Welcome to Chiba!

Did you know that the gateway to Japan, Narita International Airport, was in Chiba?

Chiba Prefecture is located near Tokyo and is an area rich in nature and abundant in local charm. A place where cuisine, shopping and other activities can be enjoyed.

Here you are sure to encounter the Japan of your dreams.

Profile of CHI-BA+KUN

CHI-BA+KUN is a curious creature born and living in Chiba Prefecture. Full of curiosity, CHI-BA+KUN loves to challenge everything. When CHI-BA+KUN ventures into the unknown, courage and passion spring afresh, making his body glow with red. CHI-BA+KUN is also a gourmet and sometimes mischievous.

Bathing Facility Etiquette

<Entry limitations> In Japan many people have a negative impression of tattoos, and even if those tattoos happen to be for fashion there are bathing facilities which you cannot use if you have them. Please confirm in advance.

<When entering baths> Please only enter baths after giving your body a quick wash. Those with long hair should tie it up so as not to soak it in the hot water. It is also prohibited to scrub your body in the baths or to put towels in the water.

<When washing body> Please ensure that you are not getting water on people around you when washing your body. Expose of waste in bins. Return equipment to its original place. Please avoid speaking in loud voices.

<When leaving bathing area> Please lightly dry your body with a heavily wrung towel before entering the changing area after getting out of baths.

About Japan Heritage

The Japan Heritage is something that has been certified by the Agency for Cultural Affairs as telling a story about Japanese culture/tradition through historical charms and characteristics of a region. In Chiba Prefecture a group of four Typical Edo Suburbs is certified for supporting the Millions of Edo residents. These are all closely located to Narita International Airport meaning they can easily be accessed from the airport.

Railways

As rail networks extend in a radial manner from Tokyo there is a particularly rich number of railways in the north-west of the prefecture. With express trains and other means available it is possible to reach the south of the Boso area more quickly than you would imagine.

Taxi

[How to use taxis] Japanese taxi is a safe transportation means. There are taxi ranks at most railway stations. Pay onboard after reaching your destination. Base fare is 500 yen for 1.27km. After this fares are calculated based on time and distance. Fares between 22:00 and 5:00 have a 20% surcharge. No tip is necessary. When using taxis from sightseeing spots, you can call the number on the receipt you received on the journey there and the staff at the spot will call a taxi for you. Depending on the spot it may also be possible to hail a passing taxi.

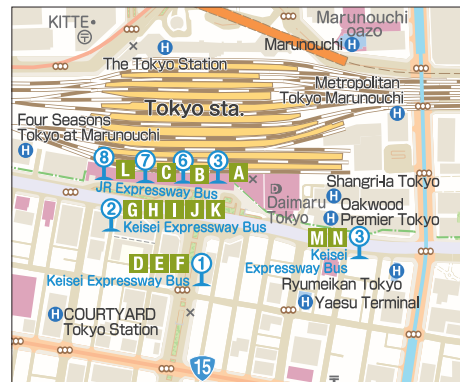

Highway bus

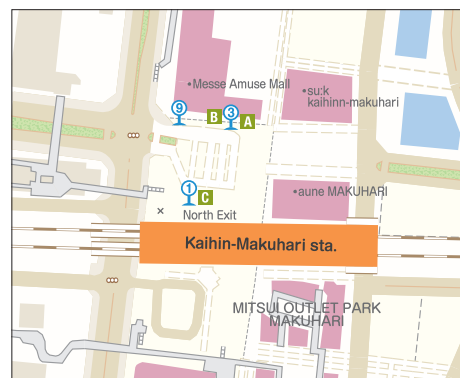

For locations which are not easily reached by rail, you can use a highway bus. The ease of being able to reach your destination mainly using expressways without having to change trains.

No reservations necessary, with some exceptions.

Let's go on a tour of a sake brewery

Chiba Prefecture is bountiful with sake rice and waters famed for their suitability to make sake, with sake having been made here since times of yore. There are also sake breweries which maintain entirely traditional sake brewing methods. In the sake brewery, there is a facilities tour, sake tasting and sale of sake, so how about swinging by for a visit? You can also take a tour which includes the historical buildings of the sake brewery, the sake tanks and wringers. Some of the sake available there cannot be bought anywhere else, making it an ideal souvenir.
