmer Sprague said: "All my kids are meeting us in NH Dec 28-29—our little house will be humming! Daughter Nancy settled in Boston . . . Nice to have her so close after yrs far away." And Ruth Lindquist Dales reported: "Daughter Judy presented us with granddaughter Sarah Elisabeth, Oct 27 . . . I started new job Dec 1 as coordinator of volunteers in Plaza Extended Care Facility—half-way house between hosp and home. Lots of activity, variety, training, and recruiting . . . Mother doing well and my brother joining us for Christmas from Bermuda."

Augusta DeBare Greyson is "just fine and busy—gave all our Cornell men Cornell ties this Christmas (husband Bill, son Bruce '68, son-in-law Barry Becherman '61, brother Chuck '44) and we both read Alumni News avidly!" Marion Bean Parnell "spent Christmas in Fulton. Just before tossing the Christmas cards into the fireplace on the 13th day of Christmas, thanks for greetings from the Fred Huntingtons, the Gert Schmidts (a picture of them in Moscow in Dec '73), the Roy Blacks, the Windsor Brooks, Our Fearless Leader and Leaderess, the Coley Asinofs (with photo of family all looking older, except Marion), the Vic Pardos.

Since Our F L once again undermined me in his Jan newsletter by reporting news about 88 of our classmates, this will be a necessarily truncated column. We've only received recent news from 92. Ah, well, the price to be paid for missing a coupla Alumni News deadlines.

What's left? Monroe Lazere (photo) has just been elected pres of the Natl Commercial Finance Conf, Inc, the natl trade assn for the commercial and factoring industry. Monroe is also on the adv comm of the Urban League of Westchester Cty. Jim Diment reports he's "busy being assessor for the town of Manlius and installing data processing valuation and acctg techniques to the age-old assessment practices."

A cryptic but hopeful note from Jack Stewart: "Just returned from long stay in hosp and am recuperating from operation." Johnny Riggs, on the other hand, merely writes, "Most news is bad." Harry Monson apologizes: "Sorry I missed the Homecoming Game. It won't happen again!"

Coley's daughter Nancy is a sr at Friends Acad in Locust Valley; oldest son Tom is barnstorming through the West. Linda and Roy Black spent part of last summer commuting to commencements—Atlanta, for law school grads, son Sandy and wife Adrienne, then to NYC for older daughter's degree as an RN. Linda adds: "Saw Kay, '37-38 Grad (Mrs Lew) Dollinger this fall . . . She's doing a remarkable job of bearing up under incredible stress."

Addenda: Bud Saurman has now ret'd and is enjoying Fla with wife Jan. Jerry Temple, sr vp of Holiday Inns, has a new address: 54 Grande Paseo, San Rafael, Cal. Milt Speier is also enjoying retirement. Dick Reagan is regl mgr of the real estate dept for Equitable Life Assur Soc in Chicago.

What else can I say, except where are the Mickles and Mertzes of yesteryear? Whither the Hubbles and the Hineses? In what unheard-from corners are the Robinsons, the Rockeys, the Snooks and Spooky Spinnenwebber? Come out, come out, wherever you are! Old nose needs your news!!

WOMEN: Helen Reichert Chadwick, 543 Meadowbrook Dr, Lewiston, NY 14092

My last column included a portion of Julie Robb Newman's annual news letter, and I promised you more details this month. Julie Paul, PhD '37, and Ann '66 spent Christmas in sunny San Diego, enjoying their unique opportunity to watch seals on the breakwater, and the hordes of migrating monarch butterflies, which during the winter months cluster by the tens of thousands in one small area in southern Cal following their long migration down the West Coast. The end of 1974 found the Newmans back in the Los Angeles area for the Rose Bowl parade, after which their schedule called for a month in Hawaii. By the time you read this, they expect to be back in Ariz for Mar and Apr welcoming the advent of spring.

Another long-distance traveler this past yr was Eileen Mandl Goodwin whose brief Oct note told of a "fabulous" trip to the Galapagos Isl and on to the Inca ruins at Machu Picchu, followed by other stops in Peru, Colombia, Ecuador, and Brazil. Pat Prescott Kleps and Ralph '37 recently returned from Hawaii, were off again at Christmas, this time to visit son Christopher '65 and employ their carpentry skills on his new all-cedar house in Ore.

Trudy Johnson Thomas (Mrs E D) is still promising us a trip East, but her busy schedule as dir of the student union at Ariz State U keeps interfering. I was saddened to learn that 1974 brought the loss of her mother, who had long made her home with the Thomases. My deepest sympathy, Trudy Janet Dempster Loew had the misfortune to break her foot the day before leaving on vacation, so was wheeled about the Spokane fair last summer by her teen-aged sons. Her daughter Sue and family spent Christmas with Demy and Hank; son Jim with his wife and baby are still in Portland, Ore.

Fran Otto Cooper and Dottie Pulver Goodell deserve my gratitude for their frequent cards and news items (other '38ers, please note!). Fran and Jim spent a "wild" Thanksgiving in Conn, where the entire Cooper clan—now numbering 16, with 8 grandchildren—gathered at daughter Judy's home to celebrate. Dottie Goodell wants us to watch for a Bing Crosby production titled The Reincarnation of Peter Proud, which was filmed at the Longmeadow, Mass Country Club last June, using many of the club members, including Dottie, as extras. She says, "They may cut out my brief appearances, but even so it was a fascinating experience to see all the detail that goes into making a movie." And finally—but far from least—a welcome line from Jinny Wadsworth Link and John. Two of their Cornell sons were with them for the holidays; the third is now a "brother" in the Holy order of MANS. Jinny says her work with the area Brownies and activities in the Women's Club, as well as her granddaughters, keep her days well occupied.

Sons of the '39ers: Michael Lynch '78, son of our illustrious past pres, Willard, made a name for himself as a Philadelphia suburban prep school lineman. Now Mike is successfully on another line, this time with the textbooks as a Cornell scholar. Next chip off the old block: Bill McKeever Jr played varsity tackle at Denison U all fall, taking turns as offensive and defensive regular. Cornell's loss is Denison's gain. Reminding Cornell admissions! Ahem!

Reversing his field temporarily for the tropics, George Peck, class prexy, led an inspired Thatcher Glass sales session at Tampa last mo and now, accompanied by his wife Helen, is temporarily based at St Thomas. From his 35-ft sport fishing cruiser, he is pulling in the sailfish from the Caribbean deep. George attended both the Yale and the Princeton games.

Bill McKeever and Jack Sheffer also bolstered the Cornell cheering section at Princeton.

Due to her having been parted recently from her gallbladder, Tom Johnson's wife Annette is once again in the pink!

A well-attended, surprise birthday party marked Jack Hemingway's arrival at three score yrs. The festivities at his Lyons home-stead included his children, many sisters, brothers, nieces, and nephews. The star-studded head table included the McKeever's, the Hollands, and the Pecks, with industrial capt Al Van Ranst disappointingly absent. At the last minute orders from hdqtrs required his staying in Ft Wayne to mind the big Phelps Dodge shop.

George W Ainslie, whose wife is Elizabeth (Lee), caps his own volleyball team at Binghamton's YMCA of which he is past pres. Capping a string of successes, George's team recently garnered an overtime win. All this action keeps him a stranger to the hosps.

As breadwinner George is treas of the (wholly owned) Ainslie Plumbing Co. For relaxation he practices law. At the Dec Broome Bar Assn Christmas party held at the King Arthur lounge, Endicot, George's brother lawyers were quick to stress his sartorial elegance. His chief hobby is bridge, and March will find him at the Hawaii tournament demonstrating bridge brilliance to some of Amer's leading players. His son George Jr is a graduate of Harvard Med School and, come June, winds up his 3-yr residence.

Edward W Walls Jr operates his own insurance brokerage agency at Binghamton. From Cornell he went first with Mobil Oil at Albany working as a civil engr until 1955. He took time out 1941-46 during war II as a naval engr It keeping a mine sweeper perking in the Med. D-Day found him at Falmouth, England, hdqtrs as a staff man keeping a flotilla of 36 LSTs moving in on Normandy. He got another vacation from Mobil 1951-53 during the Korean conflict. By then he had become a Lt cdr on the staff of the cdr-in-chief for the Caribbean and was based in Panama. Ed's son Richard finishes up at SUNY Albany in business admin around Jan '76. His daughter Joan is a Wellesley, Mass, pediatrician. In May he returned from Paris and Bordeaux. There he visited friends and another daughter Linda who is a teacher now in France with her musician husband Charles Bradley Jr. He's studying music at a private school in Paris. Ed's wife is the former Jane Sidford of Albany.

WOMEN: Binx Howland Keefe, 3659 Lott St, Endwell, NY 13760

Barbara Ann Clark Bailey, now apt-living in Lyndhurst, Ohio, describes herself as a "dedicated though inept" painter in water colors. She and husband Joe (pres and chmn of Warner & Swasey, Cleveland) spent a wk in London last Nov. Ginny Sturtevant Miller and husband Ed '35 took the Alumni Flights Abroad Aegean tour to Turkey and Greece last Sept and describe it as a "wonderful 3-wk trip . . . highly recommend." Ginny works as a part-time reference librn at a branch libr near their Silver Springs, Md, home; she also serves on the secondary schools committee for the CC of Wash.

Barbara Babcock Payne, now of Richmond, Va, suggests " . . . a real Reunion with the men, equal partners, with input on what we like, and not as tolerated guests. Bill Lynch has a lot of ideas . . ." This is in reference to the questions in the Reunion wrap-up letter. I'd like to hear from more of you about this, too. It's your class, your univ, your Reunion: it should be the way you want it to be. So tell us, tell us.

Eleanor Dodge Hassett, living in Utica, teaches chemistry at a sr hs and lists photography as a hobby. For next Reunion, bring some of your pics, Eleanor—and Barb Bailey should bring some of her water colors. Let's have a small exhibition, all our own, to add a bit of spice to the late-night dorm sessions.

Gertrude Cantor Hofheimer educ coordinator of the Scarsdale adult school, is four times a grandmother. But she notes that she plays tennis, paddle tennis, and golf. Way to go, Gert! And I'm fascinated by your Irene Forsyth—would you believe, a basset? I'd like to see a picture of that gal, and have the name explained: makes my Jaunty Jason (Irish setter) sound pretty run-of-the-mill.

Pat O'Rourke Smith also lists tennis and golf as hobbies: holy smokes, what a hale and hearty bunch of little old ladies we are! Pat works actively in music circles in the Los Angeles area: pres of the San Diego city comm for the LA Philharmonic, state bd member of the Assn of Cal Symphony Orchestras. She and husband Harry '38 cruised to the Adriatic in the summer of '73; and early last Dec they saw Olive Vroman Rockwell and husband Bill '38. From Vro herself: "A personal reunion (with the Smiths) . . . hadn't seen each other since our graduation, and believe me it was great getting together . . . Pattie and Harry look simply great and have six grandchildren." Vro's daughter Anne and husband Harry Haight both '66 have two sons. Vro says if they get to Cornell, it'll be fourth generation since both her mother and Bill's father are Cornellians.

Beryl Salsbery Miller also fascinates me with "a dog, Puli." More, more: what kind and whither the name? She and husband Bill '38 are members of their local CC, and Bill is treas. The Millers, living in Md, are within reach of plays, lectures, et al in Baltimore, Washington, and NYC. Helen Lehman Frankel, Bedford Hills, (ever see Anne Messing McRoberts?) has a daughter Susan '68; son Carl was Princeton '70 and Columbia law '74. Husband Charles Grad '37-38, is prof of philosophy and law at Columbia.

Jane Davison Fast is scy to the principal of a hs in Woodridge, Ill. The Fast's have five children (hardly the word, since they're all grown, parents, etc) and Julio (dog), and Ghiradelli (Siamese cat). Jane, husband Charlie '37, and Jane's mother drove from Ill to Texas last summer in a VW bus (their 5th) to visit son Jonathan at Randolph Field, wife Nancy, and grandchildren. Grandson Lawren "took us all to his kindergarten to show four generations in the flesh to classmates.

MEN and WOMEN: Robert and Carol C Petrie, 62 Front St, Marblehead, Mass 01945

We've just read town plans for Bicentennial parking in our old town—there's no parking now. So, it is best to write news instead of coming to visit. Speaking of celebrations, better make plans for Reunion early.

Mort Serrell writes that we will see him in Ithaca. He is pres of Industrial and Textile Piping in Charlotte, NC. He gives time to the St Peter-by-the-Lake Episcopal Church as sr warden, also serves as gov of the Westport Country Club. He and Polly are parents of three young men, Morton Jr, 31, Charles, 25, and David, 26. They live on Rt 2, Box 250, Denver, NC.

Edith Pockrose Fallon writes from 642-13th Ave, Huntington, WV, that she and Harry '37 have three grandchildren who were born in scattered distant places; Alessandra in Rome, Zackary in Geneva, and Jamie in Okla. (Top this at Reunion!) Their daughter Denise '68 is married to Harold Ogren '70. They live in Geneva, Switzerland, and the grandparents visited them to see the new baby. Another son-in-law is Dr Harold Bruman who is completing a residency in pathology at Cornell Med Ctr. Their son Ron graduated from Okla Vet school May, '74, and is now running the second hosp in Huntington. Harry runs the first, perhaps?

Russell Chiron and Blanch (Zimet) '41 have three Cornellians—David '68, Stuart '71, and Louis '76. Their address: 8 Courtland Pl, Middletown.

Curtis B Alliaume writes from 77 Overhill Rd, Summit, NJ, that he and Betty have 2 children, Chip, 12, and Betsy, 9. He thinks they may be the youngest children in our class. Carol's youngest was born Oct 9, '62. Both of these will no doubt be challenged at Reunion! Curt has been mktg computers for IBM for 29 yrs. He has been helping Cornell as an Alumni Fund chmn. They took a vacation in Bermuda in June and usually spend summers on Cape Cod.

Bob Litowitz, 5189 Alton Rd, Miami Beach, an orthodontist, says he is involved in "a heap of" local and state dental socs. Son Arthur is '70; Budd is '71 (BS engrg); and Susan is '75.

Betty Limpert Mayhew has completed her efforts for a permanent certificate to teach home ec; she is continuing to teach at Madrid-Waddington Ctrl School. Husband Karl is sec-treas of the State Trappers Assn and belongs to the Stillwater Hunting Club. They flew to Spain for a 10-day holiday in the spring when they visited daughter Beth and her husband Carlos Castellana. Older daughter Stella Ann Poggi is working for a master's at Kent State U. Her husband travels for Searle Drugs in Ohio and Mich. Bette's youngest, Karlie, is a freshman honor student in hs.

"Bew" White Jr and his wife Gay live at 3357 Cherokee Rd, Birmingham, Ala. It sounds as though their family activities, hobbies and work, are pretty much combined as he reports being a lawyer, while the family help run an 800-plus acre cotton and corn farm as well as hunting and fishing—and we know what that involves! They have 4 children, two grandchildren, and your correspondents are trusting that the third one arrived on Santa's sleigh!

We have had a nice letter from Sally Gibson Robie. She is doing well and will come to Reunion with us in June. She is living in an apt—note the new address: Apt 17, 17 Silvestri Ct, Derry, NH.

A double report, which we always enjoy receiving, from George G Reader, MD, and his wife Helen (Brown). They report that George is the Livingston Farrand prof and chmn of public health at Cornell Med Coll. He has just been appointed to Gov Carey's transition task force on Health. Helen is teaching Afro-Asian cultures in Portchester jr hs. They have taken a trip to southeastern Alaska and Glacier Bay. They have four sons, Jonathon, 30, David, 27, Mark, 23, and Peter, 19. Jonathon '66 is a grad student at Cornell; Mark is '75 from the IRL School.

Dottie Cooper Clark, 1000 Lake Sebring Dr, Sebring, Fla, and husband Raymond have a daughter Judy who is earning a master's in the guidance and human systems program at Fla State U. Dottie and Ray made an 11,000-mi trip recently by trailer which included Jasper Natl Park and Banff. She teaches home ec and accompanied the Fla Betty Crocker winner to Wash, DC, and Minneapolis. All in her school are proud of the youngster, also of the teacher, no doubt!

To end this column on a very happy note: Irwin Kaim, Box 20464, Dallas, Texas, writes that he is coming to Reunion for the first time. It was really the first time for both of your correspondents when they went to the 25th Reunion and met each other for the first time! A trip to Ithaca in June better be a MUST in your plans.

MEN: Robert L Bartholomew, Dorado Beach Hotel, Puerto Rico 00646

In early Dec right here in warm, sunny, 80-degree Puerto Rico, the world's largest lodging assn, the Amer Hotel & Motel Assn, elected Richard E Holtzman vp for 1975. The org includes 8,000 hotel and motel members representing over 900,000 rooms in US, Canada, and Mexico. As so many know, Dick is pres of Rockresorts Inc, Rockefeller Plaza, a resort mgt firm developed by Laurence S Rockefeller and now owned by him and Eastern Airlines. In addition Dick serves as pres of the Olohana Corp, a Laurence S Rockefeller Co devoted to the dev of a tract of land in Hawaii and as dir of Canada Life Assurance Co of NY.

Dick was formerly pres of the Sheraton Hawaii Corp and prior to that managed the Greenbrier at White Sulphur Springs, WV. During his career he has devoted much of his time and energy to industry-wide improvement as past pres of the Hawaii Hotel Assn, the WVa Hotel Assn, and the Southern Hotel Assn. Dick, his wife Janet, and three children live in New Canaan, Conn. Dick Jr is '76 in the Hotel School.

Col William D Wade has a new address at 86 Cliffside Dr, Daly City, Cal, and writes: "I have ret'd from the army after 33 yrs of serv. From the notes in the Alumni News, '41 is retiring a number of cols but then '41, '42, and '43 were very big yrs for entering military serv. Glad I stayed; it has been a great life. Now we have found the home of our dreams about 150 yds south of San Francisco. Wife Bobbe fine, daughter Ann (Chatham '72) married to a police officer in Kansas City."

Fred O Ashworth Jr, Scotia: "Almost through my 19th yr managing the Mohawk Club. Barbara (Shaw) an invalid due to MS. Oldest son Chip is a NYS trooper and if he stops you, don't look for any help from me as I couldn't interfere with his quota. Chip is married and has two boys. Jonathan married one yr and teaching school in southwestern Ky."

Millard L Brown (photo next page), Broad-albin: "Helen and I had a great experience last fall. We joined an AOPA Fly Europe tour. Air France to Paris, then with 24 other Amer pilots, took off in 14 small French planes provided by the Aerospatiel Co, makers of the Concorde SST. Visited Toulouse, Biarritz, Cannes, Rome, Corfu, Athens, Corsica, and Geneva. Put about 35 flying hours on each plane and returned them to Paris without a scratch or dent! Pretty good for the Amer pilots. We were welcomed and feted by pilot groups in Paris, Meaux, and Athens—all very friendly."

Phillip J Parrott, Huntington: (another flying buff) "Two yrs ago I joined Ogden Foods Travel Servs as exec vp. This is a small subsubsidiary of the Ogden Corp. We are in airline catering and airport terminal restaurants. Adele and I have both been taking flying lessons as a hobby, and I earned my wings Oct a yr ago. We're reblgd an old Bellanca airplane—currently a skeleton in the garage—and hope to do some cross-country flying in it before too long visiting kids and grandkids. See Fred Haverly '42 and Al D'Agostino '56 fairly often and have run into Dick Holtzman, Paul Schweid, and "Swiftly" Borhman at hotel shows. Spent a delightful Dec evening in Miami with Jean and Gerry Lattin, PhD '49."

WOMEN: Virginia Buell Wuori, 596 Trip-hammer Rd, Ithaca, NY 14850

Excuses, excuses—but the reason I missed the Feb issue is that the deadline fell the wk of the twins birthday, our anniv, and the Garden Club Christmas tea. Somehow, I never got to my typewriter.

Since Oct '73, Elaine Ely Harrington has been staff development coordinator in Otsego Cty dept of soc serv in Cooperstown. She has been with the dept 20 yrs, but hopes to chalk up a few more before retiring. Two of their sons and families live nearby so they enjoy three of their grandchildren often. Another son lives in Western NY and their air force son is in Thailand, his family remaining in ND. Elaine's husband is ret'd (disability) but keeps busy with the yard and restoring old gas engines; they enjoy trailering; their visits to Ithaca are infrequent but someday they might just "drop in." Elaine's address is Box 163, Cooperstown. Carol Mott Goodridge '66 and Freida Norberg Brown '46 are both in her office.

Jeanne Deckelman Bowen (Mrs Ted) of 122 Munson Dr, Syracuse writes: "All the kids are gone now except Terry, 17, a sr in hs. Ted Jr is a social studies teacher and football coach. Don is asst mgr at Green Hills, an extremely large grocery in Syracuse, Nancy and Pam are very busy with 4 and 5 children respectively. Flip, 19, manages the family farm. They enjoyed a trip to Hawaii Easter '73 and the Bahamas Thanksgiving '73. Daughter Terri did the traveling in '74—spent Easter vacation in Spain with her Spanish class.

Edith Lews Perman (Mrs Paul) and husband visited their son Richard, his wife, and Edith's first grandchild (Michael born Mar '74) in Hong Kong. Richard is treas of Asian div of Pfizer Intl Inc, and they have lived in Hong Kong since June '74. Daughter Alice was married in June to Ronald Leveston; they are living in Farmington, Conn, where Alice is getting her MA in social welfare. Daughter Barbara has returned from Oxford and Edinburgh where she has been for 3 yrs on a scholarship from U of Pa doing research with deaf children in preparation for her doctorate. She is a certified teacher of the deaf. Edie says she is still a "professional volunteer" actively engaged in many kinds of philanthropic endeavors. The Permans' address is 30 Ardsley Pl, Rockville Centre.

I had many interesting news letters at Christmas time and I shall attempt to report them while I am waiting for responses to the News and Dues letter. Our new pres, Evelyn Opydye Mueller, Betty Herrold, Felicia Rog Pfeiffer, and I met at the class officers meeting in NY on Jan 18 and plans were to have the letter in the mail within a month. You should have it by now and I do hope you haven't just filed it away.

COMBINED: Jean Fenton Potter, Washington, Conn 06793

On the eve of the Cornell Assn of Class Officers (CACO) mtg in NY, the news drought for '42 is broken with the attached picture of Betty McCabe, dir of consumer relations, The Star Market Co, Cambridge, Mass. Betty received special recognition and appreciation from the Amer Heart Assn, Mass affiliate, for participation during 1974. She says: "My participation consisted of helping the public become more aware of the hazards of heart disease and the need for public support through a series of consumer columns I do entitled To Keep You Posted."

Dick Thomas sent holiday greetings from Meadville, Pa, and included news of his increasing golf handicap while touring his 112th golf course this yr. He hunts, bowls, speaks on legal or historical matters, and will stand for retention election Nov for a 2nd 10-yr term "on the bench" at the courthouse.

Robert T Edmunds has been promoted to mgr of special projects in the engrg dept at Norwich Pharmacal Co, div of Morton-Norwich. Bob has been almost totally responsible for the design and construction of the co's chemical mfg opns. He is currently project mgr for the new plant the co is bldg in Puerto Rico and has continuing responsibility in the area of environment protection.

Stuart and Beverly Ham Allen are in Waterville where Stu raises seed potatoes and manages a roadside mkt and a family farm, Allen Acres, and Bev teaches English. Bev is retiring in June (Stu says "at last"). Stu is busy with the Rotary, Masons, Presbyterian Church, and city, state, and natl farm orgs. He is also serving on the comm for secondary educ for the Ag Coll.

From Los Angeles Fred Antkies writes that he still enjoys golf and tennis, is involved in corp finance and fund raising for Cornell, has two daughters and one grandchild.

Clara Phillips Baldwin is sr research assoc in the Cornell psychology dept where her husband Alfred L is prof of psychology. They have three children.

Edna Lyle "Jonesy" Jones Berry (Mrs Charles) is taking courses in interior design while her husband is in 1st yr residency in psychiatry at Emory U after yrs in med practice in Appalachia. They enjoy camping and traveling and spent '68-69 in Europe with her four children and their husbands.

Flora "Mousey" Mullin Briggs is now in Syracuse as a libr media specialist in a middle school but "nowhere near retiring because I feel as if I am just beginning." Her son Bill is in his 2nd yr at RPI.

Edward C Callis is in Duxbury, Mass, with his wife Mariam and has four grandchildren. He is vp of LaTouraine Bickfords Foods Inc, and enjoys boating.

Frank Caplan writes from Pittsfield, Mass, that he strongly recommends grandparenthood with four great kids. His daughter Jan Spin is working on her PhD in med admin at Cornell; son Jim, US Air Force; son Joel, Ithaca Coll; daughter Judi, U of Wis in sociology. He is a systems engr and mgt consultant which is "great for travel and satisfaction of helping industrial concerns improve quality and cost effectiveness."

WOMEN: Helen Neutze Alles, 15 Oak Ridge Rd, Haddonfield, NJ 08033

Here's Marjorie Grohman Gunner's poem as promised:

"It really didn't shatter me
That you didn't read Lady Chatterley
It was just a meaningless remark
Passed by a graduate in the dark
The truth is, beauty at the ball
I couldn't care less if you read at all
Just my luck you'd improve your mind
Leaving your animal sheets behind.
Leaving me weaving a daisy chain
Outsmarted by my brainless brain
Scribbling words in letters tall
Lipsticked on my lonely wall.
'D.H. Lawrence, Joyce and Homer,
Up yours with my damned diploma.'"

All I can say is, h-m-m. Old friend Lucille Jenks McGown's winter residence is 2447 Eudorian Way #51, Clearwater, Fla. Their daughter Pat lives on a farm in Va and is a school psychologist. Son Jim is in Ariz.

Jean Haupin Sickles teaches home ec at Boynton Jr HS in Ithaca. Daughter Barbara

'65 married Herbert N Greene in 1970. She's presently in 3rd yr at U of Pa vet school in Philadelphia, having received her MS in biological sciences in '73 from George Wash U. W-O-W!! Daughter Cheryl acquired BA from George Wash U in '69. Has thesis to complete for master's in Latin-American studies at NYU. She's currently a tumor registrar in a NYC hosp. Daughter Christina '71 from ILR has been a labor relations mgt specialist with US Dept of Labor in Wash, DC for 3 yrs. She was just accepted in Dec as a mediator intern with the Fed Mediation and Conciliation Serv, the FIRST WOMAN mediator intern.

Marian Turnbull Bramble's son William '72 married Judith Edson '74 in Aug. They live in Boston while attending Harvard Business School. Son John will graduate from the Hotel School in '75.

COMBINED: J Joseph Driscoll Jr, 8-7 Wilde Ave, Drexel Hill, Pa 19026

Blustery Mar seems to be a good time to report once again on '44s and the Virgin Isl. Maybe Bill Orndorff started it all with his move from St Thomas to Fla a while back. And Dick Roenke Sp Ag '40-42, recently returned. But '44 traffic isn't all in a stateside direction. Dottie (Lemon) and Ev Nealey '45 plan for the reverse direction after Ev's upcoming retirement from the army. And Dr Fred Bailey has talked of a similar move at some of the class parties.

If the Nealeys and the Baileys follow through they will have at least one classmate as an isl neighbor—Mrs Ray S Fisher (May Zipperman), Fisher-Hess, Kingshill Estate Hope, St Croix, USVI. (That address would be tough for the Ithaca or Drexel Hill Post Office to handle: at least, for the local delivery.) While husband Ray is bldg the Hess refinery May is a special agent for Coop Extension Serv. She has established a Spanish-English newsletter and a weekly column in all five isl newspapers. Daughter Roberta is "an enthusiastic freshman at Cornell" while another is job hunting in Wash. Her older son is a soph at Brandeis while younger Henry is "a motorcycle buff on St Croix." May invites everyone to come down for a vacation—how about a charter flight?

If not to St Croix, then to Newark, Del, where Prof John Murray holds forth at the U of Del as asst provost and dir of the div of continuing educ. Jack has offered to host a class party this summer. He volunteers "... a pool, softball field, and plenty of outdoor space for other activities." If we accept Jack's great offer, should "other activities" be defined or remain nameless? That decision will be left for the comm. What committee? Any committee. If one isn't immediately available, we could reconstitute the Trumansburg Fair trophy comm, the minutes of whose mtg at the Princeton game were duly reported in this column last mo. Jack's offer gives the class a wonderful opportunity to get together for the third summer; at Ginny MacArthur Claggett's and Dotty (Kay) and Art Kesten's swimming pools in 1973; at the Sun morning milk punch pool in Risley last June; and a bit further south in 1975. Charlie Williams doesn't know of this 1975 plan at this writing, but he will tomorrow. Your class officers hope that a good party can be arranged. More about this shortly.

In the confusion of Reunion columns we failed to report that Bill Falkenstein was appointed mktg dir for Ready-Made Draperies and Decorative Fabrics in the domestics and allied products div of J P Stevens & Co. Falyk has been with Stevens since 1963. The '44 re-uners of 1964 know he was there at that time, as he arranged for the class reunion jackets that appear every fall and every fifth June—or, maybe, with every fifth.

Meanwhile, make no plans for any weekend June 20-Sept 15. Somewhere in there we should be able to arrange that '44 party at Anne (Dickinson) '49 and Jack Murrays. As the song goes, "Do nothing til you hear from me . . ."

MEN: John B Rogers, 511-A Clark Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY 14853

Harry Furman has been an outside salesman and vp of Furman Lumber Inc since the Boston lumber wholesale firm's inception in 1956. A resident of Geneva, his territory covers the Syracuse-Rochester area. However, in his home town Harry is noted as well for his achievements as a football coach and Geneva wanted to do something to show their appreciation for his voluntary coaching of the De Sales football team. This was accomplished when the Mayor of Geneva, Ms Helen Maney, proclaimed Dec 6 as Harry Furman Day.

It started with a surprise reception for Harry and his wife Lois the night before. It was supposed to be a quiet get-together for the Furmans and the De Sales football team, which came through the 1974 season with a third of the Wayne-Finger Lakes West Div football championship, posting a 5-1 record. When Harry and Lois entered, the lights came on and hundreds of friends and well-wishers were there to honor Harry.

The party, sponsored by the De Sales Booster Club, had Al Kelley '41 now vp of Hobart College as guest speaker. Al related how the life and times of the two have paralleled since the days when Kelley was a sr tight end at Cornell and Furman was a freshman tackle.

It was a "thank-you" dinner from the players, parents, and fans of De Sales football for Harry, but Furman quickly corrected that. "I have to thank you," he said. "There is nothing as frustrating as being a coach with nobody to coach." In 5 yrs Harry turned a team around from an 0-8 record to two championships in the western div.

Mayor Maney, who also if vice principal of the rival Geneva school, recalled that all three Furman daughters are graduates of Geneva, noting it would take a special kind of family to survive daughters leading cheers against their dad's team in the annual rivalry. In addition, the club presented Harry and Lois with a handsome silver punch set. On a serious note, Kelley said that "Harry might be the savior of De Sales football."

Philip Herbert writes from 39 Fifth Ave, NYC: "For the last 6 yrs I've been active in the reorganization and development of the Corlears School, a coop nursery and grade school. These are tough times for independent schools, but this one has managed to grow and thrive. I've done a variety of jobs ranging from simple carpentry to chairing the bd of dir (in 1972-73). The school has been a great educ experience for Phyllis and me, as well as for our two daughters."

William F "Bill" Hunt writes from 7 Park St, Demarest, NJ, where he resides with his wife Cate and their four children, that he has been with the Cleveland Turret Drill Co for 27 yrs and is currently the northeastern sales mgr. Bill's oldest son Tom is now in grad school in San Diego, Cal. Son Jeff is in the hotel school at Bergen Community Coll; and son Kevin is in jr hs. Bill's wife has been active in her own real estate business in the Demarest area.

William G Doe sent in the information as a Q & D alumnus that he now lives in Harvard, Mass. He is the regional sales mgr of Marwald Ltd of Burlington, Ontario. In this capacity he sells throughout the eastern half of the US three lines of agr equipment made in Holland.

George H Martin of Honeoye Falls has a son who is now a sr in elec engrg at Cornell—anybody need a good electrical engineer?

George D Rautenberg from Waban, Mass, is expecting to be back for the Reunion because he mentioned that he hoped to be at the Q & D breakfast.

How about continuing the new year by sending in a news item? Now is a good time to start formulating your plans to attend Reunion next yr. Drop me a note if you have any thought of attending Reunion and I will mention it in future columns.

Chester Knowles has been named dir of environmental resources and servs for the Chemical Group of Olin Corp. He is responsible for occupational safety and health and mfg plant quality assurance programs. He will handle planning of energy consumption, hydrocarbons, and raw materials. Chet is married to the former Barbara Roberts and they live in Norwalk, Conn, with their five children.

David Olmsted has been named faculty research lecturer at U of Cal in Davis. Dave is prof of anthropology there and nationally known for his work on Amer Indian and Slavic linguistics. He has published a book Out of The Mouth of Babes, dealing with early speech of children, as well as many scholarly papers.

Bernard Swartz is now vp of publ relations and advertising for Royal Palm Beach Colony, a community development and real estate co. Bernie worked previously with the Newark Evening News and the NY World Telegram and Sun. He, his wife, and their son reside in Southwest Mo.

Bob Kaemmerer has assumed the position of mktg mgr, cathode ray tube dept of Westinghouse. This includes color tv picture tubes and receiving tubes for the OEM and renewal mkts. Previously he was dir, electronic components in Europe. Bob lives in Horseheads.

Think Reunion!

WOMEN: Elinor Baier Kennedy, 503 Morris Pl, Mifflin Pk, Reading, Pa 19607

My great promise of a monthly column in 1974 never materialized; I only managed 9 out of 11 issues. This is my first issue for 1975 mainly because I haven't heard from YOU. I know some of you don't write because you feel you do not have any stimulating job, exciting trips, etc, to write about. However, you forget most of us live the same everyday life you do. Your old classmates want to hear about you and your family, about the everyday life. Even tell us about the job you took when you left Cornell and that you are still with the same co; about the fellow you married 29 yrs ago; about the children, grandchildren, etc. Wonder if we do have anyone at the same job 29 yrs? I do know several of you have been married 29 yrs, some even longer if you married before graduation. Anyway, let us hear from YOU. Make a pledge to yourself to write once this yr, then make a promise to return to our 30th Reunion next yr. Write your old Roomie and have her meet you in Ithaca in '76.

A few of you were kind enough to add notes to your Xmas cards, others just sent cards as they don't want me using any of their news in my column. (I have had a nasty habit for 27 yrs of doing just that.)

One of my oldest Cornell acquaintances, since our first wk at Riskey, Pat Kinne Paoletta, wrote to say her twins were college-bound. Janine made early decision at Douglas in New Brunswick, NJ, while Lois is still considering either Trenton, Glassboro, Springfield, or New Paltz. Pat said she enjoyed reading the Alumni News including our column and 1920 column, her mother's yr. Love to hear from you, Pat. Let us know of Lois' decision.

Bill and Nancy Aungier Beveridge (my sorority sister) celebrated their 25th wedding anniv by traveling to "the auld cuntry." They were gone 3 wks and drove a rented car some "1700 mi on the wrong side of the rd." They spent one wk in London, the rest of the time in the English countryside, Scotland, Ireland, and Wales. Bill was born in Dunfermline. Wish I could include her entire letter about the trip but I am afraid space prohibits it. Anyway, she sure gave me an incentive to include an English trip in future plans. The Beveridges' oldest two daughters have both graduated from coll; son Bill is a frosh at New Paltz; daughter Anne is a hs soph. Thanks Nancy for writing; let us hear from you again.

Also heard from several AOPs class of '47: John and Jane Mange Morrison both '47 became grandparents. The Morrisons live in Broomall, Pa. George '43 and Bonnie Kauffman DeLaMater '47 live in Media, Pa, now so maybe all three couples can have a mini-reunion one of these days. I understand Bonnie gets to Reading to the outlets. Anyone else outletting, call me on the phone and I'll meet you. Guess Reading must be the outlet capital of the world—Vanity Fair, Kay Windsor, Lee, Talbott, Mac Gregor, Amer Tourister, you name it.

WOMEN: Lois LeWorthy Domm, 707 Church Rd, Glenside, Pa 19038

Esta Soloway Goldman, 7 Aster Dr, Hicksville, works for the NYS Dept of Mental Hygiene as a psychiatric social worker in a mental hosp. Son Russell is a jr at Cornell in ILR; son Arthur is a jr in hs; and daughter Maria is living in Md. They are all busy all the time!

Enid Levine Alpern, her husband Jerry '49, and two daughters, of 318 Audubon Rd, Englewood, NJ, all went to Europe in June. In Switzerland they climbed every mtn that had a cable car or railroad to the top! Daughter Sue is a soph in hs while daughter Dana is a soph at Wesleyan. In Oct Jerry and Enid visited Ithaca for the Cornell Council weekend. Jerry is on the council and Enid enjoyed a trip to Cornell.

Arlene O'Hara O'Connor, 368 Coleridge Ave, Syracuse, writes that it seems strange to have only one dependent after all these yrs. The dependent is daughter Joanne, a student in hs. Arlene still teaches 2nd grade at Camillus Elementary School and is the school rep to the West Genesee teachers' assn and is dist chmn for grade 2.

Barbara Everitt Bryant, 1477 Lochridge Rd, Bloomfield Hills, Mich, has three children in coll: a daughter at Georgetown U Law Ctr, a son who is a doctoral student at MIT, and a daughter who is a soph at Brown U.

MEN: Robert W Persons Jr, 102 Reid Ave, Port Washington, NY 11050

Bob Nugent has been named genl supt of Detroit Editons's production dept, responsible for the opn of all electric generating equipment in southeastern Mich. Dr Richard Vlock, Gloversville, is an orthodontist with three children, 14, 12 and 5, and one wife (Ruth) and writes that they all went across the US in a motor home last summer with one cat and two gerbils.

Dr Pete Janulis, Pelham, writes that daughter Laurie is a jr at Cornell and Karen is applying. Tom Rymer, Prince Frederick, Md, was know to us as a civil engr on the Hill, but is now an atty and a member of the House of Delegates in the Md Genl Assembly. Louis Fisher writes from Pasadena, Cal, that life is busy with his five daughters and one son ranging from 6 to 21. Louis is a specialty sub-contractor; also an active scuba diver and skier and to his knowledge maintains the only collection of 1-gal olive cans known in the world. If you have cans to contribute his address is 1180 South Oak Knoll Ave.

Dick Rodgers, Peekskill, is in the personnel mgt dept at IBM. Son Rich is a freshman on the Hill. Jerry Swan ran into Win Shiras in the lobby of the Chicago Natl Bank recently. We mention this because Win lives and works in Laguna Niguel, Cal and Jerry maintains his business and home in Lima, Ohio, but just travels to Chicago occasionally to watch over a commercial photography studio which he has also been operating for the last 5 yrs. Win Shiras wrote of the same coincidental meeting and also advises that he met Hal '47 and "Bobby" Keely Pirson at Homecoming and heard that the Pirsons are bldg with their own hands a home in St Croix.

Jack Cullen writes from Reading, Pa, that he visited Zurich on business in Oct, attended an industry mtg in Bermuda in Oct, and vacationed on Cape Cod with the family last July. Hope and Jack have been blessed with ten children. They include a guitar player, two competitive divers, one competitive swimmer, one Boy Scout, one married daughter, and other activists. The Cullens found a way to put the 24 ft in the family to work. Jack grows wine grapes and makes wine, in addition to growing vegetables, golfing, and skiing. (In his spare time he's a vp of Genl Battery Corp.)

Dr Ricardo Rengel, Santurce, Puerto Rico, has a private practice in ophthalmology having obtained his MD at Cornell Med School in 1952 and interned at Bellevue Hosp. He had a residency at Cornell Med Ctr '57-60.

Doug and Dorry Corbett Dillon, Bloomsburg, Pa, write that son Charles is a soph in the Ag Coll. Doug is pres of J L Dillon Wholesale Florists.

Many thanks to all you faithful dues-payers and news-senders, especially those who paid their dues twice (which we try promptly to return).

MEN: Donald R Geery, 321 E 45th St, Apt 8-B, NYC 10017

It's a pleasure to announce that the Class of 1949 has once again produced a candidate for alumni trustee. He is William D Lawson of Kennett Sq, Pa. In a real sense, this announcement is news as the alumni trustee ballots are being mailed to eligible alumni this very month. The ballot will contain an in-depth acct of Bill's achievements and activities. But to those of us who have served in various capacities for the Class of '49, Bill is well known for his productive efforts as the Mid-Atlantic Regional member of the Cornell Fund bd. Naturally, he served on the univ council and is a member of the Tower Club. You'll be reading more about him soon.

Francis X Munisteri, 29 Rue Vilain XIII, Brussels 1050: "Living and working in Belgium since 1972 as dir of mfg for ITT in Europe. Daughter Marcy married after completing 2 yrs at Marymount Coll; son Michael is at Holy Cross; daughter Cathy at U of Md in Brussels; and other daughter Lisa at Intl School of Brussels." Not only does Frank have to contend with tuition costs, but just imagine the pressure from the various alumni fund appeals!

Robert E Short, N Clippinger Dr, Cincinnati, Ohio: "Son David has been appointed to first-chair trumpet of the Rome Symphony, Rome, Italy. He is a recent graduate of Ind U where he majored in theory and composition. Bob and wife Madeleine (King) '44 stay in Cincinnati where he is manager of tv programs for Proctor and Gamble."

Howard K Loomis, Welton St, Pratt, Kan: "Visited NYC in Oct and had dinner with Ernie Biglow '46 and Bill Helman '50, roommates of 25 yrs ago." That's a long time between drinks!

Max H Kraus, Elliott Rd, Elkins Park, Pa: wife Marjorie (Bookstein) '51 teaches special educ classes, one son at Johns Hopkins and the other at Middlebury, and Max still chmn of the secondary school comm in Greater Philadelphia area. He recently became vp of a div of the Electro-Nite Corp which mfrs steel mill instrumentation.

Robert T McKay, Rua Joaquim Nabuco 835, Sao Paulo, Brazil 04621: "After 25 yrs with Sylvania, the last 6 of which, as genl mgr of their Brazilian opns, I have accepted the position of managing dir of Latin Amer opns for Sperry Vickers, a div of Sperry Rand Corp. I am located in Sao Paulo, married, with 5 daughters 14, 11, 5, and twins of 2 yrs (and that's all!)"

Frederick W Joy, Wayzata, Minn: "Exec dir of the Hennepin Cty Welfare Dept with 1350 employees and a $175 million budget. Also recently started Joy Enterprises, hospitality promotion consultants. Now have another grandchild and I'm getting younger every day."

Walt Elliott, Waitsfield, Vt: "Back in the ski business at Glen Ellen after buyers of 2 yrs ago went bankrupt. Still living at the mt with my new (Aug 25, '73) wife Joan who attended our recent 25th Reunion. I'm still flying my Cessna 310 a lot and it makes it easy to attend those alumni crew excursions on the inlet."

WOMEN: Marty Coler Risch, 443 Meadowbrook Ave, Ridgewood, NJ 07450

A few daffodils may be daffing (as this goes to print) but no news on the school bd elections because the NJ legislature can't find a better way to fund educ without losing their jobs.

Barbara Sverdlík Barron writes that she is head social worker for the Follow Along Program for mentally retarded and developmentally disabled in Tuscon, Ariz. Husband Howard '48 is med care consultant in Ariz and Cal, also teaches at Pima Community Coll in Tucson. They have three daughters—Andrea will receive a MA in rehabilitation counseling this June, Amy will graduate from Grinnell Coll, and Aileen will graduate from the U of Ariz in educ.

Joyce Giering Scholle is still busy as a school social worker, "Involved with his busy-nesses since both children are very much involved with activities. Harold is school supt, so all of us remain involved in learning, growing, and participating." The Scholles live in Western Springs, Ill. Jill Friedrich Root and husband will share the Alumni News and save postage. They hope son David will choose Cornell and that may jar them loose from San Antonio, Texas.

Mary Britting Kaloostian says "life moves along most happily when you see your young people grow into productive and positive citizens in our world today." The Kaloostians are certainly doing something right. Daughter Linda is teaching in a specially funded Learn and Earn program for the migrants and was married to Terrence Kasper on Nov 23, Jeff is a sr at Fla State and on graduation in June will serve 6 yrs in the air force, Doug is asst mgr of a pool co in Miami, Curt, 13, wishes all subjects were on fishing, boating, and geology. The Kaloostians have done quite a bit of traveling—a ski trip to Lichtenstein and business trips in Europe and across the US. They want all Cornell friends to know their home is "open for reunions;" if ever in Miami "we are the only Kaloostian in the phone book."

MEN: Paul L Gaurnier, Asst Dean, School of Hotel Admin, Statler Hall, Ithaca, NY 14853

Wayne H Friedrich, Medford, NJ, reports he is still active in the army reserve and was promoted to col in Oct, 1973. He also reports son Paul was accepted to Colorado State U for fall '74. Meanwhile Wayne represented the Cornell Soc of Engrs to select the outstanding jr at Cherry Hill East HS for the Soc's award in math and science, both last yr and this yr.

Howard E Smith in Bellevue, Wash, writes he is presently working for a master's in engrg. His pastimes in the great northwest include camping, hiking, and skiing.

Roger S Chamberlin in Baton Rouge, La, recently received a new assignment with Dow Chemical. He is now regl mgr for government affairs for the southeastern states; they're hdqtrd at Dow's Plaquemine plant near Baton Rouge. His son Scott is working in Denver; daughter Holly is at the U of Texas; and youngest son Clayton is in hs in Baton Rouge.

George H Barton in York, Pa, is the pres of Barton Assoc Inc, a mechanical and electrical consulting firm. He is also on the bd of dir of Systems Mgt Servs Inc, a mgt firm specializing in fuel conservation. In addition he is the chmn of Pa Professional Engrs in Private Practice, a member of the contract documents comm of Natl Soc of Professional Engrs and on its bd of gov. His involvement in Cornell includes being pres of the CCof York Cty. His daughter Jorgene is a jr at the U of Vt and qualified for the championship flight in the Pa jr girls golf championship; his son Doug is a jr in hs and he is the current York Cty jr champ in golf.

John Torell, Atlanta, Ga, is the regional sales mgr for Lufkin, now the Cooper Group, and says he is the ruling elder for the Trinity Presbyterian Church in Atlanta ("just imagine"). His two girls are both in the U of Ga and he says he hopes never to leave the South—"this land of milk and honey."

Bradford Judd in Shrewsbury, NJ, writes that he was a new member of the Amer Acad of Child Psychiatry, also of Intl Assn for Child Psychiatry and Allied Professions. He plans a return to Cornell in Apr for a Telluride alumni seminar.

James Preston, Ithaca, changed from Coop Extension admin in the Ag Coll to the dept of rural sociology in Jan 1974, and was promoted to assoc prof. He is doing a post doctoral study.

Robert Post says he is still eastern regional sales mgr of railroad products group of Abex Group. Business is good with energy crisis focusing on railroads and passage of northeastern railroad legislation. Gregory Pappas says ther's nothing new—just living comfortably!

John P McCreary, MD, is a sr partner in a 5-man radiology practice in Watertown and surrounding hosps. He is the chmn in the dept of radiology, House of the Good Samaritan in Watertown. His oldest son is a freshman in the Arts Coll.

John NacNeill Jr is an officer and comm chmn in a number of NY State engrg orgs and a fellow of the Amer Soc for Civil Engrs, Ithaca Chapt. He is also a member of Cornell Soc of Engrs and of NY Water Pollution Control Assn.

Another person promoted to col is Al Neimeth who is a reservist in the air force judge advocate genl corps. He is also asst dean in the Cornell Law School.

WOMEN: Sally Stroup DeGroot, 1801 Armistead Pl, S, St Petersburg, Fla 33712

Maria Iandolo New was appointed to the newly-created position of vice chmn, dept of pediatrics, Cornell Med Ctr, last Sept. A major function of her job will be to advise faculty on research programs and grants and to stimulate development of greater intra-deptal programs for postgraduate training in pediatric clinical investigation. Maria's work with steroid disorders has gained her an intl reputation, and she has patients referred from all over the world. One of her recent patients was a charming 3-yr-old Zuni girl.

Marion Holley Wijnberg has been on the faculty of SUNY, Buffalo, for 10 yrs and is an assoc prof in the School of Social Welfare. She teaches casework, group process, and human growth and the social environment, and is involved in planning serv delivery programs. Marion earned her MSW in '55 and expects to get her PhD this yr. She has a daughter and son, and they, "like most families go to the beach, the mtns, Mexico, and Europe when time and resources permit." The Wijnbergs live at 4212 Old Hickory Lane, Williamsville.

Pamela Smith teaches English in the upper school at Brown and Nichols in Cambridge. She is a member of the New England dog training club and has two Dobermans she enters in obedience trials. Pam says "I am an enthusiastic reader of the Alumni News and enjoy wild flower gardening!" Pam has moved from Lexington to Oak Hill Rd, Harvard, Mass.

You have recently heard about Reunion activities in a letter from Frank Clifford and me and we asked you to send Elaine Treman Downing some tangible evidence of your activities or interest so she can prepare a Showcase 1950 for Reunion wk. Please help us put this project together; we certainly have an interesting and diverse class so there is no lack of material. Remember your old photographs, also. I have found many amusing "snaps" that I think will provide some laughs. "This Reunion is a must!"

MEN: Bill Eustis, 102 Park Avenue, Greenwich, Conn 06830

Where were we? Ah, yes, The Encyclopedia of Excellence (Almost): 25 Yrs of Pluck, Luck, Grim Determination, and a Cornell Degree Has Brought Us To This.

F/Food—Bill Coley, 15 Briarwood Dr, Trumbull, Conn, recently became vp and genl mgr of Howard Johnson's Motor Lodges at Warwick, RI and Mystic, East Lyme, and Stamford, Conn (under construction at writing). Four nicer spots HoJo couldn't have picked. I'm keeping an eye on the last as Fairfield Cty Fried Clam Freak. FCFCF is going to be in trouble if there's no restaurant at that Lodge.

Louis A Cappello, 1346 Borders Dr, Palatine, Ill, was recently appointed pres of Business and Industry Group of Interstate United Corp, a natl food mgt serv firm in Chicago. Somehow I get the feeling that thousands of employees eat well and inexpensively, but I don't know about Michelin stars. A bright Cappello star is son Gregory '76 at Hotel School.

And from one of my favorite correspondents Bill Kirsch living and enjoying 7th yr of Kirsch's Skyridge Country Club Restaurant in central NY. Bill has five of his seven children working the banquets and weddings—this is in the fine French family bistro tradition. Bill offers help on Reunion but points out May/June is peak season at the restaurant. Perhaps we could all fortify ourselves with Kirsch's chopped chicken liver en route to Reunion.

And at long last I reward a "new class member" for his patience and report on:

F/Foot Surgeon—Dr Robert Schweitzer, 2500 E Hallandale Beach Blvd, Hallandale, Fla, has a new large office at above address. Bob is more professionally described as a podiatrist but it would be a longer wait to "P". He is on the staff of local hosp and, being completely bilingual, he met with fellow foot surgeons last yr in Madrid, Costa Rica, and Mexico. (What is Spanish for hang nail?)

I have diligently avoided the usual piteous little cries of correspondents for news, but I am making a special plea to two of our more famed categories—R/Retired and N/New Careers. Would classmates who qualify as members of these categories please write me in detail about their happy state of affairs. Your good news will be emphasized in a special separate column in a special "double" summer issue.

WOMEN: Dudie Krause Thielen, 320 Drew Park Dr, Lake Charles, La 70601

My faithful Christmas card correspondents have supplied the column for this month—by this time all the news items from last year's News and Dues forms have been exhausted. It was nice to hear from Mary Elizabeth King (47 Lakeshore Dr, Lake Ransom Canyon, Rt 2, Slaton, Texas), Shirley Beaton Fitzner (Mrs Robert, 1526 King Edward Dr, Pittsburgh, Pa), and Peggy Brackbill Brass (Mrs Paul, 1429 Dauphin Ave, Wyomissing, Pa). The card from Patty Williams MacVeagh (Mrs Charles, 229 Rosemont Ave, Webster Groves, Mo) showed her handsome son and a daughter who looks just like her mother. Sondra MacLennen Cornett's (Mrs Robert, 182 Buckingham Dr, Hamilton, Ont, Canada) pictured her family of five plus husband Bob and a beautiful black standard poodle, and Kay Kirk Thornton's (Mrs Max, Pryor Star Route, Billings, Mont) was of their ranch.

Carol Buckley Swiss (Mrs H H, 20 Alden Ave, Shrewsbury, Mass) mentioned on her card that Mary Alice Newhall '52 married Dave Cole '50 last summer. Dot Glover Grimball (Mrs George, 1743 N Main St, Greenville, SC) wrote that "G M" went into solo practice this fall. Shelly (Epstein) and Aaron Akabas (15 Oak Lane, Scarsdale) were off to a Christmas hideaway, "an idyllic isle called Grand Cayman."

News from "Gege" Noyes Bartholow (Mrs E W, 1234 Mt Vernon Dr, Charleston, WV) is of a son in the air force in Miss. Daughter Betty is in coll. U of Ala I believe.

Wink Bergin Hart (Mrs Boyd, 115 N Highland St, Arlington, Va) is attending Catholic U for a master's in libr science. Betsy, the oldest, is enjoying Wellesley, and everyone else is at home in various stages of educ. Wink writes that Helen Eldredge Bradley '53 came with her husband and three sons for dinner in the late fall—it had been 23 yrs since they were together.

Helen Wilson Ely (Mrs Frank, 8 Locust St, Montrose, Pa) has a son at Cornell in pre-med. Dave is out for frosh crew and is thoroughly enjoying Ithaca. Still at home with Helen and Frank are daughter Anne and a new addition, Erich, a huge German Shepherd.

Carol Wood Christy (Mrs Ken, 5207 Brookview, Ft Wayne, Ind) sends news that Ken bought his own truck last fall and now drives for Ringle Express carrying mostly farm equipment. Carol is now in her 7th yr with Genl Telephone. Their children include Nancy, working in Wash DC with the Repub Natl Comm doing research; Mark, just out of the Navy and back in Ft Wayne with his wife; and Mike, 16, who is a jr in hs.

If you gathered any news from your Christmas cards, please send it on to me!

COMBINED: David W Buckley, 82 W River Rd, Rumson, NJ 07760

Don Follett writes that their family is growing up with oldest, Jim a jr at Williams, Steve a Cornell freshman, and Sue, in hs.

Dr Mary Alice Newhall Mathews notes that she renewed an old friendship, and then married an old Cornell beau, David Cole '50 last Aug. They back-packed into the high Sierras for a wk and then toured the Navajo reservation with her daughter. The Coles live in Newton Ctr, Mass, where David is assoc dir of overseas projects for Harvard Institute for Intl Development. Mary Alice is busy with her psychiatric practice, and her daughter is in hs.

Richard Parker drops an admitted advertising plug for a resort golf club and cottages which he and four other couples bought in Grand Isle, Vt. It's Wilcox Cove Cottages and Golf Course on Grand Isle's west shore. Other than this, Dick is vp in charge of production and facilities at Vt Structural Steel in Burlington.

Don Parmet invites '52ers in for a cold beer when in the Long Isl Sound area. They're in Sweet Hollow, Melville, where Don and his family spend a lot of time in the summers on their Pearson 30 on the Sound. Jim Stanley keeps busy as a mfrs rep in the Chicago area selling textiles and apparel.

Will White's quite busy sailing—he placed in the top 10 in both Force Five and Sunfish North Amer Sailing Championships. Also came in first with his step-daughter Susan in the 51-mi Sunfish race down the Conn River; it was their 2nd yr in a row as winners.

Libby Ridenour Somers lives in my old town, Villanova, Pa. Their two children attend the Agnes Irwin School, and Haverford. Joseph Karesh sent his usual newsy note. He, wife Harriett (Blumenthal) '53, and family are still enjoying life in the South. They live in Charlotte, NC, where both are active in the Piedmont CC, noted as the most outstanding small CC in 1973; Joe was pres 4 yrs ago. Joe notes that they see Gretchen (Lawson) Lentz and Bruce '51 frequently; Bruce is active in state politics and is state dir of admin. The Karesh daughter is a freshman at the U of Va, and Lewis, in hs, is still quite active in various local and state hockey programs. Last summer he attended the Tam O'Shanter Hockey School in Ont run by several ex-Cornellians.

Carol Singer Greenhaus says things are about the same. She notes that their eldest daughter is a soph at Brown; other two daughters are in hs and grade school. Lew Ward is practicing child psychiatry at the Convalescent Hosp in Rochester. The Wards (wife Barbara and four children), returned for another Cornell Alumni U session last summer. Barbara and Lew sang in the Rochester Bach Festival and Lew acted in a local production of HMS Pinafore.

MEN: Bernard West, 411 E 53rd St, NY 10022

Another arid spell is upon us. The last article used up much of the material I'd been hoarding. But if you are a conscientious class dues payer you will have filled out Bill Bellamy's new News and Dues form and I in turn shall have an abundance of information for the Apr issue.

A personal note—if any are in the Stratton Mt, Vt, area, you can give me your news in person, as I've taken up part-time residence in a place know as Winhall Acres, Bondville, Vt. F-5 is the unit.

Alan J Perlmutter has joined St Regis Paper Co as div mgr of training and manpower development of the printing and packaging papers div.

Charles W West, not a relative, has been appointed assoc prof of business admin at Morehead State U, Morehead, Ky. Joining the ranks of academe is Lt Col Albert J Steffen who has been appointed assoc prof of military science at Lake Superior State Coll. That's in Sault St Marie, Mich, affectionately known as the "Miami of the North."

Apparently someone is making do in the present economic climate. William F Egan's firm, Chittick Egan Advertising of Philadelphia, has had to take new space as a result of increased business.

MEN: William J Field II, 1321 Country Club Dr, Bloomfield Hills, Mich 48013

The new News and Dues form really seems to do the trick as far as getting people to send in news items. As I write this column on Jan 15 I am happily looking at a pile of 56 news items you sent in this fall. I'll take them in the order received and plan to cover everybody in the next few mos. Keep up the good work!

Herbert F Ley Jr is self-employed as a veal calf grower in Lansing, but manages to spend summers in Sound Beach, Long Isl, and a few wks in the winter in Fla. Stephen Goodman is vp of Bycks, a women's apparel store in Louisville and is on the bd of dir of the Louisville orchestra. Martin I Schachter is in genl dental practice in Freeport and recently became an asst prof of clinical dentistry at the SUNY Dental School in Stony Brook.

William W Mountsier, head of the machine design section, engrg div of Proctor and Gamble in Cincinnati, purchased a lakeside lot and is in process of clearing it for a future home. He's involved in numerous community activities on the side. Alfred D Loizeaut, now a capt, is an oral surgeon at the naval regional dental ctr in Norfolk, Va. Jean F Rowley is pres of the Marine Midland Bank-Eastern M A in Troy, and just finished a ski trip to Colo.

CR "Pete" Nesbitt says "we grow cherries and apples" and has four active young ones in the family. They keep wife Dana busy most of the time. Jim Carville lives in Key Biscayne, Fla, and reports "all the family happily ensconced on the Isl Paradise and enjoying the surroundings to the fullest." Alvin R Beatty, vp and cashier of Lakeside Bank in Chicago, sent a long Christmas newsletter full of his doings including a job change and a side venture called A Show of Hands—a shop devoted to handcrafts of all kinds. Al managed a 2-wk trip to Spain in Sept and is active with Hull House Assn and sr ctrs while serving as vp of the CC of Chicago.

Ralph Delaplaine is engaged in machine design for Dupont while his wife Peggy Ann is an admin asst in the nursing school in Wilmington. The Delaplaines ventured to Yellowstone, Tetons, and Grand Canyon via motor home this past summer and will head for Nova Scotia in '75.

Bert Rosen practices medicine and psychiatry in NYC. He visited classmates (unnamed) who have settled in Germany. Bob Lynk practices vet med in Delmar while spouse Nancy (Radick) '52 is dir of Albany Cty Ext Assn.

Barry Kolton's daughter Lynne is a freshman at Cornell. He reports "she loves it so much her feet haven't touched ground yet." He has sold his 12-yr-old business B-K Electrical Products to Automatic Switch Co, but stayed on as pres of the subsidiary. Last summer it was merged with another subsidiary, and Barry is pres of the new and larger org.

Solan Chao is asst prof of clinical obstetrics-gynecology at Columbia U and also has a private practice. Stan Garrell lists his work simply as "law." He is a past pres of the CC of Fairfield Cty, Conn.

Jerome A Jarvis is an ophthalmologist while his wife Rima (Kleiman) '55 is his med and surgical asst. Son Jeff is '78 at Cornell. The Jarvis family are the proud owners of a 5 ft boa constrictor. I'll close on that note!

WOMEN: Sorscha Brodsky Meyer, Hampton House, Apt 1105, 204 East Joppa Rd, Towson, Md 21204

A complete lack of news to meet deadlines for Jan and Feb issues has been gratifyingly corrected with the arrival of many of your biographical sheets as well as several welcome holiday notes. Season's greetings from roommate Mary Kabat Bishop included a lovely family portrait showing Mary and husband Warren '51 surrounded by children Jim, Kathy, Pat, and Terry. The Bishops had quite a yr in '74 with the first seven mos spent in London, England, finishing a 3½-yr tour at the embassy. After packing Warren's clock collection and Mary's pressed glass, the family did some traveling, then flew back to the States Aug 1 and moved into their home on Long Isl Sound near Warren's family, at 50 Byram Shore Rd, Byram, Conn. Warren, a Lt col in the air force, then went through C130 gunship crew training in Fla during Sept-Oct and after 3 wks at home left Nov 13 for Korat AB in Thailand for a yr's tour. Mary says "that sure was a sad day for the Bishop household." Warren's address for the yr is Box 2821, 16 Sp Ops Sq (PACAF), APO San Francisco. Jim is a hs sr preparing for coll next Sept, Kathy and Pat are 11th and 9th graders, with Pat doing nicely on the piano; and Terry, a 3rd grader, takes swim lessons at the Y. Mary keeps busy as housekeeper, chauffeur, chief cook and bottle washer, with garden club and bridge sandwiched between.

Enjoying news of old friends in the fall columns prompted Barbara Johnson Gottling to send holiday wishes. The Gottlings reside at 541 Laramie Trail, Cincinnati, Ohio. Phil '52 continues with Proctor & Gamble, his after-work activities including music (substituting as church organist) and bldg cabinets at home. Barbara serves as co-chmn of the Cornell women's secondary schools comm in Cincinnati; pres of the Wyoming School Music Ass; member of church choir. Philip, 19, a freshman bassoon student at the U of Cincinnati's conservatory won in 1974 the Cincinnati's Youth Symphony Orchestra's concerto competition and "outstanding student musician" at Eastern Music Festival in Greensboro, NC. Kristin, 17, a jr zoologist, raised and released a squirrel and red fox in '74, visited Africa for 6 wks, and is presently earning money for a trip to Peru and Galapagos. Riding horses and playing piano and harpsichord in the hs orchestra occupy her spare time. Liz, 7, is a 2nd grader and Brownie.

I'll conclude with a bit of news from the Meyers. Lou and I spent a wonderful holiday wk in hometown Rochester visiting family and friends, and celebrated our 2nd wedding anniv on Dec 17. Lou (U of Rochester undergrad and Syracuse master's) has thoroughly enjoyed his introduction to Cornell functions starting with last June's 20th Reunion. As a result of attending one Reunion weekend event—Alternative for Learning: Innovations in Undergrad Educ—an excellent film directed by James B Mass, PhD '66, dir of Cornell's Ctr for Improvement of Undergrad Educ, Lou, who is a prod and dir for Baltimore station WMAR-TV, presented an hr-long program in Oct. It featured the film, and program guests included Maas and Steven Muller, PhD '58, pres of Johns Hopkins U.

MEN: David G Sheffield, 76 Parker Rd, Wellesley, Mass 02181

Hope that all of you who can, will make the trip to Ithaca to partake of the good cheer and promised good weather at our 20th. Mark June 12-16 on your calendar.

It is now Dr Neil F Sharp as Neil received his doctorate in educ admin from Columbia in early '74. Address: 4 Highfield Dr, Dix Hills. Harold Bartell has announced his intentions to attend Reunion. Ray Trotta is still available. Charlie Carr, Larry Persson, and I did our annual thing together at the local Grass Cutters Ball. Charlie and Mary (Thornton) '58 came up all the way from Wayne, Pa. Three more candidates for Reunion.

Lael Celeste Siegel is now 1 yr old. Mark Siegel (father) is out on his own as a mfrs' rep and consultant and finds the new freedom "exhilarating." Jim Van Buren's private scy Mary (Martin) '56 wrote a long note recently describing the butterflies that "team doctor" Jim gets as their oldest son Jimmy plays varsity hs football and also wrestles. The Van Burens are planning the Reunion trip. Address: 993 Castel Falls Dr, NE Atlanta, Ga.

John Weiss is working on our 20th Reunion fund drive as our Cornell Fund Rep. Trustee Bob Cowie and Joan Fellerman are special gifts co-chairpersons. John is active in interviewing for secondary schools and is a gov of the Cornell Assn of NY. Address: Bach & Co., 100 Gold St, NYC.

Deborah is also 1 yr old and is the first in the family. Carol and David Levin are just starting out while some of our number are soon to be grandparents. What?? Harvey Knaster has been doing quite a bit of traveling: Caracas, Rio, Milan, London, for Citicorp Leasing as their sr auditor. Harv would like to know of classmates in these cities (perhaps the Alumni Office could help.) Address: 4 Peter Cooper Rd, NYC. Jim Rosecrans joined Lone Star Industries in 1973 and is now dir of Corp Employee Relations. Allan Ripans' private scy Gail (Kweller) '61 dutifully forwarded a news release that Allen wanted to have mentioned in the Alumni News and this klutz lost the release. My apologies to Allan. Honest, she's innocent. Allan is active in Cornell activities particularly secondary schools comm and the Soc of Hotelmen. Allan is also pres of the Atlanta Restaurant Assn. New Address: 6465 Riverside Dr, NW Atlanta, Ga (not far from Van Burens). New address for Joseph "Bud" Stuart: Stuart Mill Farm, The Plains, Va. The Eschweillers are sporting the 4th generation in the Arch Coll. Peter and Mickie's (Symonds) '53 daughter Susan is a freshman this yr. The Feb Alumni News shows the Eschweiler genealogy—and loyalty to Cornell. Roy Allen and Jay Hymany will be at Reunion '75. That makes 10 of us already.

WOMEN: Judy Silverman Duke, 6 Carriage Hill, Millwood, NY 10546

Kathe Weiss Schwartzberg (Mrs Allan), 6616 Kenhill Rd, Bethesda, Md, has been taking courses for 2 yrs at the Wash School of Psychiatry and Georgetown Med School. She works as a co-therapist with her husband, chmn of the psyschiatry dept at Suburban Hosp in Bethesda, for his coll-age group. The Schwartzbergs recently presented a paper before the Eastern Psychoanalytic Assn on Marital Co-Therapy In An Adolescent Group Psychotherapy Setting.

Anne Sutherland Schaal (Mrs Lee), Rte 2, Box 123, Gillett, Wisc, is now a sr at the U of Wisc in Green Bay's Without Walls alternative educ program. She writes, "Going back to coll after 20 yrs is quite a challenge, but it can be done!"

Marlene Medjuck Eagle (Mrs Irwin J), Prince's Pine Rd, Norwalk, Conn, was recently elected to professional membership in the Natl Soc of Interior Designers. She is involved with residential interiors and is an art consultant for professional offices. Her spare time is spent playing tennis and taking design courses at the Stamford branch of the U of Conn. The Eagles planned to spend several winter weekends skiing Waterville Valley, NH, and are looking forward to our Reunion this June.

Patricia Wells Lunneborg (Mrs Clifford E), 11930 Riviera Pl NE, Seattle, Wash, and her family spent Christmas '73 in Sicily and planned to spend last Christmas in Portugal. The Lunneborgs plan to be home this summer for any visitors to the Pacific Northwest!

Inez Dunn Moon is divorced and teaching elementary art in Patchogue. She has bought a condominium at 145 Feller Dr, Ctr Islip, and is planning to attend Reunion.

Virginia Wallace Panzer, 533 East Grant Ave, Roselle Park, NJ, has been a full-time real estate salesperson for the Boyle Co for almost 2 yrs. Her husband Jerry PhD '56 is with Exxon Research in Linden, NJ, and is a past pres and currently a dir of the CC of Union Cty. The Panzers have 3 children—Elen, 8, Bobby, 16½, and Lorrie, '77, 19. Ginny writes, "Lorrie loves the campus and the kids at Cornell but feels the classes of 800 or more are too large. When they are broken up into smaller groups, she feels that the great univ is shortchanging them by putting grad students in charge rather than profs. I worry about the caliber of students that Cornell will be able to attract in the future. It seems they are going from Ivy League to Big 10 . . . Between going back for all class Reunions, attending Alumni U, and visiting our daughter and bringing her back and forth, I feel like Ithaca is a second home. It really hasn't changed all that much!"

Ginny keeps in touch with her former roommate Sherry Vogel Greenberg '54 and says she and her husband Stephen '53 are well and happy and living in Harrison with their 3 children.

Remember Reunion June 12-16!

WOMEN: Rita Rausch Moelis, 916 Lawrence Court, Valley Stream, NY 11581

I would like to thank Eydyth Rothermel Hopwood '55 for her lovely letter and information concerning Susan Sylvester Teunis who lives at 3306 N Columbus St, in Arlington, Va. Susan (photo next page) is completing her yr as pres of the Service League of N Va. The League, a charitable organization, is a group of young women dedicated to community serv. During her term the League has begun a learning disabilities project that trains teachers to deal with children with learning disabilities and screens young children to discover disabilities. The Service League also operates a Reading Is FUNdamental program that encompasses all the N Va area; it started and participates in a humanities program in the elementary schools and supports many other projects with funds and volunteer time. The funds are raised by a Thrift Shop that is open five days a wk in Arlington. It has been hard work for Sue this yr and she had done an outstanding job! Sue and John have two children: John, 15, a remarkable drummer and an important part of a rock group; and Frances, a sixth grader at Jamestown Elem School.

Congratulations and best wishes to Roberta (Brown) and Bob Silliman! In Mar they adopted 21-mo-old Anna Lisa and on Nov 3, Roberta gave birth to Matthew Robert (Rob). "After 18 yrs of marriage we are indeed rejoicing," writes Roberta. The Silliman's address is dept of history, Emory U, Atlanta, Ga.

A new address for Joanne "Sunny" Styles McMillan. It's Halcyon Hill I, the Lodge, White Hollow Rd, Sharon, Conn. Sunny and Tom, MS '62 have four children. Christy is 17, a sr at the Hotchkiss School and member of the first girls' class accepted there. She hopes to go to Yale next yr. The other children continue to be active in commercials, stage and print work. Will, 12, was in the cast of the Broadway musical "Pippin" and "The King and I" in dinner theaters. Ian, 8, toured with Barbara Bel Geddes in "Finishing Touches" in summer stock throughout New England. Mery Kate, 5, is currently on a bowling team for Trident TV commercials. Each of the three younger children won prizes in writing and art in "Cricket" a new natl magazine for children. "Watergate mentality prevalent in govt," writes Sunny, "was too much for Tom," which is why they left Wash, DC and came to north-west Conn. Sunny is a member of the civic Pony Club, paints, enjoys letter writing, transcendental meditation, and is still working on her PhD. The family enjoys discussions, canoeing, soccer, and traveling. Recently they have been to the Caribbean, Europe, and Northeastern US. The McMillans are back at Cornell often since they bought a "white elephant lake-front estate" in that area . . . They volunteer their place as a possible site for our Reunion outing. Sunny would like to see more "short courses" given on weekends throughout the yr to "update" and keep informed on what's been happening since we graduated. She also suggests that instead of increasing dues that they be held low at $10 and additional money be sent with the dues as a "contribution," tax deductible, and in any amount the donor can afford.

MEN: Charles P Stanton, 52 Garden Place, Brooklyn, NY 11201

The small but dedicated group joining Jack McCormick at the Cornell-Boston Coll hockey game, which opened the Holiday Festival at Madison Sq Garden early in Jan, included Ed and Ade Russell Vant, Debbie (Cleaves) '58 and Bob Herron '56, Sam Bookbinder, Cornell Trustee Steve Weiss and your correspondent. There was lots of scoring as Cornell beat BC handily, went on to win the tournament and increase its chances of another crack at the Eastern title this yr.

Bob George, wife Sheryl, and three kids live right by the Grouse Mt ski slope in N Vancouver, BC, Canada at 5351 Esperanza Dr. Bob owns a local smorgasbord restaurant. Dr Dick Dent of 114 Selborne Chase, Fairport specializes in internal med, works with the Genesee Valley Heart Assn, and vacations by crabbing in S Md. Roy Opitz of 239 Davidson Ave, Ramsey, NJ has been named genl mgr of Continental Can's corp mktg services; Roy and family have followed a series of careers: successively (after 3 yrs in the Navy) Touche Ross, DuPont, and Eastern Airlines, before joining ConCan early last yr. Atty and Asst DA for Saratoga Cty Dave Riebel lives at 1 Woodstead Rd, Ballston Lake. Dave and wife Joan (Harris) '59 have three kids and pet Siamese and Weimaraner. They summer in Ogunquit, Me.

It's been reported that the John Seilers have been transferred to Louisville, Ky, where Cotten is now at Stewart's Dept store. Dr Jerry Levey of 5236 SW 64th Ave, Miami, Fla practices endocrinology while wife Barbara is a clinical pharmacologist at the U of Miami; they have two teen-agers but miss the company of members of the class in their neighborhood—I guess by the time the Leveys retire in 20 yrs or so, the place will be swarming.

You will recall the adventurous career of classmate Darryl Turgeon, late of 6025 Pitt St, New Orleans—Walter Mitty Turgeon has kept us breathless with tales of deep-sea diving, cigars, pest control, costume design for "Hair" and, somewhat disappointingly, advertising. Taking time out to father 11 kids (!!!), Darryl has settled into being an entrepreneur bar-owner at "Darryl's Den."

The Jan NYC monthly luncheon group met at Reidy's, 24 E 54th St, and included Jack McCormick, Ed Vant, Bill Gold, Roy Opitz, Dick Kossoff, and Chuck James. Paul Miller is moving up to Conn, so the group is running under Ed Vant's guidance once again; mtgs are 2nd Mon of each month at Reidy's.

This should appear about the time you will be receiving "News and Dues" notices from Class Treas Bob Black—we look forward to hearing from all of you and would appreciate personal news for the column.

WOMEN: Judy Reusswig, 5401 Westbard Ave, #1109, Wash, DC 20016

After 10 days there I'm convinced there's no better place to spend a Christmas holiday than in Vail, Colo. Despite the predictions of such large crowds that one wouldn't be able to ski, I found lots of uncrowded mt and breathtaking scenery. There was plenty of snow, and 5 straight days of sunshine made for some great skiing. President Ford was an added attraction and along with all the other shutterbugs I managed to get my quota of pictures of him. I ran into three classmates, too. Saw Dick Peterson who runs Vail Assoc and is mainly involved in the development side, especially a new area down the road from Vail—Beaver Creek. Dick said that Dave Mott '56 is working on the Beaver Creek dev and he and his wife live in the area. I was adjusting my skis one day at the top of Northeast Bowl and looked at the gal standing next to me to see Judy Lund Biggs ready for a run. Judy, her husband, and two children spent the holidays in a condominium in Vail. Toward the end of my stay some friends and I decided to try the ice skating rink. Janet Lynn I am not, and the resulting accident required some stitches at the Vail Clinic. When it came time to pay the bill the gal on duty turned out to be Allison Parker. Allison gave up teaching back East about 4 yrs ago and moved to Vail. She said she loves her work, the skiing, the clean air, and living in a resort that also thrives in the summer. She said she manages a visit every once in a while to Puerto Rico to see Shirley Axtmayer Rodriguez.

Judy Richter Levy and family spent the holidays in Fla and Judy sent along a new address for Toni Pew Holman. Toni is now living at 55 East End Ave, Apt 5A, NYC. Send news.

MEN: Howard J Myers, 25 Fairmount Ave, Morristown, NJ 07960

Rick Cohen chaired a symposium at the Amer Psychological Assn mtg in New Orleans in Sept. Mrs Cohen (Linda) has photos on display in an exhibit at their house at 84 Allenwood Rd, Great Neck. Shep Cohen, MD, has a changed address—P O Box 18-U, Denver, Colo.

J Michael and Charlotte Jones Collister '62 spent their last vacation in Zurich. They live at 2085 Elgin Rd, Columbus, Ohio, with two children, Kimberly, 4, and Scott, 2. David S Davis, 60 Belgrade Terr, West Orange, NJ, is dir of mktg for Uvimer/Flexomer energy curable resin systems at Polychrome Corp in Yonkers.

Richard H Dyer Jr, MD, 249 Litchfield Rd, Watertown, Conn, has been in orthopedic surgery practice since 1971. He maintains an active interest in rowing, which sometimes has to play 2nd fiddle to a half-interest in farm ownership, and a sloop, as well as his practice, of course. His wife (Jini) and three children (Heather, Amy, Rusty) look forward to seeing any Cornell enthusiasts.

USAF Maj David J Esses, BEE '61, is a staff dev engr with the Rome Air Dev Ctr, a unit of the Air Force Sys Comm at Griffis AFB. After spending all his yrs in NY, Mark W Ettinger finds it's an enormous change to Houston, where he's been since the summer of '73 for Merrill Lynch inst dept. He and his wife Wendy have Jenny, 4, and John, 2. They live at 241 Mayerling Dr.

Noel Fenton, 1092 Laureles Dr, Los Altos, Cal, married and with three children, is pres and chief exec officer of Acurex Corp, Mountain View. The co manufactures indl measurement and control systems and mkts them throughout the world, also performs research and dev for the fedl govt.

Neal R Foster, 743 N Bucknell St, Phila, Pa, with an MS and a PhD in ichthyology, has been on the scientific staff of the dept of limnology of the Acad of Natural Sci of Phila since 1965. In addition to carrying out various fresh-water, estuarine and marine environmental assessment and impact studies, he teaches undergrads and grad students at U of Pa and does research on the biol and evolution of fishes and on aquaculture.

Jeffrey Frey, BEE '60, is an assoc prof in Electrical Engrg at Cornell. He holds an MS and a PhD degree from the U of Cal, Berkeley. He was a technical staff member with Watkins-Johnson Co, 1965-66; a postdoctoral fellow at Rutherford Lab in England, 1966-67; and a research assoc with the UK Atomic Energy Research Establishment, 1967-1969. He joined the Cornell faculty in 1970 as an asst prof, and has played a major role in developing the integrated circuits lab into an important facility for teaching and research. He has also been active in the support of the Program on Sci, Tech, and Soc, through his technology assessment work on the societal implications of new microwave solid state devices.

Prof Arthur Geoffrion, of 322 24th St, Santa Monica, Cal, this yr has taken a sabbatical leave from his duties as prof of mgt sci at UCLA's Grad School of mgt. His travel plans included Vienna and Japan, with most of his sabbatic research being done in this country on topics having to do with mathematical programming and applications of interactive computing.

WOMEN: Cindy Cavanaugh Jones, 1370 Canterbury Way, Rockville, Md 20854

Spring sunshine really is coming! Just tell yourself that every time you look out the window and wonder where it is! The mail brought a wedding announcement of Drieka Martin's marriage to Jerry Bloom, Nov 30. The happy couple's new address is 1314 Lafayette Towers E, Detroit, Mich. Best Wishes to you both—and thanks so much for sending me the news. Now send in what you've both been working at so we'll be all caught up.

Sallie Ann Sook Joachim writes that her daughter Janet started kindergarten this month, and Eric, 3, is still at home. Her husband Andy '61 teaches biology at Bethlehem Central, and they live near Nancy Hewitt Holler. She and Sally Eaton Vrooman and Nancy came to Reunion together.

Barbara Horan Lowell writes some fun news. She had a 2-wk trip touring Ireland's finest castles—she won the trip in a charity drawing! Congratulations, Barbara. She is dir of nursing in a 27-physician multi-specialty group practice. (If you read this column long enough you'll learn about lots of nifty new things!) Barbara loves marvelous Marin, Cal living, and lives at 120 Surrey Lane, San Rafael.

I have two corrections to last mo's column that came in the Christmas mail. Rae Laidly Wright '58 has moved to 7831 N 65th St, Paradise Valley, Ariz, where husband Ted '58 is now mgr of the Camelback Inn. She lives near Kitsie Helm Cullen '58 and Bill '57 and Lollie Treman Alquist '56 lives in Tucson also. She writes that Susie Kerr Crockett just moved in a mile away. Cheryl Sarstedt Zanzot '60 writes that she and Warren '58 have moved to 1133 Rimer Dr, Moraga, Cal. Jeannie Kelley Rolles '58 writes that she's going to be a coed again and after working to finish her hotel degree at the U of Hawaii, she must return to the Ithaca campus for one course. Husband Chuck '56 (of basketball fame during our yrs) owns at least one hotel and many, many restaurants. Their address is 1407 Laamia Pl, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Now for our Question of the Month. Last month I asked for your family's favorite menu—with some recipes attached if you're so inclined. This month sharpen your pencils and answer this one: Do you think women who work part-time wind up working harder (than full-time workers or full-time homemakers)? If you do think so, or if you are a woman who works part-time—send in some of your hints for survival! One hint from me (I teach three courses/ week: Don't get a puppy for Christmas that makes four or five little piles a day. This hint alone will save you a lot of time!

Barbara "Boots" Billin Schabacker '60 and husband Jay '57 live near us with their three lovely daughters Laura, 9, Holly, 11, and Diana, 14. They own three horses, several ducks, and numerous other animals. When they were both 8 yrs old, Diana gave our son Roger a frog. She had kept it carefully in her pocket for him. Boots has an interesting part-time job: she and a neighbor split the full-time job of veterinarian's asst. I asked her if mucking out stables makes housework look good, but she won't answer me. Ann Merriken Goldsmith writes on her card that they are again spending winter weekends in Squaw Valley. Jim '56 is still working for British insurance companies investing in Cal and Hawaiian real estate. Their address is 10 Bay Tree Lane, Mill Valley, Cal.

Well folks, that's it for now, and I'm beginning to run out of news—So write me quick and tell me your pet peeve, your kids' names, and your favorite thing!

Reunion News—Sue Phelps Day and Rick Schlingmann, co-chmn want you to come and enjoy our 15th no matter what the circumstances! Come for any part thereof, relax, enjoy a mini-vacation with minimal costs. We hope to be most flexible and provide what you want—continental breakfasts and sandwich center in our own dorm. The dorm is Low Rise #6 near Dickson and the golf course; families and friends will be assigned rooms adjoining—a quiet wing if you desire, child care in the dorm after you've settled them down, and sitters are also available. The univ has an exciting program of sports, educational forums, entertainment, youth program, something for everyone! Got a question, call Sue at 518-374-0421 or write 107 Governor Dr, Scotia (that's near Albany-Schenectady). We'll have a picnic at the Flynns on Fri and a banquet on Sat. Even if you haven't been a regular visitor to campus you'll feel at home. Cornell still has her traditions with an exciting outlook for the '70s.

Make your plans now to contact one of those busy Reunion chmn, Carl "Rick" Schlingmann's address is Wilmington Country Club, PO Box 3699, Wilmington, Del 19807; or Sue Phelps Day's (address given above). The fees are modest, the time spent back at Cornell will be a very fine way to put these last 15 yrs into better perspective for all of us.

It was a pleasure to hear from David H Watts who, with his family, have been back in Va for 1½ yrs after being 3½ yrs in Australia. Dave and Rita have three sons, David, 11, Eric, 8, Jeff, 5, and are at home at 716 McKinley St, Vienna, Va. David is div mgr of Ocean Systems Inc for their worldwide diving opns.

Albert Tripodi writes from 4958 Carnarvan Rd, Syracuse, to note their S Amer adventure in Quito, Ecuador, in 1974. Al is in private practice of internal med in Syracuse. He and Jane have three children, Al, 14, Kevin, 12, and Tom, 10.

Dr Moritz J Gluck was fortunate enough to combine business and pleasure in a recent trip to the British West Indies where he was lecturer on oral surgery to a dental soc. "Gluck" is an oral surgeon in Bayside; his wife Judy is a research asst at Albert Einstein Coll of Med and their address is 4 Larch Dr, Great Neck Estates. The Gluck family includes David, 6½, and Matthew, 3½.

These cold winter days a note from Stuart M Elsberg was particularly distracting. He and Margie were sailing their new "one tonner," an orange Viking 33 dubbed #2 Sesame's Treat, for 10 days in July. He and his family, including Andy, 7, June, 4, and Daniel, 1, reside at 10305 Garden Way, Potomac, Md. He is vp of merchandising for Drug Fair Inc. Margie is features editor at WTOP TV in Wash.

We also had a note from Stephan A Fogelson, 43 Weaver Dr, Apt 6A, Massapequa, saying that his wife's name is Elayne L and their honeymoon last Mar was in Caracas Venezuela.

Dr Philip A D Schneider writes they had a mo's vacation on Pawleys Isl, SC. He is assoc dir for manpower info, US Civil Serv Commission. Their home address is 8511 Browning Ct, Annandale, Va. The Schneider family includes Martha, 7, Mary Beth, 5, John, 3, Linda, 1, and a black cat named Kafka.

It was a pleasure to hear from George E Beine, 1839 Beacon St #307, Cincinnati, Ohio. He writes to note that he is doing consulting work in computer applications in Cincinnati in assn with Gnomon Inc. George was pres of CC of Cincinnati and looks forward to attending our 15th Reunion and hopes this will turn out to be a vintage yr.

WOMEN: Gail Taylor Hodges, 1821 Murdstone Rd, Pittsburgh, Pa 15241

Have you made your plans yet for Reunion? NOTE: The beginning of the Men's column gives the information. Please read and take the appropriate action! It's now just a little over two months away. The Hodges are planning to come. Hope to see you there!

Another who'll definitely be there is Sue Phelps Day, our hard-working Reunion co-chmn. A recent note brought me up to date on her other activities. In Apr the Days went to Cal on a business-pleasure trip. They stayed Easter weekend with Pat Hicks Kleis, Norman, Pete, 6, Bobby, 5, and Nancy, 2 at their mt home at Donner Lake in the Sierra Nevada Mts near Lake Tahoe and Squaw Valley. Also visiting at the same time were Norma Ruebman Wightman, Peter, Paul, 4, and Glen, 5 from Rhodesia. Norma is teaching home ec and social studies in Salisbury. Her husband works for Sabena Air Lines. Their address is: Box 3792, Salisbury, Rhodesia. The Kleis's live 4 hrs away from their mt retreat at 835 Lily Ave, Cupertino, Cal. They commuted for 2 yrs to Donner Lake to build the home they designed.

The Days and Kleis's got together again in the summer when Barbara Esdorn Rissmeyer, Henry, Carla, 11, and Walter, 9, hosted a roommate reunion at their summer home in Conn. Barb is teaching jr hs math to emotionally disturbed children at a state school in Elmsford and Henry is with J Walter Thompson. Also joining them were Linda Miller Kelsey, Fred '59, Mark, 8, and Todd, 5. Linda is teaching home ec and devising new curricula in a hs near Syracuse and Fred is a pastor at the Methodist Church in Fayetteville. The Rissmeyers live at 130 Deerbeach Lane, Irvington; the Kelseys, at 135 Brookside Lane, Fayetteville. Sue also reported seeing Louise Clendenin Butler and Carol Sue Epstein Hai during Cornell Council weekend. Louise is scy to the principal and faculty at Waldorf HS in Garden City and Carol Sue is a housing and design consultant.

Elizabeth Dunbar Day, Tom '59 Tom, 13, Cindy, 12, and Linda, 10 are now at 14 Has-kins Rd, Hanover, NH. A little more than 2 yrs ago Tom left the family catering business in NYC and the family headed north. He first built and now owns and manages Eleazar's, a night spot featuring rock and jazz bands in White River Junction, Vt. Beth is asst to the dir of admissions and student affairs, Amos Tuck School of Business Admin Dartmouth Coll. The family enjoys skiing and tennis and working on their new home, which Tom built with the help of a carpenter. Beth writes that she would love to hear from Cornell friends either living in her area or driving through on their way to the slopes.

Mary Quick Flinn, Dave, Dale, 13, and Glenn, 11, are still enjoying country life at 866 Ridge Rd, Lansing, where they'll host our Re-union barbeque in June. Their activities include raising Angus cattle and Clydesdale horses and running a mail-order, two-way radio business. Dave is a dir of the United Way of Tompkins Cty and of the Greater Ithaca Activities Ctr, vp of the Lansing Civic Assn, chmn of Cornell's class leadership gifts, and a member of the Tower Club and of the CC of Ithaca. Mary is active with herb gardens, quilting, weaving, and other crafts, and found time to make a trip to Italy and Scotland in Feb '74. The whole family traveled to Spokane for the World's Fair. Their children are both busy in school, Dale in his 2nd yr at Fallbrook, Deerfield, Mass, and Glenn in the Lansing Middle School.

MEN: Ken Blanchard, 33 Hickory Lane, Amherst, Mass 01002

Our annual Christmas journey to Fla to spend the holidays with our parents had an added attraction this yr since we were able to have fun visits with two classmates. We saw George Malti and his wife Joe in Miami where they were visiting George's parents. George has a law practice in San Francisco and also has been busy house-hunting with Joe during the last yr. Dave D'Alessandro and his wife Stefanie were our tennis opponents several times. Dave is a surgeon in Ft Lauderdale. The D'Alessandros moved into a beautiful home on the intercoastal in Lighthouse Point with their four children.

Ken Frankel is starting a practice of thoracic and cardiovascular surgery in the Springfield, Mass, area. He and his wife Felice and children Matthew, 4, and Michael, 1, are living in Longmeadow.

Ed Goldman writes: "I continue to bind books at Publishers Book Bindery Inc. (Long Isl City) and play tennis whenever the opportunity arises. Susan Lowes (Goucher '62) and I have just bought a brownstone (in Brooklyn) and we will have a new permanent job getting it into shape. I've also been working for several reform-type politicians here in Brooklyn." Wayne Freihofer and his family live in Loudonville. The Freihofers had a son Keith last May.

James Getchonis has formed a group practice with another dentist in Norwich. They have also taken in an assoc and opened a new office in Hamilton (home of Colgate). Jim is also kept busy by serving on the school bd and as pres of the Chenango Cty CC and by a recent venture into the GMC motor home rental business. Jim writes: "If anyone reading this has heard of marriage encounter, try it! It will make a good marriage great and improve and perhaps change your whole outlook on life." I've hear similar reports and Margie and I are hoping to go to one of their weekend workshops.

Robert Lembke is still with the Del River Regional Planning Commission as "project mgr for an ambitious effort in small area forecasting for our yr 2000 transportation plan. Last fall I spent a wk in Yugoslavia and I just returned from a wk in the Bahamas." Gary Grunau moved to Elm Grove, Wisc, last Sept and became pres of the Grunau Co, mechanical contractors in Milwaukee.

MEN: J Michael Duesing, 103 Weston Rd, Weston, Conn 06880

Another update from Houston H Stokes recaps from '62: "Two yrs in the Navy; U of Chicago for PhD in economics as of Dec '69; now assoc prof at U of Ill and dir of grad program; 14 articles in print and 6 more in the pipe-line. Work heavily in the area of econometrics and sailing star boat."

Columnist's note: Jan and I receive notes and dues material faithfully from Mike Hays within a mo or when Mike gets them. It may be a mo or more before we actually send in copy. It then requires 3 mos before your classmates receive the printed word. Thus, above info on Houston was actually sent at the end of Nov. Patience please, anxious readers!

From Ohio State U I learned that Robert B Bernhard is its coordinator of food servs. Previously he was dir of food serv for the State of Tenn in Nashville where he organized the state's first ctrl food serv office and developed food serv procedures for use in 31 state agencies. At OSU he will handle food serv mgt procedures including vending, long-range planning, cost control, and nutrition standards. Bob got his MBA at U of Tenn and also has done grad work at NYU. He has worked in publ acctg, and from '63-68 as air force food serv officer at Robins AFB and Bien Hoa, Vietnam.

Another hotelier who has done well is Richard J Ferris. He has been elected pres and a dir of United Airlines, succeeding Edward E Carlson who became chmn of the bd and chief exec officer effective Jan 1, 1975. Ferris has been group vp, mktg servs for United since Jan 1974. He joined the airline in Aug 1971 as pres of its food servs div. Previously, he was identified with Western Intl Hotels. WIH is a subsidiary of UAL Inc.

Following graduation, Ferris became a staff planner at the Seattle hdqtrs of WIH and restaurant mgr of the Olympic Hotel. As a staff planner, he developed a system for controlling restaurant labor costs in relation to fluctuations in sales volume. In 1964 he was transferred to NY as asst to the genl mgr of the Savoy Plaza. Subsequently, he has been promoted to mgr of food-beverage serv at the Anchorage-Westward Hotel, Anchorage, Alaska. In 1966 he became genl mgr of the Continental Plaza hotel, Chicago, which was followed by a similar position at the Carlton Hotel, Johannesburg, S Africa.

Just prior to joining United, Ferris served as project officer for new construction for WIH. In that capacity, he directed development of the Crown Ctr Hotel in Kansas City, Mo. Congratulations, Dick!

WOMEN: Jan McClayton Crites, 496 S Glenhurst Dr, Birmingham, Mich 48009

A group of Alice Dalton Brown's oil paintings of fragments of barns and barn groupings was featured at the Ward-Nasse Gallery in NY in Jan. Alice's next show will be at Mari Galleries in Westchester beginning this mo and continuing into Apr. Alice is married to Eric R Brown, MEd '67, who teaches psycholinguistics at NYU and this yr is a visiting fellow in psychology at Cornell Med School. The Browns live with their three sons at 110 Bleacher St, NY.

Plug-time: No 1: You will be receiving a request for class dues to be paid next mo. If you'll start saving your pennies now, you can pay them on time, despite the economy.

No 2: We have more space allotted to us than we are currently using for this column. Would you like a recipe exchange? Advice to the love-lorn? Then write!

No 3: Saving the best for last, let me urge you to consider attending Alumni U this summer. It's a great change-of-pace vacation for the entire family—a vacation in the true sense of the word for the chief cook and bottle washer. We five went last yr and are signed up again for July 13-19 this yr. Hope to see some of you there.

COMBINED: Barbara Hartung Wade, 267 Morris Ave, Malverne, NY 11565

The recession is far-reaching! It has even hit our class news income! No news, no column. But that is not the case this mo, thanks to some recent Cornell functions and some personal notes and announcements received.

In late Nov we had a great Cornell gathering at the Princeton game. I won't mention the game as that was the low point of the day! The Charter Club was the site of our tailgate party and mgt place. The bears present included John '62 and Carolyn Chauncey Neuman '64 of Rye; John's brother Bob Neuman '58 of Reston, Va; Anthony and Gwen Sibson Porcaro, of 6107 Mass Ave, Bethesda, Md; Bob and Mary Dunn Medina of Skillman, NJ; and Allan '64 and Barbara Hartung Wade. After the game we also saw Paula Trested Lahott, class treas. Later at the Medinas' house we met Rachel Medina born Aug 16, '74, who joined Elizabeth, 3; also there was Tony Porcaro, born May 3, '74 who joined sister Stephanie. Finally, Don and Susan Schaefer joined our growing group for dinner at Charlie's a fitting finale to an almost perfect day. The congenial people, the sunny weather, and the excellent 50 yd-line seats provided the perfect opportunity to sip a few and truly relax. Too bad the game was such a bust!

More Cornellians crossed our path the following mo. In Dec we attended a holiday party at the Neumans' where we saw Mike and Emily Cho Abramson and Stephen, LLB '64, and Sue Mair Holden '64. We also ran into the Vic Elkinds '67 at a GF Xmas party. Finally, Dr Frank and Cathie Galioto '64 paid us an end-of-the-yr visit.

It was a busy holiday season and our family is ready to settle down for a long winter's nap; despite our recent record-breaking, spring-like weather, I'm confident the snow is on its way. Here now, the news . . .

Helen Downs Haller sent a long, newsy letter. She and Chris '65 have moved to 6714 S

Bennett Ave, Chicago, Ill. Helen is busy with her new house and her two children, Lee, 5½, and Ben, 3. She is also active in a variety of professional orgs including the Soc of Women Engrs, AICHE, and ACE.

The holiday mail also brought news from Warren '62 and Nancy Bierds Icke whose new address is La Rinconada, Chalet 30, Aravaca, Madrid, Spain. "We're very happy in our new home in Madrid," wrote Nancy. "From our arrival in Aug until approximately the end of Oct we saw only 2 minutes of rain. It's great! We have pools and tennis courts in 5 minutes walking distance." Nancy saw Bonnie Simonson Brown and Ruth Morgan Kaufman in London last May. The Ickes have 3 sons. "The older two boys go to the local Amer School while the youngest attends a Spanish pre-school all day! I'm taking 6 hrs of Spanish a wk and loving it."

ANNOUNCEMENTS: Barbara Labes Harrison, 3 Plymouth Lane, E Brunswick, NJ, had her first one-person sculpture show at the Caravan House Gallery, 132, E 65th St, NYC, in Jan. Our successful and busy "purveyors of prime rib and potable spirits" announce the opening of the Jacksonville Victoria Station, 7579 Arlington Expressway, Jacksonville, Fla.

APPOINTMENTS AND PROMOTIONS: Dr Spencer R Weart has been apptd dir of the Ctr for Hist of Physics of the Amer Inst of Physics. The ctr has been concerned with the hist of 20th-century physics and astronomy. "Spencer received a PhD from the U of Colo in 1968. He was a research fellow in solar physics at Cal Tech from '68-71. He taught physics at the U of Colo and at Cal Tech; lectured on the history of physics at the U of Cal, Berkeley; made an educ film, The Solar Atmosphere; and wrote two science books for children. His technical publications include more than 10 papers on solar atmosphere and atmospheric instrumentation, published primarily in Astrophysical Journal and Solar Physics."

Dr Allen E Lines has been apptd prof in the dept of ag econ and rural sociology at the Ohio Ag Research and Development Ctr, Wooster. After adding an MS to his BS from Cornell, he received his PhD from Purdue U. He was a vo agr teacher for 4 yrs before returning to grad school, where he served as a teaching and research asst and research assoc.

William F Naughton whose hotel career goes back more than a decade is the new genl mgr of the 475-room Sheraton-British Colonial Hotel in Nassau, The Bahamas. Bill received an MBA from Mich State. Last Oct he married Susan Fine of New Orleans. The Sheraton-British Colonial is a beachfront convention hotel with meeting facilities for 700. It has tennis plus its own pitch 'n putt golf course and a variety of water sports. Sounds like Bill's got it tough!

Gary E Owens has been apptd purchasing agent in the servs div of the personnel admin dept at the Travelers Ins Co in Hartford, Conn. Gary is a member of the Conn Assn of Purchasing Mgt and the Ins Co and Bank Purchasing Agents Assn of New England. The Owens reside at 84 Concord Rd, Manchester, Conn.

MISCELLANEOUS: Whatever happened to: Gloria Rosefuzz, Hazel Jerrywood, Art Masonmoose, Marcia Discus Thrower, Marcia Highness, Sarah Hart Throb, Howie Goldbar, Lila Foxhunt, Mary Berpenbeck, and Hillary Brown Stone? If you, or anyone you know has information about these people, please contact the Class of '63 Missing Persons Bureau, (me!).

PEOPLE: Paul R Lyon, 500 Abelard, No 305, Montreal, Quebec H3E 1B7, Canada

Happy mid-winter greetings. As I sit in my kitchen typing the class notes, I feel you should know that I will be attending a meeting of the Cornell Assn of Class Officers in NYC before this column is printed. The theme of the mtg is to be effective communication between "class" and "classmates." I hope future columns will show signs of increased educ.

In answer to my requests for aid for the Cornell Chimes, I have received a much better response. There is the tidy sum of $50.00 now sitting in the bank acct opened for this fund.

With the snow several ft deep some of you might be thinking of a way to get away from it all. Could I suggest contacting Norbert Roehl at 615 N E 26th St, Ft Lauderdale, Fla. He and his Janis are enjoying their 1st daughter, who will be 1 yr old this June. Just about as far from Ft Lauderdale as you can get and still stay in Fla, you could drop in at Eglin Air Force Base near Ft Walton Beach and visit Maj Barrett Rosen at the Regional Hosp. Harold Evensky and Jeanne (Cohen) '66 are at 6191 Orange Dr, Davie, Fla, while Bob and Ruth Strudler are bringing up two sons on the Gulf Coast at 1437 S Belcher Rd, Clearwater, Fla. Gary Rushmer and Vera (Ames) '65 have chosen the inland portion to bring up their new daughter Elizabeth Ann. They live at 1701 Pepperidge Dr, Orlando, Fla.

Keeping south, you could call on David G Smith at the Marine Biomed Inst, 200 Univ Blvd, Galveston, Texas, and just a few miles away drop in on Bob and Anne Cochran (5306 Dumfries, Houston). Coming north just a little, you could stop in Dallas, where Bill Carlisle (3954 Calculus Rd) and Thomas McBride (5128 Cedar Springs 114) pay their taxes.

South of our SW border in Mexico City, Tim and Susie Davis are having an interesting tour of duty with the Chase Manhattan Bank. Tim is the genl mgr of that bank's representative office in Mexico. During his time off the family does a lot of traveling to some of the many "archeologically interesting sites in Mexico."

Back in the States, I wonder whether John Looney and Lewis Wolfenson '63 realise that they live within a few mi of each other. John and Susan have just recently moved from Mich to the Naval Health Research Ctr, San Diego, Cal, while Lewis has been at 4046 First Ave, for quite some time. Lewis sends word that the most recent addition to his family is Kelly Inger, Class of 1995—we know where his heart lies. Still in Cal you could travel up to visit Charles Thornton and Suzanne. The recent addition of identical twin boys brings the number of children (all boys) to four. Suzanne teaches classical ballet and keeps their home at 4 Dapplegray Lane, Rolling Hills Estates, in top shape.

For someone who wants to travel a bit farther, and stay out of the cold, let me suggest the Kona Surf Resort at Keauhou-Kona, Hawaii. The resident mgr there is "Buck" Laird. Buck and Donivee seem to be enjoying their life there. While you're staying in Buck's hotel, you might want to visit with Jim Jonasson (1839 Poki St, Apt 9, Honolulu) or with Jack Foote (750 Amana St, Apt 608, Honolulu). By now Jim should have returned to Hawaii after his trip to NYC. He wrote that he is still looking for a spouse. (Have you and Carl Johnston been holding some sort of contest? Carl wrote: "I must be one of the few remaining bachelors . . ." Want to compare notes? Carl is at 1600 Royal Blvd, Glendale, Cal) Jack has just assumed a new position as visiting assoc prof, U of Hawaii, having left the job of mgr of a big convention hotel in Ariz.

Our vacation tour would not be complete without visiting Michael C T Smith at home. "Tree" and Linda are quite busy in the ecological problems of the trans-Alaska pipeline. They are at home in Juneau, Alaska, and mail will get to them at RR5, Box 5100-25.

Well, that's all for this month. Summer is coming. Just be patient.

PEOPLE: Susan Maldon Stregack, 321 Soapstone Lane, Silver Spring, Md 20904

Hi everybody! My tenure as People columnist may be short lived. I've had a volunteer for the men's column and hope to have more details for you next month. In the meantime, keep those cards and letters coming.

Stephen R Ross has been serving as chief of branch C in the certificates of compliance div of the Cable Television Bureau. Stephen received his JD from Boston U School of Law and is a member of the Md, DC, and Mass Bars.

James W Robison is an asst prof of metallurgy at Penn State. He had been a research metallurgist with Special Metals Corp in New Hartford. James received his MS and PhD degrees from U of Mich.

Carol Shuler Maurer was married to Thomas Abrams in Oct with her son David, 7, and daughter Gretchen, 3, in attendance. Carol is working towards her MBA in mgt psych at Pace U. The Abrams family is at home at 6 Willow Lane, Irvington. David S Lande announces the opening of an office for the general practice of law at 630 Fifth Ave, NYC.

From Jay Rappaport comes word that he and his wife Bryna are the proud parents of David Ian, born Oct 28. Jay, who received his ME from Cornell in '67 and PhD from U of Rochester, is doing textile fiber dev for E I DuPont. Jay and Bryna are also attending the U of SC, working toward their MBAs. Write to them on Wildwood Lane, Lugoff, SC.

And now, a newsy letter from Lenni Levinson Meyerson (7 Memorial Dr, Newburgh). Lenni says: "After having the greatest expectations of living all over the world I am back in Newburgh again, having married Dick Meyerson (RPI '64, Syracuse MBA '67) who has lived 8 mi out of Newburgh all his life. He now attends law school at night while I attend to the needs of my three adorable hoodlums, Rachel Abbie, 5, Shana Jill, 3, and Matthew Scott, 4 mos." Lenni goes on to list her many activities, which include volunteer work in a local boys' home, teaching guitar, tutoring French and—of course—dramatics. (I'm sure we all remember Lenni's many performances as a member of Octagon.) Lenni's most recent role was Maggie in a local production of "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." Lenni keeps in contact with her brothers-in-law Steven '70 and Billy Meyerson '72, sister-in-law Brenda Lineal Meyerson '71, Anita Mammano Goldstein, Dr Ralph Marcus '65 and her dad, Ernest Levinson '34, LLB '36. Lenni sends regards to Elise Frank, Beth Adelsberg '66, Merry Chodosh Weiss, Peter Narins '65, and Larry Alexander '67.

Joe '63 and I recently had the pleasure of attending the wedding of Arthur Berkeley '64 to Rebecca Leisure. Lloyd Gastwirth '64 was best man. Other Cornellians in attendance were Fran Eisenstein '63 and Tony Colosi '58. Lloyd, a Syracuse Law School grad, now works for Seaboard Airlines and lives in Plainview with his wife Barbara. Fran, like Arthur a grad of NYU Law School, works for the FCC and lives in Wash, DC.

Here's news of two Joshuas. Joshua Nathan was born to Ellie (Blitz) and David Paradise Dec 9 and is keeping his parents busy in Boston. Joshua Marc is the son of Class Pres Elliott and Connie Tomlinson Fiedler '68. The Fiedlers live in Lexington, Mass, where Elliott is exec dir of the Somerville-Cambridge Home Care Corp, a social serv org for the elderly. After graduation, Elliott spent 2 yrs with the Peace Corps in Costa Rica, 5 yrs with OEO.

Steve '65 and Elissa Camen Lazarus are now living in Denver, Colo at 7023 E Eastman Ave. After 2 yrs as an asst prof at Dartmouth, Steve is sr operations research analyst for Spectrum Research, Inc, specializing in health operations res. Elissa works part time as a teacher's aide at son Michael's preschool.

It's a girl for Carol (Kaminer) and Stan Berman '67. Deborah Leigh arrived Jan 10 and is at home in Williamsville with her parents and big sister Jennifer, 3.

Everybody make a note: beginning in Apr (hopefully), our class column will split, with the men's column written by Charlie Rappaport. His address is: Dr Charles Rappaport, PO Box 8369, Rochester, NY 14618.

That's all the news this month. If you haven't sent in your class dues yet, please do it now. Bye.

67

PEOPLE: Richard B Hoffman, 20 Radcliffe Rd, Apt 404, Allston, Mass 02134

A tip of the fedora to Susan Hathaway's grandfather, Leslie McKendrick '12, who urged her to report on what she's been doing since graduation:

"I am in the Blue Ridge Mts of western NC, in a little resort town called Blowing Rock, where I've been for the last 2 yrs. I've been writing, a long, slow and arduous process of learning; I've not yet finished anything I like, but have high hopes. While trying to write, I've been supporting myself by working in a restaurant which my mother built down here. Before coming here, I spent a yr in NYC working in video and cable TV for Children's Television Workshop, and plan to return to the city soon to try my hand at more work in that or a related area. Generally, I have spent my time since graduation searching for understanding and for ways that I might help to improve the lives of people, in this society and in the world.

"I have had little contact with anyone from Cornell since graduation. The only people I talk to regularly are Jeffrey Sussman '65 and Susan Haber Sussman. I would like to find Frances Judy Winter '68—if anyone has any information as to her whereabouts, or knows someone who does, I would really appreciate hearing from them. My address is simply Genl Delivery, Blowing Rock, NC."

Now comes G Edward DeSeve whose ire, kindled by annoyances such as eccentric use of abbreviations by editors of this sheet, reminds one of Philadelphia's most famous product and his view on progeny and their culinary preparation. "I too am employed by a charitable organization—the City of Phila. As dep dir of finance, my main function is being in charge of saying no. Although I don't do it well, I do it often.

"In addition, the job entails stewardship over operating and capital budgets; data processing; debt issuance; and special studies. My wife Karren Purdy DeSeve (Wells and AUB—try that abv) and Germain, our 3-yr-old son, are doing well and loving 'America's most livable city' (a title only Phila could proclaim).

"Cornellians of our era are surprisingly sparse in these parts. Jim Arvid Brady is currently living in either Md or Va at the tip of that obscene peninsula that seems to extend to Tierra del Fuego. Tom Allison is defrauding clients of the Allison Machine Tool and Storm Door Co Inc of Pennsauken, NJ, or some unlikely locus. Capt Dick Keir is much missed by our family but not nearly as much as Patty (Putnam) and their two daughters. While shrinking heads in the Army may be a way to avoid the effects of a recession (one assumes an ever increasing need, especially in a volunteer army), it has kept us at corresponding distances too long.

Ed objects strongly to the way the recent review of Cornell's sports lore "passed over the historic 'Burn Dartmouth' rally of '66 as a frivolous house party bauble. "Surely this cannot go by without comment. A resurgence of IFC leadership that featured Sandy Berger and 'Soul of Blackness' produced 'Burn Dartmouth!' Alan Paller was a driving force in the IFC and I was carried along in his wake. With railroad ties and gasoline, scores of effigies were burned; no maidens were to be had but old copies of the Sun (unread as usual) stoked the blaze; palm trees were promised as prizes for attendance and deportment. However, we couldn't decide how to steal them from the ag school and so they were never awarded.

"In short this event stands out in clear relief as truly forgettable. Hardly should future generations be subjected to our aberrations. Better that people should remember Sam MacNeil '51, the only man who could photograph like an emaciated chimp but give us a 19-5 basketball season. Where are the Sams of yesteryear? Stop harping, Kane! Find some men of enjoyable mediocrity. The late Steve Cram '66, Bob DeLuca '66, Dave Bliss '65, Gary Munson '66, Jim Bennett '65, et al. Now these were men! Quiet, unheroic, even a little dull, but who among us is truly of the stuff of heroes? Blaine Aston—an unlikely Horatio, yet that victory was one for every man."

I'm sure Ed will propel more of his good news for modern '67 to all correspondents who write to 124 W Gravers La, Phila, Pa.

Gail Ready Stephens, 25575 N Novela Way, Valencia, Cal, reports that she and husband Rick are living in S Cal about 30 mi north of LA. "Rick (Frederick L Jr) finished his MBA at Stanford in June '74 and is now working for Newhall Land and Farming doing land dev. We have two girls—Leslie, 5, and Amy, 2½."

Susan Salitan Robfogel, JD '67 has become a member of the law firm of Harris, Beach and Wilcox, 2 State St, Rochester. Edward H Fox and Kenneth W Abbott '66 are associated with the firm.

How 'bout directing a few lines this way? As you can see, we do all possible to dispel any image of a typical member of the Class of '67.

WOMEN: Deborah Huffman Schenk, 15 Willow St, Brooklyn, NY 11201

Quite a change in careers for Perlina Parise who started out as a social worker in the Cornell program in social psych after graduation. She is now a librarian at the Western Regl Library in Lautoka on the Fiji Isl. After receiving her MLS at the U of Hawaii she entered the Peace Corps and was assigned to Fiji. Beside helping readers and assisting in libr duties, Perry has taken on a special assignment: developing plans for a natl union catalogue. In addition she helps train libr assts, and assists the chief libr in admin duties.

The News and Dues notices have started coming in and the Class of '69 is doing a lot of varied things. Marianne Fairbank Partlow is managing a contemporary art gallery in Vancouver. Husband Ken is doing his orthopedic res there. She reports that the mts and water are beautiful. No doubt. Another res is Louis Germaine '68, who is in radiology at Montefiore here in the city. Wife Susan (Scheer) reports that they now have a daughter Elissa Jill born Jan 25, 1974.

Another new daughter reported by Benita Fair Langsdorf and husband Michael. Danielle was born on July 9. "She's so beautiful!"

I'll print whole the "news" from Margaret Peterson Mathewson: "I can't believe anything I'm doing right now would interest my classmates. No advanced degrees (aside from an old master's), no babies, no super jobs—but I'm very happy and have found there's an alternative to NY and the greater metropolitan area. The land (Kans) and all this sky fill me up—I wish I had gone through the Ag Coll." Need I really say that all of us want to know what you and everyone else is up to. Not just babies, husbands, jobs, and degrees. What are you thinking? Where are you going? How's life treating you? Just to know that there is an alternative to landless and skyless NYC is reason enough to get Meg's letter.

It's always good news to report the wedding of a friend and this time it is that of Judy Marsillo to Don Myers May 4, 1974 in Judy's hometown of Hazleton, Pa. Many Cornell friends came, and in addition Judy had been active in the CC in her area, so several people from that group were present. Included were Linda Wyatt Scherffius, Kathlene Macechak Glapa, Robert N Marsillo '65, Gene Chase, MA '70, Ildiko Czmor DeFrancesco, Cornelia Davis '29, Mary Glowacki Grad '27, Anna Hoffman '29, Deborah Kesselring Markham, John Markham MS '70, Helen Lester Page '09, Patricia Podesta '57, Robert and Mary Robinson Richardson, Patricia Brenner Rowan, Deborah Strauss, Julia Wagner, Grad '32, and Kathryn Williams, MA '34. After a honeymoon in the British Isles and Ireland, they treked cross-country to their new home in Sacramento, Cal (7721 College Town Dr, Apt 40). Don is in a criminal justice prog at Cal State U and Judy is a manpower planning analyst for a local govt consortium. Ildi Czmor, mentioned above, married Tom DeFrancesco in Aug. Tom is a grad of Northland Coll and is a family counselor. Ellen Victoria Crockett, Pat Brenner Rowan, Paul and Marge Mietus Sanik '70, Tom Smith, and Jean (Myers) '70 attended. Ildi is a supvr with the Y in the Rochester area.

Jon Ruskin, after touring Europe in the summer of '74 with Charles Singer, returned to practice law and was soon thereafter called to active duty with the USAF, assigned to the JAG Corps at Dover AFB. Ken Kmack has been living in NY, NC, and now Ohio over the

Folks, that finally wraps up the news accumulated from the 1974 News and Dues solicitation letter. So now I suppose it's time to beg for more. You will notice my address above, or forward anything via the Alumni News in Ithaca.

I will also prepare you all for the next dues letter; the cost of dues, I expect, will increase, probably to $15. Really we should have charged $15 this past yr, rather than $10. So look at it this way, consider that you are getting a 2-yr subscription for $12.50 per yr. One request: please make sure the checks are covered by adequate funds! I did get a few bad ones.

If everything is on schedule, Happy St Patrick's day is apropos. Actually, this is being written Jan 1, so to cover myself, Happy Everything.

PEOPLE: Pat Guy, 606 E 22nd St Anniston, Ala 36201

I heard from several people over the holidays in Dec, but this is my first chance to print the news.

Renee Pennington is getting her master's in cinema studies at NYU and reports that, ironically, "studying cinema has curtailed my movie-going. I do try to see at least 10-15 films a wk and it so happens that the film dir who is my personal favorite, Howard Hawks, is a Cornellian—Class of '18." In NYC, Renee has seen Sallie Steele '73 and Donna Tukel '73 since they live near the same bus stop. Renee's address is c/o Gallant, 235 W 76th St, Apt 8B, NYC.

Ann Freedman wrote from East Hills, saying that in Sept she will be attending Harvard School of Dental Med and plans to be an orthodontist. I've also heard from Tom Forsberg, who has finished his Army stint and is now at Bowling Green State U studying science fiction. Tom was one of the organizers of Cornell's ninth semi-sporadic annual super-colossal trivia contest and I recently received from another organizer, Sandy Schuman '73, a copy of "The First Real Book about Trivia," which is written by Paul T Cobbler and explains all about how to put on a trivia contest.

Yet Sang is working for Pratt and Whitney aircraft as an engr for 747 jumbo jets, living in East Hartford, Conn. From dues note I've also learned James Scannell is living in Beverly Hills, Cal working as a metallurgist and supvr of a lab in the Ladish Co of LA.

Carolyn "Merle" Ladd Silverman and her husband George '69, have bought a home in Pensacola, Fla, where George is a Lt in the navy and a flight instructor in a jet training squad. Merle has completed her architectural degree and is designing homes for a local contractor. They will be in Pensacola for 2½ yrs. Richard Vos is a professional dorm counselor and admin for the 2nd yr at Grinnell Coll in Iowa, right in the middle of the cornfields. He says he enjoys it very much, is single and having a lot of fun. He said Betsy Tucker was married last summer and is teaching at a community coll in Monterey, Cal.

Glenn Philip Wallis is in his 3rd yr at Cincinnati Med School and reports his marriage to Shelly Lynn Shor there last June. He and Steve Seifert send their regards to their classmates. Alexander Barna Jr is in his 3rd yr of law school at U of Cal, Santa Clara and works part-time as a law clerk for NASA at the Ames Research Ctr.

Susan Farber is attending Ohio State U studying child clinical psych to get a PhD and looks forward to hearing from Cornellians in the Columbus area. Steven Nagrotsky and Irene Schuchman '74 were married in June and both are at NYU where he is at law school and she is getting a MSW. Louis Phillips, after getting his master's is now working for Texas Instruments in Dallas, Tex in the calculator div. Also in Dallas is Neil Kleinfeld who is working there for Xerox after getting his MBA from Carnegie-Mellon.

Wendy Trozzi Phoenix and her husband Leigh, PhD '72 have returned to Ithaca where Wendy will work on an MPS and her husband is an asst prof of mech engrg. David Roshkind is living in Phila with his wife Robin at the Int'l House working on a joint degree program in dental med and an MBA in health care admin. They occasionally see Mike Fedak '73 and his wife Paula, Walter King '71, Bob Morehouse, and Dave Kelly '73.

Margaret Geppert Walter and her husband are living in Kiel, West Germany, where Dietmar '65 is running the family's machine-making company and she is working part-time translating and editing a 3rd-century Prakrit manuscript for an Indian prof. Susan Wingerd Webster has finished grad school at Syracuse U and is working as a school psychologist. Her husband Mark '70 has finished med school and is doing residency at St Joseph's hosp in Syracuse. In Baltimore she saw Barb Plunkett Irwin '70, Dave '70, and their baby Ellie.

I spent a wonderful 2-wk vacation with my sister in Los Angeles and took a trip up to San Francisco, which I loved. Sorry I didn't run into any classmates.

PEOPLE: Eliot J Greenwald, 6419 N Wayne Ave, Chicago, Ill 60626; Ilene Meryl Kaplan, Old Graduate College, Princeton U, Princeton, NJ 08540

As I write this column for the Mar issue, it's Jan and I am heading back to Chicago to begin my 2nd semester at DePaul Law School. On Sat, the CACO had its annual mtg in NYC. Also there from the Class of '73 were Bob Platt, Barbara Phillips Long, Jon Kaplan who is working for Eli Lilly in Rochester, Mich, and Monica McFadden who is a grad student in coll student personnel at Mich State and is working as a part-time head res in one of the dorms. At our class mtg, we discussed the idea of facilitating alumni get-togethers. IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN GETTING TOGETHER WITH RECENT ALUMNI IN YOUR AREA, AND ARE WILLING TO HELP ORGANIZE, PLEASE CONTACT US.

Kenneth Horowitz informs me that HOLA Intl has expanded its worldwide affiliations and can now accept new members. For an application write to Kenneth at J-105 Univ Park, Ithaca. Nancy Diener Regan received an MBA from BPA last June and is now working as an asst to the dean there. Her husband John '71 is an asst station mgr at WTKO in Ithaca. Jeff Ross is alive and well at Cornell Law School. Pamela Alison Murtaugh is working for Coop Ext in Suffolk Cty, NY, as a livestock and poultry specialist. She is a member of the adv comm for the Ag Coll and also a bd member of the coll's alumni assn. Marjorie Sonntag spent a yr teaching jr hs science in Greenwich, Conn, received her MAT from Duke in Aug, and is now working on a PhD in zoology at U of Pa.

Phil Rosenfeld worked for IBM last summer. He informs me that Steve Kelley is working for Motorola in Phoenix. Michael F Nozzolio received an MS in publ admin and local govt from Cornell in Aug. He is now attending Antioch Law School in Wash, DC. D Andrew Pitz spent last summer working as a carpenter in Watertown. He is now in the grad program in landscape arch at the SUNY Coll of Environmental Sci and Forestry in Syracuse. Norman Solomon and Joe Tremifi each received an MIR at U of Wisc in Madison. Ken Dinnar is living in Scotia, and teaching sec school sci in Schenectady.

Mary Lou Foster is in the Peace Corps in S Amer. Richard G Winnett is working in Ellcottville for the Soil Cons Serv of the US Dept of Ag. Theresa L Gerrard has been working as an asst scientist at the Warner-Lambert Research Inst in Morris Plains, NJ. Peter F Galderisi is married and doing grad work in poli sci at U of NC in Chapel Hill. Thomas Churchill and Sheila Ginsberg were married in a double-ring civil ceremony at Sheila's parents' home last May. They spent their honeymoon in Bermuda and are now living in West Orange, NJ. Tom is operating his own business, called the Maple Tunes Audio Clinic in Maplewood, NJ.

Gregory M Gibbons is an ensign in the med serv corps of the USNR. He is working as the asst dir of the food mgt serv at the Natl Naval Med Ctr in Bethesda, Md. His wife Shirley is studying commercial art. Stephen A McCleary married Elynn C Russell last yr. Stephen is living in Alexandria, Va and is working for ARA serv as a food serv mgr at the Sibley Mem Hosp in Wash, DC. Joe Pelliccia is studying for his PhD in Biochem at Johns Hopkins U. He says "Hi! to all the old members of the Zoo." Joanne M Westendorf is working as a bacteriologist for the NYS Dept of Health in Albany. George J Mitchell married a "hometown honey" and they had their first child in July. They are living in North Rose, and George is working for his father on the farm and is enjoying life in genl. Jeff Schwartz, who is at NYU Law School asks how law school can be an item of interest to be printed in the Alumni News.

Since I am again out of space all I can add is that there is lots more news to be printed next month.

Hi! Ilene here. Shades of Ithaca! We had our first real snow in Princeton yesterday. It was just beautiful. Now all we need is a good hockey game to complete the picture.

This past Sunday, Jan 19, a crew of other Cornellians and I watched Marjorie Ohaus and Peter Lillard exchange wedding vows. Among those having a grand time at the wedding were Karen (Young) and Dick Cooney (Karen is working for a newspaper in Saratoga Springs, and Dick teaches 9th-grade sci), Mary Corcoran (living in Boston), Sue Cohen (living in Phila), Helen McCune (living in NJ), and Cindy Hannig Neels (Cindy married Kevin '72 in June 1974 and they are living in Wash, DC. Others at the wedding were, Sue and Dick Ohaus, John Ross, Mark Sears, and Regina Paul '74. Needless to say, a great time was had by all. Marjorie and Peter, by the way, after honeymooning in the Bahamas, will be living in NJ.

Speaking of weddings, Paula Smith has just written to me that Joan Tompkins and Peter Lifson were married back in Aug. She also writes that saw Carrie Gluckson Gale and husband Ron '72 (living in Cambridge while Ron works on his PhD at MIT), Mark Wurzel (working on LI), Dennis Feinberg and wife Vicki (both continuing school in Syracuse). Ron Glick '72 and wife Stephanie, Bonnie Wolfman, and Lynn Edelstein were also at the wedding. And, oh yes, Tom and Miriam Boyd, Joan Rabinor, Gilda (Klein) '71 and David Linden '70, and Andrea Paretts '74 were also present. Paula, by the way, is teaching psych in a community coll in Boston.

Other newly-married Cornellians are Beth Simon and Andy Swartz who had a real Cornell-style ceremony. In Nov, Beth and Andy were married in Annabel Taylor Chapel. And, you guess it—plenty of Cornellians present there too! Jerry and Liz Lupu, Margie Esman '75, Steve Burman, Peter Bloch, Chris Dickieson, Bruce Cohen (now at Berkeley Law), Chris de Paolo '74 (now with the Peace Corps in Jamaica), Jeff Haber '70, Bob Braunstein '72, Steve Hoffman, Jack Covitz '72 (at the Vet Coll now), Jeff Schwartz (at NYU Law), and Rick Swartz. Beth writes that after their "6-day jaunt to St Martin" she and Andy went back to NY "to complete the semester's law school grind for exams."

Well, that's it for now. This is Ilene saying speak to you next month.

PEOPLE: Judy Valek, RD#2 Noyes Rd, Box 250A, Vestal, NY 13850

Since graduation, I've spent at least a dozen weekends back at Cornell. Particularly while I'm there, my thoughts stray to so many of you whom we haven't heard from; even if you don't know one of us correspondents, let us keep your friends informed!

As Pasadena, Cal, is too far for a weekend drive, I missed my ex-roommate's wedding. Gail Grooms and Steve Lyon were married Dec 23; Steve is a grad student at Cal Tech. Gail has found a job as research asst on sensory perception at Cal Tech. Also married, Jan 25, were Rusty McBurnett and Debbie Garrett. They'll be living in Ohio, where Rusty is contentedly working.

Tim Metcalf is now living near my stomping grounds, in Endicott. He was recently promoted to assoc programmer at IBM Corp, in Owego. Helene Jacobowitz is moving to NYC to work for the United Farm Workers as a community organizer, setting up support structures for the UFW's boycotts. She hopes "... to survive in one piece, and expect to learn a lot, and maybe do some good." Best wishes for your survival.

We have a Coop Ext agt in our midst. Rick McCaffery has been with the 4-H youth dev prog in Otsego Cty since last July. Bob Ackerman is in France, at the U of Toulouse Med School. He is about to receive a claim to fame, as the Child Psych Journal has accepted for publication a research paper he did at Cornell with Mary Ann Lattin '75.

Several more people are in pursuit of higher education. At the U of Wisc (Madison) is Judi Friedman, studying social work. At Cornell, Bill Hodgetts is studying govt, and Bob Naum is in the Vet Coll.

Dave Woods is in the Grad School of Urban Planning at Chapel Hill; Judy Ling is a med student at Stanford. Wendy Sheine was a grad student at Yale and is now a lab technician at Rockefeller U. Out on LI, Bill Konstant is asst mgr of the LI Game Farm.

During Oct, Barb Aponte and Nancy Geiselmann toured the US east of the Mississippi. As of Jan, Barb is working on her master's in educ at Albany State. Also in the Albany area we find Craig Esposito, who supplied many of these rumors. After spending the summer as a student of physiology at the U of Chicago, Craig is pumping gas and shipping phone books. Gee, Craig, that sounds like as much fun as watching paint dry. May better days await you.

Coast Guard Sonar Technician 3rd Class Steven Stuart recently participated in an intl research effort, "Project Gate." This 3-mo study, aboard the Coast Guard cutter Dallas, operated out of Dakar, Africa; the concentration was on sources of global weather patterns.

It would appear from Mark Schwartz's Jan column that ex-Cornellians are taking over Cambridge; add to that list Mark Kon, who's taking applied math at MIT. He reports that he's really fond of Cambridge.

So how 'bout some news, okay?? Gossip, slander, ANYTHING, but write! Thanks, and I'll be with you again in the summer!

Legacies

Of the 4,946 new students who came to the university at Ithaca for the 1974 spring and fall terms, 426 are known to be the children, grandchildren, or great-grandchildren of alumni.

This is 8.6 per cent of all new students, the highest percentage since 1968 and the highest total number of legacies in the last ten years. The highest percentage of new students with Cornell parentage was 10.2 in 1966.

Six new students are fourth-generation Cornellians:

Susan Eschweiler, great-granddaughter of the late Alexander C Eschweiler '90, granddaughter of the late Alexander C Eschweiler Jr '15, daughter of Peter Q Eschweiler '55 and Mrs Eschweiler '53, the former Marie Symonds;

Margaret C McEntee, great-granddaughter of the late Ira H Myers '77, granddaughter of the late Allan C Fraser '13, Josiah R Livermore '13 and Mrs Livermore '16, the former Helen Myers, and daughter of Kenneth McEntee '44 and Mrs McEntee '47, the former Janet Fraser;

John N Osborne, great-grandson of the late Simeon Smith '73, grandson of the late John N Osborne, SpAg '12-13, and son of John S Osborne '48;

Pamela J Williams, great-granddaughter of the late Willet L Ward '90, granddaughter of Victor L Williams '22, and daughter of Leonard J Williams '52;

Charles T Cady, great-grandson of the late Charles J Cady '93 and son of Charles F Cady '53 and Mrs Cady '53, the former Joyce Rupp; and Jill A Hornor, great-granddaughter of the late John H Richards '05.

Edward D Eddy III and Joseph R Schurman Jr have a four-generation connection with Cornell, though they are third generation alumni legacies. Both are great-grandsons of Cornell's third president, the late Jacob Gould Schurman, himself not a Cornellian.

In the listings that follow, deceased alumni are designated by asterisks (*), and a dagger (†) indicates a step-parent. Children are freshmen unless designated with class numerals as otherwise.

When students enter the university for the first time they are asked to name their Cornellian relatives, but always some fail to note alumni parents or grandparents. Additions or corrections to the listing of students who entered in 1974 are welcome for publication and for university records.

Two Cornell parents

New students known to have Cornelian fathers and mothers number 156. Forty-five students of double alumni parentage are in the tabulation of three Cornell generations, and 111 are listed below with their fathers' names and mothers' maiden names:

Grandparents only

Forty-four new students noted alumni grandparents, but not parents, last year. Combined with those in the third- and fourth-generation lists, the number of new students with alumni grandparents totaled 148, a new record. ## Thud...Thud.

The Board of Trustees dropped the other financial shoe in late January, at its annual meeting on the university budget.

All fall, President Corson had been predicting a university-wide cutback of staff of 5 per cent and a tuition increase of 10 per cent for next year. In January the trustees approved both these measures and even deeper cuts for programs that are not strictly academic in nature, and then went on to approve a plan of budget balancing that called for $7 to 10 million of "shrinkage" in spending in the endowed colleges over the next three years. The aim is to return the university to a balanced budget by 1978, by a series of more drastic measures than have been taken since the Depression of the 1930s.

Administrators were not yet ready to say just what would be cut, but one immediate casualty would be the practice of hiring visiting professors to fill in for teachers who are on leave. The net effect will be a saving of on the order of 5 per cent in faculty salaries, and an equivalent increase in the workload of professors who are not on leave.

In the days following the announcement, word began to get around that several programs born in the wake of the 1969 occupation of Willard Straight Hall would soon die. The Human Affairs Program (HAP), which oversees student community field study for academic credit, and the Center for the Improvement of Undergraduate Education (CIUE), which supports faculty projects and research, would both be dismantled by June 1976.

Other cuts, some announced to take effect immediately: shorter library hours, shorter hours for campus buses, fewer employes in the dining rooms, fewer counseling services for students, the possibility of Burger King or some other concessionaire taking over one of the campus dining operations, and the chance that preregistration for courses would be dropped in favor of a period of a week during which students would shop for courses.

The long-term plan to "shrink" university spending was adopted as part of a report by a temporary trustee committee chaired by Wall Street investment man Stephen H. Weiss '57 of the board. His committee had originally been asked to recommend a way to finance a $30 million backlog of campus building maintenance projects that have been put off in recent years.

The "Weiss committee" wound up recommending no further university borrowing, and in fact said the university has too little liquidity in its present investments. The board agreed to establish a special capital reserve fund of $10 million that would be available to cope with economic emergencies. The committee favored making all maintenance a part of the annual operating budget, a move that will further pinch strictly academic spending but one many feel is overdue.

The committee also said Cornell was drawing too much out of its growth or capital fund of investments, a recent wrinkle aimed at increasing the yield for annual operating expenses. The planned 8 per cent return from this fund has been pared back, and is to drop to between 5 and 6 per cent by 1978.

All in all, the aftermath of the trustee meeting was a gloomy one. Trustees and administrators held a press conference in Ithaca to back up what Corson had written the faculty only days earlier in a nine-page memo titled, "The Deteriorating Financial Scene." "I do not believe that the current pressures will relax quickly," he wrote, "and even if the general economy improves soon I believe that strong measures will still be required."

Utility costs appear to have hit Cornell especially hard, doubling in four years.

The university expects to show a deficit of more than $1.7 million during the current academic year, and in spite of cutbacks at least another $1.3 million next year.

The 1975-76 budget calls for endowed college tuition of $3,775 for Cornell, nearly the lowest in the Ivy League, and combined tuition, room, and board charges of $5,525, also near the bottom of an Ivy spread that is topped by Yale at

Other new Cornell tuitions, and the amount they increase from the current year: Business and Public Administration, $4,100, up $400; Law, $3,700, up $400; Medical, $4,000, up $1,000; Nursing, $2,400, up $350; Veterinary, $2,300 for state residents, up $200, and $3,050 for others, up $350; other statutory colleges $1,650 for state residents, up $150, and $2,450 for others, up $350.

Some administrators feel the regular increases in tuition may be beginning to take a toll in student enrollment. In the fall term, enrollment was 0.5 per cent behind predictions, all in returning rather than new students. Engineering, Arts, and the Graduate School were the main losers.

The Cornell Fund annual giving program was ahead of last year at the halfway point, bringing in $1 million up until December 31, compared with $640,000 in the first half of 1973-74. A cloud on the horizon appeared in the form of an announcement that the Olin Corporation's annual $100,000 gift to Cornell would not be made in 1975 because of the company's poor earning record.

On Campus

Fraternities and sororities were reporting more students interested in joining them, and a chance that as many as one sorority and four fraternities may open new chapters on the Hill next fall. Both Panhellenic Council and Interfraternity Council representatives reported more students involved in rushing this year than last, though neither had exact figures. They said Kappa Delta sorority and Alpha Chi Rho, Sigma Alpha Mu, and Zeta Beta Tau fraternities were all considering reestablishing chapters at Cornell, along with Alpha Gamma Sigma which has not had a chapter before.

The Cornell-based novel, The War Between the Tates, may be the basis for a television movie or special. Rights to the book by Prof. Alison Lurie, English (reviewed in the December 1974 News) have been bought by Talent Associates of New York City.

Quill and Dagger Society, a men's senior honorary since 1893, admitted its first women members last term, ten of the twenty-four seniors inducted. The undergraduates considered the matter last spring, asked alumni opinion (which favored admitting women by a 2-1 margin), and acted after the summer recess. President Joseph A. Harmon '75 explained, Cornell women make as "equal a contribution to leadership and service as do men."

People

Raymond L. Handlan '53 is the university's new director of development, succeeding Robert J. Haley '51 who has gone to Clarkson. Handlan was captain of the basketball team and a Phi Beta Kappa as an undergraduate, a fundraiser for the university from 1958 until 1961, a development director at Centre College and the U of Utah, and returned to Cornell as a regional director in 1968. He is married to the former Scharlie Watson '47, an associate director of alumni affairs.

Prof. Leonard Reissman, chairman of sociology, died January 29 in Ithaca after suffering a heart attack. He came to Cornell five years ago from Tulane, and was known best as the author of Class in American Society, The Urban Process: Cities in Industrial Societies, and Inequality in American Society. He held degrees from Wayne, Wisconsin, and Northwestern universities.

Prof. Charles L. Walker '04, civil engineering, emeritus, died in Ithaca January 15 at the age of 95. He retired in 1948 after forty-two years on the faculty but was recalled to teaching the following year, and retired a second time in 1952. His specialty was sanitary engineering.

Everett Pepperell Wheeler II, former professor of geology at Cornell, cartographer, and Arctic explorer, died on October 30, 1974, at Blue Mountain Lake. He had made the first known maps of Labrador.

The Teams

The football team acquired a new head coach, the swimmers won some historic meets, the basketball team was breaking even in the Ivy League, and the hockey team was struggling to gain home ice in the first round of the Eastern championships as the term began.

The swimming team had a five-meet win streak going, including the Red's first victory ever over Yale. The record stood at 5-2, after a loss to Penn 44-69 and wins over Bucknell 66-45, Yale 77-36, Navy 67-46, Colgate 71-42, and Army 66-47. Double winners in the Yale meet were Chuck Gruye '75 in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle and Jack Branden '77 in the 200 individual medley and backstroke, and against the Middies Branden in the same events, Jim Johnson '78 in the 500 and 1,000 freestyle, and Mike Guzewicz '76 in the diving events.

Basketball was holding its own in Ivy competition, 3-3, while sporting a 5-11 record overall, about two-thirds of the way through the season. Maynard Brown '76 and Stan Brown '77 were carrying heavy loads in scoring and floor play.

Ben Bluit's club had mid-season wins from Yale 72-70, Columbia 90-60, and Dartmouth 71-60, and losses to Brown 58-81, Bucknell 63-78, Columbia 81-84, Fairfield 76-86, Villanova 82-88, Niagara 70-71 in overtime, and Harvard 67-80.

The hockey team had a new goalie in Dave Chrastina '77 at mid-season and a scoring leader in Dave Peace '75, and was sitting in fourth place in the ECACs and in the middle of the Ivies. The overall record was 12-5-2, ECAC 11-4-1, and Ivy 4-3.

The mid-season record included a win over Colgate 8-4, loss to Harvard 2-4, win over Dartmouth 7-6 in overtime, tie with Boston College 6-6, win over Clarkson 4-1, losses to Toronto 3-5 and Penn 2-3 in overtime, followed by wins over Princeton 8-3 and Yale 8-6.

At track and field, the Red was unbeaten in dual meets, topping Manhattan 71-64 and Army 69-66. The two-mile relay team took third place in the college division at the Millrose Games. Against Army, Al Brangman '76 won the pole vault at 14-6, Vince Redden '76 the dash, Carl Shields '75 the weight throw, Dave Doupe '77 the shot, Jim Leonard '75 the triple jump, Pal Roach '75 the 600, Bruce Abels '76 the 440, Dave Stinson '76 the 880, and Co-Capt. Tom Patterson '75 the 1,000, and Cornell won both relays.

Gymnastics was having a winning season, including the first 50-point all-events effort by an Ivy Leaguer when Co-Capt. Brian Dawson '75 got 50.5 against Pitt in a Red win, 193-182.3. Cornell topped Dartmouth 191.35-149.05, lost to Springfield 180.66-199.8, topped Ithaca College 178.8-134.25, and lost to Army 189.65-204.3 before the Pitt meet. The season record stood at 3-2, 1-2 in the Eastern league.

The wrestlers were struggling, with only Dale Porter '75 at 158 pounds undefeated after five meets. Cornell was 1-4, 0-2 Ivy after losing to Navy 6-36, Columbia 16-23, Syracuse 11-23, and Yale 12-22, and beating Colgate 18-17.

Fencing split early year meets, losing to Columbia 13-14 and beating Princeton 16-11, to carry a 4-1 record, 2-1 Ivy, into the last half of the season. Squash lost to Army 0-9 to carry its record to 0-2.

Freshman basketball stood at 3-7, freshman hockey at 9-1, and the women's fencing team had wins over North Carolina 13-3 and Princeton 25-0, and losses to Trenton 7-9 and Paterson 6-10. Women's hockey was 2-0, including a 9-0 win over Oswego.

Dean of Athletics Robert J. Kane '34 announced cutbacks in intercollegiate team budgets to meet next year's budget requirement: the present half-support will end for men's sailing, skiing, squash, and rifle, and some of the support for tennis will be cut. The ski and sailing coaches have agreed to work for nothing next year. These and other teams will continue to raise funds to help pay expenses.

Presenting his Credentials

George G. Seifert is the new Cornell football coach, the eighteenth in history. He became 35 years old just one week before his appointment. He has been the defensive strategist and coach of the defensive secondary at Stanford for the past three years. In two of those three years Stanford led the Pacific Eight Conference in pass defense. He had made a name for himself just previously at the University of Oregon where his players likewise led the Pacific Eight in pass defense, inspiring new Stanford coach Jack Christiansen to woo him to Palo Alto.

Stanford's success on defense against the pass is particularly notable lately because two of the "Pac 8" passers, Steve Bartkowski of California, the No. 1 pro draft choice this year, and Pat Hayden, the USC prodigy, were two of the best throwers in the country. Stanford was second in team standing to USC in the Pacific Eight this season and USC was No. 1 team in the country.

A native of San Francisco, George attended the University of Utah, played guard and wide end. At 6 feet, 180, today the statistics are a wide receiver's all right, but a guard's? Answer is he was a 200 pounder then, having become a daily jogger and careful dieter in the past few years. "I was only a fair player," says George, "but I was a trier."

He got into the coaching trade immediately upon graduating, as freshman coach at Utah and then as head football coach at Westminster College, for the two years it took to earn his master's degree from Utah, with a major in physical education.

At Westminster College in Salt Lake City, which had dropped football for a few years, he was offered the job of reinstating the sport. He had to buy uniforms, hire a staff, recruit in a small way, and get ready to play a six-game schedule for the first time in over ten years.

The day of the first game with Carroll College was an exciting event for the young master. He prepared carefully his pregame pep talk. He waited nervously as his assistant issued the twenty-six-man squad their last-minute strategy reminders—and finished it off with a rousing, screeching exhortation to go out and eat 'em up. The highly charged Westminster players roared out of the locker room, right past head coach Seifert, standing there with his silver tongue in his mouth, unused. He had a 3-3 season in his debut.

His old Utah college coach, Ray Nagle, became head coach at University of Iowa and hired George away, to handle the offensive line, so he was a head coach for only one year. Thence to Oregon and Stanford.

Cornell sent Stanford a pretty good country football coach in the person of Glenn S. (Pop) Warner '95, who became coach in 1924 and brought Stanford to the very top of football glory in his nine years there and made Ernie Nevers an All-American fullback. His 1927 Stanford team was No. 1 in the country.

The Pop Warner name is still a significant one in modern-day Cornell football fortunes. In 1950 he established in perpetuity the Pop Warner Outstanding Football Player Award for Cornell's best player each year. The award is a lavish one. It consists of a silver tray and a wristwatch, but the most valuable part of the award is the Pop Warner name and the fact that he set it up as an endowed gift and carefully wrote out the credentials necessary to qualify: "The winner has just got to be the best damn football player on the team."

According to Coach Christiansen, George was the best recruiter on his Stanford staff. "The young players respond to him and the parents love him. He's the hardest working man on my staff and the players under him are the best conditioned of any on the team. He works them hard."

A Cornellian, Joe DeMeo '64, is the wrestling coach at Stanford and recommended George as "ideal for the Cornell job. He's got it all. He is a terrific coach, very popular with the players, and we all take lessons from him when it comes to recruiting. Cornell will regain its football stature under George, I guarantee."

Another Cornellian on the Stanford staff, Director of Admissions Fred A.

Hargadon, Grad '59-63: "I have worked with George and he was an especially fine representative of Stanford University, both from the academic as well as the athletic posture. I accompanied him on one recruiting trip and I was immensely impressed . . . he has much to offer the young men who play under his tutelage. He has worked well under the system here. We have athletic acholarships at Stanford but the athletes must meet rigid academic standards. He can easily adjust to the Cornell 'need' formula, coming from Stanford. I don't like to see him leave here, but I do recommend him very highly to Cornell. I took my graduate work in government when Gary Wood was your quarterback, Ken Dryden your hockey goalie. . . . We attended and enjoyed the Cornell athletic events. So it's in that spirit I recommend him to you."

And still another Cornellian on the Stanford staff, James L. Gibbs Jr. '52, dean of undergraduate studies and a trustee of Cornell, wrote this tribute: "I've talked to several people out here. The athletic director, Joe Reutz; the coach, Jack Christiansen; the players, and I've gotten all rave notices on George Seifert."

Leland Stanford Junior University was founded in 1885 and David Starr Jordan '72 became its first president. He raided the Cornell staff and took thirteen of its professors to get it started and he modeled this new western university largely on Cornell, according to Cornell historian Morris Bishop '14. To the point that it was called "Cornell of the West."

Coach John McKay of USC has recently put a new twist on this definition. When Stanford (with quarterback Jim Plunkett) beat out USC for the Pacific 8 title and the cherished bid to play in the Rose Bowl three years ago Coach McKay tartly commented: "Not only did we get beat, we got beat by the Radcliffe of the West."

Welcome to the East, George. We gave Stanford David Starr Jordan, Pop Warner, a multitude of academicians, and now all we want from you in return is to win football games.
